The Phytochemical Society of Europe– Pierre-Fabre 2005 Award for Phytochemistry

6 The Phytochemical Society of Europe and Pierre-
7 Fabre Laboratories are pleased to publish this call for 8 candidates for the 2005 Award, to be presented to a 9 young European scientist who has made an outstanding
10 contribution to phytochemistry or plant biochemistry.
11 Candidatures are invited from all disciplines within this 12 general field. The Award aims to reward an exceptional 13 contribution made in developing the field in which the 14 candidate is working.

15 The Award consists of a cheque for 2000 euros, to-
16 gether with a parchment certificate. Recipients will be 17 invited to present their research in the form of an Award
18 lecture to be delivered during one of the Society's 19 meetings. Expenses for attending the meeting are in-20 cluded in the Award.

21 Previous PSE-PF Awardees are:

22 2001 – Prof. Robert NASH (UK).

23 2002 – Dr. Wolfgang EISENREICH (DE).

24 2003 – Dr. Virginia LANZOTTI (IT).

25 2004 – Dr. Deniz TASDEMIR (CH/TU).

26 All members of the PSE are strongly encouraged to 27 make a nomination. This should consist of a CV, a short

summary (1–2 pages) of the significant points of the 28
candidate's research career, a list of publications, the 29 addresses of 2 or 3 independent referees, and a letter of 30 support. In particular, Professors and Directors of In- 31 stitutes are strongly encouraged to nominate colleagues 32
or promising former Ph.D. students. 33

Nominations for the 2005 Award should be sent 34
before 15 March 2005 in electronic format to the PSE 35
