Publisher's note

Dear Authors and Readers of Polymer,

We are pleased to announce that starting from this issue, we are introducing accelerated production speed: 8 weeks from the day we receive your accepted paper until its publication in print.

The electronic publication occurs even faster: 5-7 weeks from receipt of your accepted paper. The electronic versions of all papers (in both PDF and HTML formats) are available free of charge to all individuals at institutions subscribing to the print edition of the journal as well as to subscribers of ScienceDirect — the world's largest digital collection of scientific information.

We are also pleased to offer you free reproduction of colour figures as long as colour is deemed essential for the understanding of the paper (at Editor's discretion).

We have introduced a number of changes to our Instructions to Authors. It is essential that you follow the revised Instructions to enable us to publish your paper within 8 weeks of receipt at Elsevier.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your continued interest and support for Polymer.
