

Publisher's Note

Polymer Bulletin was founded to provide rapid publication (3–6 weeks) of significant advances in all areas of polymer science. In spite of our strict reviewing and high rejection rate, the number of manuscripts accepted for publication has steadily grown. This growth necessitates an expansion of Polymer Bulletin and we have decided to start volume 8 this year.

We are most pleased with the excellent response, Polymer Bulletin has received by the international polymer science community.

We wish to thank our authors and readers all over the world for their support.
