Radio To Determine The Next President

RADIO will decide the election of the next President of the United States! This is the opinion of the political observers who believe that the "air personality" of the Democratic nominee will be the decisive factor in the November balloting. They point out that in this year of crisis hundreds of thousands will vote who have never voted before. With the progress of the nation hanging in the balance, millions of voters are turning, with unprecedented intentness and seriousness, towards the political arenas.

Politics, this year, is the national game—an important, vital game. And this game is now being, and will be further played, in the air. In millions of homes the voters will eagerly listen to every political address by President Hoover and the Democratic nominee. The Republican and Democratic committees are planning to use the ether waves this year to a degree that has never before been contemplated. With the cooperation of the NBC and Columbia chains they have arranged nation-wide (Continued on Page Eight)

Radio Guide's Rating Of Candidates' Air Personality

Here is how Radio Guide rates the principal candidates on their air personality, and appeal to different types of listeners. One hundred points counts as a perfect rating.

	MEN	WOMEN	URBAN	RURAL	AVERAGE
HOOVER	82	54	73	78	71½
BAKER	92	96	90	92	92½
ROOSEVELT	92	83	80	81	84
GARNER	85	75	44	94	74½
SMITH	88	76	96	40	75
RITCHIE	72	80	80	78	77½

NBC Dramas Laud Heroes Of Science

"Danger Fighters," the true dramas of the great achievements of the pioneers of medicine and science, will play to a larger network when they change their broadcast time this Thursday. Henceforth they will be heard over an NBC network each Thursday at 8:00 p. m. (CDST).

"The Hunter," the story of Edward Jenner, British physician who gave up a brilliant London career to become a country doctor, and who discovered a vaccine for small-pox, will be the subject of this week's dramatization. The dramas are written by Innis Osborne, author of "The Seventh Guest" and a number of other plays.

U. S. Delegates Attend European Convention

Major General Charles McK. Saltzman, chairman of the Federal Radio Commission, or William R. Castle, Jr., Under-secretary of State, probably will be chosen by President Hoover to head the American delegation to the International Radiotelegraph Conference which opens in Madrid, Spain, September 3.

Among the American proposals to the conference is the matter of widening the broadcast band to embrace more waves for program services and the opening up for North America of the European long wave bands for broadcasting. Our delegation this year will be considerably smaller than in 1927, as an economy measure. The group of experts, however, will be larger than the delegation itself, because it is to them that the technical work of the conference falls.

New Stations On Air

Five new sets of call letters have just been added to the log of American broadcasting stations and one to the Canadian log. WHEU, Springfield, Mass.; KIDW, Lamar, Colo.; and WILT, Troy, Ala., are three new 100-watt stations that have just been authorized by the Federal Radio Commission. Station WLBG, Petersburg, Va., has just been acquired by local interests and will change its call to WPIR. Sometime during the latter part of this month, KEXY, Prescott, Ariz., will start operating at Yuma as YUMA. The newest Canadian station at Windsor, opposite Detroit, originally stated to bear the call letters CKOW, will be known as CKOK.

Opera Star On WBBM

CBS thinks it has found a second Kate Smith in Belle Forbes Cutter, the soprano who has deserted opera and concert stage to sign with WBBM. Miss Cutter is a pioneer in Chicago radio fields, but for several years her voice has not been heard over the air. She will be featured every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 7:45 (CDST) in the evening. Her program will consist of popular music arranged for her.

Airicature

Ten dollars will be awarded each week to the winners of RADIO GUIDE'S AIRICATURE CONTEST. Just identify the radio personage above and send the name, together with your comment of the artist's program, to AIRICATURES, care of RADIO GUIDE. $5.00 first prize, $3.00 second prize and $2.00 third prize will be awarded to the persons correctly naming the artist and sending in the best comment, not exceeding 200 words. All entries for this week's contest must be postmarked not later than Wednesday, June 22.

'March Of Time' Back As Columbia Sustainer

The "March of Time" will return to the air on September 9 over a Columbia network. The series will lay particular emphasis on the events of American politics and the most important world events.

In order to maintain the same flavor that the "March of Time" has had as a Time magazine broadcast, Columbia has arranged with the editors of Time to prepare the script as heretofore and the casting and production will all be in the same hands that molded last season's presentation.

Time magazine itself will resume sponsorship of the program on November 4 and continue until the middle of next March.

Radcliffe Believes Air Drama New Art

Train the radio audience to listen—then you're on the road to a new art form.

So believes Vernon Radcliffe. For the last three years Radcliffe has been directing the NBC Radio Guild dramas, which present each week a recognized play by a master playwright. He feels that a new dramatic form is gradually evolving.

"Some call it broadcast drama," says Radcliffe. "Whatever it is, it has a third dimension that the stage doesn't have. First we had to develop a listening audience. Now, after three years of painstaking work, we know that people have developed this listening sense, because we are able to do things on the air that we couldn't have attempted three years ago.

Tribute To Victor Herbert On The Air

Fritzi Scheff will be heard in the annual Victor Herbert Memorial program which will be broadcast from the main ballroom of the Ritz-Carlton Hotel in New York over an NBC network this Sunday at 6:00 p. m. (CDST). Other artists who will sing some of the most famous of the Herbert songs are James Melton, Frank Munn and Virginia Rea. Harold Sanford, who is an old friend of the composer, will direct the program, and Gene Buck, President of the American Society of Authors, Composers and Publishers, will act as master of ceremonies during the hour broadcast.

Local outlet WLS.

Helen Morgan, Bill Terry On Air Sunday

Helen Morgan, from the current revival of "Show Boat," and "Memphis Bill," Terry, the new manager and first baseman of the New York Giants, will be the guests of Ed Sullivan during the Gem Highlights broadcast this Sunday at 9:00 p. m. (CDST) over the Columbia network.

Miss Morgan will take the lead in a dramatization of the most thrilling moment of her life, her triumphal return to Chicago in 1925 as the prima donna of "Scandals of 1925." Terry, who succeeds John McGraw, will dramatize the two most thrilling moments in his baseball career.

Local outlet WBBM.

Goldman's Fifteenth Year At The Mall

Edwin Franko Goldman will lead his band in his fifteenth summer concert series at the Mall in Central Park, New York. They will be broadcast over an NBC network this Tuesday at 8:30 p. m. (CDST). He will give a second broadcast every week on Sundays at 7:30 p. m. (CDST) from WMAQ.

This will be the twelfth year the bandmaster has directed his sixty-two piece unit on the air, and he plans to introduce several features never before presented in radio broadcasts. Wood clarinets are being discarded in favor of all metal instruments and the brass section will be equipped with bell-front alto horns, an innovation made under Goldman's personal supervision which will give his music a quality never before heard in similar organizations.

Goldman has been a figure in American band circles for almost twenty years. He has played some 780 New York City concerts. For the past four years his audiences are said to have averaged 1,500,000 persons per season. "On the Mall" is probably his best known composition. Among others are "Chimes of Liberty," "Sagamore," "Eagle Eyes," "Sunapee," "Central Park," "On the Pier" and "New Yorker."

National Open Golf Tournament On Air

America's greatest golfing event, the National Open Championship, will be described over NBC networks during the three days of play, June 23, 24 and 25. Alex Morrison, golf authority, will act as chief NBC announcer during the broadcasts from the French Meadow Country Club at Flushing, Long Island.

During the first two days of play, Morrison will give a summary of results as soon as the last player is in. On the final day, Saturday, he will describe the play as it is going on, and announce the name of the new national champion as soon as the results are known.

During the final rounds Morrison will go on the NBC networks at intervals during the day, giving the latest standing and describing exciting developments in the tournament.

Three's A Crowd

Vinton Haworth, the Jack Arnold of the "Myrt and Marge" skit, and Ray Hedges, who plays the slower part, write that they are having a wonderful vacation touring the east. Mrs. Haworth is chaperoning.

Mrs. Emerson is heard regularly each Saturday on the day-time programs. She was formerly an organ student of Ralph's school, and therefore uses his technique in playing. The romance of the teacher and the student culminated in a wedding on the air over WLS several years ago, when Emerson played his own wedding march.

The Once Over

By LEONARD DURKIN

THE GREATEST SHOW on earth is under way! The comic, tragic, thrilling, pathetic, dramatic show known as the presidential election is being presented for your entertainment by the Republican-Democratic Company, makers of presidential candidates. You can tune in one of our candidates any time now. Listen to all of them and pick your choice. Is he wet, is he dry or is he moist? Does he croon, does he whisper or does he shout? What is his stand on the tariff, on the bonus, on war debts and on the condition of the working man? And when you have weighed the good and bad points of each of our candidates, go to the polls and vote for your favorite. Nothing to buy; no cigar bands to send in; just mark an X on the ballot. The candidate receiving the most votes will be featured for the next four years in the comedy production entitled "The President." And now—on with the show! Okey, Chicago!

Just as a sort of object lesson to the thousands of people who aspire to radio fame we quote the following true story:

John Olafson had lived since he was a boy in Joeburg, Iowa (both the name and the town are fictitious, but they'll do for this story). He had a radio and he read the papers, and he knew that those who attained fame on the air received fabulous sums for each broadcast. Two thousand, five thousand, even ten thousand dollars a week for just acting around a little every day before one of those black boxes. That was a lot of money to John, who worked in a bicycle factory where they paid by piecework. So John decided to enter this business of radio broadcasting, and carve himself a niche in the ether hall of fame.

John owned a fiddle, a pretty good fiddle as fiddles go. And he could play hot tunes on it that made his friends say he was the best ever. And he could play sad songs on it too, songs that made the women cry when he played them at a wedding or a party. So John began a campaign of letter writing. He got himself a radio log and he wrote a letter to every station in the log, explaining his qualifications and asking for an audition. After two weeks during which he waited patiently but in vain for replies, he addressed another batch of letters to the stations, and a few weeks later the local postoffice was again, for the third time, given the task of shipping John's letters to every corner of the country. And in the end persistence had its reward. John received a notice from a station about six hundred miles from his home town that if he would present himself at such-and-such a time on a certain day he would be given an audition to determine his suitability as a radio artist.

Well, John quit his job, took the two hundred and thirty-eight dollars he had saved up from his place behind the picture of Washington and took the train bound, he was sure, for a place in the hearts of all radio fans.

Bright and early the next morning John, with his trusty fiddle under his arm, presented himself to the girl who presided over the reception room of the radio station. He was, he informed that person, John Olafson. Well, that was very nice, said the girl, but what of it? John explained, with as much patience as he could, that he had been requested to give an audition. This seemed to have the desired effect, for she immediately called an important looking individual who came over and talked to John. After looking John over the important looking individual began firing questions at him. How many years of concert experience had he had? Did he belong to the musicians union? Could he make his own arrangements? Could he play solo parts? And John felt dizzy.

Now John is back in Joeburg, Iowa, working in the bicycle factory. He often plays on his fiddle, hot tunes that make his friends say he is the best ever, and sad songs that make the women cry. But as far as John is concerned the radio can go hang.

Orchestral Golf Match

That coming golf match between Ben Bernie and George Olsen should be interesting, and provide Radio Row with plenty of laughs.

Ben wants to play for a case of Blue Ribbon nial against a case of Canada Dry ginger ale, made by Olsen's radio sponsors. Olsen counters by saying he'll caddy for Ben for a month if he loses.

The contest will start officially on July 4, several days after "The Old Maestro" comes to town. According to smiling George Olsen, he's just fired half of his band because he's learned that the lads bet their all on Bernie. Latest developments are a challenge from Buddy Rogers and another from Abe Lyman. Buddy says he'll "spot" either of the lads a stroke a hole, and play the last nine left-handed. Lyman says he'll give the same odds, besides using an umbrella to putt with.

MUSIC IN THE AIR

By CARLETON SMITH

LAWRENCE TIBBETT

LAWRENCE TIBBETT has finished the longest radio series ever given by an operatic star and has thereby established another record. Off for Europe to spend the entire summer in rest and study, Mr. Tibbett may well take an account of the traditions broken and the path-blazed during his thirty-four years. No other American singer within remembrance has sailed from our shores for the first time with so many achievements behind him.

CARLETON SMITH

Without a single day of study abroad, Tibbett has acceded to title roles at the Metropolitan Opera and has indisputably dominated the performance. His concert following has increased enormously in recent seasons until it is exceeded only by that of John McCormack, and Tibbett is the only singer of today to be successful in the three fields of opera, concert, and the cinema. To these laurels, he has now added those of the radio world. And this career of instituting precedents has brought its rewards; his name stands, with the single exception of Paderewski's, at the top of the list of incomes received by musicians.

HIS SUCCESS

The secret of this success? To what would you ascribe it? A decade or so ago a bare-foot boy in a mountain home in California. Today the recipient of the largest income paid in his chosen profession. How was this achieved?

A God-given voice, to be sure! An earnestness and persistence of purpose . . . a youthful vitality . . . an ability to dramatize . . . a power of telling stories in song . . . a knowledge of the public's likes . . . a well-managed career! All of these, yes—and more—that which makes me willing to say that Lawrence Tibbett has as great potential capacities as any living singer; the ability to reach into the deep core of imaginative experience, to capture, and to project the ultimate secrets of human perception; as someone has said of Dante, "the gift of steeping the soul in the thing which is the secret of life, of love, and of genius." This gift Lawrence Tibbett has.

Tibbett's success is genuine. It is not cheap, nor is it manufactured. The public has acclaimed him, and the public, blind and unreasoning though its musical intelligence may be, is the best barometer of artistic worth that I know.

IN THE CINEMA

Music-lovers have been rightfully disappointed in Tibbett's movies. The songs chosen have not been the best vehicles by which to give his voice to the public. Yet this was too rich a field to abandon, and Mr. Tibbett was guided by the producers and savants of Hollywood, who are said to know what the public wants. At least the public heard songs that it could understand in its own language, however doubtful their musical value. And Mr. Tibbett's command of the vocal art was combined with a rhetorical emphasis that gave all possible eloquence to tawdry music.

IN RECITAL

There can be no question that his movies brought a large number of people to the concert-halls who never before had seen their interior. Thus Tibbett was able to give them a taste of better music. He has adopted John McCormack's plan of placing greater music first and leaving the ballads until the last. And he has found excellent English translations for many of the finest lieder of Brahms, Loewe, Wolf, and Schubert. He prefers always to sing in English, and he wants Americans, he says, to become accustomed to the use of their language as a medium of expression for profound emotional experiences. Certainly we are in need of such a lesson, for most of us have come to believe, from lack of demonstration, that English cannot be so used.

Mr. Tibbett has a natural reserve and poise of manner that give some persons the notion that he is egotistical. Those who know him will tell you that is not true. His success has not spoiled him. He is always seeking to touch the common bond between himself and his fellow man. But his personality is dignified and he does not transcend his dignity even when he sings in a most jocular vein. I have watched a stolid and apparently phlegmatic audience come under his spell and reach out its hand to clasp his and hold it lingeringly.

ON THE ETHER

It is not possible to judge the response of the radio audience. The concentrated virility of Tibbett's voice and the mellow glow of its lightly floating overtones are ideally suited to the microphone. His ability to make words live and to color his tone undoubtedly left vibrations singing in the hearts of his "invisible audience"—as it did in mine. His sponsors are more than satisfied, and we shall hear him frequently next season.

IN THE OPERA

A comparatively small number of people have had the opportunity of watching Lawrence Tibbett grow in opera. It is here that his compelling instincts for dramatic delivery have brought him to the fore as the greatest singing actor on the operatic stage in our country since Chaliapin. He has encompassed performances of Ford in "Falstaff," Amonasro, Giorgio Germont, Mercutio, Valentine, Telramund, Wolfgram, Scarpia, King Edgar, Colonel Ibbetson, and Simon Boccanegra (which for me was the foremost achievement of the past season at the "Met"). Next winter we shall hear him in Louis Gruenberg's setting of "Emperor Jones." But the most memorable roles in his career are yet to be achieved.

Mr. Tibbett will study this summer the roles of Boris Godunoff and Hans Sachs. He has a desire to grow into the understanding of the noble-spirited cobbler-meistersinger. This he considers the finest creation in opera, a man old enough to look on life with mellow understanding and young enough to respond to youth. He knows and wants to sing Iago, Golaud, and Falstaff. An ambition as yet unrealized is his desire to sing Pelleas. His voice is placed high enough and could easily encompass Debussy's music. Study with Mary Garden, who knows most about this opera, would be invaluable.

It is for these roles that I am waiting. Then will we be able to comprehend the full stature of Tibbett, the artist.

IN THE FUTURE

When I say that Tibbett has not yet reached the zenith of his career, I am not unmindful of his almost incredible growth. Only a few seasons ago, he was awkward, ungainly, unfinished. He could not model the clay of his means and moods as he does today. Yet there was present, even then, the will to know—the unassailable rectitude of feeling and presentation, and his own confidence in a profound imagination. A glorious organ was and is his. The countless subtleties of articulation and adjustment have been realized. Recognition and opportunity have been won. Today Lawrence Tibbett stands on the threshold of a larger temple. Therein he will find music of richer content and significance—music in the realization and conveyance of which his eloquence as interpreter may become consummate and overwhelming. He will then be the interpreter-elect of our generation who explores the soul of great song and lays it bare to us.

MUSIC CRITIC AND BARITONE

Carleton Smith, music critic of the Radio Guide, and Lawrence Tibbett, are shown examining some of the host of songs that are submitted to the baritone. Mr. Tibbett and Mr. Smith are sailing for a summer abroad of rest and study. This will be Mr. Tibbett's first crossing.

Brinkley To Run

Dr. John R. Brinkley, the Kansas goat gland specialist, whose radio station, KF'KB in Milford, Kansas, was taken off the air last year because of his medical broadcasts, has just announced that he will run for the governor of Kansas. He tried the same thing two years ago and, because of his self-conducted radio campaign, he garnered 183,000 votes, just a few thousand short of election. But this time he has no radio station at hand to help him, unless he buys time from existing stations.

So What?

Summer has come officially to the NBC studios. Announcers have changed over to replace the summer outfits of white flannels to replace the customary tuxedos during evening broadcasting hours.

Believe It Or Not

Eddie Duchin, orchestra leader, is extremely nervous before every broadcast and doesn't like the idea of going on the air each time . . . though he has been at it for a long time, can't get over the habit of counting out loud when he starts up his orchestra . . . as a result, the "one, two" go over the air . . . Unlike most pianists he plays melody with his left hand on bass keys . . .

Sings the tunes gently to himself so that he doesn't lose the famous rhythm . . . plays the piano standing up most of the time . . . Has stacks of music in front of him but never looks at a note . . . Shuts his eyes when playing "hot" choruses . . . Times his programs to the second and never consults a watch.

MEET THE ARTIST

An Interview with Goodman Ace, of "Easy Aces"

THE first thing everyone asks me about my life is when and where I was born. I always say I was born in Kansas City several years ago.

Kansas City is a great place—I met Jane there, you see. We used to go to school together. Sort of schoolday sweethearts, you know? The whole thing was a big misunderstanding though—I mean our getting married. I walked home from school one day with Jane and when I left her I said, "I'll give you a ring tomorrow." And she

Kansas City Star. That meant interviewing movie and stage celebrities who wandered into town and taking in the shows. Well, I had to do something to keep Jane's seal coat hanging in the closet.

But I was glad to get on the radio. If you must get personal, I had done some radio work before the advent of "Easy Aces." If you'll promise not to talk about it, I'll admit that I read the funny papers to the kids every Sunday morning for several years. Besides that I conducted an inquiry column, said, "This is so sudden!" I agreed with her.

JANE AND GOODMAN ACE

But then, when it was all over, I was glad. We started playing bridge right away with friends or anybody who would take our money. Well, we really lost all the time—no, I take that back—one night we won. But we really seldom did make a winning.

Of course we had the usual arguments during and after the game until one day I got the idea that I might get even on our bridge lessons by doing something with the way Jane played bridge. So we sold the idea to a radio station there and they seemed to like it. We put it on and it ran for about a year. Then a commercial advertiser heard the program and decided to buy it for Chicago, and in the past few months for the Columbia network.

Yes, I write the scripts. Oh, I should say it takes me about two hours to write one fifteen minute episode. You see, we have to keep bridge in the script somewhere, enough of it to keep the idea of the broadcast going, and yet not too much of it to confuse the listeners who don't play bridge. If you notice, we seldom get technical about bridge. The mistakes and boners that are made are usually of a general nature so that almost anybody can understand them.

It's true that we actually have a bridge set—tables and chairs to match—with a microphone built in the center of the table. We deal the cards and everything, although we don't play them as they are actually dealt.

Of course, I'm used to writing for a living. For twelve years I was a drama critic and wrote a column called "Lobbying" for the answering questions about the movies, and reviewed current pictures over the air. By the time I took up this bridge game idea I had four programs going.

Right here I want to say something about Jane. Every day we get dozens of letters asking us if Jane is really as dumb off the air as she is on. Well, I wouldn't say that—that is, well . . . er . . . a . . .

About Jane's appearance—that's another thing people always want to know about. She's five feet one. She stays about the same height all the time. Weighs about 102 pounds, has blonde hair and gray eyes. She's really the prettiest little wife I ever had.

Now please—I hate to talk about myself. But if you must have it, I'm six feet tall. Weigh one hundred and eighty-five pounds. Sport a mustache and enjoy a good cigarette holder. Also like the theater.

Do I like radio better than newspaper work? Yep. That is, so far. It's more interesting, and—well, you know what newspaper salaries are . . .

My big fear is that this depression may blow over and I'll have to go back and work on a newspaper again.

My ambition is to make a success of "Easy Aces."

I've enjoyed meeting you, too . . . drop in over our way sometime, when we get back from our vacation. We're going to California, you know, by way of the Panama Canal, so we will be off the air from July 2 until about the first week in September. Yep, we'll be on Columbia with the same sponsor. But drop up then and meet the gang . . . We'll take you on for a little bridge game at a quarter of a cent a point.

broadcasts of every important political speech during the course of the campaign. The chains are strictly non-partisan. For every minute on the air given to one party, another will be given to the other. And so important will be the radio in this campaign, that for every political broadcast during the 1928 battle, there will be two this year. There were 2,000,000 receiving sets in this country in 1928. There are 17,000,000 now.

All other things being equal, the candidate with the most vivid radio personality is going to win this year's election, say the wiseacres. And they believe that the race, thus far, is pretty nearly a nose and nose affair. Therefore they believe that if the Democrats nominate a man who has "air personality" the Democrats will win.

President Hoover, they point out, is a calm, almost colorless speaker before the microphone.

If the Democrats nominate a forceful, clever orator—such as Newton D. Baker—they will possess a distinct advantage.

On the other hand, if they again nominate Alfred E. Smith, they will place themselves in the same position as in 1928. Jokingly, it has often been said that the ex-Governor of New York lost the election through his pronunciation of the word "radio." But perhaps there was more to it than a joke. In the midwest, in the South, and in fact almost anywhere except in New York City, the voters found it difficult to digest Mr. Smith's Manhattan accent. It was received with acclaim on the sidewalks of New York—but on Main Street it was puzzling. Probably Mr. Smith's pronunciation wasn't the factor that lost the election. But politicians seriously believe it had some effect on the rural vote.

President Hoover has no noticeable accent, which is a point in his favor. The great broadcasting companies who make it their business to know what the public wants, invariably select their announcers from those who have no trace of any provincial accent, whether it be a Maine drawl or the soft, smooth tones of a Georgian.

On the other hand President Hoover lacks fire. His tones carry no appeal for women—and women vote, too. The appeal of President Hoover is to the cold, calm citizen who deals in platforms rather than personalities. But it is going to take personality to win this election.

If the Democrats nominate Speaker John Garner his Texas drawl, although a forceful drawl, will set the South and West on fire. But in New York penthouses they're liable to yawn and mutter "yokel."

There's another, and not so well known, secret about the fiery Texan. He doesn't like microphones. After a score of years of shouting to his legislative colleagues without the aid of "Mike" he finds it difficult to keep his voice on a proper plane when he goes on the air.

Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, favored to win the Democratic nomination, is an impressive and experienced radio speaker. His voice is clear cut and forceful and has none of the Manhattanese accent of Mr. Smith. Furthermore, Governor Roosevelt is one of the few men in public life who would rather speak over the radio than with what might be termed his "naked" voice. Gov. Roosevelt looks the microphone in the eye and lets go. With one exception, he is the Democratic party's best bet, so far as the radio is concerned.

That one exception, mentioned before, is Newton D. Baker, President Wilson's wartime cabinet member. Of small stature, rather commonplace personality when engaged in conversation, he actually glitters when he takes the speaker's stand, especially before the microphone. Some observers rate Baker as the most compelling Democratic speaker. If the Smith forces balk Roosevelt and the Democratic convention turns to Baker for a compromise, the Democratic Donkey will find itself possessed of a real bray—as far as the radio is concerned.

There's another angle. Newton D. Baker, for some obscure reason that has never been fathomed, either in politicians or crooners, has air "sex appeal." Maybe it's not exactly sex appeal, but Baker has that something which appeals to the voters. Observers say that Baker is the most compelling possible candidate—as an orator—since William Jennings Bryan. He has all Bryan's fire, and he combines it with Wilson's cold logic.

Those are the four principal Democratic candidates, and to them we ought to add Albert Ritchie, Maryland's Governor. Gov. Ritchie is eloquent, but he lacks the savoir faire of Roosevelt, and the power of Baker. However, he probably has more air personality than Hoover.

Programs For Wednesday, June 22

LIZZIE, AGGIE AND TISH

The three well known Broadway actresses pictured above — Marion Barney, Helen Lowell and May Buckley—are bringing Mary Roberts Rinehart's famous trio of spinsters, Tish, Lizzie and Aggie to the radio audience in a dramatization of the famous Tish stories. They are heard over an NBC network each Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday night at 9:45 (CDST).

Tin-Pan Album

By DOROTHY DEERE

IF your favorite dance-band sounded a bit below par last Monday nite, or the music a little brassie, you'll have to blame Milt Pollack for inviting its leader out to the Bryn Mawr Country Club to compete in the First Annual Chicago Orchestra Leader's Golf Tournament . . .

Dorothy Deere

and if you find this column a strange medley of musical and golf terms, well, Milt gets the blame for that too . . . for inveigling its writer to go along and help award the prize to the Best Dressed Golfer. If you're devoted to your Dailies, you no doubt know that Gus Arnheim won First Prize by five strokes and a down-beat . . . that Johnny Maitland, who used to be a golf pro, took second . . . Mac McCloud, Third . . . Joe Sanders, Fourth . . . Maurie Sherman, Carl Moore and Charlie Agnew, Fifth, Sixth and Seventh, respectively. The booby, a small figure of the World's Worst Golfer, went to Herb Carlin . . . which just goes to show that Justice is not only blind, but heartless. Herb furnished the barrel that kept the party from getting too dry and after keeping everyone's glasses filled all day should have been awarded the Cup on general principles. The title of Best Dressed Golfer was given to Eddie Niebauer (who, tho' a jazzbandist, was a symphony in tan and brown) and anyone who thinks that this decision was an easy task simply doesn't know his band-dandies, or his judges either. With Dorothy Thomas (Arnheim warbless) and Betty Agnew (Cholly's wife) voting Arnheim and Agnew on every ballot, and Doris Robbins electing Bob Barker for a rummy-game instead, it took something radical like the stripes on Eddie's flannels, to create a land-slide.

Gallery Glimpses: Al Beilin and Joe Dracca (Reception Committee) receptioning Jack Russell with the remark that no children are allowed on the course and offering to let him caddy . . . Mac McCloud sinking a putt with his nose . . . Carl Moore, unrecognizable at a distance in sunshade and knickers, identifying himself by shouting, "How-de-doo folks, it's not Rudy Vallee" . . . Maurie Sherman demanding his tees with lemon . . . Harry Sosnik trying to tee off with a gallery of song-publishers shouting "Take your tempo" and "Put a little Pennzoil on it" . . . Harry slicing, one song-publisher remarking, "Not so good" and a second s. p. silencing the first with, "Shh—it's darn good, that's a chain program" . . . Ace Brigode being audibly envied for his well-seasoned tan . . . Joe Sanders having a special gallery of adoring fem-fans . . . Gus Kahn resolving to organize a three-piece band so he can compete in next year's tournament . . . Charlie Agnew trying to give away his clubs at the twenty-seventh hole . . . Roy Shields out-putting Sanders and Joe alibi-ing himself by declaring, "God pushed it in for him" . . . Al Beilin informing us that Jack Chapman is playing with his drummers sticks and expects to beat it after the ninth hole . . . Johnny Maitland being nominated for the best "form" on the links . . . A moment of anxiety being caused when a canvas-covered dump-cart appears in the distance and Sid Lorraine moans, "They're bringing Burnett in" . . . Bob Cole keeping score on a foursome and trying to build up the music business by trading strokes for songs . . . Me remarking to Betty Agnew that Arnheim has the sweetest band in town, and explaining to Dorothy Thomas that of course Agnew has the best vocalists, and deciding to learn to use my mouth for eating hereafter . . . Earl Burnett removing his shoes and finishing in baby-blue socks . . . Charlie Newman and Henry Dunn looking like the most sun-burned song-writer and encee in town, respectively . . . Everybody looking like it's going to be Blue Monday-nite for dance rhythm!

CLEM AND HARRY ARE BACK TOGETHER AGAIN

Here are the Original Riddle and Grin Boys—little Clem and Harry who tip the scales at a cool 500 lbs. Harry plays the piano and he and Clem sing in a rich baritone in the Kitchen Klenzer program each Saturday at 10:15 p. m. (CDST) over WLS. Harry, who is Mr. Hosford to some, and Clem, who is Mr. Dacey to others, have been romping on the air together for the last two years. It seems that the boys once worked for the same music publishing house. One day they had their palms read and the crystal gazed at. The result was the now famous duet. In their present program they sing the old timers and write a number of their own songs. "Tripping Along," "Summer Melody" and "You're Killing Me" are a few of Harry's, and he's on three new ones. Harry does all his composing in his car. The hum of the engine seems to beat out a melody for him. The boys have recently completed a six month's personal appearance tour of the east. They had a novel wind up to their act each night. Clem sang "Down Upon the Swanee River" while Harry played it and at the same time sang "Call of the South." Little Harry, by the way, used to be the Town Crier over at WLS. Maybe you remember him.

Jack Smith Returns

Whispering Jack Smith, who recently returned from extended appearances in the music halls of Europe, is back on the air over an NBC network. He is singing popular songs in his old familiar style each Monday and Wednesday evening at 9:15 p. m. (CDST.) After June 23 the program will be broadcast on Thursdays also.

The new series presents Smith in solo selections with special chorus arrangements introducing the Humming Birds, a female trio. Instrumental selections are furnished by Arnold Johnson and his orchestra. Local outlet WMAQ.

Freak Audition

When Margaret Sullivan appeared in a recent broadcast of "Roses and Drums," it marked her debut as a radio actress. The initial broadcast occurred exactly a year and a week after she had played her first leading role on Broadway. Miss Sullivan is known on the stage for her husky voice, and following her broadcast she related how she was signed for her first acting role. She was taking part in an amateur production and insisted on going through with it despite an attack of laryngitis. A New York producer happened to be "out front," thought her throaty speech attractive, and engaged her for his next show.

OUT OF THE ETHER

With Burns And Allen

GRACIE—George, after the broadcast I'll take you home in my automobile.

GEORGE—Are you going to drive?

GRACIE—Sure!

GEORGE—I'll walk!

GRACIE—Oh you're silly! I'm a very careful driver . . . I only had seventeen accidents last week and every one was the other fellow's fault.

GEORGE—I know, I'll walk!

GRACIE—My last accident was a big lamp post . . . I blew my horn twice and it wouldn't get out of my way.

GEORGE—Yes—he was probably a bad driver!

GRACIE—Sure. He had a bad sense of direction.

GEORGE—Gracie, what kind of a car have you got . . . I've got a coupe.

GRACIE—Ho! My father's got one of those but he parts it in the middle!

GEORGE—All right! I've finally found a way to stop you from talking!

GRACIE—How?

GEORGE—We're now going to sing a song.

GRACIE—Who's going to play for us?

GEORGE—Guy Lombardo.

GRACIE—Well, if he's going suddenly to start playing music . . . we certainly can sing . . .

(SONG)

GEORGE—We're dancing now! You're missing this! Gracie, have you ever done any taxi dancing?

GRACIE—There you go again! Who could dance in a taxi cab!

GEORGE—Gracie, whose dancing do you like the best, Guy Lombardo or mine?

GRACIE—I think you and Guy Lombardo should always dance together! You make a lovely team!

GEORGE—Team! A team is two horses!

GRACIE—Well, a baby in a cradle knows that!

BIG PAY IN BROADCASTING

Floyd Gibbons Famous Radio Broadcaster

IT ISN'T necessary to be a "star" to make good money in Broadcasting. There are hundreds of people in Broadcasting work who are practically unknown—yet they easily make $3,000 to $5,000 a year, while, of course, the "stars" often make $25,000 to $50,000 a year.

If you have talent—if you have a good speaking voice, can sing, act, write, direct or sell—then here is an amazing new method of practical training developed by Floyd Gibbons, that fits you—right in your own home in your spare time—for the job you want.

Millions of dollars paid to trained talent every year. Men and women unknown today will be the high salaried Graham MacNabees, Olive Palmers and Floyd Gibbons of tomorrow. The Floyd Gibbons School will train you in the technique of Broadcasting so that you, too, may qualify for one of the big paying Broadcasting jobs open to men and women of talent and training.

Our FREE book "How to Find Your Place in Broadcasting" gives full particulars regarding our Course. It tells you how to prepare for a good position in Broadcasting—how you can turn your hidden talents into money, without giving up your present job or making a single sacrifice of any kind. You learn at home in your spare time. Send coupon at once for free book.

Floyd Gibbons School of Broadcasting, 2000 14th St. N. W., Dept. 2F32, Washington, D. C. Without obligation send me your free booklet "How to Find Your Place in Broadcasting" and full particulars of your home study course.

Female Viewpoint

John Erskine, well known American novelist and writer, understands the woman's viewpoint and interprets it to a coast-to-coast radio audience as part of the General Electric Daily Circle program heard every Thursday at 11:00 a. m. (CDST) over an NBC network. Besides being an author of half a dozen best sellers, Mr. Erskine is also a professor of English at Columbia University and president of the Juilliard Foundation of Music, and a pianist of note. His weekly talks are a discussion of present day problems from the point of view of the woman listener. Local outlet WENR.

Orchestral Doings

GEORGE HALL

George Hall of the broad shoulders, dark, scrupulously waxed mustache, and fresh boutonniere, is heard conducting his dance orchestra from the Hotel Taft, New York, more than any other Band on Columbia . . . eleven times a week. Born in Brooklyn, he first played the violin at the age of six . . . When twelve he played beside his father in Victor Herbert's original orchestra. Graduated from Cornell, where he starred on the gridiron and diamond. His favorite musical selection is "Kiss Me Again" . . . Favorite pastimes are golf and books . . . Favorite shirts are striped . . . and spaghetti is his favorite dish. Smokes twenty black cigars a day, all the time he is rehearsing.

Ben Bernie arrived in New York on Saturday, June 11, for a week's engagement at the Palace theater.

Herbie Kay began a summer engagement at the Baker Hotel in Dallas, Texas, on June 18. Dorothy Lamour is the featured vocalist with the orchestra.

Dan Russo and his Orioles are now playing in the Pompeian Room of the Congress Hotel in Chicago, where they broadcast nightly over KYW.

When Hal Kemp and his orchestra opened at Lakeside Park, Denver, for MCA on June 17, they were returning to the scene of their first broadcasting activities, for it was over KOA, Denver, that the band first went on the air.

Jules C. Stein, president of Music Corporation of America, is now out on the west coast where he will discuss a proposition calling for the appearance of Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians in Los Angeles during the Olympic Games. Mr. Stein will also confer with moving picture executives regarding offers of movie contracts for Guy.

Jimmy Garrigan and his orchestra are playing an engagement at the Modernistic Ballroom in Fair Park, Milwaukee. They will return to the Oriental Gardens in Chicago, where they will broadcast nightly over WBBM, at the conclusion of the Milwaukee engagement.

We understand that Ivory Soap will lose one of its most popular advertisements when B. A. Rolfe goes off the air on July 1.

Jan Garber, one of MCA's headliners, opens at Norumbega Park in Auburndale, Mass., on June 20, succeeding Emerson Gill.

Perry Dring continues to play for the dancers at that beautiful Bertrand Island Park in Lake Hopatcong, New Jersey.

On June 21, Jack Denny will feature his mixed choir during the Lucky Strike Dance Hour.

VOICE OF THE LISTENER

Best Airicature

Chicago, Illinois

Gentlemen:

The Airicature in the Radio Guide of June 5th is that of Morton Downey, heard on the Camel Quarter Hour.

My evening doesn't seem complete without the clear high tenor voice of Morton Downey on the 10:30 spot.

With lights turned low, I would listen and enjoy his soothing and melodious voice as he sang old and new ballads. His is the kind of voice that, like olives, one must acquire a taste for, and though many people may not enjoy his type of voice, to me it is musical and sympathetic.

The only criticism I can find with the program is that it has been taken off the air. A good program should be just as enjoyable in the summer as in the winter, and I will now await the return of the Camel Minstrel, hoping it will not be long before I can hear him again.

Fay Korman

A New Candidate

Jersey City, N. J.

Dear Editor:

Reading of Mary E. Swain's favorite tenors, will agree that Frank Munn, John Fogarty have lovely voices; James Melton we expect to be all that he is. Mr. Kirbery I never miss and enjoy, but there is one yet who in my thinking has genuine quality and natural smooth tone. It is the much loved voice of Richard Maxwell. Why not listen to Tone Pictures, Pilgrims, and hear a real rich tenor voice? I never miss him.

Mary E. Holloway

Ungrateful Artists

Schenectady, N. Y.

Dear Sir:

Having read recently in your magazine how dependent the radio stars are upon favorable letters from their fans, I have spent time and plenty of postage writing them how much I have enjoyed their programs and have induced others to write them. And here's what I find—with few exceptions—a bunch of "swelled heads" that don't know enough to acknowledge or answer any questions of non-personal nature asked them.

I should think when people take time to write several letters a month to these stars who are depending on public opinion to keep them on the air, the least they can do is to answer when asked a question.

It takes a longer time to climb up the ladder than it does to come down.

Agnes McCormick

WSUN

Evanston, Illinois

Dear Sir:

I think it was in the week before last issue you had an article on the call letters and what they stood for, and you stated that WSUN of St. Petersburg, Florida, was named for a paper called the "Sun."

This is a mistake, as there are only two daily papers in St. Petersburg, the "Times" and the "Evening Independent" which gives away its entire issue every day on which the sun does not shine, as St. Petersburg is called the "Sunshine City," and it was a little newsboy who coined the call letters "WSUN," which means "Why Stay Up North?" and won five dollars as a prize.

I would appreciate it very much if you would print this letter to correct the error about station WSUN, which is located on the million dollar pier.

With best wishes for a successful year, and congratulations on your very valuable RADIO GUIDE, I am

Peggy "Sunshine" Briggs

Dislikes Criticism

Chicago, Illinois

Dear Sir:

I have been a subscriber to and reader of your GUIDE for the last six months, having bought every issue during that time. I like everything about your periodical except the front page "knocking" articles. They are discrediting your otherwise fine RADIO GUIDE. I have heard this from quite a few people and give you this information for your own benefit.

This is written impartially as I like some of those your paper has "knocked" and extremely dislike some of the others.

How a paper can expect to increase its circulation by knocking the artists whose pictures and programs it advertises is more than I can understand.

New Role For Lord As Country Doctor.

Phillips H. Lord, creator of "Seth Parker," "Uncle Abe and David" and "The Stebbins Boys," will go on the air with "The Country Doctor," a new program to be inaugurated over an NBC network this Monday at 9:00 p. m. (CDST). It will be regularly broadcast every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday night. The act is a series of dramatic sketches written and produced by Lord with himself in the title role.

PHILLIPS LORD

With the exception of the Doctor, an entirely new cast of characters will be presented at each broadcast. In every episode "Dr. Matthews" will find a new group of people seeking him out as friend, physician and guide. And each caller will find a shrewd, but kindly soul, skilled in the practice of his profession and wise in his judgment of men. Local outlet WMAQ.

Seen And Heard

Curly-haired Jimmy Klepser, two years old, the World's First Television Baby, won the contest, including the cup and fifty dollars in gold, from 650 entrants at the Radio Electrical Show last January. He is now making television appearances twice weekly. Jimmy plays a combination of ukelele and harmonica and dances. He also accompanies on the piano. The young Klepser apparently comes from a family of contest winners, for his mother several years ago was awarded the prize for possessing the smallest and most perfect fool in Los Angeles.

Short Wave—DX

Monroe, Wisconsin

Dear Sir:

I have been reading your DX column with interest, so thought I would give you something for that column which may interest the readers. Below I am giving the short wave stations I listened to during the months of January, February, March and April, and which I have written to for verification. To date I have verifications from most of the stations listed, although all letters have not yet returned, as, for instance, the Australian stations require about two months for a round trip for a letter. The same is true of Indo-China, Java and the Argentina and Brazil stations.

- VK3ME—Melbourne, Australia
- VK2ME—Sydney, Australia
- EAR25—Barcelona, Spain
- I2RO—Rome, Italy
- LSN—Buenos Aires, Argentina
- FYA—PonToise or Colonial, Paris, France
- KKH—Kauhuka, Hawaii
- VRT—Hamilton, Bermuda
- HCIDR—Quito, Ecuador
- HKO—Medillen, Colombia
- HKM—Bogota, Colombia
- GBU—Rugby, England
- HBΓ—Geneva, Switzerland
- LSOR—Buenos Aires, Argentina
- HKF—Bogota, Colombia
- CMCI—Havana, Cuba
- G5SW—Chelmsford, England
- GBX—Rugby, England
- HKA—Barranquilla, Colombia
- K6NO—Kauhuka, Hawaii
- DFA—Nauen, Germany
- PRADO—Riobamba, Ecuador
- TJW—Hamilton, Bermuda
- GBW—Rugby, England
- PCT—Hilversum, Holland
- EAQ—Madrid, Spain
- Koenigswusterhausen—Berlin, Germany
- Zeesen—Zeesen, Germany
- HKX—Bogota, Colombia
- HKC—Bogota Colombia.
- RV15—Khabrovsk or Moscow, USSR
- Poznon—Poznan, Poland
- PPU—Rio de Janeiro, Brazil
- CEQ—Santiago, Chili
- PLV—Bandoeng, Java
- PCJ—Eindhoven, Holland
- PPQ—Rio de Janeiro, Brazil

These stations were all heard on loud-speaker, many with enough volume to be heard at least a city block away.

Hoping that this will bring more DX short wave fans' records to your column.

Arnold H. Mueller
Passaic, N. J.

DX Editor:

I am in receipt of a letter from radio station WWNC, 570 kc. They will have DX broadcasts on June 14, 18, 21, 25, 28 and July 2, 5, 9, 12 and 16. All programs on from 2 to 3 a. m. They don't state daylight saving time or standard.

William J. Ingram
Freeport, Illinois

Dear Editor:

I wonder if someone could tell me where I could purchase a blueprint for a short wave adapter for a Crosley, six tube, two volt battery operated receiving outfit.

I can find no blueprints in Freeport for this outfit and I would like to have the plans for this outfit if there are any available.

Hoping to hear soon, I remain

Palm Beach Peg

Peg La Centra, who once functioned as an announcer—one of the few of her sex—over station WNAC, Boston, is now heard with J. C. Flippen and Phil Spitalny's orchestra over the Columbia network. The twenty-two-year-old soprano is shown above in her own conception of what the well-dressed Palm Beach girl wears—or doesn't wear—during the sultry months.

Tune in clear 'round the WORLD!

Listen to Europe and to the Orient
Here's a radio that will do it

The Scott All-Wave radio receiver, a laboratory-built instrument of precision engineering, tunes everything between 15 and 550 meters. It brings its owner not only all the domestic broadcasts he may care to hear, but also music and voice from all over the world, with ample volume to fill the largest drawing room. Each evening your Scott All-Wave will bring you the toll of Big Ben striking the midnight hour in London. You can hear the Vatican choir or the real Grand Opera direct from Rome. Indo-China, Australia, South America, and other interesting places are all within the easy range of the Scott All-Wave Radio Receiver.

Send coupon for particulars, and for illustrations of the many distinctive custom built, acoustically correct console cabinets in which the Scott All-Wave is available. The price of this receiver is surprisingly reasonable.

Thumb Nail Sketches

By LOUISE BOYD

Irna Phillips is one of the most prodigious writers of successful radio scripts in Chicago. She has to her credit "Judy and Jane," the five-a-week, two o'clock spot on CBS, and from October of 1930 until April of 1932 she wrote "Painted Dreams" over at WGN, and played the parts of Mother Moynahan and Sue Morton. The skit has since changed its title to "The Moynahan Family" and Miss Phillips has no connection with it. Besides these, she used to write, direct and play in "Ma Brown's Patch Quilt" and "Looking Through Your Curtains."

Irna Phillips

It all began, her initiation into radio, as the result of a bit of gratuitous advice tossed her way by a production man at one of the Chicago stations. She had applied for a voice test.

"It's hard to get anywhere by simply playing in someone else's act," he told her. "Write your own material. That's the only way to make a mark in radio. Write, no matter what you write. But keep at it and one day you will get an idea that clicks."

So Miss Phillips sat down to her typewriter. The first thing she turned out was part of a Memorial Day program for WGN. That was accepted—and complimented—but it was only a bit. So she dusted off the keys and started in again. The result was an immediate success and one script after another rolled from her portable and was sold to Chicago stations.

That all happened two years ago and today Miss Phillips is in her stride. This Monday morning at 10:45 she is putting a new act on the air over at WMAQ. "Today's Children," it is called. It is a story of the younger generation, young married couples and high school and college co-eds.

"I am enough of a behaviorist to believe that people are fundamentally alike. Underneath the surface the flapper of today and her mother are the same. It's only the situations that are different, and 'Today's Children,' in play form, will show these contrasts and similarities," the young author explained in speaking of her new skit.

Miss Phillips is a native Chicagoan, but before breaking into radio she taught dramatics in Dayton, Ohio. Her ambition is to build programs around the product they are advertising, being subtle enough to keep the program entertaining, and thereby cutting down the amount of dull, undisguised advertising that is done over the air. While she is waiting for that day to come, Miss Phillips practices what she preaches to radio aspirants, and her text is "Write and act"—just what she was told two years ago.

Even Exchange

Autographed pictures brings to mind a recent experience of Leo Reisman, the radio maestro.

Rushing from a broadcast to an uptown appointment, Leo hailed a passing cab whose driver recognized him, and asked him for a signed photo. "Happy to oblige," said

Reisman, looking at the driver's police picture in the taxi, "if you give me one of yours."

The following day came a picture from the hackman, inscribed "To my buddy and pal, Leo Reisman," and a note attached thereto reading, "Here's mine. Where's yours? Respectably, Joe Guardino."

Sound Effects

SOUND effects—a matter of course nowadays to the radio listener—but a challenging field to the radio technician.

How many times have the boys in the studio been almost stumped with such a problem as duplicating the sound of a forest fire, a train wreck, or the much more gentle coo of a two month old child?

Hidden in numerous radio dramatic scripts are problems for the "sound effects" shavings and cellophane would sound like a fire sweeping through a block of frame buildings? These are the questions which face Ashbaucher in his work.

Some of the sound effects are devised by trying out various ideas until a satisfactory reproduction is reached. Among the sounds frequently employed to add to the effectiveness of radio programs are the noise of a running train, sounds to duplicate those expert. As they are rehearsed he strives to augment every action which cannot be portrayed through the voice of the actors, and usually works out a solution to perplexing problems simply because it must be done so listeners can hear a realistic broadcast whether it be a tense moment on a stormy night or a tranquil outdoor scene with rustling leaves and singing birds.

The sensitive "mike" has a habit of picking up extremely minute sounds and sending them into our homes in the form of duplications of many sounds which occur during the action of a radio presentation. For instance, in the illustration, H. G. Ashbaucher, chief NBC sound technician, is shown holding a handful of excelsior. What does he get out of it? Nothing short of a crackling fire; all of which seems simple enough, but without precedent as a guide, who might have guessed that a few strings of wood heard while riding in a motor vehicle, the sounds of a busy city street, and many others.

Among the sounds heard on the air are thunder made by rattling a tin sheet on a carpet, car skidding, by rubbing an inverted metal cup over a steel plate, rain by dropping rice and small gravel into a funnel to which is attached a three foot length of rubber hose, and many other variations of sounds which go hand in hand with the effective presentation of dramatic moments.

Grouped around Ashbaucher as he works with various sound effects is always a conglomeration of equipment. During rehearsals he experiments and varies the effects until a realistic one is found. Sometimes, however, the real thing must be used, as is the case, for example, with slamming doors, automobile horns, train whistles, and bells of various descriptions.

Seek To Move KYW, Chicago, To Philly

NBC wants to move station KYW from Chicago to Philadelphia as an outlet for their blue network in the Quaker City. The removal of the pioneer Chicago station would not only relieve Westinghouse, who owns it, of the cost of constant litigation to protect its wave position, but to give NBC a high-power channel outlet it does not now have in Philadelphia.

This is the third major network shift proposed in the last few weeks. NBC is anxious to purchase KPO, San Francisco, for a cost of $600,000. CBS wants to assume a leasehold on WJSV, Alexandria, Va., across the Potomac from Washington, paying $20,000 a year for operating privileges.

Safe From What

Although he has journeyed to many parts of the world, H. V. Kaltenborn has never considered himself an authority on travel. It was quite a surprise to him, therefore, when he left the studio recently after dismissing European conditions, to receive a 'phone call asking "if it were safe for two young ladies to go to Germany this summer."

The Editor's Mail Box

A column dedicated to RADIO GUIDE readers. You and your friends are invited to write in for information concerning radio, radio stars, and your own favorite broadcasts. If the information is forthcoming and interesting to all of our readers, we will get it for you and print it in this column. No personal replies will be made.

Dave N. Adams, of Yardville, N. J., wants to know if it's the same Jack Benny who plays on the Canada Dry program and on the Easy Aces.

No, Dave, the Canada Dry program contains the one and original Jack Benny. On Easy Aces, Jack Benny is only a "nom de mike," the part being played on the Columbia network by Hal Gilles.

And we hope the above item is noticed by our correspondent who signed himself "one of WGN," who wrote to inform us that Jack Spencer has been taking the part of "Jack" in the Easy Aces broadcasts on WGN, but that on the network the part is taken by Hal Gilles. This, because the network schedule of the Aces conflicts with the time of the Harold Teen program, in which Mr. Spencer takes various parts. Thank you, "one of."

We have good news for an "interested listener" who writes to tell us that he has missed Maurie Sherman's orchestral broadcastings. Maurie's sweet music is being welcomed back to the Trianon this week and may be heard over WGN at 12:00 midnight (EDST) Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights.

"R. and H. M." and so many other people are interested in knowing whether Bill Childs actually dances in the Sinclair Wiener Minstrels that we have gone to great lengths to unearth the deadly secret. Here's the dope: the trap drummer, with ladies high heeled shoes on his hands, gives the sound effect of tap dancing—hence the big studio laugh at the end of each performance. Hope you're not disillusioned!

"Frankie" Marsh of Bloomington, Ill., wants to know all about "Arkie" of WLS. And we don't blame him.

Tall, blond, blue-grey eyes, only twenty-five and oh, how handsome. That's not publicity either—it's a fact. And "how he got his start in life"—well, it's this way. Pawned his watch to make the first down-payment on his guitar, and a second watch for his ticket to Kansas City, where he made his debut over KMBC. Guess his father was a watchmaker, or somethin', but anyway, we didn't get that far back, so hope this will do. Oh yes, "Frankie," his real name is Luther Offenbrink.

"Please tell us," writes M. P. S., "what has become of the real Mother Moynihan Family of Painted Dreams." We have real news for you, M. P. S. Irna Phillips, who wrote the original Painted Dreams, is now writing a new skit called "Today's Children." It depicts family life in a modern home and deals with social problems of the younger generation. She says it is to be much like her original "brain-child"—and starts June 20. You can hear the program over WMAQ.

"I would like," writes Walter Bates, Jr., of Gary, Ind., "to know the name of the theme song played before and after Amos 'n' Andy each night.

It's "The Perfect Song," Walter, and you're welcome.

And for all you Smith Ballew fans of New Jersey, we have some very exciting news. Dorothea Holt of Newark, N. J., is organizing the "Newark Unit No. 21 of the Smith Ballew Radio Fan Club," and would like to hear from all the fans in that section of the country. Good luck, Dorothea, and let us hear how your club is progressing.
