MILLIONS FOR THRILLS

BOTH BROADCASTERS AND FANS ACCLAIM STUNT PROGRAMS

BREAK up the monotony!

That's the cry of the broadcasters and fans alike. The complaint everywhere one goes is that there is nothing new in radio. It has become routine. The air waves are permeated throughout the day and night with the same type of material presented in the same way. It is a continual grind. Despite the fact that the best in the world of entertainment has been presented to the radio audience, nothing any longer seems to arouse that first interest which resulted in over 18,000,000 American homes installing radio receivers.

Some observers state that a new method of presenting radio programs may turn the tide. They feel that up to the present date no satisfactory method of presenting radio programs has been put to use; that the same care and thought will have to be exercised for radio as is expended on the stage and screen if there's to be any radical change in radio.

Others concede, however, that radio, like many other modern scientific achievements, has grown too fast; that human power has not been able to keep up with its wants; that we have exhausted our talent, and the only possible transition will be brought on by the development of television.

Freddie Rich, pioneer orchestra leader, when asked his opinion of

The above photo shows a parachute jumper in the act of announcing to the world at large the thrill of falling 5,000 feet. Immediately below, announcers and technicians are gathered in a lunchroom during the startling Lindbergh broadcast. Inset is of Gertrude Ederle who a few weeks ago sped over the waters of the Hudson on an aquaplane with a microphone attached to her arm. On the left, Eleanor Holm, Olympic Swimmer.

Public, Alumni Clamor About Football Edict

The Big Twelve Athletic directors are being criticised right and left by sports writers since the recent dictum of the Eastern Intercollegiate Association barring the microphone from football games played by Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Pennsylvania, Brown, Pittsburgh, Army, Navy, Columbia, Syracuse, Dartmouth and Penn State.

The broadcasters, at present, are helpless, but when the season rolls around they are expecting such a loud hue and cry from the listening public and the distant alumni of the institutions that the football officials will be forced to relent.

Major P. B. Fleming, graduate athletic manager at West Point and president of the Eastern Intercollegiate Association, was outspoken in a recent statement:

"It has been definitely established that radio cuts into attendance," he said, "and that we must take steps to derive all the commercial benefits possible."

Sports writers—some of them otherwise cool or outright unfriendly toward radio—are waxing sarcastic with the officials for taking such an obviously financial point of view toward a sport that prides itself on its amateur character.

McCoy Moves In; Moore Departs

Clyde McCoy, the Genial Gentleman of the Air, moved into the Drake Hotel last Saturday night to conduct his orchestra through the remainder of the summer season. "Margie," the tall, dark Spanish beauty who has been attracting much attention lately for her work as Clyde's featured vocalist, is also appearing nightly with the band.

McCoy replaces Carl Moore at the north-shore hotel and will broadcast nightly over WGN. Moore's future plans have not yet been announced.

Just Horsey To Him

"An artist is without honor in his own studio," might well be substituted these days for the old Biblical quotation. At least that is what three WGN artists have decided.

Last week the three "heavies" of the Trib station had just completed a broadcast of sad, sad character. It was a "dramma" of the range and the cast had given it their best. On the way out, still lifted up in the clouds, with the strain of their artistic effort, they looked expectantly for praise in the direction of the control room.

"How did it go?" breathed the panting heroine.

"Who whinnied like a horse?" said the hard-boiled engineer as he turned back to the contemplation of the controls.

World Famous Speakers Scheduled For Fall

Thirty-five recognized authorities in the fields of exploration, politics, science, aviation and world affairs, will make extended lecture tours of the United States under the auspices of NBC Artists Service beginning next fall.

Carveth Wells, now engaged in exploring Mount Ararat and making motion pictures of the famous biblical spot by special permission of the Soviet government, heads the list of notables and will start a nationwide tour in October.

Father Hubbard, known as the "Glacier Priest" because of his explorations in the volcanos of Alaska, is scheduled to make a tour of seventy-five lectures beginning September 11.

Travel fans will enjoy the lectures of Frazier Hunt, world traveler, who will tell audiences about the great revolutionists he has interviewed including Stalin, Sun Yat Sen, and Gandhi, beginning in October.

Other lecturers will include the Speed King of aviation, Captain Frank Hawks, who will describe the flights he has made at a sustained speed of 300 miles an hour; Deems Taylor, well known composer; George Frame Brown, and the rest of the cast of Thompkins Corners; William Hard, political analyst who reported the Disarmament Conference in Geneva; Irvin S. Cobb, novelist-broadcaster; Floyd Gibbons, and Robert Ripley, of "Believe-it-or-not" fame.

CBS Survey Shows Drop In Repetition

Columbia is getting statistical minded and cites figures to prove that popular numbers are no longer repeated too frequently on the CBS chain.

During a representative week a total of 531 popular selections were played during 126 hours of broadcasting. More than half, 293 to be exact, were played but once during the entire week. To prevent monotonous repetition the new ruling provides that no selection shall be played more often than once in two hours. Therefore in the 18 hours of broadcasting during a single day, it is impossible for a given number to be heard more than six times.

"Lullaby of the Leaves" held the record for most frequent performance during the week surveyed, having been played 18 times. "Paradise" was a close second with 17 performances, and "One Hour With You" took third place with 14.

Weems At Lincoln Tavern

Ted Weems, his orchestra and the singing ensemble will find their way back to the air waves of WGN when they mount the Lincoln Tavern band-stand this Friday night. This is Weems first appearance playing at night clubs. For several weeks he will take over the periods now played by Duke Ellington's aggregation.

Fans To Hear Wales And Pres. Lebrun Of France

Radio is going in for double-headers just as the movies to judge from the news that the Prince of Wales and the President of France, stars of the international political arena, will both participate in a broadcast to be heard from Thiepval, France, over the Columbia network on Monday, August 1.

Albert Francois Lebrun, France's president, will make his debut as an international broadcaster during this program which will transmit the unveiling of the new war memorial at the small French city.

The monument has been erected to the memory of 73,000 British soldiers whose fate is unknown, but who are thought to have fallen in the vicinity of Thiepval. The French chief executive and the British Prince will make addresses when the monument is unveiled.

Columbia is cooperating with the British Broadcasting System in presenting this event. Land lines will bring the program, which is expected to last an hour, to London whence it will be transmitted simultaneously, by long and short wave, the latter for re-broadcasting throughout the United States and Canada.

Two Doctors Stage KYW Melodrama

"Hearts at Sea," or "You Cur, Sir," is the "dramma" selected by Drs. Pratt and Sherman for their broadcast over KYW this Monday at 8:00 p. m. (CDST).

Says Dr. Pratt: "This show will contain a rolling sea, a thrilling ship-wreck in which clean living and proper diet come through with flying colors proving that crime does not pay."

The show will be presented as part of the regular weekly "Footlight Follies" with Ruth Wenter, Northwestern co-ed crooner, also on the broadcast.

Wayne King Travels East

Wayne King, not to be outdone by his contemporaries, is coming East for a tour of one night stands beginning August 24th through Labor Day. The schedule includes Hearshey, Wilkes Barre, Pottstown and Carroltown, Pa., and Johnson City, New York.

BEAUTY USES LAPEL 'MIKE'

All the movement and color of life at the beach can be aired these days since the advent of the lapel mike, introduced this season at the Republican and Democratic Conventions in Chicago. Here is Mathea Merryfield, one of the bathing beauties of radio, sporting hers on the sands of Atlantic City. Mathea says that she thinks the mike is a great invention because she can now broadcast her programs between dips without bothering to make the trip to the Columbia studios.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS INFLUENCE CHARACTER, BELIEVES SHILKRET

Watch out what musical instrument you play—it will influence your character.

That, at least, is the opinion expressed by Nathaniel Shilkret, after three years of observing musicians and their instruments.

"Flutists are fussy in their habits. They are factitious in dress and nearly always well-groomed and inclined to be sporty," says this observer.

"Clarinetists are apt to be students," he continued, "and many of them become very able conductors and arrangers, not a few even leaving music for business careers."

Shilkret, incidentally, was himself a clarinetist at one time, and Selver, Leroy and Langenus are all successful business men.

Turning to the woodwinds, the conductor commented on the oboe players, whom he seems to think are a pretty good sort. "They are good-natured fellows with just a touch of sensitive nervousness, but not nearly so temperamental as the solo violinists. But trumpet players, on the other hand, are careless of their clothes and highly sensitive, while horn players are exacting about their playing but possess a keen sense of humor."

Shilkret concluded his observations with pianists. "Owing to the completeness of their instrument which can play full harmony, seem to develop the composer's feeling more readily and, because of this, you will find that most composers are pianists."

Flies Four Days To Repair Receiving Set

In Guatemala, they take their radio seriously. A radio repair man there recently received an urgent request from a coffee plantation owner in Coban, near the Mexican border, to come by airplane to repair his radio receiving set. He was offered a fee of $50 and four days traveling expenses, the trip taking two days each way. Upon arrival he discovered that it was necessary only to replace a fifty-cent resistor in a set which the coffee grower said cost him $69.50!

Vatican Represented In Radio Confab

The Vatican is to be represented at the next International Radio Conference to be held this year at Madrid.

Father Gianfranceschi, director of the Pope's short wave station installed last year by Senatore Marconi, will represent the Vatican city at the conference which has been called to revise the treaty governing radio, drawn up in Washington in 1927. The international meeting will come to order on September 3.

Reviewing Radio

By MIKE PORTER

JUST in case any doubt has assailed the radio audience, I'd like to rush right in and assure 'em all that when, and if, beer becomes legal, and froth-blowing a lawful enterprise, the radio stations of the country will gladly hail any programs that the big brewers may wish to put on the air. They haven't the least objection to a dripping wet equivalent of Howard Clancy of the Lucky bill, proclaiming into their mikes that Bauernschmidt's Brew is best for your throat. Indeed, the networks are pleasurable anticipating the golden era when the big malt and hops men will come with their shekels, and go into competition with each other over the production of the world's most extravagant radio programs.

It is no secret, of course, in the alcoholic world, that at least three great brewing plants are optimistically preparing to go to work—and perhaps it is a secret that only a few know, that their advertising branches expect to go on the air in a big way. (In which case Ben Bernie's sponsor will be a bit out of luck). Indeed, some of the radio folks have been sounded out on the question of whether they would have any ethical scruples with regard to beer programs. How could they? They're facing million-dollar deficits. And if beer becomes legal, why shouldn't a beer program be ethical?

There'll be trouble, of course. There are those dry and local option states which won't like the advertising. But little satisfaction awaits them at the offices of the Federal Radio Commission. That body has a precedent to guide it. The cigarette programs have penetrated into Utah and Kansas and other sections where cigarettes are, or were, illegal. The natives of those territories enjoyed the offerings, and perhaps a surreptitious smoke, and made no squawk. Radio should and does recognize no borders. And if beer becomes legal, there'll be the inevitable brewers' programs, and doubtless a revival of quartettes and certainly the popularization of "Sweet Adeline."

The additional one-cent tariff on the mails, has already caused a marked decrease in fan mail to the radio studios and artists. There's the gag about the Chicago Scotchman who used to write once a week to Connie Boswell. The day before the extra postage tax became effective, so the yarn goes, Connie received 52 letters, with the reminder from the Scot that she wouldn't hear from him for a year.

Mr. Ben Bernie, doubtless, is one of the most popular of radio's band leaders. And so it pains me to remark that his chatter is growing stale and uninteresting. Mr. Bernie, probably, is suffering by comparison with professional comics who have crashed the waves since Bernie's heyday. That's one explanation. Another is that Mr. Bernie is not paying enough attention to his continuity. And still another is, Mr. Bernie is borrowing too much, instead of originating.

Those limericks and such ditties as "The Queen Is in the Parlor," in case the audiences doesn't know, have been taken bodily from the repertoire of Jack Hylton, the London band pilot. And so have quite a few of the Bernie arrangements, if I am not mistaken.

You remember the Paul Whiteman Youth of America auditions, in which Paul selected a score of young vocalists as potential radio stars. I asked Paul yesterday what had become of them. "Do you ever hear about what they are doing, and the extent to which you have helped them?" I wanted to know.

And the answer provided a laugh. "We signed 'em all for the NBC," he chuckled. "Thirteen of them made good—but ten of them are now with Columbia—our rivals. Five are working on commercial programs."

I was curious to know how they got to CBS with National contracts.

"Simple," said Paul, "as soon as they were offered jobs on the other network, why we simply released them. Couldn't stand in the way of their success."

I call that a gracious gesture.

A Little Late

A recent visitor to Columbia's headquarters in Manhattan was Vinton Haworth, who plays the part of lawyer Jack Arnold in the Myrt and Marge scripts. He was married on Christmas Eve last and because of radio obligations was unable to leave Chicago. His present trip thus is part of a belated honeymoon.

MUSIC IN THE AIR

By CARLETON SMITH

DO YOU KNOW THAT . . .

Every mail brings an odd and unusual idea for radio broadcasts to the program departments of the networks? Programs to feature a trained horse, the kings of Europe, "baby talk" stories for children, a "super-salesman" to give inspiration to the business world, and a scheme to rout the business depression through the sale of "rooter" banners, were among the recent crop of suggestions received.

CARLETON SMITH

When a man came in and asked if the network would be interested in broadcasting over a coast-to-coast hook-up, a program by a horse that counted and answered questions yes or no, and when he was told that the elevators were not large enough to carry a horse, and the studios were on the twenty-second floor of the building, he replied, "That's nothing, this horse once walked up thirty-two flights of steps."

A Swedish-born woman thought it would be extremely interesting if a series of programs were arranged in which the feature talks would be given by all the kings in Europe (of which there are a few less now than there were) "Nobody but real kings would do," she said. "I could get them all. I know them all personally. We could start with the King of Sweden."

A corollary of her proposition was that the kings should be persuaded, after their broadcasts, to come to the United States and make personal appearances at the theaters in the manner of other radio stars.

The radio industry, unlike the motion picture industry, has not made it extremely difficult for the unknown to get a hearing? But it does very little for all those who are heard in auditions.

John Philip Sousa's private library is to go to the University of Illinois Concert Band, which already has the largest collection of band music in the country?

A television station successfully projected images to a receiver aboard a speeding airship miles away? The program, consisting of a motion picture film, was received and shown to newspaper men and photographers aboard the plane travelling at a speed of 120 miles an hour. The images were eight inches square and clearly received, the receiver withstanding the shocks of taking off and landing six times without any effects on reception.

Many new European attractions will be brought to the United States, musically and dramatically speaking, despite the gloomy outlook?

The famous theatrical novelty, the Italian marionettes of Teatro Dei Piccoli, including vocalists, orchestral musicians and operators, will be seen in America for the first time?

A new form of carillon, utilizing no tubes or bells, but producing tones electrically, was dedicated recently in South New Jersey? The new instrument has been developed by engineers of the RCA Victor Company.

As the keys of the console are depressed, tiny hammers strike small metal reeds tuned to the various notes. The musical vibrations are electrically amplified by a powerful audio amplifier and sent out as bell-like tones through a specially developed sound projector system in a tower 1000 feet distant. By means of a foot "swell" pedal, the volume of tone may be controlled.

Maria Jeretza's departure from the stage of the Metropolitan is explained by the fact that she has become an expensive luxury? It became difficult to find a place for her in the repertoire. The public rejected so many operas in which it liked her personally. And her triumphs recently have been confined to operettas, of which no more than one can be digested in a season.

The beautiful lady from Vienna finds herself without work in this country?

Until times are better, we suggest she give the hinterland a glimpse of how Viennese operettas can be done. And perhaps there are those who, not having had the chance to become calloused to her charms, would be glad to see her "Tosca."

Disease has been set to music, and is called "Influenza—A Tone Poem"? The manuscript is one of the exhibits in the "hobby display," a feature of the Canadian Medical Association's annual meeting. "Influenza," though described as a tone poem, is in symphonic form. The four parts of the work are:

First movement—Preliminary symptoms

Second movement—Onset of the disease

Third movement—The disease

Fourth movement—Convalescence

In the first movement, the composer (a doctor) uses clarinets in swift crescendo runs to introduce what might be called the "chills-running-up-the-spine motif."

Leopold Stokowski, always in the fore with the latest improvements, announced that he had a plan to make opera more pleasing to the eye. He will do away with fat prima donnas, and we'll let him tell you how:

"Opera today, while pleasing to the ear, is often a sore trial for the eye. Take Tannhauser, for example. Venus, the most beautiful woman in the world, is using her charm to tempt Tannhauser from the narrow path of virtue. But, unfortunately, the lady who plays the part happens to have eaten too much spaghetti or souerbraten. She may sing like a nightingale, but she looks like an elephant. By no stretch of the imagination could one believe for a minute that she is Venus.

"Could we ask the lady to eat less spaghetti? That may be asking too much. But this is not necessary. Electricity will change her. We can take her voice and record it on a disk. Then we can select a beautiful young lady who really may be accepted by the audience for a Venus. Then we can synchronize voice and action and create a perfect illusion.

"We are trying to do it now in Philadelphia. It is only an experiment, but a very hopeful one. Modern advances in sound recording now make it possible, we hope, and this is one of the many new horizons now being opened up in music."

No more diets for my favorite singers. They can cease their reducing lessons, now coming from Hollywood, and enjoy the humble pastime of eating to their hearts' content. There will be new jobs for those blessed with charms of pulchritude, and everyone will be happy. Many thanks to Doctor Stokowski.

Poetry Corner

The Poetry Corner is open to all RADIO GUIDE readers. One dollar will be paid for each poem accepted. Poems must pertain to radio or radio artists.

SERENADE

Little things like these, to me
Bring a poignant ecstasy:
Golden sunsets, purple hills,
Fields of waving daffodils.

Fledglings learning how to fly,
Sea-gulls etched across the sky;
Roses drenched in summer rain,
And Tito Guizar's songs of Spain.
—Eugenie Van Houten

DOLORES GILLEN

Between broadcasts at the NBC Chicago studios, Dolores Gillen, beautiful young dramatic actress, is spending these July days bathing in the waters of Lake Michigan and (Ssssh, don't tell) taking movie tests. Dolores is petite, brown-eyed, and is a graduate of the University of Illinois. You may hear her on Saturdays during the Miniature Theater programs broadcast over NBC networks.

Thumb Nail Sketch

By LOUISE BOYD

"I HAUNTED all the radio stations until they gave me a job to get rid of me, naively admitted pretty little Irene Wicker in accounting for her start in radio. "I had intended to go on the stage, studied for it, and even did some professional work at the Goodman Theater in Chicago and in the east, and then I became acquainted with radio and it seemed so much more fun than the stage that I forgot all about my first love."

Irene Wicker

Apparently her choice was wise because Miss Wicker has been steadily on the air now for two years in a succession of highly popular local and network programs. Her versatility partly accounts for the fact that she is constantly in demand by sponsors. She sings—to wit her Judy and Jane program, which incidentally is off the air until the middle of September, and she acts. Neither the role of an old woman nor a flapper stumps her. In "The Moynahan Family" skit she plays the very Irish Mrs. O'Donnell and Irene whose most serious thought is a new dress. In "Harold Teen" she has taken as many as four parts in one broadcast.

It is a study in characterization to watch one of Miss Wicker's broadcasts.

"In making rapid changes in roles, as for instance when I speak to myself in different characters, I find the biggest help in getting into the new part is to change my physical attitude. Of course, I change my volume and my position in relation to the mike, too," Irene Wicker explained.

When she is the flapper Irene is hollow chested, smiling coquettishly with frequently a sly wink at the microphone just as if it were her date of the evening. At such times she is the modern generation at its most modern and silliest. She is apt to dance half across the studio during an imaginary telephone conversation with her boy friend. But just watch her the next minute when she is Mrs. O'Donnell, for instance. Gone the hollow chest, one can almost see her grow old, and fat. Gone the flippant gestures; all is dignity and middle-aged respectability.

Such is the art of Irene Wicker. Her pet notion is, that when she has grown too old to broadcast, she will start producing radio acts.

Orchestral Doings

Phil Levant, popular young Chicago orchestra leader, tried to out-fly the stork the other day but lost. He is playing an engagement with his "Royal Revelers" at the Plantation Club, St. Paul, Minn., and even though Bill hopped a plane and flew to Chicago, the stork beat his record by two hours. Phil is the father of an eight pound son.

Bobby Meeker and his orchestra, who recently returned from a series of engagements in the southland for MCA, opened at the College Inn of the Hotel Sherman, and the orchestra is heard nightly over WBBM and CBS.

Clyde McCoy and his famous orchestra are back in Chicago after a very successful road tour. McCoy is the Southern boy who became famous for his playing and recordings of "Sugar Blues."

He has composed and recorded many popular melodies and he and his orchestra will most likely remain in the Chicago territory for the Fall season.

Art Kassel and his "Kassels in the Air," who have been playing an engagement for MCA at Lakeside Park, Denver, open Monday at a summer resort spot near Hartford, Wisconsin.

MEET THE ARTIST

Andy Sannella

BROADCASTING is his profession and his hobby.

"When I leave the studios of the National Broadcasting Company," Andy Sannella told us, "I usually go directly to my home in Scarsdale and broadcast again. But then I broadcast to a much smaller audience—an audience of amateur 'ham' operators—and even though I do it gratis I get immeasurable joy from it."

Sannella has one of the best equipped amateur short-wave stations in the United States and he himself is a licensed amateur operator. The call letters of his station are W2AD. He transmits both by Morse code and voice on a frequency of 1931.5 kilocycles and with 250 watts power and has a receiving set which will pick-up broadcasts on from five to 25,000 meters.

"My interest in amateur short-wave broadcasting is a natural outgrowth of both my activities in the Navy during my early youth and in professional broadcasting," Sannella relates. "While in the Navy I learned the Morse code, which is used universally by 'ham' operators, and I later became interested in all mechanical phases of broadcasting through my professional work.

"You may think my hobby a bit insane inasmuch as I spend my working hours broadcasting. Maybe it is. I am like the gob on shore leave who takes a canoe ride. But I have communicated with 'hams' in most of the countries of every continent, and in the United States I have several acquaintances with whom I communicate at regular intervals. I also carry on a two-way conversation with RX1AA, Panama City, once each week, for I have a sentimental attachment to Panama City. It was there that I began my public career as an orchestral leader.

"Those of you who owned radio sets years ago and stayed awake half the night to get a station in Keokuk or Kalamazoo know the joy I receive from communicating with 'hams' over long distances. The rest of you cannot understand. But maybe you can understand the joy I receive in communicating with my mother.

"She lives in Brooklyn, and only recently I bought her a short-wave receiving set. Now she listens-in to my broadcasts by voice, and I often speak to her in her native tongue, Italian. I know that she enjoys the experiences. But my buying her a receiving set may prove costly in the long run. My younger brother and protege, Mickey Sannella, now wishes me to buy one for him."

Mrs. Andy Sannella is the most devoted fan of her husband. She listens to everyone of his NBC broadcasts and joins him in broadcasting from his amateur station. Sannella himself would like to play his guitar and saxophone for the entertainment of his fellow radio operators, even though commercial clients pay him big salaries for these instrumental solos, but the Federal Radio Commission prohibits the playing of music by 'hams' except for modulation test purposes. "I can only give a gratis solo infrequently," he says. "I get a thrill when I hear some 'ham' playing one of my records as he makes a modulation test."

Sannella was born in Brooklyn and studied music while a child. He joined the Navy when seventeen and, following his discharge, started his professional career in Panama City. He returned to New York in 1922 and since then has made hundreds of records and participated in an untold number of broadcasts. In 1930 he was featured on thirty-one programs as an instrumental soloist.

BOYS---GIRLS

Money--Money

Our Star Salesmen are boys and girls whose pictures you see every week in Radio Guide. They are earning their vacation spending money by selling this popular radio magazine.

It's easy.

Why don't YOU become a Star Salesman of Radio Guide?

When you become a Star Salesman we will publish your picture in Radio Guide. In addition we will give you (FREE) 200 letterheads carrying your picture, your name and identification as a representative of Radio Guide. We will also send you a fine copper engraving of your photograph which you can use to print pictures of yourself.

So boys and girls, get busy and let's have your pictures and the number of copies you sell each week.

You can write to your friends on your own stationery and thereby increase your sale.

Charles Wessel

Here's an ambitious Radio Guide Boy Salesman. Charles Wessel who lives at 1105 Oak Street, Beardstown, Ill., sells over thirty copies of RADIO GUIDE each week and he's still going strong.

Miss Rea has returned to the air after an absence from the microphone and is now singing under an exclusive NBC contract. Each Friday at 9:00 p. m. Tin-Pan Album

By DOROTHY DEERE

AND what is so rare as a day in July, nothing unless it be a radio artist who really feels like working . . . then, if ever, comes perfect daze, when Heaven tries the ventilating system if it be in tune, and over sound-proof studios her warm ear lays . . . When perspiration drips from the soprano's brow and sputters on the piano-keys, when even the hottest note in a trumpet solo is so cool in comparison to the air in a glass-enclosed broadcasting room that it sends shivers down the drummer's back. My, my, and here you were lolling at ease in front of your loud-speaker, envying the broadcasters their big salaries and easy jobs!

Right at this point we're interrupted by a telephone call from Maurie Wetzel, Production genius of NBC, and among other things he says that the ultra-modern ventilating systems installed in the Merch-Mart studios really ventilate . . . That programs ordinarily rehearsed for an hour are these days receiving two and three hour rehearsals . . . and that leaders and production men are working overtime thinking up excuses to linger at their delightfully cool posts. Oh well, it just goes to show that you can't believe a word I write, I never know when to believe myself . . .

With apologies to Cartoonist Carl Ed and "Shadow": Oh boy, oh boy, oh boy, did I ever have the fun tho', did I ever . . . I pushed myself out the wrong side of the bed this morning and squirted myself in the eye with one of those reader-donated grapefruits I've been saving up and got all ready for a big day. Just listen . . . I went over and sand-papered all the shine off the "First Nighter's" high-hat and tore up the picture of him that last month's "Forum" printed and scratched out the line that called him "the man who's doing for radio what Ziegfeld did for the show business," because they can't fool me, I knew all the time it was Charlie Hughes . . . I ran out to the Edgewater Beach Hotel and sprinkled tacks all over Charlie Agnew's board-walk and threw away the pieces of all those attendance records he's been breaking out there and hid the mike behind a palm so that when Irene Taylor sings, the customers in the white-flannel division will have to pay some attention to their own girls . . . I found a hungry little moth and made him a bed in Ilomay Bailey's new bathing suit so when she goes swimming she'll have to stay under water, and when Lee Sims tells anyone about those diving championships she held in her college days, they'll think he's just bragging . . . I wrote letters to all the girls that have been sending "raves" to KYW about Harold Bean's baritone and I told them about the time he told me that the reason his voice is so strong is because he once worked in the onion fields (but I added a postscript and told them he's good to his mother) . . . I snooped around and uncovered the fact that Frankie Masters is part-owner of a clothing store, then I called him up and told him about that band-leader who knows all there is to know about music but evidently has never been told that if he'd wear his coat-collars cut up higher in back his neck wouldn't look so long and not nearly so scrawny, and then I made out a bill to Frankie for commission, just in case he sells him a suit . . . I went over to WGN and poked my nose into all the corners 'till I found the one that Tom, Dick and Harry stack their golf-bags in and I took all the clubs out of the bag that belonged to "Dick" (Marlin Hurt on his score-card) and broke them so he'd have to tear out his hair instead next time he gets mad at his golf game . . . I went into the studio and watched Carl Hoefle playing piano with his hand all bandaged from poking it thru' a window and I hung around till a dozen people had asked him if he cut it trying to feel the pane and then I didn't ask him so's he couldn't choke me . . . ha ha ha, then I went home and wrote this column at you . . . oh boy, oh boy, oh boy, did I ever have the fun tho'.

DESERTS STAGE FOR RADIO

INDIAN SEER

Weird tales full of eastern atmosphere and delicately spiced with amulets of Hindu philosophy, are told through WBBM by Mahraj, dark-skinned son of the East. Mahraj, whose name means "Son of Kings," was born in Calcutta, India, and graduated from Oxford University, England. His spooky tales are heard daily, except Saturday and Sunday, from WBBM at 8:45 p. m. (CDST).

VOICE OF THE LISTENER

Don't Give Up, Kate!

Woodhaven, L. I.

Gentlemen:

I would like to use your readers' column to appeal to Kate Smith on behalf of all her fans, not to give up her radio career for at least a few years more.

To those who must spend most of their lives in hospitals or indoors, as well as to the healthy, she has done much to bring sunshine and happiness into the home and to have her leave us now would do anything but brighten up the lives of the shut-ins.

And so, I say Kate Smith, staying on the air for a few more years is just as noble a work as the work you are now planning to do.

Kate Smith fan,

Katherine Caruthers

More Scotch Kilt

Stamford, Conn.

Dear Sir:

In last week's number of your paper, which is most useful, George Olsen tells a Scotch joke.

Now I have no doubt that Mr. Olsen is a good entertainer, but his strong point is not funny stories or else someone is pulling his leg.

There are only three errors in the story which destroy the joke completely. 1st—Scotchmen, especially in Glasgow, do not wear the Kilt. 2nd—Houses in Scotland have no cellars. 3rd—Scotch houses are not heated by furnaces. My compliments to the honorable George.

Charles R. S. Leckie

Please Note: Mr. Royal

Green Bay, Wisconsin

Dear Sir:

I read in your RADIO GUIDE how a genius is needed on the air; one as Garbo. Now I'm a very talented contralto singer, but can't get a chance. I'm poor and can't get the money to go ahead, but if some radio station would help me, I'd be a find. Can you get this letter to someone who would be interested? I'd be very grateful.

Pearl Tegge

A Little Indignant

Freeport, Illinois

Dear Editor:

In the July 10 issue of the RADIO GUIDE, the article written by "R. E. G." may have had some truth to it, but as far as such programs as the Goldbergs, Clara, Lu 'n' Em and Easy Aces being "painful afflictions," that is ridiculous. Without such programs, radio would be strangely incomplete and fans would find something missing.

And now I would like to take up the suggestion of one of the GUIDE readers as to the rating of different broadcasts. Here are my favorites: Orchestra—Ben Bernie's, because it is "different." Singers—Fred L. Jeske and Irene Beasley. Organists—Len Salvo and Irma Glen. Comedy—The Colonel and Budd. Skit—Amos 'n' Andy, which can never be equaled.

"A Schoolgirl Reader"

Reads Only Kicks

Chicago, Illinois

Dear Sir:

I wonder some times if in the "Voice of the Listener," one can only read kicks about the programs. To me there are so many good ones that my trouble consists in choosing the one I like best.

For instance, I have to choose on Tuesday night between "Eno Crime Club" and "Ed Wynn." I have been taking Ed Wynn because, to me, he is supreme in the line of comedy.

So, when reading the "Voice of the Listener," I came across one signed R. E. G., and I wondered why he does not sell his radio. It would be useless to say "Turn the dial," since nothing pleases R. E. G.

We have three speakers on one radio and no matter what my husband and I are doing in the house, we do not miss the least word of a program.

Well, I have voiced my husband's opinion also, as he, too, likes more of the programs than not. All but crooners, so please put in two votes for nearly all the programs.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. M.

Despises Crooners

New York City

Gentlemen:

Being quite dependent upon my good radio for news, as well as lectures and music, I wish to express my very keen appreciation for all programs which are truly educational, the great symphonic hours, the worth while plays, etc.

The amount of time given to the awful crooners and desperately poor comedians and jazz music is appalling, and I can't understand why all the stations need to give baseball programs—it would seem as though at least one station could give some really worth-while program during each period of time for the shut-ins who are only satisfied with the best in art, literature, science and music. I want to add that the Gordon Chamber Music and string ensembles are especially lovely.

Emma C. Stockwell

Auditions for Garbo

Chicago, Illinois

Dear Sir:

In your recent article on the front page; I should think one of the stations would cooperate with you in auditioning new talent. There are so many interesting and exciting things connected with the development and usage of radio that a script could easily be built around the subject. As you know, a seasoned radio artist uses a definite technique to acquire the deep and unvarying voice which registers best. To find a Garbo, it would be easiest to pick from untrained voices, husky but not nasal, and of sufficient power to carry across the mike in order to avoid disturbances on the monitor board.

Araby Blinn

Downey Still Favored

Brooklyn, N. Y.

Dear Sir:

You receive letters from people telling you how much they like their favorite radio star; now you receive a letter from me telling you about my favorite, Morton Downey.

There is no competition for the fine, clear, silver tenor voice of Morton Downey. How can anyone compare James Melton, Ben Alley or John Fogarty with him? They can't—the comparison is too great. They only serve to make one appreciate the quality of the one and only, Morton Downey.

Here is a poem that I wrote and dedicate to Morton Downey—

"I'll be whistlin' and listenin' for you to come on the air,
But whistlin' while I'm listenin' to you I won't dare,

You chase the hours so blue,
With your voice that is tender and true,
I don't know why the moments seem to fly

While I'm listenin', without whistlin', to you."

Ella Ilson

Wants Program Changed

Vineland, N. J.

Dear Sir:

I have wondered for quite some time why the Sinclair Minstrels and A. & P. Gypsies come on at the same time on Monday nights. These two programs are lovely and it really is a pity they take the air simultaneously. I am sure there are quite a few other people who feel as I do about these two good broadcasts, and would like to see one of them changed so that both programs could be heard.

The Story Of My Success

By Raymond Knight

NBC Comedian and Director of Station KUKU

RAYMOND KNIGHT AT WORK (?)

If there's one thing I just love to do, it is to write. Writing simply fascinates me, and when the day's work is over in the junk yard, I like nothing better than to sit down with a pad of paper on one knee and a stenographer on the other and just let the ideas come to me.

I have been asked to tell just how my success was achieved. As I am naturally modest, both by nature and by pocketbook, this is extremely difficult, but after all why should I not tell others how I climbed the ladder of success? To begin with—make mistakes! At first this seems to be an anomaly—but it is not, and this is vouched for by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Anomalies. If you want to climb the ladder of success be wrong. After this has happened several times, you have several wrongs. These wrongs can be put together to form a ladder which you can then climb wrong by wrong.

Eat the right kind of food! There is nothing better to stimulate the creative impulse than rice—remember the old Chinese proverb—"Early to bed and early to rice!" If you do its your own fault.

Get plenty of exercise! There is nothing better to stimulate the imagination than exercise on the bars. Start with the horizontal bars and take the elbow-bending exercises. After several of these exercises the bar will change and become vertical. Paradoxically enough you will become horizontal. It is all very confusing.

Get plenty of sleep! Edison invented the electric light with three hours sleep each day. But, after all, the electric light is invented, and there is now no reason why people should not sleep sixteen or eighteen hours a night.

Be courteous! If a young lady is getting on the high step of a street car, watch carefully. Be sure that the car does not start too quickly. Never strike an old lady when she is down. If you are dining with a friend, do not be boorish and rush to pay the bill ahead of him—or her.

I think this covers about everything that is necessary for success—sleeping, eating, exercising and being courteous—remember being courteous got one man the second highest office in the country—Vice President Charles Courteous!

Oh, yes—there is one other thing—you have to get a job.

Scientists As Delegates

United States delegates named by the State Department to the Fifth International Congress on Electricity meeting in Paris, August 1 to 6, include several noted radio scientists. The delegation will comprise Prof. A. E. Kennelly, of Harvard, chairman; Prof. Walter G. Cady, of Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn.; Prof. Roswell C. Gibbs, of Cornell; Prof. Harold Pender, of Pennsylvania, and Dr. Elihi Thomson, of the General Electric laboratory at Lynn, Mass.

Danger In Those S's

Songs that have many S's in them are barred by the four Mills Brothers, and they lean to songs that have B's and D's in them. The reason is that they seek to avoid hissing sounds over the microphone which make for what listeners might otherwise mistake for static owing to the speedy way in which they sing many of their numbers. The one exception to the rule is "The South in My Soul," which they handle by having Donald sing a solo wherever the words are sung. Many of the songs the Mills Brothers sing are merely handled by making the sounds of various instruments rather than any words at all.

SOLUTION TO LAST WEEK'S PUZZLE

the broadcasting situation, said: "The sudden stagnation that has beset the radio field may eventually change the whole outlook of the industry. Broadcasters will be forced to develop new talent. Composers that are unknown today may rise up to great heights because of the quest for talent by the radio moguls. Radio stations will have balanced programs on the air. And the broadcasting stations will have more authority than they have now in selecting programs for sponsors."

The latest vogue is the thrill broadcast. This fad, according to authorities, seems fortunate because it relieves the listener from the strains of routine.

Broadcasts of this type generate real human interest. This was clearly proven a year or so ago when the Columbia Broadcasting system, with the cooperation of an evening newspaper, gave the radio fans a thrill by taking them out twenty-five miles off the coast of Asbury Park, N. J., where actual contact was made with a rum runner who was bold enough to talk before a microphone while being interviewed. This broadcast took the nation by storm.

Last March the successful broadcast of a complete program of entertainment from a rapidly moving train added another radio engineering triumph. The almost perfect transmission of the program carried the voice of Belle Baker and the music of Jack Denny's orchestra from a Baltimore and Ohio train running at more than a mile a minute between Washington and New York.

In April of 1930, the first successful transmission of entertainment from a trawler sailing off the Atlantic Coast was achieved, and in October, 1931, Columbia engineers succeeded in broadcasting a musical program from a moving dirigible.

Arthur Tracy, the Street Singer, was the first entertainer to take part in a radio broadcast from the air. From the blimp, "Columbia," floating high above the skyscrapers of New York, Tracy's songs and accordion music were relayed by short wave to the Columbia studios and broadcast over a coast to coast network.

One of the most sensational broadcasts ever presented was the complete story of the Lindbergh baby kidnapping. The stark realism of a horrible catastrophe reached the hearts of the American people as never before because the actual color of the tragedy was brought into the homes of enraged citizens via the radio.

On May 19, 1932, a jazz band playing from a giant 18 passenger airplane over mid-Manhattan gave the radio audience an unexpected thrill. The plane was equipped with two microphones and insulated to deaden the roar of the motors. Two engineers and an announcer completed the working force of this music box of the air.

The music was picked up by short wave at the masts of the Empire State building, almost 1,700 feet above the streets of New York.

A recent broadcast from an aquaplane gave the fans an unexpected thrill when they heard the voice of Gertrude Ederle for the first time in two years. Miss Ederle, who nearly six years ago became the first woman to swim the English Channel, boarded the aquaplane while a speedboat, piloted by Mrs. Guy Lombardo, pulled along.

The aquaplane, which is nothing more than a flat board six feet in length, was towed approximately thirty-five feet behind the boat. This presented a difficult feat for the engineers, for the microphone had to be kept clear of the water. The instrument used was both spray-proof and wind-proof, but great care had to be exercised because the mike cannot withstand complete submersion. Because of this, it required all of Miss Ederle's skill to retain her balance on board.

A short wave receiver was placed on the balcony of the Hudson River Yacht Club at 92nd Street and the Hudson River, New York City. In the seating compartment of the stern of Mrs. Guy Lombardo's speedboat was a one-watt transmitter bearing the call letters WIEJ. A water-proof cable, attached to the tow line of the aquaplane, carried the

OPERATIC SINGER

Belle Forbes Cutter, the lyric soprano who is now heard regularly over the Columbia network from Chicago, established a reputation as an operatic singer in Germany and other countries on the Continent before her entry into radio. She is an American by birth, having been born in Harbor Springs, Michigan. Since 1923 she has been heard almost constantly over the air, and was one of the first artists to be heard from the Columbia network's studios in Chicago.

Piccard To Carry Radio Equipment

Prof. Auguste Piccard, Brussels University scientist and balloonist, will carry a four-tube receiving set and transmitter when he ascends shortly into the upper atmosphere from Zurich, Switzerland, for a prolonged study of stratospheric conditions.

During his ascent to a record height of 52,000 feet in May of 1931, he carried only a receiving set. The lack of a transmitter made it impossible to locate him for several days after his balloon had descended in the Austrian mountains.

DX fans in America may be able to pick up Prof. Piccard's messages, for he plans to send out periodical reports during the flight on the amateur wave lengths of forty-one and forty-two and eight tenths meters, and also on the waves between seventy-five and eighty-five meters.

M. Max Coseyns, radio expert, will accompany Piccard on the experimental flight which is scheduled to begin about the middle of this month, weather conditions permitting.

microphone wire circuit to Miss Ederle, who handled the guide ropes and the hand microphone simultaneously.

Another one-watt transmitter, WIEJ, was installed on the clubhouse docks. Through the use of earphones, Miss Ederle was able to conduct a two-way conversation with officials on the shore during a portion of the actual broadcast.

Harry Von Zell, Columbia announcer, was ensconced in the speedboat with Mrs. Lombardo and a radio engineer. This marks the first broadcast that was ever made from a speedboat while it was churning up the water at such a high speed.

Many well known personages were spectators. Charlotte Epstein, mentor of the Women's Swimming Association, was present. Eleanor Holm, backstroke and medley champion, and a number of famous swimmers were all on hand for the thrilling radio event.

It is broadcasts of this type which are bound to stimulate interest in radio, say those who have studied the broadcasting situation. There is little doubt that within a year or so the radio will be as indispensable as the daily newspaper in conveying to the country at large the every day happenings throughout the world.

PROGRAM DIRECTOR

A brand new picture of an old radio hand. Sen Kaney, the sophisticated, very-much-mustached, program director of the NBC Chicago studios, has a world of responsibility upon his broad young shoulders (not padded). It's he who says the final yea or nay to aspiring young broadcasters ambitious for an NBC contract. Sen has been identified with the radio game for the past eight years.

Boswells Fear Dentist

When any of the Boswell Sisters goes to the dentist, the other two girls have to be in the waiting room, or the appointment is cancelled. Ever since they have been tiny children they have always insisted on having company when they go to a dentist, even if it is only to have their teeth examined. The girls will go out shopping alone or will even go to a doctor or a hairdresser by themselves, but when a dental appointment is on the cards, they insist on company—and what's more, they get it!

Anything For A Gag

At their trick hand-built log cabin on Long Island Sound, the Men About Town, Frank Luther, Jack Parker and Darryl Woodyard, have a rule that no piano can be put into the place. So they were amazed the other afternoon when Will Donaldson, who arranges for the Men About Town and who accompanies them in their agile vocaizings, pulled up at the improvised dock in a motor boat which was towing a huge scow. The crate on the scow was eagerly unpacked and the Men About Town were amazed that Donaldson had presented them with a steam caliope which he had bought from a broken-down circus.

A column dedicated to RADIO GUIDE readers. You and your friends are invited to write in for information concerning radio, radio stars, and your own favorite broadcasts. If the information is forthcoming and interesting to all of our readers, we will get it for you and print it in this column. No personal replies will be made.

From New Hamburg, New York, comes Agnes Van Voorhis' inquiry about the actors on Columbia's Love Story program.

Elsie Hitz and Ned Weaver used to play the principal parts each week on this program, but they are now alternating the Love Story broadcast with various other dramatic skits such as Eno Crime Club and Joe Palooka. They are heard occasionally, however, on the Love Story broadcast. The principal players in the July 7 program were Tommy Hughes and Adele Harrison, who took the parts of Denny Parker and Honor Bright.

Antoinette Kramer, of Chicago, writes a nice letter asking for a description of Phil Porterfield, baritone, who is heard regularly over WBBM, Chicago.

When we say Phil is handsome we mean you bet. He was born about twenty-seven years ago in Fort Wayne, Ind. Attended the University of Illinois, where he sang with Bill Donahue's Orchestra. From there to Broadway as a protegee of Orville Harrold, famous American tenor, where he made his theatrical debut in "Holka Polka." Later he was starred in the Marx Brothers' musical comedy "The Cocoanuts," "Golden Dawn" and "Rose Marie." Previous radio experience includes appearances over KDKA, Pittsburgh and CBS in New York. He is unmarried.

From Minneapolis, Minn., comes a request for the broadcast schedule of Jack Denny and his Orchestra. The writer is Patricia Constance Ryan.

At 10:30 p. m. (CDST) on Tuesdays, Denny and his Band broadcast a program of dance music direct from the Hotel Waldorf Astoria over an NBC network. Gem Highlights, featuring Denny, is broadcast over the Columbia chain each Sunday at 9:00 p. m. (CDST).

G. M. B. of Waterloo, Indiana, writes: "Will you please describe John Brown, of WLS? Is he married and what is his approximate age?"

John has blond hair, gray eyes, is six feet, one inch tall, and weighs 185 pounds. He is between thirty and thirty-five years old and married to Juanita Rae, former member of the WGN Chicagettes.

Margaret Van Vliet of Saugerties, N. Y., wants some information about the Jaceedors, who broadcast over WOR.

This vocal trio consists of Dorothy Calvert, Dorothy Frazer and Josephine Martel, three bright young things with a talent for harmonizing. Miss Martel, besides singing, accompanies the trio on the piano and makes the arrangements for the group.

Katherine Caruthers of Woodhaven, Long Island, hasn't been hearing Allen Meany over WOR lately and wants to know if he's on the air anymore.

Allen hasn't been broadcasting for about six weeks, Miss Caruthers. His return to the air is doubtful.

A tip for Guy Lombardo fans! If you are anxious to join a nationwide club in his honor and correspond with other radio listeners who share your enthusiasm, you are invited to join a club of which Christyne Hvass is the president. Write her at 7320 25th Ave., Kenosha, Wis., for further particulars, or address the vice president, Margaret Krell, at 1372 Ogden Ave., the Bronx, New York.

The Guest Star

By June Pursell

REMINISCING along the road of life.

Gay, laughing childhood . . . backflips and splits. Mother calling "June, be careful!" But I wasn't, and my knees and back bore the brunt of my disobedience. But I loved to dance . . . and I'd never had a lesson, so I just kept on with my acrobatics until I had perfected them. Strange . . . that I never danced professionally.

School days! Parties . . . proms . . . the art of growing up!

Debutante days! More parties . . . teas . . . dances and boy friends. What glorious times.

And then Death swooped down and precipitated me into the uncomfortable lap of me it was a splendid way of seeing the country . . . they didn't say that the only view I'd get would be from behind footlights! After a couple of years of vaudeville I wandered back to the Golden City . . . (golden for those who are movie stars.) Someone suggested radio. Who was it? I was to sing with an orchestra. (That was just after the crystal set era.) Anyway, I tried it. I did some hot numbers and whistled. The high-collared, conservative English professor announcer did not like it. He preferred "Home, Sweet Home." Well, the next week I returned . . . decided to borrow a ukelele and see what happened. The broadcast went over fine . . . despite the shocked glances of Mr. Announcer. Three days need. I lost my dad. That meant one thing . . . June must find something to do.

But what? After all, I had not been trained to be a business girl. How I wished I had . . . then. So you see it was circumstance that drove me to my career. I'm glad now that I was able to sing. Wonder what I would have done otherwise? Probably made the only lady cab driver in Hollywood.

Hollywood's Latin Quarter Cafe. That's where I sang for the first time professionally. I can see it now . . . a low-ceilinged room . . . grotesque paintings on the wall . . . dense, dull blue smoke filling the room. All around me faces that all of you have paid to see on the screen.

I was panicky. I had to sing before these stars. The awful realization came over me . . . my voice was untrained! Would my interpretation be correct? I didn't know . . . how was I to know . . . I'd never done anything like that before. Then . . . the introduction to my first number . . . the leader coaxing . . . "Go ahead, June!" It's over! They're applauding! Thank God! A terrible ordeal . . . but as I view it now . . . I think it funny. After a few weeks in the Cafe . . . I became bold enough to search for something more remunerative. I found it. Vaudeville . . . an act of my own.

Then I found real joy and fun in my work. I loved it. Loved the audiences. Played every small town in the United States, I think . . . well, anyway, maybe twenty of them . . . and then big time. They told later . . . that station 'phoned me to please get my stack of mail. Anyway, the public liked my stuff . . . and they told me so in hundreds of letters. When Mr. Announcer saw the mail response, he advised a manager for me and quickly suggested that I hire him. I didn't.

Then I thought I'd try the "Blinkies." I was the first to make a movie short. Had a great time. Doubled for stars . . . worked with them . . . grew to know and like them.

Then "Viennese Nights" . . . where you and you and you have probably heard a contralto voice and seen a blonde head but forgot that name was June Pursell.

But radio was in my blood. I liked it . . . and when the opportunity came to join the "California Melodies" group . . . I accepted with alacrity. My voice entered New York via wires from California and NBC heard it. They sent for me . . . and I became a sustaining feature for a short time. Gosh, what a thrill! But not half as big as the guest-starring on Chevrolet and Lucky Strike Hours.

Goodness! Look all I've written about myself. I hope it's what you wanted, Mr. RADIO GUIDE. Just another question? Go ahead. My ambition. Well, I've had a lifetime one to be an artist . . . to sketch and paint . . . but now . . . well, I'd like five or seven or two commercial hours . . . and, (this is serious) I'd like to be a real success in radio. I'd like to have all the listeners say . . . "that's June Pursell, let's have her for our guest tonight."

Short Wave—DX

Dear Sir:

Greetings from Hilo, Hawaii!

Just a word of praise from a DX fan in Hilo, Hawaii. I have had the pleasure of reading several copies of your weekly—RADIO GUIDE—and want to take this opportunity to tell you how much I have enjoyed it and what a dandy radio magazine it is.

If it had not been for the Northern States DX Club and S. J. Fredrickson, I would not have known about your wonderful radio weekly. They were kind enough to send me copies of it.

I am quite a DX fan and have a log of 146 stations with 86 of them verified. My log contains stations from 50 to 75,000 watts all the way from the Pacific to the Atlantic Coast in the U. S., Canada, Mexico, Japan, New Zealand and Cuba. I think my best catch so far is CMCD, Havana, Cuba, as it is only a 250 watter nearly 6,000 miles away from Hawaii. I hope to boost my log as soon as the next DX season starts, but until that time I guess it will remain just about the same.

I was made a member of the Northern States DX Club last month and am very proud to belong to such a club, as it keeps its members well posted on what is doing in the radio world.

Wishing that we had more radio magazines like yours on the Pacific Coast, I close with

Dear Sir:

Here is something that may be of interest to all DX fans. I received a Spanish verification from XEF, which reads as follows: "Certificada de Verificación Su Reporte de la Recepción de la Estación Radio Difusora XEF."

They also tell me, in English, that radio station XEF is located in Villa Acuna Coahuila, Mexico. XEF formerly used the call letters XER, but has now changed to XEF. It is operating with 75,000 watts output on 735 kilocycles, and is 100 per cent modulated. XEF claims that it is the most powerful commercial broadcasting station in the world.

Villa Acuna is just across the Rio Grande River from Del Rio, Texas. This little Mexican city has only 7,000 inhabitants. XEF makes its announcements in Mexican and in English. They can be heard every morning from midnight on to 3 a. m. (CDST or EST, which is the same time).

DX Editor:

I think RADIO GUIDE is swell, but I would like more DX news and fewer programs.

Can any of your readers tell me when the following stations are on the air?:

I would like to hear from Akron or nearby DX-ers.

Chesley B. Pickle, young radio amateur in Honolulu, has joined "ham" radio's WAC Club (Worked All Continents) and claims a unique record. With his K6DVZ, he reports he has logged 1,926 stations in nearly 60 countries, including some in Holland, Morocco and New Hebrides.
