The Editors' Note:

ABOUT AS NICE a shot of Jimmy Cagney as ever came out of Hollywood is the color photo of the dynamic little actor on this week's cover. Taken by Buddy Longworth, it shows Cagney as he will appear in Warners' forthcoming film of the Royal Canadian Air Force, "Captains of the Clouds." For the story, which stars him as a hijacking bush-flyer converted to an R. C. A. F. patriot, and for the adventures of Jimmy with the Warner troupe on location in war-time Canada, see page 2

Movie-Radio Guide's Award of Merit to "MYRT and MARGE"

NOVEMBER 2, 1931, was indeed a fateful day for three people. The three were Myrtle Vail, her husband, George Damerel, and her daughter, Donna Damerel. To them it meant that the pendulum had swung back, a pendulum which had swung heavily in the opposite direction on another day in 1929 when the stock market crash swept away the Damerels' family fortune.

Yet if it hadn't been for the stock crash the chances are that Myrtle Vail today would still be a housewife in Illinois instead of living in New York and acting the part of Myrt in the serial "Myrt and Marge."

Myrtle Vail, who at an early age had gone on the stage, and shortly afterward married George Damerel, had often dreamed of being able to retire from show business and settle down in a little house where she could play a more lifelike role—that of mother and housewife. In 1927 this dream became a reality when the Damerels decided that they had saved enough money to buy a home and, incidentally, invest the rest in income-producing real estate.

However, the stock crash two years later ruined the Damerels' real-estate development and made necessary the step which Myrt finally took.

That step was to sit down and write out a series of radio scripts based on life behind the footlights. Myrt used to write the family's vaudeville skits and so had a modicum of experience. With a new fall outfit, procured through the pawning of her engagement ring, the erstwhile housewife secured an appointment with an official of the company which was to become her first sponsor. Three weeks later, on November 2, 1931, "Myrt and Marge" made its debut on the air. Both Myrt, who played the part of a mother, and Donna, who played her daughter, had never seen a microphone until a few days previous to their radio debut.

Since that November day more than 2,650,000 words have poured into Myrt's typewriter.

Last February the sudden death of her daughter Donna, who was Marge of the script,

AUTHOR-STAR Myrtle Vail (top, above) with the new Marge, who is Helen Mack brought deep personal tragedy to Myrt and the young actress' numerous friends. But true to the tradition of the stage, the mother decided that the show must go on. To play the part of Marge, several hundred applicants were auditioned. From among them Helen Mack, of the movies, was selected. Said Myrt: "I feel as though she could be a daughter of mine."

Myrtle Vail's little cross-section of backstage theatrical life is now in its eleventh year on the air. Her amazingly productive talent has provided the spark of life and reality which stamps "Myrt and Marge" as out of the ordinary. Her courage has enabled her to overcome the tragedy of a daughter's death, to "go on with the show." Her fine appreciation of others has smoothed the way for Helen Mack. For these qualities, and because her serial story consistently has been one of radio's best, MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE is proud to present its Award of Merit to Myrtle Vail and her series.

Award of Merit

ABOUT this time of year, small boys take a reef in their mischievousness as they note the department store windows being decorated with toys, and try to act like they think their mothers want them to act. But Dr. Albert Edward Wiggam, the noted psychologist who recently appeared on the Charlie McCarthy program, says mothers should not worry too much about youngsters who happen to be as forward or "ornery" as McCarthy.

Charlie's character, as developed by Edgar Bergen, is not that of a "bad boy," says Wiggam, but of a "perfectly normal American boy." Perhaps, he adds as an afterthought, not typical, but normal nevertheless. The psychologist observed that he has known many children exactly like McCarthy and that "They turn out all right."

"Such youngsters," Wiggam concluded, "are bright, and what is more important, they display quite a lot of imagination. Charlie has a fine sense of humor, and that is often an indication of fine intelligence."

So there, mothers of "problem" kiddies, have a merry Christmas.

JAMES CAGNEY, whose face adorns this week's cover and who is written about on pages 2 and 3, found his personal mail-bag overflowing after a recent national magazine article nominating him as one of the three nicest men in Hollywood. The propositions of his letter-writers were legion. Forty-five young ladies suggested that he adopt them, over a hundred high-school youngsters wished to drop their books and come to Cinemaland to visit him, dozens of young men offered their services as his secretary, stand-in, boxing partner, and several hundred promoters wished to let him in on the "ground floor" of this or that deal. You see, that's the price a screen star must pay for being "nice"!

KATE SMITH (see page 36) struggled along scrubbing pans and making beds as a student nurse till she dynamited her way onto fame's ladder. Dinah Shore (see page 4) had a tough road to hoe and is still hoeing her way to the top. And from Hollywood, and Wally Westmore, head of Paramount's make-up department, comes this ray of hope to would-be career girls:

Says Wally: "It takes the girl from the five-and-ten, the soda fountain or the typewriter to make the grade in pictures. The wealthy girl has never learned really to wear clothes. The poor girl has to look well in a five-dollar dress. She has to learn to make up and dress her own hair. It's the old story. If you HAVE to learn a thing, you learn it. If you DON'T, you don't!"

NEXT WEEK Jack Benny tells exclusively how tough it is to live with Mary Livingstone, and vice versa, and the surprising results of the Lou Gehrig poll of this weekly are revealed in full. Watch for this issue on the news-stands December 17. —The Editors.

PICTURE of the WEEK

CAN THIS BE GINGER ROGERS?

YES, this IS Ginger Rogers, all right, all right, in a highly dramatic scene from her forthcoming 20th Century-Fox motion picture "Roxie Hart," the screen adaptation of the legitimate play "Chicago."

In the title role the nubile Ginger does little dancing, portrays most vividly a tough young wife who accepts a murder charge on a reporter's promise of national publicity and a vaudeville headlining tour. But while ensconced in jail awaiting her trial, Roxie's thunder is somewhat stolen by one Velma Wall (played by Helene Fortescue Reynolds), who has killed her husband.

Roxie becomes furious at Velma, and at her first chance tries to slap her down—as the picture above shows. The jail matron intervenes and bangs Roxie's and Velma's heads together and they are knocked out, cold. A sample scene, this is typical of the powerful dramatic situations in the film "Roxie Hart."

Followers of the Ginger Rogers career, highlighted by her first Academy Award last February, will rave anew at the fire and even greater dramatic ability Miss Rogers displays in her new screen vehicle for 20th Century-Fox.

JAMES CAGNEY JOINS THE ROYAL CANADIAN AIR FORCE

Returning to the type of role for which he is famous, Jimmy Cagney portrays a tough, two-fisted bush airplane pilot in his next film, "Captains of the Clouds"

1. JIMMY CAGNEY (above) and Dennis Morgan (r.) in "Captains of the Clouds" hear Winston Churchill's "We Shall Never Surrender" speech, quit jobs as Canadian bush flyers, join the Royal Canadian Air Force

2. BUSH PILOT Brian MacLean (Cagney) steals business from other bush pilots, the men who fly any kind of freight into Arctic, by cutting prices. When competitor pilots try to force him down in a dogfight, he outmaneuvers them (above) with the aid of "Storeteeth" (Clem Bevans), a passenger

3. WHILE ON a routine business stop, Brian gets into argument with Emily (Brenda Marshall), spiteful French-Canadian girl engaged to Johnny (Dennis Morgan), who is his business rival. He slips and fractures his skull in the fall

4. BUSH PILOTS on Brian's trail arrive as Emily pulls him from the water. Johnny, risking his life, rushes the unconscious flyer to a hospital. Right: Tiny (Alan Hale) tells Brian, who meantime has been making love to Emily, about it

5. MEANWHILE, BRIAN learns that Emily is a gold-digger, doesn't love Johnny. They run away. Johnny follows, finds them together, thrashes him. Brian then deserts Emily, tells her he did it only to keep her from marrying Johnny COCKY, hard-boiled Jimmy Cagney, last seen with Bette Davis as one of Hollywood's "honeymoon" pilots in the screwball comedy, "The Bride Came C. O. D.," does some real movie flying for the Royal Canadian Air Force in his soon-to-be-released Technicolor picture, "Captains of the Clouds," which also has Dennis Morgan and Brenda Marshall in the cast. Unique and thrilling, this brilliant film is the story of the pilots who are coming out of the "bush country" of northern Canada to fly against the Luftwaffe for the Royal Canadian Air Force.

"Captains of the Clouds" is an accurate account of Canada's flying men. It was filmed at No. 2 Air Service Training Station, Uplands, Ontario, and in the war zone itself in Halifax. Here the scenes depicting the departure of planes across the Atlantic Ocean to join England's fighting air force were made. Stunt pilots had to be especially cautious about approaching the war air base. Gun crews there have instructions to shoot down any plane flying higher than two thousand feet.

While a thousand pilots stood at attention, the Dominion's great World War hero, Air Marshal W. A. (Billy) Bishop, appeared before the camera as himself for the opening scenes of "Captains of the Clouds."

Warners went to Canada with the full cooperation of a government at war to make a picture of its fighting air force. The location trip was an experience for every member of the cast, just as seeing the picture will be a thrilling experience for every moviegoer. The Hollywoodites made friends with officers and fighter pilots who today—a few weeks later—are flying over Berlin fighting for peace and democracy! You, too, will see some of these same pilots in action in the battle-scenes. —W. M.

6. DISGUSTED, BROKE, Brian (r.) rejoins his old cronies in the bush country. Hearing Churchill's speech, which brings the war home to them, they decide to join the Canadian Air Force

7. BELOW: The bush flyers' chagrin is enormous when they learn the R. C. A. F. wants them only as instructors, not as fighters, considering them too old for actual combat

9. TINY IS KILLED when he and Brian make a desperate attempt to prove their fitness. Later, Johnny, in command of a flight of bombers across the Atlantic, is shocked to hear Tiny's name called as a pilot who is to make the trip. He realizes it's Brian who answers and wants to fly to England in Tiny's name, so doesn't give him away. Climax (above) follows rapidly

8. JOHNNY, ALREADY in R. C. A. F., is a successful officer. Brian and Tiny, who have also enlisted, are not good instructors. Rules and regulations bore them. Brian is particularly recalcitrant, finally is washed out of the service when he smashes a plane (above), almost killing student pilot with him

Dinah Shore's Amazing Success Story

Land." Four years later she was strumming a ukulele, wowing woman's club meetings with such alarmingly unbabyish tunes as "I Can't Give You Anything But Love, Baby." The Shores sent Dinah to Vanderbilt University. She was graduated in 1938.

In the Vanderbilt yearbook Dinah's name appears as Fannye Rose Shore. Originally it was Fanny Rose. Somewhere along the way Dinah dispensed with her given name after long years of exposure to kidding and unfunny puns. For example, "Fanny Rose sat on a tack—and Fanny Rose."

Vanderbilt yearbook also lists a dozen or more activities for Dinah, from glee club to fencing. One not mentioned is her singing job on WSM. It was Ed Kirby, then of WSM, now on leave from his job with the National Association of Broadcasters to take over a defense job in Washington, who got her introductions to NBC and CBS in New York.

JUST twenty, Dinah set out for New York with a fluttery heart. The experience was overpowering.
She not only flopped in the auditions; she was so scared she couldn't open her mouth. So Miss Shore went back to finish at Vanderbilt.

A year later Dinah landed her sans-salary job on station WNEW. She worked hard. Jimmy Rich, the station's musical director, became interested and taught her many singing tricks. She taught herself by listening to playbacks of every broadcast. Looking back, Dinah says, "Those days were the most important for me. People thought it was unfair that I worked on the air without pay, but I actually pleaded for the chance." That is what is known as hindsight.

In February Dinah got her first paying job. It was with Leo Reisman's band, playing on Broadway.
Dinah was paid $75 for her week's work but before she left the theater someone stole $60 of it.

Back at WNEW she bagged an audition date from radio producer
Vick Knight, who was then handling Benny Goodman's broadcast. But the audition faded into another one of those heartbreak curves as Dinah tried to compete with a ham-on-rye sandwich which, Dinah says, had maestro Goodman hypnotized at the vital moment.

Then came the "Basin Street" assignment. The record-making dates and the personal appearances. People began to talk about that "moanin' low" voice. Her records spread like a prairie fire through the juke-box world.
Broadway audiences were impressed. Suddenly the young Tennessean was headed down a broad, smooth straightaway to success. All that she needed was a big-time radio spot. And into this perfect setting walked Eddie Cantor.

Moving his show from Hollywood to New York, the comedian needed a singer, and again Vick Knight called in Dinah. Smart showman, unafraid of new faces and new talent, Cantor leaped to the bait.

The only trouble Dinah has had since is in turning down other job offers.

Last month Dinah clinched her radio career with a broadcast of her own—Sundays over NBC. Eddie Cantor was on hand to do the honors, let loose a veritable torrent of Cantorian emotion. Eddie Cantor had played star-maker again. Now will Dinah Shore, as her predecessor, Deanna Durbin, leap from the Cantor show and her own program to even more glittering heights of stardom and wealth? It's very possible. Just keep your eyes on Dinah!—J. C.

ALL AT ONCE it has dawned on America that Dinah Shore is just about the brightest thing that's happened along in the popular songstress line for years. But for Dinah, her success with Eddie Cantor (Wed., NBC), her sensational conquest of the juke-box audience, her new broadcast (Sun., NBC) is the pay-off for months of heartbreak and hard work. It's anybody's guess what Dinah will do next. One thing is sure: She isn't going to stop now

BIG tears rolled down Dinah Shore's cheeks as she stood in a New York telephone booth on New Year's Eve, 1937. She was putting in a long-distance call—collect—to her father in Nashville, Tennessee. The nickel she used to call the operator was a borrowed one.

Dinah was broke. Her courage was gone. She was going home.

When she had left Nashville six months before she had been so sure—so gloriously certain that Dinah Shore could sing her way to fame in radio.
The promise she had made to her father—to come home if she didn't make good—was an easy promise to make, then. But now, after months of heartbreaking auditions, of singing over radio station WNEW without pay, Dinah's lovely voice broke as she bowed to the final humiliation of asking for railroad fare home. Sympathetically her father assured her that he'd wire the money. Secretly he wanted with all his heart to tell her to stay on. He was proud that his daughter had not begged for more money. She had made a bargain and was sticking to it. Afraid of weakening, he hung up.

It was all fine and heroic, but afterward Mr.
Shore couldn't go through with it. He couldn't let such courage down without another chance. The next day Dinah had a letter. Her father wanted her to stay, to have another try. He'd see her through.

Dinah was still in New York three years later as another New Year rolled around. But the picture had changed. The worm had turned. Dinah Shore had become a sensation. Seven hundred U. S. radio editors had just voted her 1940's outstanding radio discovery.

In 1940 Dinah had stood radio listeners on their ears. She had panicked them with her throaty,
"moanin' low" songs on a new swing-music show,
"The Chamber Music Society of Lower Basin Street." She had won over the juke-box fraternity with smash-hit recordings of "Careless" and "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes." She had crashed big-time radio with a spot on Eddie Cantor's Wednesday show.

IT'S a Cinderella story, Dinah's is, but the happy ending wasn't arrived at by the glass-slipper, pumpkin-coach route. Dinah got there by the old uphill-downhill road, with plenty of heartbreak curves to negotiate.

The road begins down in the quiet Cumberland Valley village of Winchester, Tennessee. There Dinah was born in 1917, the daughter of Mr. S. A.
Shore, a prosperous small-town merchant, and there, at the age of three, she made her musical debut singing "The Rose That Grows in No Man's

BORN DOWN in the Cumberland Valley of Tennessee, daughter of a well-to-do small-town merchant, Dinah (bottom row, right, above) was more interested in cheerleading than singing when a student at Hume Fogg High School, Nashville

OUT OF COLLEGE and barely twenty-one, Dinah already had done some singing over station WSM, went to New York for a career. What she got was a non-paying job on WNEW, a lot of help from WNEW musician Jimmy Rich (above, right)

PICTURES IN THE MAKING

MAKING the rounds of studios, looking in on the current movie sets, eavesdropping on off-stage doings of the stars is routine business for MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE reporters. Sometimes it's amusing, usually it's enlightening. Always it's interesting. Results of this week's sleuthing bring an assortment of on-and-off-the-set photos that are all three. These shots were made with an eye to giving movie-goers a peek at the other half of a movie set. Seeing a movie at your neighborhood theater is seeing half of a picture. Here's a glimpse at the other half!

Photographs by Madison Lacy, Don English, Longworth, Talmadge Morrison

← MOMENTS like this, on Warners' "Juke Girl" set (left), are a pain in the neck to cameramen but amusing to stars. In a water-pumping scene, Richard Whorf is "broken up" by Ann Sheridan's kidding, spoils "take"

NAKED REALISM takes to the sound-stage on "Son of Fury" set as George Sanders, in a scene, grabs bull-whip to thresh Tyrone Power. So Sanders could whip realistically, Power wears all-metal underjacket

BADMAN BOGART, not assigned to a picture at the moment, tricycles about Warner Bros.' Burbank lot on the alert for a part rejected by some other polished villain, perhaps Edward G. Robinson or George Raft. Some of Humphrey Bogart's best acting jobs have come to him through such sleuthing

BARBARA STANWYCK takes a minute between "takes" for "The Great Man's Lady," in which she is starred with Joel McCrea and Brian Donlevy at Paramount, to chat with husband Robert Taylor, who dropped in to visit. Story of the pioneer West, "The Great Man's Lady" offers Barbara her greatest acting opportunity to date—a role which has her growing old in the story, running the gamut from young romance at sixteen to grand old age at a hundred. Since this was taken, the picture has been completed, will soon be seen on the screens

HAVING FUN after weeks of hard work at M-G-M, where they made the currently showing romantic comedy "Design for Scandal," Rosalind Russell and Walter Pidgeon cooperate on a bit of cake-eating at Walter's birthday party. (Note Pidgeon's gloves—gift which added to the hilarity of the party.) Besides having a birthday, the urbane Mr. Pidgeon recently took time out to go to New York, dance with his daughter Edna at the Stork Club

GETTING WHAT should have been a deliciously easy assignment, Bob Hope runs into trouble when he has to kiss Vera Zorina in a scene for Paramount's "Louisiana Purchase." Zorina, it seems, doesn't care for Bob's technique. He's supposed to be in love (left), but it's all just a laugh to Zorina (above) until she takes the initiative (right)

WELL! What Do You Know?

HOW well do you know the stars? Here's the chance to test your ingenuity—your knowledge of headline screen celebrities in a simple motion-picture quiz. So if you fancy yourself any kind of expert on the stars, prove it on the five questions below. All you have to do is name the actor or actress in question. Consider yourself good if you answer three correctly, excellent if you get four right.

Should you answer all five—well, you're just too, too good. In fact, you'd be perfect. Try it, it's easy. Just read the hints given for each picture, then name the star in question. All set—go!

1. HERE'S AN EASY starter. The girl is Rise Stevens, Metropolitan Opera star. Who is the whiskered gent? The scene is from their first movie together, but he has played many romantic roles opposite the veiled lady in picture at right. Wagnerian operas are his favorites. Know him?

2. WHO IS THE lady about to be married in picture above? She's a redhead, and in her latest film her hubby, who is also a movie star, appeared opposite her. Their wedding was a large Hollywood event

3. ABOVE: Careful, this one may trip you. In her next M-G-M picture, little Dickie Hall plays her son. She first appeared in vamp roles, but proved to be a sensation in role opposite male star W. P. Who is she?

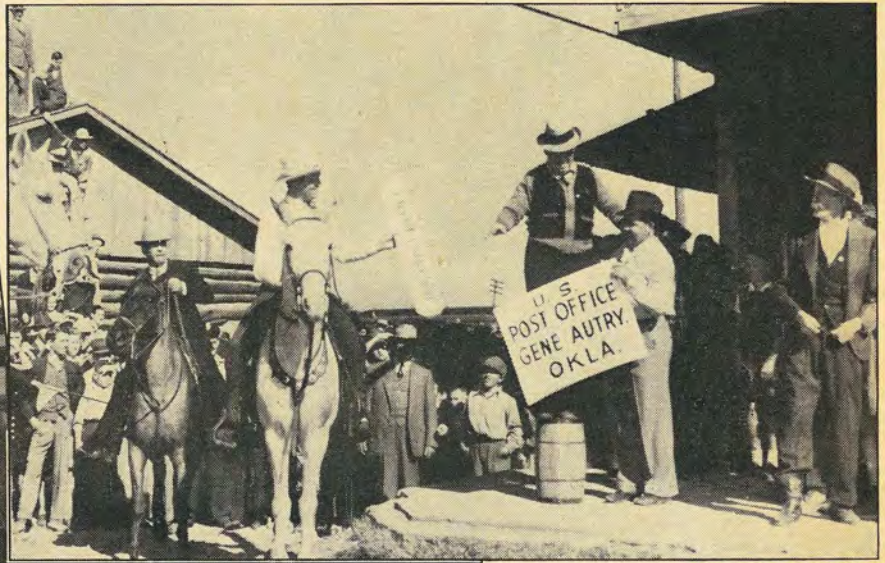

4. LEFT: Beware of this one. The initials of the lady on the left are C. B., and she appeared in "Topper." The other is known for her wish to avoid crowds, has just made film in which she appears as twins

5. RIGHT: The lady in question is an Academy Award winner and hails from New England. Jimmy Stewart appeared with her in a story about the Quaker City, and last season she appeared in a hit on Broadway

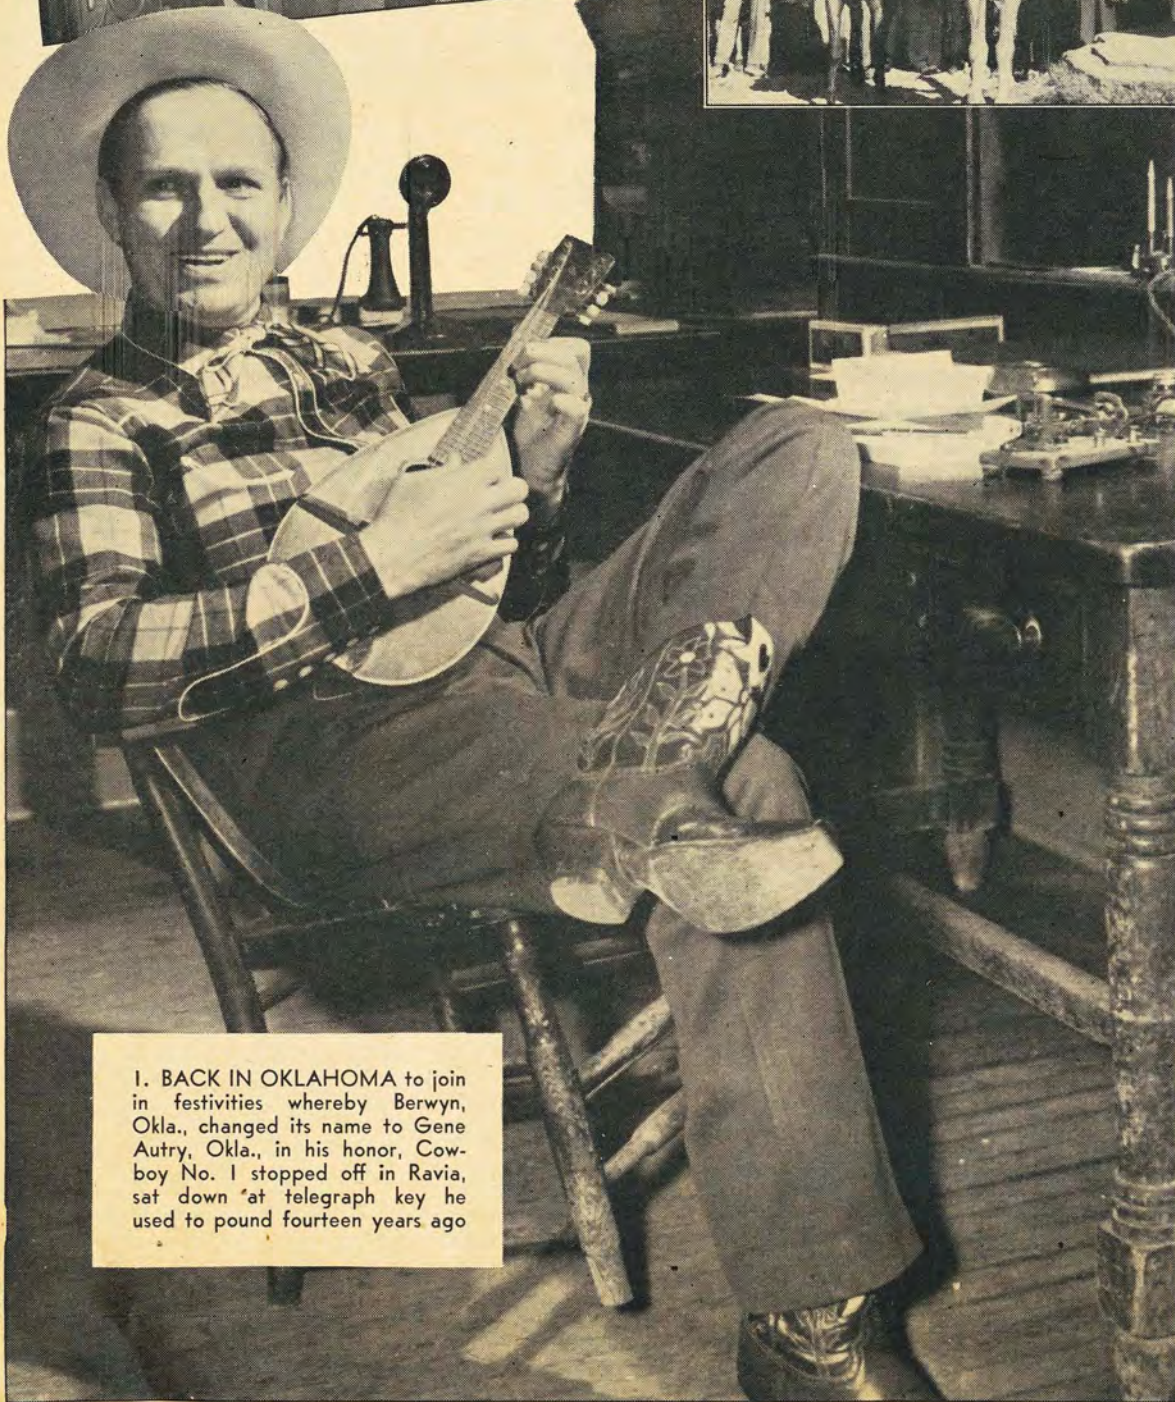

See how good you are — test your knowledge of movie stars — answers on page 11

Cowboy Gene Autry gets final accolade of fame—a town is named for him!

HITCHING its destiny to the chaps of U. S. Cowboy Number 1, the little town of Berwyn in Oklahoma's Arbuckle Hills has renamed itself Gene Autry, Okla. Recently Gene Autry stopped off at Berwyn to join in the official name-changing festivities. Governor Leon Phillips of Oklahoma and thirty-five thousand other people also stopped off. Gene's entire "Melody Ranch" radio cast were there to do their regular Sunday broadcast from an empty flat car.

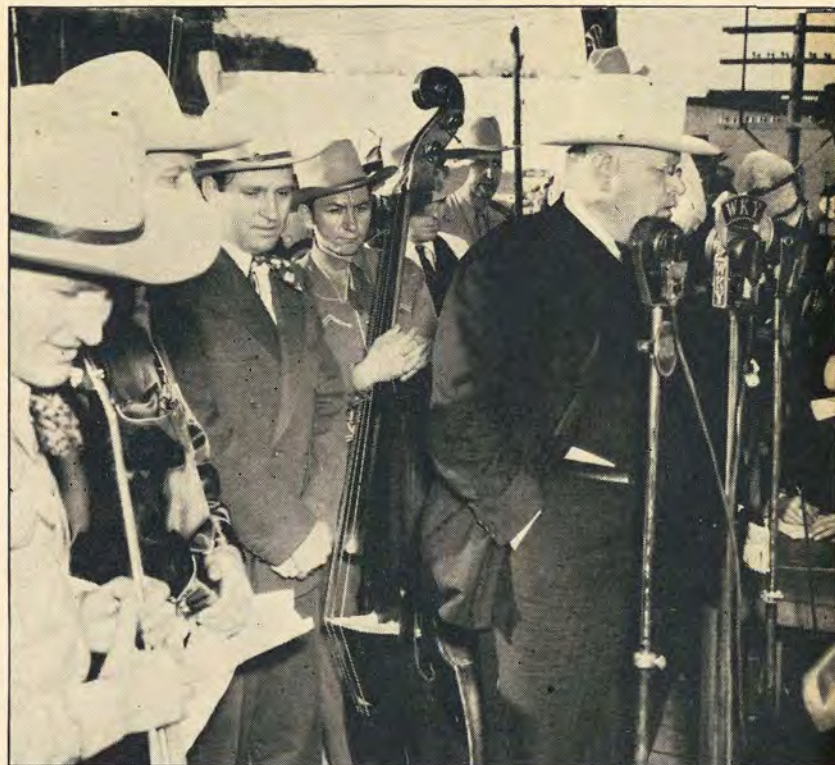

Streaming into this sleepy town of 227 inhabitants, some of them even before daybreak, men, women and children came from miles around. There were band concerts, parades and speeches, but the big attraction was Gene himself. They knew Gene had bought a 2,000-acre ranch a few miles from town and that he was making it headquarters for his Flying A Rodeo show, but to be able to see him, talk to him, get his autograph, that was almost too good to be true.

For Gene it was also a grand homecoming, since most of his boyhood days were spent in near-by Ravia and Tioga. Day after the celebration he relaxed, visited with relatives, friends.

The regular department, "Today in Hollywood," continues on next page and includes more pictures of Gene Autry's trip to the new Gene Autry, Okla.

GENERAL

Hausner Starts New Career

Jerry Hausner, who shouts "Extra! Extra! Get your Daily Illustrated Press" each Wednesday on the CBS "Big Town" program and has been doing so for years, is at last a movie actor. But not the way he thought he'd be. His good friends Lum and Abner had assured him of a part in their RKO picture, now winding up, so, when RKO called him, he reported to the lot. A big director "surrounded" him, looked him over from every angle, asked him to close one eye, turn around, smile. Then one eye was taped into a squint, and the director looked him over again. About this time the director exclaimed, "Yeah, yeah. That's him. He'll do fine!" Hausner began to wonder. "Do for what?" he asked impatiently. "Why," said an assistant standing near by, "for the part of Cockeye Malone in 'Syncopation.' That was Bill Dieterle looking you over." Hausner laughed, said, "Wait, he hasn't even asked me IF I want the part yet." Over came Dieterle saying, "Then I ask you, do you want the part?" Hausner replied, "I sure do!" Then Dieterle told Jerry how he had seen him playing Curly in "Of Mice and Men" two and a half years ago at the El Capitan, and had been waiting for a role where he could use him. But when he found the part, it took him another two weeks to find Hausner!

Frank Capra to Fox

Following Ernst Lubitsch into the 20th Century-Fox fold, Frank Capra makes the second ace director-producer Fox has corralled in recent months. It's a big event at the Fox lot and a triumph for Darryl Zanuck. It's also a silencer for rumors about the famed producer-director's future, including one that he might sign with United Artists. The contract, which is for three years, calls for exclusive use of Capra, who will leave Warners immediately after completion of "Arsenic and Old Lace."

THE WAR

Bedding for Britain

Extra job for Jimmy Cagney, Brenda Marshall, Dennis Morgan, Alan Hale and other members of Warner Bros. troupe when they were on location in Canada to make "Captains of the Clouds" was to write their signatures on a one-foot square of cotton for the wife of Air Marshal William A. Bishop of the Royal Canadian Air Force. Mrs. Bishop is making a quilt composed of eighty such squares which will bear signatures of every important personage in all the nations fighting the Axis. Center square will feature autographs of Winston Churchill and President Roosevelt. The completed quilt, which stars were invited to sign because "Captains of the Clouds" is an epic of the Royal Canadian Air Force, will be exhibited in the U. S. and Canada before being auctioned off.

And Never Are They A. W. O. L.

Actor-soldiers of Paramount's "True to the Army," which stars Allan Jones and Judy Canova, have been having themselves a field day while making scenes on the stage of the Los Angeles Biltmore Theater. Cashiers at downtown restaurants, jumping to the conclusion that the boys are real soldiers, have given them service men's discounts—up to forty percent!

LIFE STATISTICS

Jackie Cooper's Mother Dies

Mrs. Mabel Cooper Bigelow, former veteran stage and screen performer and the mother of Jackie Cooper, passed away November 27 at the age of thirty-six from a long illness. At her bedside at death were Jackie, her sisters—Mrs. Norman Taurug and Mrs. Florence Kenmore—and her brother, Jack Leonard.

Orson, Dolores Tell Plans

Orson Welles and Dolores Del Rio have announced their wedding plans. As soon as her final decree of divorce is entered in the Superior Court on or after January 18, 1942, Miss Del Rio, the former wife of Cedric Gibbons, will wed Welles in an informal civil ceremony. Gibbons is planning to marry Pat Dane when he is free . . . Astrid Allwyn has become the bride of her next-door neighbor, Charles Fee, insurance executive, at Las Vegas, Nev. She met him when he came over to her house to return a book he had borrowed from her sis-

CASTING

Assignments

Joan Fontaine and Charles Boyer have been confirmed as co-stars for "The Constant Nymph," Warner Bros. production assigned to director Edmund Goulding . . . Hedy Lamarr will replace Joan Crawford in "Her Cardboard Lover." Joan turned it down because it was a remake . . . Linda Darnell will star in 20th C-Fox' "A Tommy in the U. S. A.," which is planned by Darryl F. Zanuck as a companion to "A Yank in the R. A. F." . . . Humphrey Bogart's next will be "Nobody Lives Forever" at Warners . . . Signed to play feuding rancher roles in Paramount's Texas story, "American Empire," are rodeo aces Monty Montana and Homer Holcomb . . . To play the father of George M. Cohan in "Yankee Doodle Dandy," Warner Bros. have secured Walter Huston . . . Red Skelton will appear with Judy Garland in a forthcoming M-G-M film, "As Thousands Cheer," remade from the Irving Berlin-Moss Hart stage hit.

COMING ATTRACTION

"BAHAMA PASSAGE," starring blond Madeleine Carroll with fugitive-from-Hollywood Stirling Hayden, brings together again the co-stars of "Virginia." In this, boy meets—and gets—girl with lonely tropic island as background

MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE

CRITICS' REPORT

"PLAYMATES"

Cast: Kay Kyser, John Barrymore, Lupe Velez, Ginny Simms, May Robson, Patsy Kelly, Peter Lind Hayes, etc. An RKO-Radio picture; produced and directed by Dave Butler. Screen play by James V. Kern from original story by Kern and M. M. Musselman.

Type of Picture: A screwy, rather slapstick comedy with plenty of good music for the Kyser and Ginny Simms fans.

This Is the Story: This, Kay Kyser's third for RKO, starts off with two press-agents hatching a plot to make front-page news of their respective clients, John Barrymore and Kyser. The press is told Barrymore is to give Kyser dramatic lessons! Barrymore, with creditors pressing, goes through with the gag, convinces Kay he will make him into a great Shakespearian player! In the rowdy-dowdy, razz-ma-tazz ending Hamlet really gets a working-over in the final scenes. Kay gets Ginny while John gets Lupe Velez.

Verdict: Every inch entertaining for the entire family.—E. P.

"SKYLARK"

Cast: Claudette Colbert, Ray Milland, Brian Aherne, Binnie Barnes, Grant Mitchell, Walter Abel and support. A Paramount picture; produced and directed by Mark Sandrich. Screen play by Allan Scott and Z. Myers, based upon the play and novel by Samuel Raphaelson.

Type of Picture: A hilarious, more slapstick than sedate, comedy on high-pressure married life in the upper crust.

This Is the Story: Busy, money-making husband Ray Milland rather neglects his lovely wife, Claudette Colbert. When, to hold a million-dollar advertising account, Ray "gives" his wife's pet cook to his client's rather catty and annoying wife, Binnie Barnes, then Claudette's dander is up. In retaliation Claudette flirts with Brian Aherne, accepts his offer to go sea-cruising—but to tell the rest would spoil the ending.

Verdict: This is no "It Happened One Night" for Miss Colbert, but it's all good, clean fun and a pack of laughs for the family.—E. P.

BRIEF PICTURE GUIDE

Outstanding Pictures

HERE COMES MR. JORDAN: Story of a spirit removed from a body fifty years before its time. Good comedy, with Robert Montgomery, Claude Rains, James Gleason. (Adults.)

HOW GREEN WAS MY VALLEY: Best-selling novel of Welsh miners masterfully presented with Walter Pidgeon, Maureen O'Hara, newcomer Roddy McDowall. (Family.)

ONE FOOT IN HEAVEN: Inspirational story of a Methodist preacher, the kind of picture you see only once in a decade. Starring Fredric March and Martha Scott. (Family.)

SUSPICION: Cary Grant and Joan Fontaine expertly enact a romantic murder mystery. (Adults.)

THE LITTLE FOXES: Realistic drama of a heartless, designing woman—Bette Davis' bid for another Academy Award. (Adults.)

Other Offerings

BIRTH OF THE BLUES: Bing Crosby at his best, with Mary Martin, Carolyn Lee. (Family.)

DUMBO: One of Walt Disney's best. (Family.)

HOT SPOT: A mystery thriller packed with suspense and dramatic intensity that make it a must. Victor Mature, Betty Grable and Carole Landis perform brilliantly. (Adults.)

KATHLEEN: Shirley Temple's comeback picture, a psychological study of a young girl with a split personality. (Family.)

SAILORS ON LEAVE: Marriage by force. The Navy bet he'd get married and they get behind their bet. A comedy. With William Lundigan and Shirley Ross. (Family.)

SWAMP WATER: Exciting story of Georgia's Okefenokee Swamp and its inhabitants. Walter Brennan as the swamp hermit and fugitive gives a splendid performance. (Family.)

TARGET FOR TONIGHT: Remarkable R. A. F. film actually made under fire. Most realistic picture to come out of the current European war. (Adults.)

Comedy

APPOINTMENT FOR LOVE: Charles Boyer is taken over the jumps by lady doctor Margaret Sullavan. Romantic comedy. (Family.)

DESIGN FOR SCANDAL: Sophisticated comedy, starring Rosalind Russell, Walter Pidgeon, with Edward Arnold. Very clever. (Family.)

KEEP 'EM FLYING: Abbott and Costello as mechanics to stunt-flyer Dick Foran, with Martha Raye and Carol Bruce. Funny, of course. (Family.)

Western

RED RIVER VALLEY: Roy Rogers and "Gabby" Hayes fight both priorities and villains for a dam project. (Family.)

4. Constance Bennett and Greta Garbo.
5. Katharine Hepburn.

RADIO'S ALL-AMERICAN COMEDY TEAM

BY TED HUSING

"FOUR HORSEMEN" gallop again. But this time it's Bob "Pepsodent" Hope, Jack "Jell-O Again" Benny, Fibber " 'Tain't So" McGee and Eddie "Banjo Eyes" Cantor (left to right)—a potent enough laugh-combine to score against the bluest of blues!

CHARLIE "MOW 'EM DOWN" McCARTHY (l.), Husing picks as star center, only grid star known to wear a monocle. But Ted warns that Charles might do better in the backfield, because if ever there was a block (pine or spruce?), Charlie is it!

PICKING RADIO'S All-Laugh Eleven, CBS grid broadcaster Ted Husing sends Fred Allen in at right end, but claims he's a quick-kick expert, too, with a terrific ad-lib punch, and his combination plays are legend

WITH practically the whole world offside; with Grief running interference and Woe carrying the ball—

It's a positive pleasure to look at the All-American Eleven of 1941 . . . unbeaten, untied and unscored upon . . . which is consistently smearing Catastrophe College.

I have been asked by MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE to select America's All-Laugh Radio Eleven—and nothing I've done in years has given me so much enjoyment.

Not just on Saturdays. Not just on Sundays. Not just on holidays.

Radio's All-Laugh Eleven has been in there every day, making and throwing passes at your ribs and mine.

I am making my selection on the basis that the All-Laugh Eleven has no one man who is better than any of the others. Each player is the best man in his position—and they're all stars.

If you are one of those fans who like ends better than tackles or guards better than backs, that's your privilege. But, for mass attack on Uncle Sam's funnybone, I defy you to pick a finer combination.

Name	Position	Ht.	Wt.
Jack "Jell-O Again" Benny	L.E.	5' 11"	168
Red "Lion's Roar" Skelton	L.T.	6' 2 1/2"	185
Fibber " 'Tain't So" McGee	L.G.	5' 6"	165
Charlie "Mow 'Em Down" McCarthy	C.	36"	35
Al "Hope I Hope" Pearce	R.G.	6' 1"	200
George "Burn 'Em Up" Burns	R.T.	5' 11"	165
Fred "Cut Plug" Allen	R.E.	5' 11 1/2"	179
Eddie "Banjo Eyes" Cantor	Q.B.	5' 7 1/4"	147
Ed "Archie" Gardner	L.H.	6' 1"	170
Bob "Pepsodent" Hope	R.H.	5' 11"	170
Frank "Slippery" Morgan	F.B.	6' 1"	180

Benny is the left end to end all left ends. He is left on the end every time Rochester calls, every time he tries to throw a bluff past Mary Livingstone, and every time he gets in a row with Phil Harris or Dennis Day.

Skelton, a comparative newcomer, is a natural tackle. He tackles big-wigs in the day's news; pokes fun at any subject and has tackled humor with an easy-going twist that makes you wonder why nobody else ever thought of making stooges out of people like Ozzie Nelson, Harriet Hilliard and Wonderful Smith.

Fibber McGee, one of the old triple-threat, vaudeville-movie-radio artists will guard America's right to laugh as long as he keeps opening that closet door and poking Mayor La Trivia and Mrs. Uppington at the listeners. Fibber's ace play, however, is the Molly maneuver, which just about makes him perfect.

McCarthy I pick as center, only because whenever there is a fancy play (at the glamour girls) being made, Bergen's boy is in the middle of it. Charlie can think up more angles and jump through more holes than a flea in a bird-cage.

Pearce needs no introduction to guard play. His Elmer Blurt play has been getting him past a lot of front doors in radio, and as a salesman his top product has been laughs wrapped around Artie Auerbach-to-Andy Devine-to-Lou Bring-to-Pearce.

George Burns is the tackle who makes it the hard way. Everything he tackles finds Gracie running around him in circles. This is sure-fire technique in the grandstands.

Putting Fred Allen on the right end is a trick the hecklers have been trying for years. Here is a quick-kick expert who can ad-lib his way through the Congressional Record and leave 'em laughing. Also a vaudeville-movie-radio expert, Allen tacks on a musical-comedy record that they're still talking about and he knows every joke in Mr. Miller's book by its first name. While this guy can carry the ball on his own, he is at his riotous best in a combination play with Portland Hoffa, Kenny Baker and his

RED "LION'S ROAR" SKELTON is picked as left tackle, although he can carry the ball, too. Red is a strapping 6-foot-2½-inch giant of 185 pounds, but he gets the Husing nod chiefly because he tackles everybody from the President down in his hunt for any kind of laugh, belly preferred double-wingback Stooze Scramble.

Cantor in quarterback position gives us a fellow who mixes his signals between human interest, fall-guy comedy and music. He has a Discovery Play which brings out stuff like Deanna Durbin and Dinah Shore—and mixes this with a mad rushin' play that keeps the stands yelling for more.

Putting Ed Gardner in at left halfback is handing the ball to a fast-moving guy who invented the "Archie" play. This big fellow is hard to stop, especially when it comes to the celebrated New York Diction Play. He breaks up the dictionary defense like a lighted cigar in a balloon-peddler's business.

Hope springs eternal to the halfback position. This guy has a McCarthy-in-the-flesh technique for making passes—and need we say what kind? His Yehudi Play is still a national pastime and he can run riot anywhere from your front parlor to an Army camp with Jerry Colonna and Skinny Ennis riding pickaback.

Our fullback may come last, but far from least in the line-up. Morgan has been carrying the ball for years and there never was a shifty guy on the air (gnarrrr), on the land (bam, bam, bam), or on the high c's (whoop, whooop, whoooooop).

All in all, it's too bad there isn't some kind of Congressional Medal or Distinguished Service Medal for these eleven men.

I've always thought that one of America's prime privileges was the right to life, liberty and laughter.

And when they write the history of this present world headache, this All-American Eleven will go on the records as the crew who kept people smiling when three-quarters of the world had lost the knack.

Special programs saluting Bill of Rights highlight week's listening

For broadcast times of the programs mentioned on this page see the program pages and "Best Listening" boxes in the program section.

Mo., the Guadalupe Center will portray the ancient Las Podadas festival of Mexico, a religious dramatization once seen or heard, never forgotten.

Monday, December 15

America's precious Bill of Rights will be saluted upon the occasion of its 150th anniversary with a special program on all major networks this Monday. President Franklin D. Roosevelt and former Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes will speak; Helen Hayes will read the Bill of Rights of the Constitution; Leopold Stokowski will direct the Philadelphia Orchestra in the playing of the national anthem; and a group of Hollywood actors will enact a special dramatization called "We Hold These Truths," directed by Norman Corwin (CBS, MBS, NBC) . . . Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, leader of the isolationist political forces, will speak in connection with the Bill of Rights celebration over MBS . . . Soprano Margaret Speaks is back as soloist of "Voice of Firestone" (NBC) . . . Orson Welles will appear in "A Great Man Votes" on NBC's "Cavalcade of America." (Incidentally, on this date "Cavalcade" will present only the early show, giving over the time of its rebroadcast to the special Bill of Rights program) . . . Another Bill of Rights broadcast over NBC will feature Hilda Burke, Metropolitan Opera soprano, impersonating Miss Liberty and singing the national anthem. This ceremony will be broadcast from the steps of the Sub-Treasury Building in Washington, D. C.

Tuesday, December 16

The yearly Christmas Assembly of Barnard College will be broadcast again this year over NBC, featuring a program of Christmas carols sung by the Barnard Glee Club and the Columbia Glee Club.

Thursday, December 18

As is customary at Christmas time, Bing Crosby's "Kraft Music Hall" will present the Kraft Choral Society, a well-known chorus made up of employees in the sponsor's organization (NBC).

Friday, December 19

Scientists and research workers from the University of California, California Institute of Technology and Stanford University will cooperate with NBC to present "Unlimited Horizons," a winter series of fifteen programs dramatizing achievements of science and their application to modern life. This will be the second season for "Unlimited Horizons" (NBC) . . . World champion Lew Jenkins will meet Sammy Angott, NBA champion, in a lightweight-title bout in Madison Square Garden. The fight will be aired by MBS . . . One of the greatest youngsters and one of the greatest oldsters of screen history will team up on the radio this Friday when Shirley Temple and Lionel Barrymore appear together in "Christmas for Two" on "Shirley Temple Time" (CBS).

Saturday, December 13

Latest in the line of female vocalists on "Hit Parade" (CBS) is Joan Edwards, formerly soloist with Paul Whiteman's orchestra and featured on numerous network programs during the past few years . . . Guest stars on NBC's "Lincoln Highway" will be Warren William and Frances Robinson . . . This week's Saturday matinee broadcast from the Metropolitan Opera stage will present "Samson and Delilah," by Saint-Saens; singing prominent roles will be the sensational young soprano Rise Stevens, Rene Maison, Leonard Warren, Norman Cordon and Nicola Moscona (NBC) . . . "Doctors at Work," the appealing drama about the life of young Dr. Thomas J. Riggs, is back on the air for its second year under the auspices of the American Medical Association (NBC) . . . Attilio Baggiore will sing the famous role of the broken-hearted clown in Leoncavallo's "I Pagliacci" on "Chicago Theater of the Air" (MBS). Marion Claire and Igor Gorin will also be starred . . . A new program called "Anchors Aweigh" has its premiere on MBS this Saturday. It's an all-Navy show, with music by a twenty-five-piece band, harmonies by the "Boys of '17" quartet, Navy personalities who have lived through exciting adventures, Hollywood guests and bluejacket tenor Jack Staley. On the first program will be Lieutenant "Tex" Anders, hero of the Panay incident in China; George O'Brien, western film actor recently commissioned in the Navy, and Lieutenant Commander Perry Wood, public-relations officer.

Sunday, December 14

Bob Hope, who was born in Eltham, England, came to the United States at the age of four and became a naturalized citizen when he reached his majority, will be the featured speaker on "I'm an American" Sunday (NBC) . . . Lana Turner, scheduled to appear as guest on the "Chase and Sanborn Program" last Sunday, will appear this week instead (NBC) . . . Film actor Warren William will make his second guest appearance in two days, starring this Sunday on "Inner Sanctum Mystery" (NBC) . . . Art Kassel's orchestra will be featured on "Fitch Bandwagon" (NBC) . . . Tenor Frank Parker will be guest soloist on "Pause That Refreshes on the Air" (CBS) . . . Richard Crooks will be soloist on "Ford Sunday Evening Hour" (CBS) . . . Spencer Tracy is tentatively scheduled to appear on "Silver Theater" (CBS) . . . In keeping with the Christmas spirit in America, the "I Hear America Singing," program on MBS will present a program based on the Christmas traditions of one of our neighbor countries. From Kansas City,

Classical Music

Here is a guide to great music on the air, planned to increase your listening pleasure

MUSIC NOTES: Saturday's offering of the "Chicago Theater of the Air" is Leoncavallo's "I Pagliacci" with Attilio Bagniore as the broken-hearted clown. Others who will sing on the broadcast are Igor Gorin and Marion Claire... Morris Markey, nationally known magazine writer, is conducting the new "Music and America" feature heard between the first and second curtains of the "Metropolitan Opera" series Saturday afternoon. Each week Markey pays tribute to an American city which has played a significant role in the nation's musical history... Arturo Toscanini makes his second and final appearance on the NBC podium in behalf of the Defense Bonds and Stamps campaign. The distinguished conductor will very likely not be heard again on the air this season... To conduct his "Symphonic Strings" program on MBS while he is away, Alfred Wallenstein has selected three young concert musicians, all members of the orchestra, to baton in his stead during the month of January. Wallenstein will be away for the month, conducting the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra... Simon and Schuster have published "The Opera, a History of Its Creation and Performance: 1600-1941," by Wallace Brockway and Herbert Weinstock. The authors have written the tome in an informal, extremely readable yet authoritative manner... Eugene Ormandy, conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra, has selected Beethoven's "Fifth Symphony" for his piece de resistance Friday afternoon. As guests on the broadcast will be three pianists, Jeanne Behrend, Hilde Somer and Henry Harris. They will play Bach's "Concerto in D minor" with the orchestra.

THE REMAINDER OF THIS WEEK'S PROGRAMS FOLLOWS ON PAGE 24

FOR STATIONS ON WHICH YOU MAY HEAR THESE PROGRAMS, TURN TO PROGRAM PAGES ON THE DAY AND AT THE HOUR INDICATED.

1. BIGGEST SHOW, judged by sheer weight of talent, ever broadcast was the two-hour-and-forty-five-minute program with which NBC celebrated its fifteenth anniversary recently. Pictures on this and the opposite page illustrate. Above, maestro Gordon Jenkins (in rear) laughs as Charlie admits to Edgar Bergen that he wasn't "out of the woods" when NBC began

TODAY IN RADIO

Street Singer to be heard again; Bob Hawk will star in new program

GENERAL

Exclusive—Bate Replaced

NEW YORK.—It has been reliably reported to MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE that NBC will replace Fred Bate, the network's London correspondent, as soon as they can arrange for a passport and visa for their new man. No reason is given for Bate's replacement. Bate returned to London last May following several months in this country for rest and further treatment of injuries sustained the previous fall when an aerial bomb struck the building in which he had taken shelter during a London air-raid.

Gunther for Swing

NEW YORK.—When Raymond Gram Swing goes on a three-week holiday beginning Christmas Day, the person who will substitute for him on his radio program will in all probability be John Gunther, noted newspaperman and author, whose "Inside Europe," "Inside Asia" and his most recent work, "Inside Latin America," have all been best-sellers. Gunther will arrive in New York December 15 from London, where he has acted as a correspondent for NBC. Gunther had hoped to be able to go from London to Russia. Last year Hendrik Willem van Loon, noted author and lecturer, subbed for Swing.

Profs Fall Again

CHICAGO.—When the "Quiz Kids" met a quintet of professors from the University of Michigan faculty in a battle of wits, the score was 420 to 390—in favor of the kids. It was the sixth "Quiz Kids" triumph over adult competition. The questions ranged from Shakespeare through current events, history, popular music, natural history, Biblical literature and political science to geography. The "Quiz Kids" who were responsible for this latest trouncing of the pedagogues were Joan Bishop, Jack Lucal, Richard Williams, Harve Fischman and Gerard Darrow.

PROGRAMS

Street Singer Sings Again

NEW YORK.—Arthur Tracy, celebrated "Street Singer" of a few years ago, will break a five-year absence from American radio when he begins an afternoon commercial series over NBC January 5. The singer-accordionist for the past few years has been performing on English stage, movie and radio shows and on the Continent over Radio Luxembourg.

"Hap Hazard" Back

HOLLYWOOD.—The "Hap Hazard" program, starring Ransom Sherman, which was heard last summer as a substitute for "Fibber McGee and Molly," will again be heard Coast to Coast shortly. Before going on a national network, the program will have a warm-up on the Pacific Coast.

Hawk Gets New Show

NEW YORK.—Bob Hawk will give up his popular "Take It or Leave It" quiz show early in January to star on a new program to be called "How Am I Doing?" under the sponsorship of a cigarette maker. The new show will take over the spot now occupied by "Al Pearce and His Gang" on CBS Friday night. Pearce moves into the Xavier Cugat spot on NBC Thursdays, and Cugat shifts to the Wednesday NBC period now occupied by "Penthouse Party," which will leave the air.

Gabby Gals May Return

CHICAGO.—One of radio's popular comedy acts of the past may return to the air. Off the ether since 1937, the sketch known as "Clara, Lu and Em" is being auditioned for sponsorship. Missing from the act, however, is the original Lu, Isobel Carothers, who died several years ago. The two others, Helen King Mitchell and Louise Starkey Mead, have been coaching another actress to take the deceased Lu's place in the skit.

"Ma Perkins" Still Perky

CHICAGO.—"Ma Perkins," one of radio's highest ranking serials, began its ninth year on NBC December 4. Virginia Payne, who plays Ma, and Charles Egelston, who plays Shuffle, are the only members of the original cast still appearing. Other actors are Murray Forbes, Fred Howard, Gilbert Faust, Dora Johnson and Rita Ascot.

"Hollywood Premiere" Off

HOLLYWOOD.—When "Hollywood Premiere" went off the air recently, it was originally meant that it should take a four-week lay-off while the Shirley Temple series occupied its time-spot. But the sponsor and producers have now suddenly decided not to resume the "Hollywood Premiere" show after the Temple series.

New York, Too

NEW YORK.—Although the "Saturday Night Serenade" program has been originating from New York for the past six years, the Coast-to-Coast show has not been heard in this city. However, sometime in January the program's station schedule will be revised to include the country's most important metropolis. Incidentally, this program will enable New York listeners to hear songstress Jessica Dragonette regularly for the first time since she left the "Cities Service Concert" some years ago.

PERSONALS

Benny Fetes Newsboys

HOLLYWOOD.—Over a hundred Hollywood newsboys had a big Thanksgiving dinner together through the generosity of Jack Benny. The comedian sent a wire which was read at the feast. He told them he had been a star news butch himself, setting up a record of five hundred papers, sold the day Dewey captured Manila.

Gauche Groaner

HOLLYWOOD.—In five weeks in the Argentine, Bing Crosby learned enough Spanish to converse with fair fluency. He talked fifteen minutes in Spanish with Salvatore Baccaloni, opera singer who was a recent guest on Crosby's program. Baccaloni said Bing's Spanish is better than that of most people who have studied it for eighteen months or more. Crosby is making the language something of a hobby; he answers in Spanish all fan mail written in that language. Crosby's sharp memory, familiar to fellow musicians, evidently extends to foreign language.

Another Book by Berle

HOLLYWOOD.—The third book by Milton Berle, comedian of "Three Ring Time," will be published early in 1942. It's entitled "From Obscurity to Oblivion." Berle's previously published books, which were heavy sellers, were "Comedians Don't Laugh" and "Laugh, Town, Laugh."

Goes for Gophers

HOLLYWOOD.—Edward G. Robinson is conducting a private crusade of his own, apart from his activities as "Big Town's" Steve Wilson on CBS. His own campaign is aimed not at human "rats" but at actual rodents, the gophers that have been overrunning his flower garden on his canyon ranch behind Beverly Hills. So far, Robinson admits, the "crime element" has the upper hand.

SIDELIGHTS

Thankful "Quiz Kid"

CHICAGO.—Richard Williams is not only the number one mathematician of the "Quiz Kids" but he's also the

3. STARS APPLAUDED stars on the big broadcast. Here Hal Peary ("The Great Gildersleeve"), Jim and Marian Jordan (Fibber and Molly), and NBC official Don Gilman watch and listen to other participants, among whom were Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, FCC chairman James L. Fly, RCA president David Sarnoff, and scores of all types of entertainers

4. OF COURSE there were refreshments for the artists who gave their all for the network that has meant bread and butter for them. Above, left to right, announcer Milton Cross and comic-emcees Ralph Dumke and Budd Hulick grab a snack. The broadcast presented also commentators and rnews pick-ups from abroad. In 1926 there was no news on NBC top essayist of the group. His piece won over seventy-two other "Quiz Kids" in a Thanksgiving essay contest. Richard wrote: "When I tried to think what I have to be thankful for, I suddenly realized that there is nothing in the world I could ask for that I don't already have. I have a father and a mother and a big brother who are full of fun and make our home a jolly place to live in. I have a strong body; I have good food to eat and warm clothes to wear. I have lots of good friends; my teachers are kind and understanding, and I have my little dog Sally to romp with. What more could any boy want? Every night when I go to bed I say, "Thank you, God, for being so good, to me."

"Stepmother" Problem

CHICAGO.—The serial "Stepmother" may accomplish its aim to demonstrate that a "stepmother" can find happiness for herself, her husband and his children—but its own experience with casting is a little on the fickle side. Latest actor to be cast as male lead John Fairchild is Willard Waterman. He inherits the role portrayed before him by Francis X. Bushman, Charles Penman, Duke Watson and William Green. The title role of the stepmother is now played by Charlotte Manson, who succeeded Sunda Love and Janet Logan.

Grandma Sets Example

CHICAGO.—Whenever an episode in "The Bartons" sketch is built around a family meal, author Harlan Ware invariably has Grandma Barton (portrayed by Kathryn Card) say these words of grace: "Our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for all our blessings and we ask Thy mercy for less fortunate people the whole world over." This beautiful and meaningful prayer has drawn commendation from many sources, including many church leaders such as Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf of the Methodist Episcopal Church and Dr. Louis L. Mann of the Chicago Sinai Congregation.

HONORS

"Photogenerous"

HOLLYWOOD.—Wise-cracking Bob Hope and glamorous Rita Hayworth were presented special awards December 1, when the Hollywood News Photographers' Association nominated them as the most "photogenerous" stars of 1941. The awards, silver cigarette sets, were presented to the stars by Cecil B. DeMille at the conclusion of DeMille's "Lux Radio Theater" program.

Durward Kirby Honored

CHICAGO.—Durward Kirby, popular announcer and comedy emcee of the Chicago NBC studios, has been chosen to receive the H. P. Davis Announcer's Award for 1941 for outstanding all-around ability as a radio announcer. Each year similar awards are given to the best announcer on the staff of an NBC station in each of four regions. This year the special award for the outstanding announcer of all NBC stations was created. The bases for judging include personality and voice quality, ability to talk with a living-room group, freedom from inflection mannerisms and local characteristics, variety of presentation and sales appeal. Kirby, entered for station WENR, Chicago, receives $300 and a gold medal. The winner is currently heard as one of the emcees of "Club Matinee" and as announcer for "Lone Journey."

SHORTS

When "Breakfast Club" listeners were asked to send in mementos for the giant scrap-book given to tenor Jack Baker to commemorate his tenth anniversary in radio, the response exceeded all expectations, with more than 85,000 listeners sending in pictures, poems, and other souvenirs . . . Comedienne Joan Davis has had her regular run with Rudy Vallee extended through December . . . Bill Goodwin, announcer and stooge for Burns and Allen, gave up cigarette smoking recently—and lost his voice for two days! . . . This year's edition of Tony Wons' "Scrap Book" is now published and on sale at book stores (Reilly & Lee, Chicago) . . . For the second time Les Tremayne, co-star of "First Nighter," was chosen by Helen Hayes to appear opposite her in one of her Sunday night dramas. The actor flew to New York to take part in "A Star Is Born" . . . Barbara Jo Allen (Vera Vague) may head a network show of her own soon . . . Gene Autry was to appear in a Chicago "command performance" before two thousand 4-H youths December 1, but his plane was grounded at Albuquerque, N. M., because of bad weather. The star wired greetings.

5. HERE ARE some of the Hollywoodites who put on the West Coast share of the show under the expert production of Joe Parker. Chatting in this group are, left to right, announcer Don Wilson, Bing Crosby, Andy Devine and Norris Goff (Abner of "Lum and Abner"). Crosby is one of radio's veterans, started with CBS a decade ago, soared to fame with NBC

6. A COMEDY SENSATION currently, Red Skelton tried out his lines on Marian Jordan (left) and Gracie Allen. Comedy has always been a fixture in network radio. But back in 1926 there were no special events, no quiz shows, no foreign pick-ups, and there were only three hours of drama weekly on NBC. Look how radio has changed during these fifteen years!

Next Week's Cover

Something new in the way of Santa Claus is served up in MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE's cover next week. It's Jack Benny as Santa and Rochester as Santa's valet. And it's a surprise, a riot, a scream! Don't miss it—and don't miss an exclusive scoop story inside by Jack Benny giving the lowdown on wife Mary Livingstone, with Mary's rebuttal on the opposite page. (That's riot No. 2.) Besides numerous other interesting pictures and stories, next week's issue carries complete details of all the Christmas week radio programs you'll want to hear. Reserve your copy now!

COOOPERATING in one of the greatest short-wave radio projects ever undertaken in this country, WGEO and WGEA, powerful international stations of the General Electric Company in Schenectady, N. Y., have revised their schedules to send a continuous stream of news to Europe from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. EST six days a week. The schedule includes broadcasts by WGEA (15.33) in seven languages: Swedish, Finnish, Italian, German, French, Portuguese and Spanish, and by WGEO (9.53) in Spanish, French and English. In addition, WGEO will continue its fifteen minutes of news sent out six evenings a week in Czech and its Sunday afternoon broadcasts of news in Greek.

registration fee. Since WRUL is a non-commercial and non-profit organization, this fee covers merely the cost of printing and mailing the course material. Enrollment gives the student the privilege of having his weekly tests and his final examination corrected by Mr. Chamberlain, who is code instructor for the Massachusetts State Department of Education.

Beginners are made familiar with the sounds of the dots and dashes and from there they gain familiarity and speed until after passing their final examination they can send or receive at the speed of fifteen words a minute.

This national defense World Radio University course has already enrolled students in several Latin-American countries, but this year Mr. Chamberlain hopes to have students in all of the twenty republics south of the Rio Grande as well as in all states of the United States and across Canada.

For further information about this interesting code course, broadcast Mondays at 6:30 and 10:15 p.m. EST over WRUL (11.73, 6.04 or 9.70), write to the World Wide Broadcasting Foundation, 133 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, Mass. To register, send $1.00 to same address.

affiliated stations of the Cadena Radio Inter-Americana are bringing before the WLWO microphones the orchestral and choral groups of the leading Catholic schools of the U. S. A. The Catholic Students' Mission Crusade is sponsoring the programs. The first, on December 11, featured the students of Mount St. Joseph-on-the-Ohio; this week's will feature the students of Our Lady of Cincinnati . . . He didn't want to wield the baton this winter, but on behalf of the U. S. Treasury's campaign for the sale of defense bonds and stamps, Arturo Toscanini will conduct the NBC Symphony on Saturday evening, December 13, from 9:30 to 10:30 p.m. EST. Tune to WRCA (9.67) or WNBI (11.89).

General Notes

"Horo do Brasil" (Brazilian Hour) may be heard daily from 6:00 to 7:00 p.m. EST over PSH (10.22), PRF3 (11.765 or 6.095), PRE9 (6.105), PRA8 (6.01), PRC5 (4.865). Incidentally, Rio de Janeiro station PSH (10.22) is now broadcasting in English for listeners in North America, Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays from 8:00 to 8:30 p.m. EST . . . According to a letter received by Roger Legge of Binghamton, N. Y., ZFY (6.08), "The Voice of Guiana," British Guiana United Broadcasting Co., Ltd., P. O. Box 272, Georgetown, will soon have in operation a new 1,000-watt transmitter with a directional antenna beamed northeast-southwest, and would like reception reports . . . It's a toughie but when reception is good you can pull it in: "Radio Bucuresti" (9.26), Bucharest, Roumania. Exact hours of operation are unknown but the station has been heard from as early as 3:00 p.m. to sign-off at 5:10 p.m. EST. Tune carefully just below COCX (9.27), Havana, Cuba, and if you hear a woman announcer or music of the semi-classical type you probably have "Radio Bucuresti."

Try This Week for Dutch Guiana

With their brothers or husbands actually in service there, many of our reader-listeners will want to hear broadcasts from PZX (11.515), Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana. So I suggest for your short-wave goal this week you attempt to tune in PZX (11.515) Mondays or Thursdays (sometimes Saturdays), from 6:30 to 7:35 p.m. EST. Let me know how you make out.

Peeks at Personalities

Edward Ward, BBC radio reporter and author of the currently popular London feature, "War-Time Family," was taken prisoner—along with six other correspondents—in the Libyan campaign on November 28 . . . Recently premiered in London was "49th Parallel," British film conceded to be one of the best and one of the most expensive films yet produced dealing with the present war. Starring are popular actor Leslie Howard and beautiful sixteen-year-old Glynis Johns . . . "Berlin Diary," the thrilling account of William L. Shirer's experiences in war-time Nazi Germany, is being transcribed into Braille and also has been recorded as a "talking book" for the blind. Shirer, who once had an accident that threatened his own sight, read enough from the book to fill the first disk of the "talking book" recording himself . . . Professor Vincente Tovar, book reviewer of WGEO, Schenectady, N. Y., has been named honorary president for North America of the Cultural Society of Argentina in recognition of his four-year-old program devoted to Latin-American literature.

and to throw light upon world events for the people of the occupied and war-torn nations, most of the broadcasts will be devoted entirely to news of the minute," said Mr. Pearce, General Electric manager of broadcasting. "A few fifteen-minute musical periods will be retained, and other periods will feature background news—that is, what the United States defense program is, progress being made, what we are doing to help Britain, the program of cooperation among the countries of the western hemisphere—any information calculated to bring listeners up to date on the world situation and to spread throughout Europe a message of hope."

WRUL Code School for Defense

Every Monday at 6:30 p.m. and again at 10:15 p.m. EST, Bill Chamberlain, WRUL's radio code teacher, sits at his key and his microphone while eager code students in many different parts of the world sit by their radios with pencils handy to take down the day's lesson.

In these days when all America is girding for national and hemisphere defense, the role of the radio operator is becoming increasingly important. Both the Army and the Navy need thousands of men qualified to send and receive the international Morse code—pilots, tank drivers and, of course, naval and merchant ship radio operators.

Through WRUL's radio school of the air—a new term has just started—students with no previous knowledge can learn code in a pleasant, easy way with a cost of only $1.00 as a

RADIO'S FIRST LADY does a bit of chatting over a microphone with America's First Lady. Old friend, ardent admirer of Eleanor Roosevelt, Kate Smith takes her famed friends as naturally as her lowliest fan

Last week Hildegard Dolson wrote of Kate Smith's childhood and early successes on the stage up to the auspicious moment when she met and merged her fortunes with Ted Collins. This week the story continues.—The Editors.

THAT was the start of a partnership that has prospered as the green bay tree for ten years. When "Flying High" closed, Collins argued NBC into giving her a trial broadcast of songs. After this epic event NBC officials were somewhat apathetic and the rival CBS network offered Kate Smith the fifteen-minute spot competing with Amos 'n' Andy. "Don't take it," a friend counseled her sagely. "That's too tough a spot for a beginner." That settled it. Kate scowled thoughtfully and accepted the CBS offer. After her first number on this new program, a group of bored musicians, idly dialing a radio in another CBS studio, dispatched a messenger post-haste to the floor below. "Go find out who's the girl with the big voice," they instructed him tersely.

Listeners at large reacted with equal speed and flung their choicest superlatives into fan letters, which began to pour in at the rate of two hundred a day. Collins showed several of the more lyrical passages to potential sponsors. "Read 'em," he said. A cigar manufacturer read, and promptly hired the singer for a half-hour program at a tidy jump in salary to $1,500 a week. That was in the fall of 1931. The fan letters doubled in number and fervor. A woman listener wrote in to say that as a proof of her devotion she had taken to smoking the cigars. "They are all that your announcer claims for them," she said loyally. "Mellow and full of contentment."

Those early broadcasts brought her an invitation to appear in vaudeville at New York's famous Palace Theater. Her success there held the act for eleven weeks, still the long-run record.

It was on the cigar program that Kate Smith launched her theme-song, "When the Moooooooon Comes Over the Mountain." Seven years later, when it was announced that Kate Smith was to sing at the White House for the King and Queen of England, the King asked, "Isn't she the girl that sings about the moon and the mountain?"

Three years ago, local prophets shook their heads forebodingly over the news that Kate Smith would make her debut as a radio commentator. But this "Kate Smith Speaks" program recently zoomed to top ranking among daytime shows. In these five-day-a-week chats, Kate talks about patriotism, new books and spring bonnets, has lectured women sternly about hoarding silk stockings, takes hefty cracks at magazines printing naughty pictures and tells homey little anecdotes that point a moral.

Fan letters from her listeners on this program and her Friday evening hour average three thousand a week. About half are requests for money, advice, recipes, autographs or auditions. A few suggest diets or criticize Kate's habit of saying "I'm gonna."

OTHER admirers, organized into Kate Smith fan clubs, get out a mimeographed magazine filled with members' lushly worded compositions about their idol. Feature of a recent issue was "What I Would Do if Kate Smith Spent a Week-End at My Home."

Backed by this dogged loyalty, Kate Smith's name has led most of the radio polls for the past ten years with a walloping majority. During this time she has had four sponsors—La Palina cigars, Hudson cars, A. & P., and General Foods. They have paid the pretty sum of $5,092,176 to the CBS network for her time on the air. Of this sum, General Foods, her sponsor since 1937, has spent $3,187,707. Surveys show that her biggest following is in the middle- and lower-income brackets, and that her rating among city dwellers is forty-six percent higher than in rural areas. In 1938 she was selected as one of America's ten outstanding women by the editor of a woman's "Who's Who."

Even black-hearted cynics who fail to appreciate the charms of Radio's First Lady admit that her programs are wholesome. This determined theme of wholesomeness is summed up nicely in Kate Smith's autobiography, published several years ago. In it she says, "When we are planning a series of programs, I picture in my mind a little blue-eyed girl of four or five, sitting on her daddy's knee, listening intently to every song that is sung, every word that is uttered."

The Kate Smith variety hour hews faithfully to this line, featuring songs by the star, a dramatic skit, and a comedy team. Hollywood guest stars often appear, at an average $2,000 a throw, to play a scene from their latest movie. A press-agent explained this prettily in a recent press release. "Today Hollywood sends its brightest stars to the Kate Smith program, knowing that their sometimes slightly tarnished glamour will come away with a brighter finish for having been washed in the Kate Smith elixir." This might be news to Warner Bros.

Scripts for all Kate Smith programs are turned out by staff writers of Kated, a corporation formed by Ted Collins and Kate in 1932. Kated now pays salaries to fifty-five people weekly. This includes twelve staff members: Script-writers, press-agents and secretaries. It also covers twenty-eight orchestra members, ten chorus singers and three to seven actors, comedians and guest stars for the evening show. Approximate salaries range from $42 for a choral singer and $90 for a supporting actor to the $1,000 to $3,000 fees paid to Hollywood guest celebrities.

Collins, as manager, handles all finances and allows his star $350 a week as personal spending money, a sum referred to pleasantly by Kated staff members as "Katie's Coca-Cola money." Part of the $350 goes for colored movie film and antique glass bottles. Her biggest extravagance is speedboats. At her summer home, Camp Sunshine, on Lake Placid, she pilots one of these super-jobs with a jolly, reckless abandon that makes nervous guests close their eyes and pray for sudden delivery. She also swims, golfs and plays noisily at a slot machine installed in Camp Sunshine—all proceeds to the U. S. O. In New York, Radio's First Lady rides sedately behind a chauffeur, and lets off steam by sticking her head out the side window to heckle cab drivers.

"Hey, you big lug, stop blockin' traffic," she yells playfully.

Noon programs are broadcast from the star's apartment over a special CBS hook-up. After a hearty breakfast at nine, she settles down with that day's script, making revisions with the writer, and whacking out any phrases she complains of as being too "hi-falutin'." When the final draft of the script is typed, longer words are written out phonetically (archeologist, for example, becomes AR-KAY-OL-O-GIST) so that Kate can pronounce the words trippingly, even if she doesn't know quite what they mean. Most of her afternoons are spent trying out songs for the next week's evening show.

EVERY Friday the entire script for that evening's show is rehearsed and timed piece by piece in an all-day workout at the Columbia studios, where Kate has her own dressing-room complete with shower and electric grill. She can read only a few notes of music, but members of her orchestra are both appalled and impressed by her musical memory, since she's apt to point out firmly that their current playing of a song varies by one note from the way they played it six years ago. "It shoulda gone vum-pee, vum-tee, vum-tee-ay," she'll say reproachfully. She's always right.

Several years ago, when the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra was forty percent behind in a money-raising drive, the committee decided realistically to give a benefit beer party, with Kate Smith as the star. During rehearsals, with Stokowski conducting the orchestra, Kate kept shaking her head glumly as they played her song. They weren't getting the right doo-ah dum-dee-OOM into the closing bars, she said. Suddenly she grabbed the baton from the startled Stokowski and directed the orchestra energetically until the boys gave forth with the proper dum-dee-OOM. The beer party was a wowing success. Afterward the pleased Stokowski told Kate, "God gave you that voice. Don't let anyone change it."

As her press-agent has said, "Kate Smith is satisfied with things just as they are, perched as she is on the top rung of success." This was demonstrated at a birthday party given for the singer, when guests played a game called "Who Would You Like to Be?"

"I'd rather be myself," Radio's First Lady answered reasonably. "But if I had to be anybody else, I'd rather be Mrs. Roosevelt."

Meet Your News Commentator:

Clifton M. Utley

CHICAGO long ago spotted Clifton M. Utley as its leading foreign-affairs expert. For years, before the networks went overboard to give Americans a picture of World War II, Mr. Utley was giving clear, concise interpretations of foreign affairs over station WGN under the sponsorship of a women's clothing store. During those years he also has been director of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations, which brings to three thousand members addresses by ambassadors and potentates of Europe, leading American international seers. Now Mr. Utley has extended his field of operations, is broadcasting to the U. S. five days a week over NBC.

But here is no provincial voice from a hinterland American city. Although a native of Chicago, Clifton Utley has been all mixed up with Europe for quite a long time. Just now he has three French refugee children as members of his family for the war's duration. Before the war he spent every summer abroad, drove his own automobile from one end of Europe to the other, poking about to get a realistic picture of what was happening. Before that he had topped his University of Chicago education with work at the University of Munich and the University of Algiers and the National University of Mexico.

As most radio commentators, Clifton Utley has a background of newspaper reporting, begun during his University of Chicago days. A double exposure to Europe and to the newspaper world gave him his bent for foreign affairs, got him his job with the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations.

But broadcasting and Council work account for only a part of his time. Besides, he finds time to deliver 150 speeches a year, edit Foreign Notes (a biweekly review of international doings), make frequent appearances on such broadcasts as "University of Chicago Round Table," "People's Platform," "Northwestern Reviewing Stand."

That doesn't leave him too much time for the Utley family, composed of two children, David, eight, and Garrick, two, in addition to the three French youngsters of Andre Philip, former member of the French Chamber of Deputies and professor at the University of Lyon—and, of course, Mrs. Utley, who is herself a radio commentator. But the hours he does manage to squeeze in at the rambling house on Blackstone Ave. are jam-packed with excitement and fun.—J. C.

INNOVATION on Clifton M. Utley's news broadcasts is interviewing commentators of stations which carry his Monday-through-Friday NBC program about defense projects in their areas. Utley, though, is more interested in analyzing foreign events

AFTER BROADCAST and breakfast Utley retires to a room at the Stevens Hotel, where he sleeps or rests from 9:30 until lunch time. No one can reach him there except his wife. Next on the schedule is work at his office at the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations in the Loop

DIRECTOR OF THE COUNCIL, Utley has two secretaries to assist him in handling mail, speaking-contracts and arrangements for Council-sponsored speeches by ambassadors and other prominent foreign authorities

UP AT 4:30 A.M., Utley spends several hours catching up with the night's news developments, goes over script with advertising executive Ross Merritt (right) and announcer Louis Roen (center). He broadcasts at 7 a.m. CST

AMERICA'S TOWN MEETING OF THE AIR

DEDICATED TO THE ADVANCEMENT OF A FREELY EXPRESSED PUBLIC OPINION

"TOWN MEETING" debaters gather around microphones as moderator George V. Denny (inset, right) asks for questions from audience (picked up on parabolic mike at right on stage)

Movie-Radio Guide VISITS:

"America's Town Meeting of the Air"

TO FIVE or six million U. S. citizens there's nothing in radio quite so exciting as "America's Town Meeting." Nor quite so worth while. Well into its seventh season, the Thursday night meeting in New York's Town Hall holds most of the thrills of the arena, with leaders of national thought locked in verbal combat and 1,500 spectator-hecklers to spur them on, to put them on the spot. The showman in charge is a remarkable gentleman named George V. Denny.

"Town Meeting" is Mr. Denny's remedy for a common but un-American ailment: Our refusal to listen to the other fellow's opinion. Mr. Denny has noticed that people, generally, associate only with those people who share their own attitudes, read only those books which express their own viewpoint, buy only those newspapers which support their own prejudices. Realizing the danger to democracy apparent in this situation, Mr. Denny decided that America needed a radio program where listeners would have to listen to more than one side of a question. He got NBC to broadcast it, Town Hall, Inc., to manage it.

Today "Town Meeting" goes out over one hundred NBC-Blue stations, also over short waves. There are 1,400 Town Meeting Clubs throughout the country, conducting their own discussions after hearing the broadcast. There is a weekly parade of the nation's outstanding statesmen, scientists, businessmen, thinkers before "Town Meeting's" microphone.

"Town Meeting" is run simply, keeps close to the public pulse. Subjects are determined by moderator Denny, working with advisory program board and NBC. Once a subject is chosen, speakers secured, Mrs. Marion Carter of Town Hall sends each speaker a letter of instructions, telling how long the speech should be, suggesting points to be included so that all sides may be fully represented.

The speeches arrive, usually a day before broadcast—sometimes not until 8 o'clock on Thursday evening, straight from the speaker's perspiring hand as he dashes backstage at Town Hall. Mrs. Carter checks all speeches with Mr. Denny for time, duplications—but not censorship.

An interesting feature of "Town Meeting" is the character of the audience. Tickets are free and always are distributed with an eye to representing all points of view in the audience. Letters requesting tickets usually are a dead give-away to the writer's attitude and if it appears that the requests are running too heavily on one side, a balance is effected by selecting from organizations in Town Hall's file known to hold opposite views.

"Town Meeting" audiences are the ace up showman Denny's sleeve. Such colorful debaters as Dorothy Thompson and "Ironpants" Hugh Johnson have created plenty of excitement, but they aren't in it with the heckling, highly articulate 1,500 guests. Mr. Denny, who has been a dramatics instructor at University of North Carolina, knows showmanship from A to Z, knows how to handle his audience.

At a preliminary meeting he gives them instructions. They may applaud or shout "No." They may not indulge in prolonged cheering or hissing. They are reminded that a spirit of fair play must always prevail, that personalities will not be tolerated.

Obviously, the excitement and entertainment value of "America's Town Meeting" is merely a by-product. The real aim is to get the great American public to think for itself about vital national problems. And Mr. Denny's broadcast has done more to accomplish that aim than one hundred years of political bombast.

LEFT, ABOVE: Since the first broadcast in 1935, "Town Meeting" has kept pace with the march of events. Jan Masaryk, former Czech ambassador to Britain, appeared in 1939, discussed "How Can Europe Avoid War?"

ABOVE: Renewing the old New England institution, "Town Meeting" has its own town crier dressed in traditional colonial costume. William B. Shelley rings the bell each Thursday evening, calls the meeting to order

"TOWN MEETING" debaters include famed thinkers, scientists, politicians, businessmen, but there is no bowing or scraping. They must stand or fall on the merit of their own argument. Above: The famed British author, H. G. Wells

QUICKEST, WITTIEST "Town Meeting" speaker is Dorothy Thompson, who has appeared on several broadcasts. Biggest flops are the politicians, whose oratorical razzle-dazzle doesn't impress "Town Meeting's" intelligent, knowing fans

MOST FAMOUS "Town Meeting" epithet-slinger is General Hugh Johnson (above), who has gone to mat with several leading New Deal figures. All "Town Meeting" programs are a practical experience in democracy—a lot of fun

Christmas Comes But Once a Year

THIS PICTURE may be especially posed. But it does represent fact. Red Skelton, comedian heard Tuesday night on NBC, has the average man's aversion to serving as pack-horse for friend wife's shopping expeditions. But he takes it willingly because he's crazy about Edna, his charming young gag-writing wife, who thinks Christmas shopping is so much fun

BOB HOPE, another Tuesday night NBC comic, borrows a studio guide's cap and stops Santa Claus and passenger scooting through studios on a scooter. Santa unmarks to show Hope it's really his stooge, Jerry Colonna, with a cargo of feminine pulchritude. Hope doesn't even see Colonna; his eyes are on the cargo, his alluring songstress, Frances Langford

AMOS 'N' ANDY (Freeman Gosden and Charles Correll) do their bit to promote the sale of anti-tuberculosis Christmas seals. And, as it usually happens in their scripts, it's Amos (left) who pays. The veteran team also broadcast appeals to give defense bonds and stamps for Christmas

BLONDIE and Dagwood Bumstead (of the Monday night CBS "Blondie" sketch) both want to help the Christmas seal campaign. But Dagwood can't decide just which one of the seals he wants to buy from Blondie, and saleswoman Blondie isn't quite smart enough to tell him they're all alike

RADIO stars go all out for Santa Claus. They may be all in after they go all out, but they enjoy it all just the same.

Their broadcasts are profusely sprinkled with "shop early" admonitions and boosts for the Christmas seal drive. They join whole-heartedly in the Christmas parade on Santa Claus Lane in Hollywood and participate in all kinds of similar stunts for the sake of Santa and the public. Many of the radio stars carry on campaigns to get toys, clothing and food donated to the poor; and their own charity keeps pace.

In addition to these special Christmas activities and the ordinary planning and shopping and decorating that go with the season, the radio stars have another once-a-year job that is pretty arduous—posing for seasonal pictures. Picture-taking, both for the publicity of the stars and for the promoting of charity campaigns, reaches its zenith at this time of the year. It really takes a lot of valuable time and energy in the cases of some of the more famous artists. But they take it all in stride in the real Christmas spirit. Their efforts often are ludicrous or plainly posed, but the result has a deep, serious significance. The stars—especially the comedians—may "gag" the pictures, but they know it's all in a good cause. They realize that they themselves owe much to the general mood and welfare of a country where free radio entertainment can still flourish.

Letters FROM THE AUDIENCE

Express your opinions. Address, Letters From the Audience, 731 Plymouth Court, Chicago, Ill.

Great Without "Greats"

Dear Sirs:

I am so pleased that our "Great Plays" are back on the air. I have been listening to them since they first came to us, but now I have a complaint to make.

Why is it that now, after all these years, they bring in outside talent—I mean stage and screen actors and actresses? Radio has wonderful talent that has been plenty good for us in the past, and I, for one, feel that the radio artists are still well able to do any parts given them. I challenge any screen or stage performers to do any better work on the air than that of Charles Webster, Raymond Johnson, John McGovern, Peggy Allenby, Anne Seymour, Ethel Owen and scores of others who give so many brilliant performances.

I'm sure there are many listeners who agree that a "Great Play" is just as great, if not greater, when done by our favorite radio actors.

Mrs. W. Roberts, Avoca, Pa.

Cheer and Comfort

Dear Sirs:

Is radio turning into one-half story-book and one-half newspaper?

I think it's time for me to express my resentment when a program like Richard Maxwell's songs of cheer and comfort is no longer heard on the air. He has been appreciated by my whole family for a long time. And I think the less fortunate should receive some "cheer and comfort" over the air through such programs as Maxwell's. Here's hoping he will return very soon.

Mrs. R. N. Reppert, Hamburg, Pa.

Bulls & Boners

Bulls and boners are a part of broadcasting. No matter how experienced the performer or how famous the star, chances are that he will make an occasional slip or a statement with twisted meaning which is extremely funny. See how good your ears are. Try to catch broadcasters in some error—the funnier the better—and send your entry to MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE, 731 Plymouth Court, Chicago. The most humorous entries will be printed.

Announcer: "It's machine-wrapped in sanitary waxed paper—never touched by unclean hands until you open the package."—Mrs. G. F. Malocsay, 625 N. Lynn, Nevada, Mo. (November 13 over Station KOAM.)

Announcer: "Use Musterole for a cold in the head made especially for children."—Grace M. Clark, Ventura, Calif. (Nov. 11 over Station KNX.)

On "The Man on the Farm": "He, also, competed in an egg-laying contest."—Zilpha Wright, Osterville, Mass. (November 15 over MBS.)

Announcer: "The President has alighted from his car followed by 'The Star-Spangled Banner.'"—Evelyn M. Umberger, 44 W. Chocolate Ave., Hershey, Pa. (Nov. 11 over CBS.)

BANDSTAND NOTES

By Maurice Granger

HENRY LEVINE, the trumpet-playing maestro of the "Strictly from Dixie" program, believes that boogie-woogie with its eight-to-the-bar rhythm is a passing fad, to be supplanted, he thinks, by the two-beat style of Dixieland jazz. If it weren't for the fact that Hollywood is busy these days getting out a regular rash of pictures detailing the highlights of jazz, we would say that Dr. "Hot Lips" Levine was slightly biased, the said bias being due to a connection some years ago with the Original Dixieland Jazz Band. Those pictures, telling the story of its birth and growth, are certain, however, to make the Dixieland style of playing a great deal more popular than it has been in the last few years. In fact, it might serve to bring about a national revival of this free and easy "bounce" music. History has a way of repeating itself.

Bandata

D'Artega has given up swing for the classics. He'll make recordings with a seventy-piece orchestra . . . A former student at the New York Institute for the Blind is an arranger for Sonny Dunham . . . Benny Goodman has revived his small band idea. He has a trio and is experimenting with a new sextet to replace the one he discarded last summer . . . Paramount had to have two world premieres of "Birth of the Blues." When New Orleans was chosen on account of its famed "Basin Street," the good folk of Memphis yelled long and loud. It seems that in Memphis they have a "Beale Street" that is equally as famous . . . Woody Herman's trick of putting a pretty girl in his trumpet section is paying off in increased patronage wherever the band appears. According to reports she plays a mean trumpet.

Vocalists

Ben Bernie has added the "Tune Poets," a singing trio, to his orchestra . . . Connie Boswell will appear in RKO's "Syncopation," now before the cameras. Her chief number will be "Falling Star" . . . Jack Leonard, former T. Dorsey singer who was recently released from the Army because he was over twenty-eight, has been given a regular radio spot on a network. He will start soon, has already made four sides for Okeh Records . . . Mary Ann Mercer, singer on "Uncle Walter's Dog House," will tour with Bob Strong's orchestra when the latter plays a series of dance dates in the Midwest this month . . . Jerry Scott has replaced Bob Haymes as vocalist with Bob Chester's crew . . . Ruth Robin is now singing with Jan Savitt's orchestra.

Songstuff

Two out of five people write at least two songs a year, the music publishers accepting about ten thousand of them for publication . . . "Daddy" and "I'll Never Smile Again," two of the biggest hits of recent years, were written by amateurs, thus knocking in the head the old belief that a hit song could only be written by someone intimately associated with Tin Pan Alley.

RECORD MENDED

DECCA: Ink Spots' "Nothin'"; Connie Boswell's "Stormy Weather"; Jimmy Dorsey's "The Magic of the Magnolias." COLUMBIA: Kate Smith's "A Merry American Christmas"; Kay

Kyser's "Thank Your Lucky Stars and Stripes." VICTOR: Tommy Dorsey's "Violets for Your Furs." BLUEBIRD: Dinah Shore's "This Is No Laughing Matter." OKEH: Benny Goodman's "Let's Do It."

"THE STORY OF MARY MARLIN"

PART I

CREATING characters who portray roles of government officials is difficult, and few radio serialists have attempted it. One of the few is writer Jane Crusinberry. For seven years she has been turning out Mary Marlin scripts, "electing" officials during this time and running the country as it pleases herself—and Mary Marlin tuners-in.

As the Senator from Iowa, Joe Marlin (Mary's husband) is stalked by tragedy. Several years ago he went on a special mission to Russia. While on that mission he was involved in an airplane crash which left him somewhere on the steppes of that vast country. In the few years it took him to make his way back to the United States—a turbulent period during which he suffered from amnesia—his wife Mary succeeded to his office as Senator, a position which she competently fills.

Although Joe Marlin is in the States again, only his son Davey and his friend Jonathan, at whose home he is staying, know of his presence. Anxious though Joe was to surprise Mary on his return, he did not appear before her, for, just as he was about to, he overheard her saying to David Post, who was his law partner, "I guess I always loved you." Mary had by this time no hope Joe was alive.

Desirous that Mary have happiness, Joe decides not to reveal himself, and it is only because of his love for his son that he remains—hiding—in his own home town. Tune in Mary Marlin Monday through Friday on CBS.

—A. M.

1. BELIEVING HER husband to be dead, Mary Marlin (above) succeeds in gaining his old post as Senator from Iowa. Mary's husband, Joe (above), amnesia victim, finally makes his way home, only to overhear Mary declaring her love for David Post. Joe decides to remain in hiding
