COMIC EDDIE CANTOR: Makes plans for retirement after war

Editorially Speaking

PERSONAL TO EDDIE CANTOR:

DEAR Eddie:
A recently published newspaper item has been brought to the attention of this desk by several people.

Under the heading, "Cantor Will Quit When Hitler Does," Larry Hauck, the Associated Press interviewer, is quoted to the effect that you told him you were going to quit show business and become a social worker on the day the war ends.

We're not questioning the accuracy of this report, because Hauck is a competent and talented newspaperman. We're not questioning your motives, because we know you are a great patriot.

But you won't do it, Eddie.

When you say (as the story quotes you), "What we need most after the war are people to sell Victory bonds, people to help rehabilitate the world and people to work with our war-scarred boys," you are exactly right.

You can and will help sell Victory bonds. You already have. You can and will help to rehabilitate the world. You've already been doing it for many years in a different way. If the benefits you've played for charity, the work you've done in the fight for infantile paralysis isn't rehabilitation, what is it? As far as working with our war-scarred boys, you'll do that too.

At the same time, don't forget that there are millions of people in this United States to whom you have brought much laughter and happiness. Your wide-eyed grimaces, your charming wife, Ida, your grand family of girls, your stooges, your discoveries (Deanna Durbin and Dinah Shore, to name but two) are part and parcel of the lives of many people. You can't desert them, no matter what the cause.

Right now you're a busy man with your "Banjo Eyes" performances and your "Time to Smile" program on NBC on Wednesdays. You're working hard. You've been in show business a long time. You're feeling the import of these trying times keenly. Undoubtedly you're tired.

When you say (again we quote from the newspaper clipping), "Right now we need all the gaiety we can get. We need to keep people laughing. Jokes are as important as tanks," you're right again.

But when you say, "When all this fighting ends, my entertainment career will definitely be over," you're wrong. Your entertainment career can never end of your own free will.

When the war is over, every person you can reach through radio, the movies and stage plays will need help. You can help as much, then, as you are helping now by "keeping 'em laughing." Knowing that, you'll HAVE to continue, because that's the kind of man and patriot you are, Eddie, whether you realize it or not!

"BUY A BOMBER FOR UNCLE SAM"

Abbott Auctions Off Costello's Shoes to Aid Hollywood War Effort

BECAUSE everybody in Hollywood wants feverishly to do something about the war, things are being done. Even the film colony's social life is becoming increasingly war-motivated, and a local "Buy a Bomber for Uncle Sam" campaign, funds for which are being raised through social functions, is going great guns. Illustrative are the pictures above, taken at Charlie Foy's Supper Club as a spur-of-the-moment auction sale was getting under way. Lou Costello's shoes went on the block, with Bud Abbott as auctioneer, brought twenty-five dollars. The comedians' ties had gone earlier in the bidding. Shirts went next. Other comedians, including Slapsie Maxie Rosenbloom, Bert Wheeler and Lee Tracy, shed other articles of clothing and a total of some eight hundred dollars was collected for the "Buy a Bomber" fund. Those who discount the funnymen's antics here as personal press-agentry are missing the point. What they were selling was not themselves but the need for everybody to get into the war effort and do something. By dramatizing that idea for all Americans, stars will be doing something far more significant for Uncle Sam than raising money to buy a bomber.

War Commentators' Wives Refuse to Be "Forgotten Women"

TO SEE their men march off to battle-fields half-way across the world—to know that their men are constantly in danger, under fire. Today thousands of American women are having their first experience with that heart-sinking feeling. For such women, and for millions more who soon will face the same experience, there is warm courage and high inspiration in the story of a small band of American women whose husbands have long been on the firing-line, even before the U. S. went to war. They are the wives of the war commentators.

Everyone hears the daily reports of the men who broadcast war news from the ends of the earth. Everywhere one reads highly romanticized stories about their adventures. But nowhere has appeared the thrilling, intensely human story of how their wives have submerged heartache and fear in a war effort of their own. Now for the first time this story of the war commentators' gallant ladies—who refused to be "forgotten women"—is revealed.

IT'S a story of patient waiting—for voices from far across the sea, for the uncertain day when husbands may leave isolated hell-holes of war, for news after endless days when there is no news. It is also a story of self-forgetful serving—in civilian defense, in Red Cross work, in war-service organizations. These women wait and serve.

One such is Mrs. Cecil Brown. Mrs. Brown last saw her thirty-three-year-old husband about a year ago when she left Italy to return to the U. S., he to begin a terrifying odyssey through submarine-infested seas, bomb-shattered little countries, eerie desert battle-grounds. Imagine, if you can, how she waited to hear from him at Singapore, and then to hear his own radio account of how he had swum through oil-thick water under machine-gunning of Jap bombers to escape narrowly from death when the British battleships Repulse and Prince of Wales went down. Yet, Mrs. Brown goes about her war job in the crowded New York office of the Egypt and Dominions Trading Bureau as if nothing else mattered. Just now she has no idea where her husband is going. His frank broadcasts incurred the displeasure of British censors and he was banned from the air at Singapore. He may be in Australia, or he may be in the midst of Singapore's siege.

Last year's disastrous Balkan campaign found Mrs. Robert St. John awaiting her husband in Istanbul, Turkey. An ace NBC reporter, St. John was then broadcasting from Yugoslavia. A wire from him told Mrs. St. John to meet him in Cairo. On the way, her ship was bombed at Haifa. By July, 1941, she had reached New York, having arrived via Capetown, South Africa. And by then she knew the story of her husband's harrowing exodus from the Balkans in which he was shot through the thigh by Hitler's machine-gunners. Now, Robert St. John is stationed in comparatively peaceful London and Mrs. St. John is sewing for the Red Cross, will soon tackle a civilian defense job.

The experience of Dr. Antoinette Perillo is different. Antoinette, an expert anesthetist, has been trying for two years to catch up with CBS reporter Charles Barbe. The idea is to marry him. They met at a concert in New York and fell in love, but just as an early marriage was about to occur, Barbe dashed off to France as a volunteer ambulance driver. When France collapsed he became Bill Shirer's assistant in Berlin. Later he barely missed internment in Rome, and today he is broadcasting from London, England. The brave girl doctor is still waiting, but she's also putting her professional skill to work for civilian defense in this country.

Wife of another of radio's foreign reporters is Mrs. Charles Lanius. The Laniuses were married in France in 1939, enjoyed a year and a half together, as Lanius moved from Rome to Berlin to Berne. Now they, too, are separated by an ocean, not to mention hordes of Nazi divisions surrounding neutral Switzerland. Back in New York, Mrs. Lanius is a busy member of the New York chapter of the American Red Cross.

No commentator's wife has seen more war horrors first-hand than Mrs. Harrison Forman. Mrs. Forman's husband is NBC's commentator at Chungking, but in 1937 she was with him in Shanghai, lived through a solid week's bombardment by the Japanese, all the time trying to care for her fourteen-month-old baby, Brenda Lu. In a rickety boat, jammed in with over three hundred other refugees, and amid screams of women and children, screeching of bombs, she reached the S. S. President Jefferson and started her journey home—but without Brenda Lu's father. At her Port Washington, Long Island, home, where she now cares for from six to twenty children while their parents are away doing defense jobs, Mrs. Forman expressed her feeling simply, but adequately, "Harrison is doing his work," she said. "I am doing mine. All of we Americans feel that way. That is the greatness of our beautiful, courageous, vast country." Simply expressed, yes. Magnificent understatement. Each of us doing our work—doing our own job and doing it diligently—that's an urgent war lesson such women can help teach.

HOW much easier it will be for sons and husbands if every mother and wife can face what is ahead with Mrs. Forman's simple heroism. How much less horrifying the war will be. How much happier will be the peace when our fight for freedom is won. The war commentators' ladies—many more than could be named here—have shown it can be done. Certainly, no one who knows the fine tradition of American womanhood has the slightest doubt that it will be done.

WHILE CECIL BROWN (above) has traveled the road of war from Rome to the Balkans to Libya to Singapore, his pretty, self-assured wife (right) has done a war job in New York offices of Egypt and Dominions Trading Bureau. Despite the strain of waiting for news, the thrill of hearing her husband's air accounts of miraculous escapes from death, she works hard

MRS. ROBERT ST. JOHN, with Dr. Harry A. Wann, chairman of Victory Book Campaign, above, makes her contribution — copies of her commentator husband's recent book about Balkan war experiences, "From the Land of Silent People." Husband Bob (left) is currently reporting for NBC from London as she busies herself about Red Cross work and, soon, civilian defense work

MRS. HARRISON FORMAN, whose husband (right) reports for NBC from China's western capital, Chungking, surprises, elicits admiration from many a mother by taking care of from six to twenty children in her Port Washington, Long Island, home. The children's parents are busy on defense jobs. Mrs. Forman escaped Jap-bombed Shanghai with her own fourteen-month-old baby

STILL TRYING to become a commentator's wife is Dr. Antoinette Perillo. For two years she hasn't been able to reach her fiancé, CBS foreign correspondent Charles Barbe (left), now heard from London, England. No nominee for the role of "forgotten woman," Dr. Antoinette is volunteering professional services as an anesthetist in the civilian defense organization

Pictures in the Making . . . Here Are Samples of Some New Films Well Worth Your Seeing

"JOHNNY EAGER"

POSING as a genial cab-driver, Robert Taylor fools the law officials, but he's really a cold, vicious gang chief in M-G-M's "Johnny Eager," now showing. Taylor fans will be shocked and deeply impressed with his eloquent ruthlessness

THE PAYOFF. Edward Arnold (right) turns in another great piece of acting. The sterling cast also includes Van Heflin, Robert Sterling, other distinctive names. Mervyn LeRoy, a specialist with gang films, including "Little Caesar," directs this one

EVEN the romance thread is tinged with Eager's emotional cruelty. The unusual love-scenes between Taylor and Lana Turner, playing a cultured girl who sacrifices all for a heartless crook, will stamp the pair one of the screen's top romantic teams

"THE BUGLE SOUNDS"

FILMED largely at Fort Knox, Ky., and Fort Lewis, Wash., "The Bugle Sounds" has divisions of armored tanks in the action which backgrounds the whimsical long-lived love-affair of Sergt. "Hap" Doan (Wallace Beery) and Susie (Marjorie Main)

SUSIE pleads for her man with Col. Lawlor (Lewis Stone), who understands Sergt. Doan's rebellion against mechanization of the cavalry unit. This is the third film in which the Beery-Main team scores with their interpretation of rough romance

THE VETERAN sergeant is dishonorably discharged, but redeems his honor and wins medal (above) with valiant spy work among saboteurs. Camp scenes in the M-G-M film, taken with the assistance of military authorities, are authentic and spectacular

OTHER INTERESTING FILMS

FRANK MORGAN hasn't turned to blackface comedy. He has simply wiped his face with a handkerchief accidentally dipped in ink in a scene from "The Vanishing Virginian," adapted from Rebecca Yancey Williams' memorable biography

A NEW Lon Chaney, son of the late "man with a thousand faces," is made up by Universal's Jack Pierce for his werewolf portrayal in "The Wolf Man." Chaney, Jr., will also play a horror role in the forthcoming "The Ghost of Frankenstein"

"GET ON THE BOND WAGON"

Here's Movie-Radio Guide's
First Bond Slogan Prize-Winner

HERE are the winners in the first MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE "Defense Bond and Stamp Slogan" contest which closed February 5.

The $25 bond was won by Ade Kahn of Kew Gardens, Long Island, N. Y., for the slogan: "Get on the Bond Wagon." Ade Kahn's five reasons for buying defense bonds were:

1. To show faith in your country.
2. To aid your own savings plan.
3. To put your money to the best use.
4. To preserve the democracy which allows you to earn your bread and butter.
5. To keep from wasting money on unnecessary items.

The $1 defense stamp went to Ethel Herring of Jackson, Tennessee, for the slogan: "We can't all go to camp; but we can all buy a stamp."

Five pertinent reasons why we should buy defense stamps, according to Ethel Herring are:

1. Money is needed to carry on the war.
2. The children can all help in this way.
3. Every stamp is a blow to the Axis.
4. Everyone is needed in a crusade.
5. To trade in stamps is a convenient way to pay and save.

This is a weekly contest for defense bond and stamp slogans, which will continue until further notice. Contest for each week closes at midnight on Thursday. The winning slogans will be released for use to the four major broadcasting networks, and to individual radio stations. They will also be sent to agencies handling defense bonds and stamps, as an aid to boosting sales. For rules, see box (right).

Prize-winners for contest which closed February 12 will appear next week. Send YOUR slogan in today!

RULES FOR CONTEST

Movie-Radio Guide's "Buy a Defense Bond and Stamp Slogan" contest brings to the winner each week, until further notice, a $25 defense bond or a $1 defense stamp. Slogans or catch phrases must NOT be over twenty words in length. Each slogan MUST be accompanied by five brief reasons why Americans ought to buy defense bonds or stamps. Preface these reasons with: "Every good American should buy defense bonds or stamps because . . ." In case the prize-winning slogan of the week in either bond or stamp classification is submitted by more than one person, winner will be chosen on merits of his five reasons why defense bonds and stamps should be purchased. Contestants may submit as many slogans as they desire; but no one may win both bond and stamp prize the same week. This week's contest closes Feb. 26. Entries postmarked later will be considered in contest closing March 5. All entries become the property of Movie-Radio Guide. None will be returned. Decisions of judges are final. This contest is open to everyone except employees of this organization and their families. Watch for more winners next week.

Keep Your Slogans Rolling In . . . And "Keep 'Em Flying." This Week's Contest Closes February 26

DON'T try to figure out what this is. You'll find out later. But here's one clew. This "incident" is taking place in film-radio comic Skelton's home

O HO! Now you begin to see light—or, at least, you see a pair of legs showing under that coat and hat. Incidentally, this room of Skelton's Brentwood home has a secret-panel door

GOING UP! Whatever it is, a tall story is in the making. It was the secret panel, Mrs. Skelton swears, that especially sold comedian Red on this house. But now we're giving the gag away—

YES, it's Red Skelton, and it's a gag—the kind he pulls at home all the time. He's merely showing how he sneaks up on a horror book in his library. He's that goofy!

HAM on white! That's the gag on the cover (did you guess?) pulled by Red Skelton (standing) and McGee stooge Bill Thompson. They keep NBC studios in uproar

AT HOME — ON THE SET — ON THE AIR RED SKELTON'S ALWAYS CLOWNING!

SOME men are born funny, some achieve the reputation and some have gag lines thrust upon them. Red Skelton was born funny. It's no press-agent's pipe-dream, no imaginary excuse for a story. Red is just about as goofy and giggly anywhere as he is on the screen and at the mike. Not because he likes people to think he's funny, but simply because he likes fun. Too bad Red's followers can't all know the strapping, flame-topped guy whose beaming, boyish face belies even his twenty-eight years. Too bad they can't see some of his perpetual off-stage antics. If they think he's funny now—well, they'd laugh themselves to death before they could say, "World's great clown." There are those who say just that with a straight face, too. Red isn't one of them. He's too busy having fun. Wife Edna says Red can cause more uproar and get into more trouble in a given few minutes than any fifty husbands she ever heard of. Among Red's best fans and friends are the Jim Jordans, radio's Fibber McGees. The casts of the McGee show and the Skelton program rehearse for their broadcasts, both of which are on Tuesday night, in opposite NBC studios. They're all very chummy and, as you can imagine, turn the place into a madhouse when they're around. The Jordans have taken the young Skeltons under their wing since Red went to Hollywood. Being, the four of them, jolly but sensible, genuinely plain people.

Photographs by NBC Hollywood

PORTIA FACES LIFE

CAN PORTIA convince Dr. Holton she's in love with him when in her heart she knows differently? Urged by her best friend, Kathie (r.), she tries

Following is the fourth and final instalment of Wilcy Maloney's fictionization of the radio program "Portia Faces Life," heard Monday through Friday over NBC (5:15 p.m. EWT) under the sponsorship of Post's Bran Flakes.

In last week's instalment, Portia still stubbornly fought to free Parkers-town slum-dwellers from cruel exploitation by a corrupt political gang. Learning Lambert, Parkers-town racketeer and chief lieutenant of Boss Connelly, kept the names of his racket "customers" in a "little black book," Portia proceeded to secure it, hold it over Connelly's and Lambert's heads. Warned by Dr. Holton of being in danger in her own home, Portia and her best friend, Kathie, decided to hide out in the slum district in Miss Daisy's boarding-house. Both awakened during the night to find the stairwell of the old house a raging inferno of flames. Now go on with the story.

AS THOUGH from a great distance, Portia could hear the wail of sirens . . . the hiss of water on the blazing fire. She felt the roaring impact of crashing timbers and felt darkness close over her. Then, through the nightmare, as she tried to fight back into the world of reality, she heard a distant, persistent voice that kept calling . . . calling.

"Portia! Portia!"

It was Kathie's voice and Portia struggled toward it, tried to push away the oppressive weight that bore down on her. She tried to turn and felt a stab of pain like a knife-thrust pierce her brain. The nightmare persisted, and yet, as she fought back toward consciousness, she knew that there was no fire, that she was in a strange, hard-feeling bed away from home . . .

Portia opened her eyes, then suddenly closed them again. The light blinded her. Where was she? This was not her room at Miss Daisy's—this was a hospital room!

"Oh, Portia, it's so good to see you awake again!" Kathie's voice was intense. "We never thought you'd make it."

"Make what? Where am I, Kathie? What's it all about?" Portia was weak.

"Don't you remember? The fire—the falling staircase that almost killed you when you went back for Miss Daisy—oh, Portia, you've been unconscious for so long and so many things have happened."

Portia opened her eyes again. Then it had been no dream. There had been a fire. She put her hand to her head, abruptly pulled it away. Her head was bandaged and she felt a dull pain behind her ears. She looked at Kathie.

"Tell me all about it, Kathie. Please."

Portia's voice was urgent, urgent with the necessity for explanation, and Kathie told her then how the firemen had pulled Portia from the burning building, how they all had despaired of her life and how Doctor

Allen had said only one man was capable of doing the delicate brain operation that would save her life. And that man was a surgeon known in the past as Clive Russell, a man who had disappeared after an almost forgotten scandal several years before.

"But," Kathie asked, excited, "do you know who Doctor Russell turned out to be? Oh, Portia, it was Doctor Holton. Our Doctor Holton. He's been living under the name of Holton for years—it's got something to do with God gave him that, Kathie." Portia laughed weakly. The world was so—so different than it had been, and now Kathie was trying to explain a new problem that would have to be faced.

"Why, Portia, don't you remember how you told him you'd trust him with your life—you let him operate when all the rest of us believed he was only trying to finish up Boss Connelly's evil work. For it was Connelly who was behind the fire. But Stan has changed and now he can help you even if the 'little black book' did burn in the fire. Holton knows all about Connelly and Lambert. He wants to help—you mustn't let him down. He wants to marry you."

"But—" Kathie put her hand lightly over Portia's lips. "You must sleep now," she said, "but remember tonight when Stan comes, be good to him. Don't send him back to the gutter—back to Boss Connelly. In your heart of hearts you know Walter Manning never will come back . . ."

Portia closed her eyes.

Doctor Holton did come that night. For a moment, he was all professional—he looked at Portia's chart, felt her pulse. While he did so, Portia asked him how his experiments with the infantile paralysis serum were coming. He reported great progress.

"You've made my work worth while, Portia. The experiments have been very successful, but the administration of the serum will be a ticklish matter. The injection has to be made in the spinal cord and that takes a pretty steady hand."

"You have that all right, Stan. Look what you've done for me."

"That's what I wanted to talk about, Portia," he said, taking her hands in the hold Boss Connelly has on him. But Miss Daisy sobered him up and made him pull himself together. And he IS a great surgeon, Portia. He saved your life. He loves you."

"LOVES me? Oh, Kathie, don't be foolish. I like Doctor Holton, but you know I'll never forget Walter Manning."

"You're tired, dear, but you must listen. Your chart says that you are shipshape or I wouldn't worry you. But, Portia, you have no idea what this operation has done for Doctor Holton. You remember how he always looked whipped—sort of hangdog? Well, now he's a man again. You gave him courage."

"Me? How did I give him courage?"

Academy Award Nominees Announced; Wendell Willkie Will Be Guest of Honor at Informal Banquet for the Winners; Lowdown on Mickey Rooney's Honeymoon

HOLLYWOOD By EVANS PLUMMER

LACKING the pomp and ceremony of other years, this year's Academy Awards dinner will be held at the Biltmore Bowl, Thursday, February 26, with Wendell Willkie as guest of honor. Full dress for the men, formal gowns for the ladies, orchids for corsages—all the pomp and glitter which has marked the annual banquet since its inception thirteen years ago—will be missing for the first time.

"Oscar," the Academy statuette, will be there in all his glory, but he will be awarded by men in business clothes to other men and women, also in business clothes—or uniforms. The traditional $25-per-plate dinner will be cut to $10 per plate; there will be no dancing after the awards are made.

Thus Hollywood carries on in spite of war, and the final results of the race this year will be more than interesting. There's a sister vs. sister battle going on, with Olivia de Havilland (for her work in "Hold Back the Dawn") and Joan Fontaine, her sister

(for her performance in "Suspicion"), both among the feminine nominees. Perennial winner Bette Davis is again in the lists for her performance in "The Little Foxes," with Barbara Stanwyck ("Ball of Fire") and Greer Garson ("Blossoms in the Dust") also very much in the running.

Male nominees include Orson Welles ("Citizen Kane"), Gary Cooper ("Sergeant York"), Cary Grant ("Penny Serenade"), Walter Huston ("All That Money Can Buy") and Robert Montgomery ("Here Comes Mr. Jordan"). None of the actors named this year has ever before won an Academy Award.

Pictures in the running for the film-of-the-year award include: "Citizen Kane," "Blossoms in the Dust," "Here Comes Mr. Jordan," "Hold Back the Dawn," "How Green Was My Valley," "The Little Foxes," "The Maltese Falcon," "One Foot in Heaven," "Suspicion" and "Sergeant York" . . .

How much does it cost a top-box-office-ranking movie star to have a honeymoon? Well, Mickey Rooney arrived back in Hollywood last week, fresh from his "Honeymoon for Three," which included himself, of course, one very pretty bride, and his publicity contact man, Les Peterson. And a little bird who snooped about the M-G-M lot office, where the "swindle sheets" are okayed, reported that he noted the expense account of Peterson for himself and Mr. and Mrs. Mickey. The total was $598.94. This included only the Mick's trip to the East—New York, Washington, D. C., and Raleigh, N. C. Mickey dug into his own pocket for the cost of his elopement to Del Monte, Calif., and his week-end there. Why, you may wonder, does Mickey's employer foot a honeymoon bill? Ah! You are smart. You see, M-G-M paid because Mick's trip east was a good-will affair for Metro, and the bride just happened to ride along free because she was a bride. Technically speaking, this part of Rooney's trip was not honeymoon. But really, it was. There was a flower bill on almost every day's expense total! At Raleigh, Mickey first met his mother-in-law, Mrs. J. B. Gardner. When Mickey and Ma embraced, Ma announced that she thought daughter Ava had done right well for herself . . .

Most coveted parts these days in Hollywood are the star roles in David O. Selznick's production of Cronin's "The Keys of the Kingdom." The role of the priest is the big one, of course, but that still remains open and coveted. Last week, D. O. S., who makes pictures seldom but always good, filled the role of Nora by announcing that Jennifer Jones would have the part. Previously announced casting was the nun Maria-Veronica, who will be portrayed by Ingrid Bergman, winner of Movie-Radio Guide's "Elmer" for being the best actress of 1941. Nora, readers of the novel will recall, is the girl whose story dominates the early part of the book. Francis Chisholm, later to become the priest, is in love with Nora up to the time she meets her tragic death. It is then that he decides to take the vow and become a priest.

ACADEMY AWARD NOMINEES

Greer Garson is right up front for her magnificent portrayal of Edna Gladney in "Blossoms in the Dust"

Lovely Olivia de Havilland was nominated for her role as an American schoolmarm in "Hold Back the Dawn"

Joan Fontaine, sister of Livvy, is right in step for honors, too, for her excellent work in "Suspicion"

Bette Davis already has a pair of Oscars, but she is in again for her outstanding work in "Little Foxes"

That swell trouper Barbara Stanwyck is nominated for her hard-boiled Sugarpudding O'Shea in "Ball of Fire"

Grand actor Walter Huston was nominated for his Mr. Scratch role in the film "All That Money Can Buy"

Cary Grant always turns in a good performance, but he's in the running for fine work in "Penny Serenade"

Gary Cooper was a must on the award list for his splendid portrayal of a living hero, Sergeant York

Robert Montgomery for his role as the fighter in "Here Comes Mr. Jordan" is a definite runner-upper

In a class by himself is Orson Welles for his all-around work on that hum-dinger film, "Citizen Kane"

REUNION in Hollywood. Hedy Lamarr meets her mother, Mrs. Gertrude Keisler, after five years

Star-maker Selznick reports Miss Jones is a new discovery, age twenty-two, who has had several years of experience in stock companies and touring tent-shows . . .

Dorothy Lamour's eastern defense-bond-sales tour was quite a success, according to the Treasury Department. All in all, the former sarong wearer, who now and then still wears one for Paramount, is credited with affecting the purchase of $25,000,000 worth of bonds and stamps, and in token of her good work, she was greeted on her return to Hollywood by a battalion of the State Guard, the Los Angeles County Band, the Women's Ambulance and Defense Corps, the Sheriff's posse, et cetera. All bore cards reading "Welcome Home, Dorothy Lamour," which it is suspected the Paramount picture ballyhoo experts distributed; but no one objected to that bit of commercialism, since everyone thought it was a very nice idea to welcome Dorothy home. There was no film credit on the cards. Oh, yes; there was such a crowd around Dorothy that we didn't get to ask her which millionaire it is whose ring she has been wearing since Greg Bautzer became her "ex-boy friend" . . .

Victor Mature is out of the hospital and still slowly recovering from being tarred and feathered. Sounds more exciting than it really was, though. Vic was tarred for picture purposes in "My Gal Sal." The creams that were used to protect Mature's skin from the tar seemed to contain materials to which the actor's skin was allergic, so a poisoning of his system was the result, and a general swelling ("except my head," Mature noted) occurred. Close upon the heels of Mature's infection came news of a new starring role to be assigned to the fast-rising young leading man.

Hedy Lamarr broke onto the front pages, too, last week by reason of her reunion after five years of separation with her mother, Mrs. Gertrude Keisler, who arrived February 2 at the Los Angeles Union Station after a long and arduous trip via Canada from London. In London, Hedy's mother saw and experienced the horrors of the first and devastating bombings, but she reported, "They're all 'chin-up' there now and waiting for the Nazis to try anything." Mrs. Keisler will make her home with Hedy in Beverly Hills, and keep a weather eye on Miss Lamarr's current boy friends, of which momentarily George Montgomery is first on the list.

Find Your Best Entertainment Here

EXPLANATION: Ratings of pictures are in Vs—"for Victory"—and VVVV, a four-V rating, is accorded only a top-ranking, almost perfect production, VVV is a winner, excellent film fare; VV is average, and V, unfortunately, is below average. Natural-color films are so indicated as "In color" right after the title, and ALL films are judged as "adult," "family," or simply "juvenile" fare.—THE EDITORS.

OUTSTANDING

BABES ON BROADWAY (VVVV): Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland deliver another lavish dancing musical comedy of the Babes series, and better than ever, folks.—Family.

BAHAMA PASSAGE (VV): In color. Madeleine Carroll and Stirling Hayden fall in love on a West Indian salt cay. Hot romance and sailing, sailing.—Adult.

BALL OF FIRE (VVVV): Gary Cooper, as a love-starved bookworm, falls in love with strip-teasing cafe singer and gunnoll Barbara Stanwyck, who gives him the lowdown on current slang. Melodramatic and very funny.—Family.

CITIZEN KANE (VVVV): Orson Welles plays the life of a celebrated chain newspaper publisher in a remarkably photographed story which set new standards for the industry.—Adult.

H. M. PULHAM, ESQ. (VVVV): Robert Young and Hedy Lamarr turn in exciting performances in this movie of John P. Marquand's best seller. Any spouse with "other woman" trouble should see.—Family.

HELLZAPOPPIN (VVVV): Olsen and Johnston make a smash hit transition of their fabulously successful Broadway play to the screen. Best yet for slapstick laughs.—Family.

HOW GREEN WAS MY VALLEY (Special) (VVVVV): Faithful, inspired picturization of Richard Llewellyn's novel of Welsh coalminers, how they lived and worked. With Walter Pidgeon, Maureen O'Hara, Roddy McDowall.—Family.

KEEP 'EM FLYING (VVVV): Abbott and Costello get into the Army Air Corps as mechanics to stunt-flyer Dick Foran. Again they score laughs galore.—Family.

KINGS ROW (VVVV): Truly great picturization of the best-selling novel of neurotics, with Academy Award rating performances by Ann Sheridan, Bob Cummings, Ron Reagan, Betty Field.—Adult only.

LADY FOR A NIGHT (VVV): Joan Blondell, John Wayne and Ray Middleton in a tempestuous, romantic drama of the deep South.—Family.

LOUISIANA PURCHASE (VVVV): Bob Hope, with Zorina and Victor Moore, becomes a politician in New Orleans at Mardi Gras time. Very funny and full of costume sets.—Family.

ONE FOOT IN HEAVEN (Special) (VVVVV): Inspirational story of a Methodist preacher, the kind of picture you see only once in a decade. Stars Fredric March and Martha Scott.—Family.

ROXIE HART (VVV): Talking version of the old silent "Chicago." Ginger Rogers' truly great performance as the rather unsympathetic Roxie provides exciting entertainment.—Adult.

SERGEANT YORK (VVVV): Gary Cooper, aided by Walter Brennan and Joan Leslie, enacts the powerfully telling spiritual and courageous story of World War Hero No. 1.—Family.

SMILIN' THROUGH (VVV): Jeanette MacDonald, Brian

Aherne and Gene Raymond in a grand musical.—Family.

SON OF FURY (VVVV): A mixture of exciting love and cruelty in mid-nineteenth-century England, plus romantic adventures in the South Pacific isles. Stars Tyrone Power and Gene Tierney.—Family.

THE MALTESE FALCON (VVV): Surprise B picture of the year in which Humphrey Bogart, Mary Astor and Peter Lorre provide the best crime thriller since the "Thin Man," and why not, since the same author, Dashiell Hammett, wrote the story?—Family.

BEDTIME STORY (VVV): Fredric March and Loretta Young enact the zany story of a playwright and his actress wife—almost just like Helen Hayes and Charles MacArthur!—Family.

DESIGN FOR SCANDAL (VV): Romantic comedy as expected by Rosalind Russell and Walter Pidgeon.—Family.

HELLZAPOPPIN. (See Outstanding.)

Ann Sheridan in her "Kings Row" role, film based on best-selling novel about neurotics

KEEP 'EM FLYING. (See Outstanding.)

LOUISIANA PURCHASE. (See Outstanding.)

PARDON MY STRIPES (VVV): Gangsters try to crash prison! Bill Henry and Sheila Ryan give out with a zany, hilarious story.—Family.

YOU'RE IN THE ARMY NOW (VVV): Musical comedy, with Jane Wynnau as the sex appeal and Jimmy Durante and Phil Silvers competing for her and laugh honors.—Family.

CARTOONS

DUMBO (VVVV): Full-length color comedy of a poor little circus elephant who is born with oversized ears. Better than "Pinocchio"; not up to "Snow White."—Family.

MR. BUG GOES TO TOWN (VVV): In color. The battle of the lowly insects against the human race—which thinks IT has a battle on its hands—is well told by this. Max Fleischer spent two years making this one.—Family.

OTHER FEATURES

A TRAGEDY AT MIDNIGHT (VV): Radio-detective John Howard proves his own innocence to Margaret Lindsay.—Family.

DR. KILDARE'S VICTORY (VV): Ann Ayars takes up the romantic spot in Dr. Kildare's heart left vacant by Laraine (Mary Lamont) Day.—Family.

JOHNNY EAGER (VVV): Robert Taylor is the gangster love and heel who takes Lana Turner to the cleaners and then is cleaned himself.—Adult.

KATHLEEN (VVV): Shirley Temple comes back as the neglected daughter of Herbert Marshall, who can't decide between Gail Patrick and Shirley's governess, Laraine Day, whom Shirley wants him to fall in love with. He does.—Family.

PACIFIC BLACKOUT (VV): Bob Preston and Martha O'Driscoll hunt down a saboteur during a practise coast blackout demonstrating what people should and will do in an air-raid.—Family.

PARIS CALLING (VV): Elizabeth Bergner comes back to the screen to tell the story of outlaw radio in France.—Family.

REMEMBER THE DAY (VVV): Claudette Colbert and John Payne reminisce a la "Goodbye Mr. Chips" and almost as well. Good for a cry.—Adult.

SHADOW OF THE THIN MAN (VVV): Bill Powell and Myrna Loy again, and as good as ever.—Family.

SHANGHAI GESTURE (VVV): Gene Tierney, Walter Huston, Victor Mature, Ona Munson, Phyllis Brooks, Albert Basserman and Maria Ouspenskaya put this version on the celluloid, and it isn't bad.—Adult.

SULLIVAN'S TRAVELS (VVV): Preston Sturges, who writes, directs and produces his films but doesn't act in them, is the maker of this unusual Fred MacMurray-Venonia Lake starrer. Funny, emotional, social and everything.—Family.

THE LADY IS WILLING (V): Marlene Dietrich and Fred MacMurray do some good acting in a purportedly sophisticated romantic comedy-drama. Plot centers about Marlene's marriage to baby doctor MacMurray as a condition to her adoption of a baby.—Family.

THE VANISHING VIRGINIAN (VV): Comedy drama starring Frank Morgan and Kathryn Grayson. The yarn of twenty years of a Virginia family's life.—Family.

WESTERNS

COWBOY SERENADE (VVV): Gene Autry musicale. He shows up a gambling ring with the help of Fay McKenzie and Smiley Burnett.—Family.

LAND OF THE OPEN RANGE (VV): Tim Holt gets his man in the middle of a land rush.—Family.

ROAD AGENT (VVV): Western starring Dick Foran, Leo Carrillo, Andy Devine and Anne Gwynne—with music. Foran singing.—Family.

A SOLDIER sans uniform is Robert Young in picture, "Joe Smith, American," with Marsha Hunt

MOVIE REVIEWS

"Joe Smith, American"

Cast: Robert Young, Marsha Hunt, Harvey Stephens, Darryl Hickman, Jonathan Hale, Noel Madison, et al. A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture; directed by Richard Thorpe. Screen play by Allen Rivkin based on Paul Gallico's magazine story.

Type of Picture: Defense-worker melodrama; airplane-factory worker Joe Smith (Robert Young) is set upon by spies, but keeps his lip buttoned though bleeding.

This Is the Story: Joe (Young) gets a promotion to the secret bomb-sight installation department of his aircraft factory. Told to keep his mouth shut, when three spies curb his car on his way home, bind and gag him, he refuses to talk despite an unmerciful beating and other torture he is forced to endure. Observing sounds and other signs, when he escapes he retraces his abductors, and, with the aid of the FBI, locates the hideout—and the spies. Clever surprise ending is not the least of this good, solid picture.

Verdict: Every defense worker, and everybody else for that matter, will enjoy this tight and exciting little story about the man behind the production lines. For the family.

(Watch next week's MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE for a full study of a typical Joe Smith, American, who works in one of the largest airplane plants.)

"Ride 'Em Cowboy"

Cast: Abbott and Costello, Anne Gwynne, Johnny Mack Brown, Dick Foran, The Merry Macs, Samuel S. Hinds, et al. A Universal picture; directed by Arthur Lubin.

Type of Picture: A slapstick comedy, of course, what with Abbott and Costello starring, and this time they get mixed up with the wide open spaces of the West.

This Is the Story: In this, A & C's fifth release, they, peanut vendors, escape from a Long Island rodeo manager who is irked at them, hide in a caboose, and so intent are they in playing poker that they pull out for and arrive in Arizona before they realize what has happened. Well outfitted with the clothes of the cowpokes they won on the train, A & C have to work as ranch-hands to eat. Lou uncovers a gamblers' plot to beat the Lazy S rodeo team at the state championship meet—and unwillingly wins himself an Indian fiancée.

Verdict: Another very swell example of the Abbott and Costello laugh-making art. Take the family.

Cavalry and Infantry Feud Over "Dog House" Warbler Mary Ann Mercer

WASHINGTON

By MAJOR CURTIS MITCHELL

Fifteen years ago, I drove through this city and saw its wide thoroughfares and its leisurely way of life, and I said, "Here is a place in which to get away from things and change one's tempo of living." Beautiful buildings were sleeping in the sun and the parks were wide and empty.

Today, Washington is my home, but this Washington is different. The streets are packed and the buildings hum with sounds a half-million men and women make when they work, and the parks are disappearing one after another as ugly two-story boxes rise overnight under the name of "temporary structures."

NEW ingenue is Phyllis Jeanne Creore, heard on CBS' "Are You a Missing Heir?" She is also a singer, was featured recently as vocalist with Sleepy Hall's band

My tempo of living has changed, too, but in reverse. Long ago I took off Saturday afternoons for golf or horseback riding. I enjoyed the luxury of full Saturday off. Friends tell me that some sections of America still observe the quaint custom . . .

Washington's War Department, which includes my own office, now gets down to work at 8:15 each morning. The schedule calls for seven days of business in every week, and a day's work is exactly twenty-four hours long. There are three shifts, of course, and every seventh day is a holiday for all workers, but the ancient conceit that Sunday is a day of rest is out for the duration of the war. Amazingly, no one begrudges the time. Here, as nowhere else, men and women are grimly aware of the fight ahead and are determined to do their utmost . . .

Though we work, we also eat. It isn't always easy. Every Government cafeteria in town is overcrowded. I stand in line for fifteen minutes before I can pick up a tray and select my "twenty-five-cent special."

The Hotel Mayflower remains "the place" to have lunch. Its huge dining-room can barely accommodate the crowd, and the problem of waiters is nowhere near being solved. Usually one gets a table and sits twenty minutes before an order is taken. But the food is wonderful and expensive. Few Army officers eat there unless someone invites them; even a general who gets $8,000 a year cannot afford lunches at two dollars a plate.

Apparently John L. Lewis can. I saw him there recently. That same day Mayors Kelly of Chicago and La Guardia of New York were having a love-feast together. (Needless to say, I was the guest of a gentleman who had an expense account.)

Raymond Gram Swing and Major George Fielding Eliot are other Mayflower lunchers. Their presence in Washington marks a trend that will grow more pronounced as the war progresses. This city has become America's news center. More and more broadcasters are moving in—adding to the crowds already here . . .

Radio listeners must have been puzzled recently by the things they have heard about the war. Remember Secretary of the Navy Knox' talk that Hitler was our principal enemy; then another official's statement that Japan was our No. 1 bogeyman? Jesse Jones said we had plenty of rubber, then Leon Henderson argued that there was no rubber whatever? . . .

Things like that won't happen again. The Office of Facts and Figures will see to it. By presidential order, all speeches made by Governmental bigshots are to be reviewed by the Office of Facts and Figures before being put on the air or in the record. Which means that some of our more impetuous talkers must consider their words well and perhaps eat a few of them. Better still, differences of opinion will be threshed out privately and not fed into the Axis propagandamachine for use against us.

At a recent "Truth or Consequences" program, something happened that gave the studio audience good reason to break out in shrieks and screams of laughter. A woman contestant, who had to suffer the consequence, had to jump over some candlesticks spread over the stage. As she hopped around the stage, her petticoat started to slip and finally came off altogether. It couldn't have been funnier if it were done on purpose. Ralph Edwards offered the contestant the use of a dressing-room backstage, but she declined the offer, because she didn't want to miss any part of the program. So with the slip in her hand she walked off the stage and back to her seat in the audience . . .

Another unexpected laugh heard each week on the Eddie Cantor show which you may wonder about can be explained. It happens regularly just before Bert "The Mad Russian" Gordon is introduced. Gordon comes out on the stage with the script covering his face and bushy head. He removes the script as he utters his familiar "How do you do" and releases his ears, which have been pinned back in some manner. It's really very funny to watch his entrance . . .

As we've reported in a previous column, the war has had its telling effect on the policy of many programs, particularly quiz shows. The writers of the Blue Network's "Inner Sanctum Mystery" programs have been given instructions to stay away from all references to anything even remotely connected with the war, such as spy themes or lurking submarines . . .

Every branch of the radio industry is doing its share in the war effort. Over at CBS, all old scripts, old fan mail, envelopes, newspapers, copy and writing-paper are being collected, and in the past month close to fifty thousand pounds of waste paper has been salvaged for defense purposes. Boy Scouts were called in by station WOR to cart away the 77,000 envelopes and letterheads which they received containing requests for the WOR International News Map . . .

Question two: How did that cameraman get in? Mrs. Uppington (Isabel Randolph, center) knits on unconcerned

The artists called upon to do their share are doing it willingly. Some don't even wait to be asked. For instance, tenor James Melton has organized a concert unit composed of his co-workers on the "Telephone Hour," Francia White, the Ken Christie Chorus and Robert Hill, pianist. The unit is entertaining at the Army camps and Naval bases throughout the country under the auspices of USO-Camp Shows. They will do fifteen concerts during the next ten weeks . . .

One of the most interesting of the war-time jobs is that of the foreign correspondent. If you like that sort of work, you can envy Martin Agronsky, who has been getting around the war fronts plenty of late. Agronsky originally broadcast from Ankara, Turkey. Then his boss sent him to Libya when

With a sumptuous banquet at the swank Ambassador East hotel "Judy and Jane" marked the tenth birthday of their serial association. But there were four Janes for one Judy present! You see, the role of Judy in the popular transcribed sketch has been played since the serial's origin by one actress. Marge Calvert. But a veritable parade of actresses has portrayed Jane—Irene Wicker, Joan Kay, Eleanor Phelps, Fran Carlon, Mary Pearl Salisbury, Angeline Orr and currently Donna Reade—seven of them, four of whom graced the banquet-table. "Judy and Jane" is heard only on transcription and chiefly in the Midwest, but it is not only one of the real veterans of serial drama, it also ranks in survey ratings right up with the most popular daytime programs . . .

The Vagabonds, four Negro boys aided by one guitar, have been serving up their novelty and rhythm songs for some time around the NBC studios, and they've finally landed a chance to dish it out on phonograph platters. For Bluebird they've recorded "One Broken Heart for Sale," "The Duke of Dubuque," "Slow and Easy" and "My Heart Ran Away with My Head," the latter pair their own original songs. These recordings may not only be an entry into the field for the Vagabonds, but they might also tip off the record trade that there is plenty of other radio talent in Chicago which rates and is ripe for grooving . . .

Petite Mary Ann Mercer, vocalist on "Uncle Walter's Dog House," was chosen "Favorite Date" of the First Infantry Training Regiment and summoned to Camp Wheeler, Ga., to reign at their Valentine Ball and be the date of the camp's "Best Soldier." Whereupon, the First Cavalry Division of Fort Bliss, Texas, who had several months ago picked Mary Ann as their "Huddle Girl," got sore and said she had to come see them now, too. So she'll visit Fort Bliss February 21 and 22 as an incentive for the four regiments of the encampment to engage in a bond-selling contest . . .

MAN of the hour in radio is young Norman Corwin. He's best known as a writer, but he is director of the all-network official show, "This Is War" (Saturdays) things got hot in that sector. He had been only a few days in Egypt when he received orders to go to Singapore. After being stationed at this point for a short time he shifted to Batavia, from where he is now heard reporting the latest news from the Far East battle headquarters. At any rate, that's where he was at this writing.

Bob Hope, who worked benefits and military-base appearances so strongly that he finally took ill with tonsillitis, is just that kind of guy. He won't say no to any benefit request. That is, until he works himself sick. Right now, he's hoping to be well enough to join Bing Crosby in the latter's series of Red Cross benefit golf matches in Arizona and Texas. If you've wondered at Bing's absence from his Music Hall last week, worry no longer. Bing will be back February 26. Meantime, Mickey Rooney will occupy the Crosby spot until the crooner's return . . .

Jack Benny is doing his bit for England in an unusual manner. It seems that the British Broadcasting Corporation has invited Jack to let listeners in England select his funniest joke. Jack has transcribed three of what he thinks are his best gags and sent the record to the tight little isle. There BBC is playing it and asking hearers to name which joke they think the most laughable, accompanying their opinion with a letter telling why. Benny is now waiting to see how he stacks up with the much-ribbed English sense of humor . . .

Rudy Vallee has been made (February 12) an honorary aviation flight cadet with full uniform and wings, a rating better than he had last war. Then Rudy was but a third-class gobb on the battlewagon Texas. "Swap Night" is a new program (begun February 14) that furnishes an open market for trading among listeners who have wants or wares that justify a trip to New York. Conductor of the program is H. Allen Smith, columnist and writer of the hit

More war echoes: Al Pearce's "Carnel Caravan" is being transcribed for special short-wave relay weekly to the U. S. war theaters in Ireland, Iceland, Central America, Honolulu and the Philippines . . . Ted McMichael, of the Merry Macs, is experimenting with a sound-amplifier to make the enemy think ten thousand airplanes are descending on him—but so far he has succeeded only in demoralizing his neighbors . . . FLUTTERY Billie Burke, who has developed into one of radio's most popular guests through frequent appearances on the Rudy Vallee show, with Bob Hope and on other programs, will match her whimsy with Milton Berle's wit on "Three Ring Time," Blue.

"PLANTATION PARTY" is now heard on Friday night, NBC.

Jean Hersholt asks me to tell you—if you are contesting for the $2,000 his sponsor offers for a prize "Dr. Christian" script—that the kind of drama wanted is easy to define. Says he quite simply, "It should be literature" . . .

Don Quinn, "Fibber McGee" writer, will be a foster-father of John Louis Quinn about the time this issue is read. John Louis was born November 18, Don's birthday, and comes west from Evanston's Cradle. Don is father also of Nancy, age six . . . The Bob Crosbys have invited the stork to call at their home next Independence Day and deliver a baby boy to play with their little daughter . . . Trudy Erwin, Kay Kyser's new blond vocalist, has announced her betrothal to Murdo MacKenzie, NBC Hollywood radio engineer.

Music-Lovers Who Tune In on Conductor George Sebastian's "Great Moments in Music" Will Appreciate This Behind-the-Scenes Story of His Success

By ROBERT BAGAR

New York World-Telegram Music Expert and Associate Program Annotator for New York Philharmonic Society

THE conductor of the CBS "Great Moments in Music" series, George Sebastian, went to Munich with a fixed idea. He wanted to see Bruno Walter, who was then associated with the Munich Opera. Sebastian, only sixteen at the time, attended one of the noted maestro's performances, then found—or better, created—an opportunity to speak with him.

"I heard you conduct and I decided I had to work with you," were his first words.

"Oh," replied Walter, "so YOU decided. Isn't it the usual thing for the one who does the hiring to do the deciding? What is your answer to that?"

"Only one answer," doggedly persisted the youngster. "I know what I want and I came to ask for it. That, to me, is more important than standing on ceremony."

That sort of confidence in one's own abilities was a little uncommon, to say the least. Besides, there was something about the youth's enthusiasm, something that phrase-makers have called "unshakable purpose," which made its effect on Walter. The result was an audition.

For two hours on an appointed afternoon Sebastian played Bach, Mozart, Beethoven and all the others, piano pieces, opera scores, and so on, as fast as they were put in front of him. This was an amazing demonstration of sight reading, to say the least. Walter marveled. Sebastian played more. Walter marveled the more. Briefly, Sebastian got the job of first assistant. Parenthetically, he had neglected to tell the celebrated batonist that he had memorized all those scores, almost from infancy.

Some two years later, armed with a letter from Walter and the same extraordinary assurance, he knocked at the door of the Metropolitan, so to speak, and he got the job again. This time it meant doing a hundred jobs, for assistant conductors at the Metropolitan are expected to do everything from playing at rehearsals to sitting in the prompter's box, plus whatever extra little duties come up.

He did so well at it that he was given a three-year contract. However, conducting experience was what Sebastian wanted most. He went back to Europe, ostensibly for a visit, but it wasn't long before he cabled for permission to cancel the contract so that he might conduct opera in Hamburg. Reluctantly, permission was granted.

Then followed a whole cycle of activity through various lands. First there were three seasons under Walter in Berlin. After that a guest-conducting tour through Poland and the Balkans and, following that, several years of alternating between Spain and South America as opera director, with stop-overs at Portugal and Great Britain.

From 1933 to 1938, Sebastian was the general music director of all musical broadcasts in the Soviet Union. His duties were many and varied. He conducted in the Arctic Circle, at Archangel; he performed for the sailors of the Soviet Pacific fleet in Vladivostok Bay; he conducted, on one occasion, the Beethoven "Choral"

GEORGE SEBASTIAN had an "unshakable purpose" and surprised Bruno Walter when he asked cooperation to achieve it programs. They, too, found a measure of success.

But, with a growing fondness for musical satire, he produced one or two works that threatened seriously to disrupt the entente cordiale between himself and officialdom. Chief of these was his opera "Lady Macbeth of Mzensk" (1935), which, after receiving tremendous accolades in Russia—and elsewhere—was suddenly found to be infected with "bourgeois musical conceptions." Another work of his, awaiting production, was withdrawn owing to the virulence of the feeling against him. This was the ballet "Limpid Stream," which the composer had founded on the subject of communal farming. He was accused of having "merely painted peasants, the kind you see on the covers of candy boxes."

Shostakovich wrote a Fourth Symphony, but he withdrew it almost on the eve of its performance by the Leningrad Philharmonic because he felt it might not be in line with the required standards. He soon composed a Fifth Symphony and that met with instantaneous and enormous success. One reviewer said that "The fetters of musical formalism which held the composer captive so long, and prevented him from creating works profound in conception, have been torn off." Oddly enough, with this creation Shostakovich had actually broken off the fetters of program music and had actually done an abstract piece of writing—what we choose to call absolute music.

(The New York Philharmonic Orchestra will present Shostakovich's Symphony No. 5 as a part of its broadcast this Sunday, CBS.)

"Aida" and History

Giuseppe Verdi was invited by the Khedive of Egypt to write an opera

FOURTEEN YEARS as leading tenor of the Met is Frederick Jagel's record, shown in costume of Rhadames from opera "Aida"

on an Egyptian subject for the ceremonies attendant on the opening of the Suez Canal. At first he was not favorable to the idea, but he soon capitulated, not only because of the huge sum of money involved but also because the idea finally interested him. Mariette, agent of the khedive, and a well-known French Egyptologist, was the author of a scenario which had been submitted to Verdi through Camille du Locle.

Antonio Ghislanzoni, with considerable aid from Verdi, wrote the libretto, based on the Du Locle prose sketch. Again may be mentioned Verdi's meticulous care in the preparation of that libretto. He knew just what he wanted and, fortunately, Ghislanzoni was the type of writer who could see beyond his mere ego and into the realities of stage technique. The result was a smooth-flowing libretto whose alliance with the score and the exigencies of the plot is of the closest nature.

The story is concerned with the love of Rhadames, a young Egyptian captain, for Aida, Ethiopian princess, who is the slave of Amneris, the Pharaoh's daughter. Rhadames, made general of the Egyptian forces, defeats the Ethiopians and brings back among the captives Amonasro, Aida's father. Complications ensue with Amneris' own love for Rhadames. A plan is hatched by Amonasro to wrest military secrets from Rhadames. The Ethiopian king, Rhadames and Aida are caught together and Rhadames is condemned to be buried alive. In his tomb he discovers Aida, whose love for him is so strong that she chooses to die with him.

From Cello to Baton

Alfred Wallenstein's first love was the cello, but like other contemporaries, notably Arturo Toscanini and John Barbirolli, he moved into conducting quite naturally, almost as if the cello had been the springboard for the plunge. He was born in Chicago, studied with Julius Klengel and he made his debut in Los Angeles in 1912 at the age of fourteen. Because he liked the symphonic orchestra, he joined Chicago's noted orchestral body as leader of the cello section. Later he served in the same capacity for the Philharmonic-Symphony Society while that organization was under the leadership, as well as spell, of the celebrated Arturo Toscanini. For several years he has been general music director of radio station WOR in New York, from which he is heard on many MBS hook-ups. His Thursday evening

Symphony with 220 musicians in the orchestra and a chorus of 400 voices at one of that country's defense plants. These were only a few of his tasks.

George Sebastian is now only thirty-seven years of age. He speaks seven languages, including English, fluently, thanks to his wide travels and a particular gift for that. He currently divides his time between the radio program and conducting the Scranton Symphony. Both would seem to be full-time jobs. He manages very well.

Musical Ups and Downs

Dimitri Shostakovich, whose Fifth Symphony is scheduled for the Philharmonic-Symphony broadcast under the direction of Serge Koussevitzky, is one musical prophet who has known both honor and contempt in his country. He was only nineteen when he wrote his First Symphony, which served, by the way, to bring immediately the attention of the western world to this young Soviet composer. Following the musico-political dicta set down by the august fathers of the Soviet Union, his next two symphonic works had out-and-out "revolution-

Guide to This Week's Fine Music Programs

TRAILBLAZER is Rose Bampton who will sing a group of Mendelssohn's Lieder on the "New Friends of Music" broadcast (Blue Net)

"Sinfonietta" programs are distinguished for the excellence of the programming, matters of proper presentation, and such, as well as for the unusual interest that attaches to much of the music performed.

(Rose Bampton may be heard singing a Group of Lieder, by Mendelssohn, on "New Friends of Music" program, Sunday, Blue Network.)

Mendelssohn, Song-Writer

Known to us chiefly through his orchestral works and the oratorios and other sacred compositions, Mendelssohn nevertheless wrote many Lieder. Only occasionally are such works of his programmed at recitals, and the opportunity to hear them is always happily received by the seeker after the unusual. Rose Bampton, one of the Metropolitan Opera's stellar personalities, sings a group of his songs on the Blue Network's "New Friends of Music" broadcast, which originates in the Town Hall, New York City. In so doing, Miss Bampton indulges a particular penchant of hers, the following of unbeaten tracks.

Some Good Recordings

Eugene Ormandy and the Philadelphia Orchestra have done a noble job of playing a specially edited version of the waltzes from Strauss' "Der Rosenkavalier." Mr. Ormandy originally recorded this version with the Minneapolis Symphony. Here is a re-recording with another noted orchestra (Victor). Bidu Sayao, diminutive diva of the Metropolitan Opera, sings enchantingly two Puccini arias, "Un bel di vedremo" from "Madama Butterfly" and "Mi chiamano Mimi" from "La Boheme." She is capably assisted by an orchestra under Erich Leinsdorf's direction (Columbia).

The fine Augustana Choir delivers two pieces in Swedish, the first a folksong, "Tryggare Kan Ingen Vara," and the second from the Strassburger Hymnal, "O Fader var Farmfartig, God." Henry Veld directs with sympathy (Victor). Robert Weede, baritone, another Metropolitan Opera luminary, sings the Negro spiritual, "City Called Heaven," and Jerome Kern's "Ol' Man River," accompanied by Pablo Miquel at the piano (Columbia). The Boston "Pops" Orchestra under the direction of Arthur Fiedler focuses on a pair of familiar items, "Oh, Susanna" and "Sally in Our Alley" (Victor).

BECAUSE so many of the younger musicians are going to war, Benny Goodman sees a great change in swing music coming in near future

POPULAR MUSIC

A list of the well-known dance-band musicians and singers who have joined our armed forces would take many pages. The boys haven't been anything like backward about rusing service and most of them expect to deal heavy blows to the enemy by way of shot and shell rather than finely phrased "riffs." Here are some of them: Howard Du Lany, former Gene Krupa vocalist; Rollie Bundick, formerly bass player with Glenn Miller; Johnny Mince, once clarinetist with Tommy Dorsey; Hank Freeman, previously with Artie Shaw; Bill Borden, who used to be an arranger for Claude Thornhill; Bus Basse, tenor sax with Benny Goodman; Don McCook, recently clarinetist with Charlie Barnett. These are just a few, picked at random. You should see the size of the honor roll.

Benny Goodman thinks that an important change will take place in the performance of swing music, because so many of the younger musicians are joining the colors. The idea men, those pioneers to whom everything new is owing in swing, have been preponderantly youngsters. With so many of them on call by the U. S. A., there is really a good deal to worry about regarding the future—or the immediate future—of swing. However, Goodman admits that his chief concern, like that of all true Americans, is the defeat of our country's enemies. Swing can wait, he asserts.

Some Worthy Pops

Jan Savitt and his orchestra play their "shuffle" rhythm to a fare-thee-well in the Victor recording of "I Remember You." The piece is coupled with "Tica Ti-Tica Ta" (Victor 27775). Ray Kinney and his Hawaiians give us the good old atmosphere in their accounts of "Blue Shadows and White Gardenias" and "Sing Me a Song of the Islands" (Victor 27774). Of course, the leader himself does well by the vocal in the last named. Erskine Hawkins and his musicians are at their best for the performances of "Sometimes" and "I Don't Want to Walk Without You" (Bluebird B-11439). The singing of Ida James in the latter helps considerably. Another Bluebird recording of interest is Freddy Martin's offering, "Heavenly, Isn't It?"

Income Tax in Britain

SINCE the deadline for payment of our own income taxes is rapidly drawing near, I felt Prof. John Hilton's talk from London about how the average person in Britain reacts to the subject of income taxes there was of timely interest. He explained that in England income taxes are deducted weekly from the pay envelope; that they are considerably higher than our own—at least at present. For example, a single man earning $38.00 a week finds only $26.00 left in his pay envelope; a married man (without dependents) finds $32.00 left in his envelope. The average employed person in England, however, does not make $38.00, but only around $20.00 a week, from which, if he is single, he has $4.00 deducted each week; from which, if married (without dependents), he has $2.50 deducted each week. Those who earn less than $9.00 per week, if single, or $12.00 per week, if married, pay no income taxes.

To determine what the people of England thought of paying such steep taxes, Professor Hilton journeyed from one end of the country to the other interviewing thousands of persons in every walk of life. On the whole he found the average Britisher accepting his burden with good cheer, although there were some who accepted the taxes grudgingly; a few with open malice, especially those in occupations such as coal mining, where the work is hard and grim, the pay-check small.

In defense of the British income tax system it may be said that a certain percentage of the tax imposed does not go into the war chest but is actually banked to the individual's credit for repayment after the war.

In conclusion, Professor Hilton said, "The present situation is not of our making. We don't relish it. We grin and bear it or maybe we scowl and bear it (that scowl isn't for the income tax) but we are at least all of one mind on the principle that we will destroy Hitler; of one mind that we will never back down until Hitler and his creed are banished from the earth."

Hitler Only Mortal

According to James Ferguson, propaganda analysis expert of the British Broadcasting Corporation, the German home radio has for months been placing considerable emphasis on Hitler's personality; has been trying to build it up. He needs it, for since he has taken supreme charge of the German forces in Soviet Russia there have been nothing but retreats, losses, failures. Before this debacle a favorite stunt of the German radio was to hold up Hitler's personal invincibility, his godlike character. "The picture of our Fuehrer today inspires the German people; no one works harder for the Reich; no one asks less for himself," or such statements were continually broadcast to the nation to hearten the German people. Less emphasis is being placed on his perfection today, more on his reliability. Hitler has been carefully emphasizing his own "good health" of late, attempting in part to rebuild the aura of mysticism which he likes to think he has. But despite all attempts, Hitler's cloak of invincibility is gradually slipping from him. He still screams, as he did in a recent speech, that "My faith and confidence has brought us through hard days." Our leaders don't hold themselves up as invincible. Only through the "blood, sweat and tears of the common people," as Churchill expressed it, can great victories be won. Hitler's vanity has been dealt a mortal blow. Perhaps the German people already, if they dared an independent thought, feel that the best they can expect is a second 1918.

Pearce Show to Troops

For the first time in history of short-wave broadcasting, the sponsor of a network broadcast also includes a short-wave schedule solely for the benefit of Uncle Sam's uniformed guardians at the far-flung outposts of the nation. The sponsor is the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company.

This show cannot be broadcast simultaneously by short wave as it would catch too many of the boys in their nightshirts. It was therefore decided to record the whole program and thus reach the greatest possible audience. The rebroadcasts will be a weekly feature every Saturday from 1:15 to 1:45 p.m. EWT over NBC's WRCA and WNBI and also Westinghouse's WBOS. These programs will reach our boys in Puerto Rico at 1:15 p.m.; Ireland at 5:15 p.m.; Alaska at 8:15 a.m., and Honolulu at 5:45 a.m., to mention only a few of the far points covered.

Al Pearce's regular show is heard at 7:30 and 10:00 p.m. EWT, Thursdays.

Horses for Dogs

E. D. Ward (always bragging about his American citizenship; why isn't something done about this?), Berlin propaganda dispenser, said the other night that there wasn't a word of truth in the numerous reports that the Germans were using dogs for food. "Why," said Ward, "there doesn't seem to be any shortage of dogs on the streets of Berlin. I see them everywhere. Of course it is not easy to find meat to feed dogs these days. That is why we have had several markets that sell horse meat in Berlin for years. It is for the dogs. Horse meat has never been used for human consumption in Germany. And this is more than I can say of some of the other countries during the last war." I wonder! . . . Ward is also fond of telling stories such as this one, namely, that the good people of Nottingham, England, recently decided to melt down their five historic cannons that stood in the public park, in order that the metal might be used for armaments. What was their horror to find that two of the cannons were not of iron after all but only wood. Doesn't Ward know such stories, far from dismaying the British, tickle their sense of humor?

Trio of Transmitters

On Thursday, February 12, the Columbia Broadcasting System inaugurated full-scale operations over its three powerful new transmitters—WCRC and WCBX, 50,000 watts each, and WCDA, 10,000 watts. From early morning to late afternoon, the CBS transmitters are beamed on Europe and thenceforth, until 11:00 p.m. EWT, directed toward South America.

After a couple of weeks' testing period, during which time the new transmitters will be put through their paces, CBS will officially inaugurate its new Latin-American network which now includes seventy-six station affiliates in every one of the twenty republics south of the border. One of the biggest units in the new network is the Radio Belgrano chain of nine stations in Argentina.

Interest in the United States as a partner in hemispheric defense and progress is at a new high. Persons everywhere in the neighbor republics tumble out of bed in the middle of the night or stay up until early morning hours in order to hear a speech by President Roosevelt.

Many broadcasting stations in Latin America have installed loudspeakers in plazas and other gathering places to cater to the local populace's interest in vital news. Persons not owning short-wave sets can thus congregate in the plazas to hear the latest news.

CBS has set up a highly skilled organization to handle the many technical and program details necessary to efficient functioning of the new Latin network. These include Edmund A. Chester, CBS director of short-wave broadcasting and Latin-American relations; Terig Tucci, Latin network music director (see photo, opposite page); Dr. Antonio C. Gonzalez, assistant director of Latin-American relations, and others. In order that all staff employes in the new Latin section of CBS' International Division may be "on their toes" at all times, free language courses in both Spanish and Portuguese have been instituted by CBS. These courses are being enthusiastically attended by over two hundred employes.

News About the Stations

THE PACIFIC FRONT—"Radio Saigon," Saigon, French Indo-China, one of the important short-wave stations in the Pacific area, has shifted in frequency to 10.23 megs . . . Apparently the French news session broadcast formerly over VPD2 (15.16), Suva, Fiji Islands, at 12:00 mid. EWT has been discontinued . . . August Balbi of Los Angeles, Calif., reports that XGOY, Chungking, China, is being heard irregularly on a frequency of 15.20 megs from 8:00 to 10:00 p.m. EWT.

THE EUROPEAN FRONT—Moscow-Kuibyshev is still being heard daily from 7:00 to 8:55 p.m. EWT on 15.23 megs, with fair signal strength. According to reports, Moscow is also being heard on 11.90 megs daily from 9:15 to 9:40 and from 11:15 to 11:35 p.m. EWT.

What Is a Dipole? To Learn the Answer, and to Know Other Pertinent Facts About FM Reception, Follow This Page Regularly

By DICK DORRANCE

General Manager of
FM Broadcasters, Inc.

What About FM Antennas?

Even the best FM receiver in the world can't be expected to deliver much in the way of performance if it doesn't have a suitable antenna to pull in the stations. Too often people are ignorant or indifferent to this very elementary fact. Then they wail bitterly because FM doesn't seem to give them the noise-free, clear reception they've heard so much about. Never forget it—antennas are important, and the further away from an FM station you happen to live, the more important they become.

To begin with, you have to understand one rather essential thing about FM. When we discuss "freedom from static and man-made noises," we don't mean you can't hear electric razors, vacuum cleaners, power-line leaks and all those other reception-busters when you aren't tuned to an FM station. On the contrary, they're likely to be very much audible, unless yours is one of the FM sets with an "inter-station silence" control. But when you actually tune in a station—well, that's when the action starts.

It's the signal itself of an FM station which makes your receiver go into action and knock the unwanted noise for an absolute loop. Genuine FM receivers are built so that when an FM signal of even very minute strength—sometimes as faint as fifteen-millionths of a volt!—is picked up from an FM station, the innards of the set go to work and automatically wipe out all the unwanted noise, even though the noise itself may be many times stronger at the receiver than the actual signal you want to hear. But if you starve your FM set by not feeding it enough signal strength, then it won't be able to combat and overcome this troublesome interference.

That's Where Antennas Come In

It's the job of the antenna—and this holds true with any kind of radio receiver—to act as a "collector" that scoops in radio energy from stations, just the same way a fish-net catches fish. This energy is conveyed from the antenna to the receiver via the lead-in wire, and then the receiver transforms it to what you hear coming out of the loudspeaker. The more efficient your antenna, the greater will be the amount of energy it gathers. (By "efficient" we mean such things as having your antenna the right length for FM waves, also placing it high enough and out in the clear.)

As any listener knows, radio signals radiate from a broadcasting station in a roughly circular pattern, much as ripples will radiate when you drop a pebble into a smooth pool. And, just like the ripples, the radio signals get weaker as they flow further away from the station. With FM this is particularly true. FM signals, except on rare occasions, don't bounce back to earth at distant points the way short waves do—hence they are ideally suited for localized broadcasting.

Meet the Dipole

If you live inside a city, close to a high-powered and lofty FM transmitter, it's quite likely you won't need any special antenna for perfect reception. Many of the new sets have built-in antennas that work excellently, or you may find a short piece of wire—say twelve feet or so—placed on a molding or under a carpet, more than adequate. Usually it's best to try the built-in antenna first before going to the expense and trouble of installing a special outside FM antenna.

Also if you find yourself in one of these two categories, (1) a city dweller who lives in an area with very heavy electrical noise from industrial plants, street-car lines, etc., or (2) if you're a resident of a suburban or rural area some distance removed from FM stations, where signals are naturally weaker, then you should by all means install a special FM dipole antenna.

The FM dipole can either be bought in kit form or constructed by any mechanically minded listener. Probably the best way for most people, however, is to have a reputable service man with FM experience install one for you.

Portrait of an FM Dipole

The usual FM dipole consists of two self-supporting metal rods (which may be flexible), each about five and a half feet long, arranged end to end so that they look like the two arms of the top bar on the letter "T." At the center of this top bar, however, a gap of several inches is left between the rods. To each side of the dipole at this gap is affixed one wire of a two-wire, twisted feed line that runs down from the dipole to the FM receiver, joining two terminals on the back of the set provided for this purpose. The feed line may be ordinary, twisted lamp-cord of five-and-ten-cent variety, although better results are secured with lower-loss, special cable designed for the purpose.

This all sounds pretty technical, to be sure, and it's no black mark against you if you don't understand. We mention the description for readers who have the time or inclination to install their own antennas. If the prospect baffles you, and you don't like to climb around roof-tops, don't hesitate to call on your radio service man.

Other Hints on Good Reception

One important point to be remembered is that the FM antenna should be placed as high as possible, and kept clear of all surrounding objects that might shield it if you expect best results. When reception seems weak, rotating the dipole so that it faces broadside to the desired station usually helps. (Pick-up is at the minimum off the ends of a dipole.) Sometimes a little additional height will also give an unbelievable improvement in reception. One more thing. The dipole is generally mounted so that the rods are in a horizontal plane. Most FM stations operate with their transmitting antennas in the same plane. A few, however, are using temporary vertical antennas until they can secure necessary materials for more elaborate and effective horizontal ones. If your local FM station is in the latter class—and you can learn whether it uses "horizontal" or "vertical" by dropping it a postcard—you may be able to improve reception by swinging your dipole into a diagonal or even oblique position.

Metropolitan on W53PH

FM listeners within a forty- to fifty-mile radius of Philadelphia will now be able to hear weekly broadcasts from the Metropolitan Opera House over FM station W53PH, which airs the regular matinee opera programs of the Blue Network each Saturday afternoon from 2 to 5 EWT. W53PH is increasing its power this month from 1,000 to 10,000 watts, which, coupled with an antenna height of over 550 feet, should greatly improve its coverage in eastern Pennsylvania, southern New Jersey and northern Delaware. The W53PH antenna is the highest point in downtown Philadelphia.

In addition to the two FM stations now operating in that city (W53PH and W69PH), a third is soon expected on the air when W49PH (owned by WIP) begins its program tests preparatory to instituting regular daily service. Like W53PH and W69PH, W49PH will also serve 9,300 square miles. Three other FM outlets are also under construction in Philadelphia.

This weekly column of FM news and discussion is intended as a MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE service for the swiftly growing audience of FM listeners. Letters from readers are always welcome. We shall be glad to answer your questions, and, if you do not yet have FM reception in your locality, advise you whether any is in prospect.

To Help You Know the News by Helping You Know the Men Who Report and Interpret the News, We Introduce This Timely New Department

By JOHN PAUL

All listeners today consider news reports and comment a dominant phase of radio. To many listeners the news is radio. And however objectively one listens, the mind is more attentive, more stimulated if the listener knows something of the man who is transmitting or interpreting the news. For this reason we will offer from time to time this department of news about the newsmen, together with a convenient listing of news broadcasts and commentaries.

—The Editors.

Knows the Nazis

NAZI propoganda—if Hitler has a secret weapon, a weapon which threatens the world with its diabolical potency, it is propoganda. With that weapon they coaxed, bribed or bludgeoned nation after nation into submission without resistance or into the numbness and confusion that makes easy prey for Hitler's mighty war machine. With propoganda they hoped to reduce the moral and military stature of Great Britain and America. That those free people are alert and resistant to Nazi propoganda is due to many elements. One man who is contributing mightily to the understanding of Nazi propoganda is Siegfried Wagener. An exile himself from his native Germany, he turns his broad knowledge of that country and the methods of its war-lords to the advantage of free America. Wagener conducts a program called "Analysis of Propaganda" over MBS Monday and Friday nights. He maintains a special listening-post high in the Colorado mountains, where he checks continuously on the propoganda broadcasts of the Axis powers.

BAUKHAGE is talking in a new regular program from Washington. He's offered by the Blue Network Monday through Saturday

Speaks for Silent People

Still in civilian ranks is Robert St. John, NBC's London commentator. But he has seen more actual fighting in war than many soldiers. St. John's "From the Land of Silent People" (Doubleday, $3) has just been published, and with it he makes history by reporting history. His book is the account of the terrible toll taken by Nazis on the Yugoslavs, of his flight-for-freedom from the machine-like German soldiers, and the impotent attempts by anti-Nazis to ward off the Hitlerites. The story is as though every sentence were a headline.

That Godwin Guy

Are you one of Earl Godwin's listeners? If not, you should learn of his rare and colorful talent. No one else seems to get so much Mark Twainish humor or Billy Sunday evangelism in his remarks. No one else seems to have so much fun broadcasting as he does. No one hates the Japs quite so greatly. Remarking recently about the rubber shortage, he said, "Save that rubber for the Government so it can snap the Japs off all the maps." Later, he said, "Slap the Japs off all the maps." His favorite closing is "God is with America, let America stay with God." His language is both salty and smooth, running from ring-tailed hyperbole to earthy truisms that all can understand. A fiction that he maintains doggedly is that he rides a mule to work. Actually, Earl Godwin is a white-haired, pink-cheeked newspaperman who turned to radio only recently. He looks like Edgar Guest ought to look. He is so close a friend of the President that he can discuss the news with him personally whenever he chooses.

BRISK Boake Carter is building a wide following again. He has a Monday-through-Friday, partly commercial program on Mutual

HOW TO USE THIS SECTION

- ★ Every program listed on these pages is heard five times weekly, Monday through Friday. No night-time programs are listed.
- ★ All regular network and local programs not listed on these pages—and all programs broadcast after 6 p.m.—are listed in the regular program section on the day of the week and the time of the day at which they are heard.
- ★ To make the most use of this new Movie-Radio Guide feature, check the program time (noted in parentheses after each listing). If the station in which you are interested is NOT listed on these pages at the completion of the specified program time, its listing will be found in the regular program section.
- ★ All programs not listed in the regular program section will be found listed on these two pages on a Monday through Friday basis.

Broadcast Mondays Through Fridays—7 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Five Ways to Sell

Maybe you don't take those commercials seriously, but the sponsors and the directors and the writers and even the announcers do. One announcer, George Putnam, who announces "Portia Faces Life," has even analyzed them. He puts the plugs in five different classifications: 1. The Throwaway—A casual understatement of the product's quality, designed to win attention with personality rather than with bedrock information. 2. Sweet and Low—Sharing secrets with listeners. 3. Soap-Box Style—Shouting to wake the listeners up. 4. On the Line—Firm sincerity in declaring the product's value. 5. Selling with a Smile—Announcer drops into your living-room for a pleasant little chat.

Twenty-Year Man

Fred Howard, who plays D. Pemberton Toohey in "Ma Perkins," this year begins his third decade as a public entertainer. He made his stage debut in 1921 in musical comedy as a singer. He has been in radio since 1928, an actor since 1937.

War-Conscious Cowboy

Ralph "Rusty" Gill, CBS cowboy singer, has applied for a patent on a batteryless flashlight he invented. It works by means of static electricity, and all you have to do is touch your finger to a metal disk and the light goes on. No batteries or generators—just a bulb, a case and a few wires.

Announcer in Service

Dick Wells, announcer for "Ma Perkins," is working for Uncle Sam during his off-mike time. A lieutenant in the U. S. Naval Reserve, Wells has been assigned to the public relations department at the Great Lakes (Ill.) Naval Training Station.

WJBJ-Health Talk; Shoppers' Guide
 WSB-Arthur Godfrey

Bluetooth Johnson can take it. You never even hear his voice on the "Vic and Sade" sketch. And here are some of the tags that Rush Gook has hung on his pal in recent broadcasts: "Good old down-at-the-heel-you-scratch-my-back-and-I'll-scratch-yours reliable Bluetooth Johnson"; "Good old don't-feed-the-animals-is-there-a-physician-in-the-house trustworthy Bluetooth Johnson"; "That good old never-change-horses-in-midstream-you-tip-the-waiter-and-I'll-get-my-hat reliable pal of mine."

"Joe and Mabel" to Screen

The whimsical saga of the artless cabbie and his artful sweetie, known to NBC listeners as "Joe and Mabel," is being carried on via the screen. Warner Bros. studios are filming a short feature adapted from "Women and Children First," one of the most popular of the "Joe and Mabel" episodes. Ted De Corsia plays Joe, and Ann Thomas is Mabel in the network sketch.

Mathematical Music

Richard Williams, the versatile twelve-year-old math marvel heard on "Quiz Kids," revealed a hitherto unknown quantity among his accomplishments recently. He not only identified "Rhapsody in Blue" by the reading of the dozen opening notes but he sat down at the piano in the studio and played part of the selection quite well. Quizzer Joe Kelly commented: "Richard, I'll bet you work those notes out mathematically."

The Entertainment Week

Two-Wheel Tourist

Last summer when Les Tremayne and his wife took a vacation trip, the "First Nighter" actor had his convertible equipped with a special rack to hold their bicycles, on which they explored by-ways on the tour. Now the car, racks and all, has been stored away, and Les is traveling to and from the studios on the bicycle.

in "Tom Mix" and "The Bartons") is celebrating George Washington's birthday in a novel manner—displaying a thirteen-star American flag made by Betsy Ross' granddaughter and presented to the ingenue by a fan . . . Mr. Schlagenhauer is back on the air. After seven years of retirement, Art Linick brings back to WJJD his pioneering Dutch character and with it one of Chicago's earliest radio programs, "Happy-Go-Lucky Time" . . . Around the studio lobbies, where you can continually hear stories with gestures, dialect banter and plain and fancy hamming, one of the best stunts is the "brilliant" double-talk rattled off by Carl Kroenke, Pinky in "Flying Patrol" . . .

"That Brewster Boy" is moving from NBC to CBS March 4, and this marks the first time this sponsor has ever had a program on the latter network. The program will be heard in a Wednesday evening spot instead of its present Monday night niche opposite "Lux Radio Theater" . . . Announcer Louis Roen (heard on Tony Wons' program and with commentator Clifton Utley) is a member of the Illinois Wing of the Civil Air Patrol and will have a regular shift for patrolling the air over northern Illinois . . . Actress Elmira Roessler drops her voice twenty-two years to play two-year-old Billy in CBS' "Stepmother."

GENERAL ENTERTAINMENT

By ARTHUR MILLER

A career of thirty-five years in the entertainment world ended a fortnight ago when Joe Cook announced his retirement. His was a career that touched on all phases of show business. A faked photograph showing him nonchalantly juggling seventeen balls got him his first professional job. Once on the stage, instead of juggling, Joe explained why it was impossible for anyone to do what was expected of him. His excuses were so funny the producer excused him for resorting to deceit to get a job . . .

Fighting has slackened somewhat recently in the prize ring. Starting with Joe Louis' quick knockout of Buddy Baer, the latter afterward claiming he suffered previous injuries in an auto accident, the fistie fanciers were informed that Lou Nova couldn't keep his ring appointment with Gus Lesnevich because Lou had strained a cartilage. Then the match between Sammy Angott, world lightweight champion, and Bob Montgomery was canceled the day before the fight when it was revealed that Sammy had sustained a dislocated rib during a workout. The latter two may meet March 6, and if they do, their bout will be described over MBS . . .

Pearl Buck's understanding of the Chinese never will be challenged. What American is more qualified to write about them; their fight for a free China, their reason for being? In her new novel, "Dragon Seed" (John Day Co., $2.50), Miss Buck's style—the same moving kind which won for her a Nobel prize for literature—is employed to tell of these tenacious people who, though their land is trodden by the invader, maintain their faith in a return to normalcy.

his. "You gave me faith in myself. I couldn't have saved you if I hadn't had that. There was a moment that . . . oh, Portia, I need you. I love you." He paused and swallowed. "I know I'm unworthy of you, but we could accomplish so much together. I can help you in your fight against Connelly and you can give me courage to go on with my work. Portia, will you marry me?"

"It wouldn't be fair to either of us," she said. "If the truth must be told, Stan, I'm afraid of falling in love. I gave so much the last time . . . the hurt went so deep. I must be sure the next time . . . terribly sure."

"Then your answer is no?" A desperate new note—a note almost of anger—had crept into Holton's voice. Portia would have given anything to answer differently, but she had to tell the truth.

"I'm afraid so, Stan, unless in time . . ."

A week fled past and Doctor Allen had taken over Portia's case. Her condition, without Doctor Holton's care, was still critical. When Kathie came to visit her, Portia noticed that Kathie looked worn and tired.

"It's about Stan," Kathie explained one morning. "He went to his laboratory last night and broke up all his last batch of test-tube cultures. Nurse Becker told me he was drinking steady again, that he's living out at Connelly's. I knew that, though. Portia, oh, Portia, why couldn't you have told him you cared just a little?"

Portia was silent. Why was Kathie so concerned for Doctor Holton? Was it possible that Kathie herself loved him, that she was ready to sacrifice her own love to make him happy? The girl now told Portia how she had gone to Boss Connelly's and tried to talk Holton into leaving.

"I wanted to talk to him," she said, "but he was too drunk. Connelly just laughed at me. He was proud of his work. He boasted that Holton never could hold his head up again, that he'd keep him drink-sodden for two more weeks, and that after that Holton would be his man forever. But, Portia, I almost forgot—Boss Connelly is worried about real troubles of his own . . . he's changed, too, in some ways."

"What do you mean? Has the FBI come to investigate him?"

"No—no, nothing like that. It's his daughter, Patsy. Remember how you told me about the little girl being sick, and you remember my telling you how this epidemic is spreading in the slums just as we feared it might. Well, I saw Patsy and do you know I think that child has infantile paralysis!"

"No! How terrible! I wouldn't wish a tragedy like that on my worst enemy. Connelly is hard—frightfully hard—but he loves that baby. What's he doing about her?"

"When I left his home, he was talking long-distance to Chicago, trying to get in touch with a specialist. He said nothing was too good for his baby. You won't have to worry about Boss Connelly for a long, long time."

"But, Kathie, think of that poor baby. She's one of the first uptown victims of the epidemic. Connelly is paying with more than blood for his neglect of the slums. I feel sorry for him."

"Sorry for Connelly? Portia Blake, the man's a—"

"A criminal, Miss Marsh!"

Kathie and Portia looked up with startled surprise into the worry-worn face of Boss Connelly himself. "Yes, ladies," he said, "I'm free to admit that I've dealt a few from the shoulder. But I've always tried to fight standing up. I've given my enemies due warning. But now I'll admit that I'm whipped."

Then the political boss explained how he had called a Doctor Price in Chicago, one of the nation's foremost infantile-paralysis specialists. But Doctor Price had told him there was only one man who might help Patsy—and that man was right here in Parkerstown. The man was Doctor Holton! But, Boss Connelly continued, Holton's serum had to be administered in what almost amounted to a delicate operation and Holton's nerves were shot completely. He was incapable of making the serum injection in his present condition. Connelly's work of wrecking the man's nerves had been too good. Unless a miracle occurred, Holton never would operate again and Patsy might die or be crippled for life.

"But," Connelly concluded, "a miracle happened before when he saved your life, Mrs. Blake. It might happen again. The man loves you, Portia Blake. I believe you could pull him together and save Patsy's life. I know that you're a fighter and a good one. Well, I'm ready to surrender. If you do this for me, I promise you I'll get out of town and take my whole machine with me. You know I'll keep my word."

me," Portia said in a quiet voice, her chin lifted ever so little.

But Stan Holton refused to come to the hospital.

When this was reported to Portia, she decided to get up from her convalescent bed, dangerous as that was, and go to Doctor Holton. Her life didn't matter if she could save the child's.

Portia left the others in the library and went alone to the door of Holton's room. She knocked and turned the knob. Holton's face turned the color of putty when he saw her. He looked like a person seeing a ghost.

"Why—why have you left the hospital to come here?" he asked. "You'll kill yourself."

"I—I had to come, Stan. I—I—"

With that Portia collapsed and Doctor Holton rushed to her side. He carried her to the bed and made her comfortable. She opened her eyes. "Why," she asked him, "can you let a little child suffer when it's within your power to help?"

But Holton insisted that she say the words he was waiting to hear; he had to know that his luck was real, not something imagined. He didn't notice the little catch in Portia's throat as she said, "I . . . I love you, Stan."

Portia Blake was happy. The days and weeks had sped past so rapidly that she'd almost lost count of them. Connelly had packed up and left town, taking his fully recovered daughter with him. Doctor Holton's serum and the operation had been an outstanding success and Connelly had kept his promise. Arline Manning had returned to Parkerstown from Reno, where her divorce decree from Walter Manning had been granted. And Arline gave Portia bitter hope that Walter still was alive. Portia, who had promised her love to Stan Holton, still had hope of reaching Manning by letter.

Only two difficulties remained in Portia's life. The most important, of course, was the slum-clearance project. Connelly had left, it was true, but John Parker, a more cold-blooded politician than Connelly had ever been, had taken over the city hall and had used his influence to get the building permit in the tenement district canceled again. Portia was hunting for a way to defeat Parker.

The other problem was closer to Portia's heart. It concerned Stan Holton. She didn't love him, but she expected to live up to her implied promise to him. But what of Walter? What if he came back?

Bill Baker, who had succeeded Walter Manning as editor of the Herald, had mistrusted Stan Holton from the first, then ended up by carrying the torch for him. This change came about when Holton found a way to beat John Parker and get Portia's building permit. Bill Baker told Portia about it.

"Holton risked his whole career for you, Portia, when he faced Mayor Bartlett and Commissioner Clark. He told them he'd talk and talk plenty if they didn't grant the permit."

"If Walter were only here to help me," said Portia wistfully.

Baker's face became grave. "Portia," he said, "I'm afraid I'll have to tell you something unpleasant. I don't believe you'll ever see Walter Manning again. He threw up his job as a foreign correspondent some months ago. He said the time had come to quit fooling with words, and what freedom needed was a man who could handle a gun. That was just like Walter. It's like you, too, Portia. Walter started smuggling guns to the Chetniks in the Yugoslavian hills. A man doesn't last long at that sort of job. The last report from the Belgrade consul was that Walter faced a firing-squad—"

"But, Bill . . . it can't be true. I know it's not true. My heart would have told me if Walter had been hurt . . . killed."

Bill spread the palms of his hands. He reached into an inside pocket and pulled out a photograph of Portia. On the back of it was an ugly stain.

"I didn't want to show you this, Portia, but now I have to. This picture was picked up near the spot where Walter was supposed to have been shot. You can see now what small hope there is of his being alive. No, Portia, I think the thing for you to do is work out this situation with Stan Holton and find what happiness you can out of life."

The corner of Portia's mouth tightened a bit and she wiped a tear from her cheek. Then, as she looked out over the gray roof-tops of the city below, the worry lines softened and she smiled. Portia told herself she would go on without Walter . . . without anything but her own courage. If you faced life, she told herself, you were bound to win.

Bases for Beauty

WOMEN are getting smarter every day—smarter in the way they wear their clothes, smarter in the way they do their hair, and smartest of all in the way they wear their make-up. Glamour is no longer the property of the film stars or society's debutantes—it can be every woman's if she's willing to take the time to learn a few fundamental rules about herself.

The importance of a fresh, glowing skin is second to no other factor in beauty's make-up; and if you haven't got it naturally you can have it artfully by using a proper base for your powder. The most valuable guide for any woman to follow in applying a foundation cream or lotion is to keep it natural looking.

Dorothy Cocks, well-known beautician, tells a story which illustrates this point perfectly. She was visiting at the home of a famous beauty specialist and couldn't help complimenting her on her peaches-and-cream look. "Your make-up is beautiful," said Miss Cocks.

To her surprise, the beauty expert immediately wiped off her make-up with cleansing-cream and started in all over again: "If you had said my skin was beautiful, I should have known that my make-up was perfect."

Somebody might say, "Why wear any make-up if naturalness is what you're after?" That's a good question. But, unfortunately, most women are not blessed with perfect skin and coloring. Look at the pictures above. Miss Dorothy Cordray, who is fast on her way to fame as a singing star, looked fresh and natural but quite without glamour when Wally Westmore was assigned the job of "doing her over." The result is still fresh and natural, but by the use of some subtle make-up tricks she is now glamorous—Rudy Vallee is much interested in her career chances.

Be sure that you have a good light when you make up, preferably daylight (there are daylight lamps available). Joan Fontaine says to learn to put on your powder base, powder, rouge, mascara, lipstick so that no flaws, smears, or edges show when you look at yourself in bright sunlight—the cruelest test of all.

The kind of base you use will be determined by the skin you have. If it's a dry skin, the kind that peels easily after exposure, you should use a cream foundation, of which there are several excellent brands. Tayton's has a particularly good new one called Technatint powder base, in a light shade Natural-Brunette and a darker shade, Brunette-Egyptian.

For most perfect results, the Tayton make-up director suggests the following use: First apply a very thin film of the lighter shade, spreading it evenly over face and neck. Now you are ready for "highlighting" with the darker shade—this really takes study to determine just what features you wish to emphasize and which you want to minimize. Spread the darker base over your nose, and if it is too wide, put a line of the darker base down each side. Follow your smile line down to the corner of your mouth, then cut back in the shape of a triangle to the corner of your eyes and blend well into the hair line. Be sure you blend the bases softly together so no telltale line is left.

If your skin is oily perhaps one of the liquid powders will be best for you. This is usually a lotion in which powder is suspended and which has an astringent action on large-pored skins. After shaking up the lotion, you apply it with a bit of cotton. When it dries, the skin has a thin film over it, which you can leave alone, or add powder if you wish.

If you have a normal skin, you can use just a light-textured smoothing lotion of which there are many excellent varieties. It soothes the skin and protects it, as well as providing a fine base for powder.

"My Romance was dying of starvation"

A TRUE STORY OF THE
"ONE NEGLECT"
THAT ALMOST WRECKED A MARRIAGE

1. Before we were married, we were so much in love! But after our wedding Bill changed—his attentions grew less and less. I suffered the miseries of neglect.

2. Then at the club one day I met a famous woman doctor—and overcame my pride enough to tell her my troubles. She shocked me by saying, "I'm afraid it's your own fault—you see, there's one thing husbands don't forgive in their wives—carelessness or ignorance about feminine hygiene."

3. "So many married women come to me with the same story. And my advice to them, and to you, is—use Lysol disinfectant regularly for intimate personal care. Lysol cleanses and deodorizes—and at the same time it instantly kills millions of germs, without harm to sensitive tissues. Lysol is safe."

4. That's how Lysol became my standard practice for feminine hygiene. It's so gentle to use—and so economical. And you never have to worry about its effectiveness. It works! As for my romance—we're more in love than ever.

Check this with your Doctor

Lysol is NON-CAUSTIC—gentle and efficient in proper dilution. Contains no free alkali. It is not carbolic acid. EFFECTIVE—a powerful germicide, active in presence of organic matter (such as mucus, serum, etc.). SPREADING—Lysol solutions spread and virtually search out germs in deep crevices. ECONOMICAL—small bottle makes almost 4 gallons of solution for feminine hygiene. CLEANLY ODOR—disappears after use. LASTING—Lysol disinfectant keeps full strength indefinitely, no matter how often it is uncorked.

WHAT'S COOKING!

GEORGIA
SCOTT

KATE SMITH, who plugs cake flour on the air and is a splendid cook herself, still uses the old-time broom-straw method of testing, in spite of the oven thermometer, other up-to-date cooking conveniences

EVEN movie stars, like Ensign Wayne Morris, who are in Uncle Sam's service, appreciate a good old home-made cake. This is one small way the ladies can contribute to war morale right in the kitchen

CHOCOLATE SOLDIER

KNOW lots of you girls are hunting around these days for something extra special to make for your young man in camp. The way to a man's heart is through his stomach, always was and always will be. Did you ever think about surprising him with a good, old-fashioned American-style chocolate cake the next time he's home on leave? I know you can buy one in the neighborhood bakery and they're mighty good, too, but they don't count one, two, three to a cake you make yourself.

Chocolate cake—what memories that brings up of a nice, bright, cheerful kitchen and the regular Saturday afternoon program of Mother making a big three-layer cake and a couple of dozen chocolate-frosted cup-cakes. The cup-cakes were for "right-away eating," but the big cake was for Sunday dinner, of course. It was quite a job in those days, four or more hours' work, at least. But nowadays they can be whipped up in short order with all the new gadgets and streamlined cooking materials we have to work with.

Mother was very fussy about her cakes. You weren't allowed to walk across the kitchen floor except on tip-toe, for instance, when the cake was in the oven, for fear you'd make it "fall." Perched on a high stool in the corner, waiting to taste the batter, lick the icing-pan and get a cup-cake from the first batch hot out of the oven, I used to watch the proceedings. And what proceedings they were, too! She started off with over a pound of butter, creaming it with sugar and then adding milk and at least one-half dozen eggs, stirring until the mixture was smooth. Then the flour had to be sifted several times through that old-fashioned sieve with the grinding-handle on the side, to make sure all lumpy particles were out. Next the baking powder was carefully measured—and then the real job of beating up the batter began. There is no truer fact than that you can't beat a cake batter too much—and believe me, plenty of "elbow grease" went into Mother's cakes. Beating was the most important part, to her way of thinking, and beat it she did.

The next step was the icing. The good old (and even to this day) dependable hard block of Baker's Chocolate went into a pan to melt on top of the stove. About that time my eyes were on the broom-straw that she was sticking into the cakes in the oven to tell whether they were done. I'd scramble down off my perch and hurry across the room to follow her into the dining-room, where she turned out the hot cakes on the "silent" cloth on the dining-room table. But my hurrying across the room was always on tip-toe because there were still cakes in the oven that running might have caused to "fall" and "get sad."

All of this is fun to remember, but it certainly isn't the way of cake-making today. The prices and work involved have been cut down considerably by our up-to-date food products. That first pound of butter, for instance. If that amount of butter breaks your heart there are plenty of butter substitutes. Either Crisco or Spry will cream with sugar easily. Then flour and that business of sifting it and measuring baking powder into it—flour today certainly needs very little sifting, if any at all. And there are prepared flours, Softasilk, for example, all measured and ready for pouring right into your cake batter. And baking powder has been improved, too, so much so that you can practically parade an army across your kitchen floor and still your cake will continue to "rise" light as a feather. There is no getting away from the fact that you have to really go to work on the batter, however. It has to be beaten until air bubbles burst on the top of the mixture with every wallop you give it. But there again fancy gadgets come to our rescue. If you happen to be lucky enough to have one of those new electric beaters like General Electric puts out, you can save yourself many an aching right arm and have light fluffy cakes besides.

There is an easy cake recipe right on the side of the box of Swans Down Cake Flour. It's a cinch to make and in your up-to-date cake you will have all the goodness of the old-fashioned kind. Make it for your soldier boy and we'll bet he won't forget you.

Cook-of-the-Month Club!

Don't forget to send in your favorite recipe using rice as a basic ingredient to "What's Cooking!" Editor, 551 Fifth Avenue, New York, New York. W. F. CLAUSINO, Pres.
Rebuilding typewriters
for over 30 years.

Truly the most outstanding offer I have given my customers in years! Only because of an exceptional purchase direct from the Underwood representatives can I sell these late fully reconditioned machines at the sensationally low price of only $39.85 cash or on easy terms of only 70c a week. Under my personal supervision every machine has been carefully gone over and refinished so that its luster and bright shiny nickel give it the appearance of a brand new machine costing three times as much. The manufacturer's original selling price on this typewriter was $125.00. Your machine is delivered to you in the Underwood packing box with the Underwood book of instructions on the care and operation of the typewriter.

A NOISELESS MACHINE!

The latest achievement in typewriters! A machine that provides writing perfection with SILENCE. A typewriter for those who appreciate the advantages of a quiet home or office, because this Underwood's Noiseless mechanism eliminates the nerve shattering clatter common to many models. An unquestionable aid to better work because it allows clear thinking, reduces fatigue, and improves accuracy. The Underwood Noiseless disturbs no one, for it is almost impossible to hear it operate a few feet away. You get all the famous features of an Underwood PLUS Noiseless typing.

SPECIAL!

14" MODELS—NO EXTRA CHARGE

Very special price while 67 last! The 14 inch carriage genuine reconditioned Underwood has all No. 5 equipment plus the 14 inch carriage but is not of noiseless construction. This is the machine you need for reports, large office forms, billing, etc., for it takes paper 14 inches wide and has a 12 inch writing line. Yours of No Extra Cost while our present supply lasts! A real buy so order today!

Would YOU Like to ...

Throw Away Your Glasses!

Thousands have done so!—and only an actual organic eye disease should prevent you from knowing the same relief. Here is how you may free yourself from the handicap of eyeglasses—or from the fear that you may soon have to mar your appearance with a pair of them!

HOW long have you worn glasses? How long have headaches, blurred type, nervousness, eyestrain or inflamed eyes made you believe you might soon have to wear them? Is your vision affected by farsightedness, nearsightedness, astigmatism, cataract, or a tendency in either eye to cross when you are tired?

Perhaps you believe that as you grow older your eyes grow weaker, and hence need "crutches." Perhaps you believe that "rest glasses" help tired eyes—or that glasses help growing children to gain better vision.

The Real Cause of Most Eye Trouble

Don't let yourself become resigned to such ideas! For many years the prescription of glasses for each and every case of eyestrain and impaired vision had been based on the Helmholtz theory—the belief that the focus of the eyes, in the lens, was at the root of the trouble.

But actually the focal lens of the eye seldom changes! The trouble is in the muscles of the eye itself—muscles which can be strengthened and brought back into proper and efficient balance.

The eye is part of the body. It suffers from abuse. It responds to exercise. Of the many eyes which today are genuinely tired, sick, slack in control—the great majority can be adjusted back to normality with simple treatment, at home.

How Weak Eyes Can Be Restored

This treatment—really a group of very easy and soothing exercises—is fully described in the book Sight Without Glasses, by Dr. Harold M. Peppard. In its pages are the findings, the methods, and the results that have already led to perfect sight—without glasses—for hundreds of others. We believe the method it contains is so sound, so far past the realm of experiment, that it will enable YOU to SEE as you have not seen for years.

Getting glasses when your eyes are overworked is like getting a crutch for a badly strained leg muscle. Continuing to wear glasses is like continuing to use the crutch when the strained muscle is all ready to be used normally again! If you are worried about the discomfort and expense of glasses—or if you are reluctant to inflict them on your children—then let this remarkable and widely acclaimed book give you the help you so earnestly are looking for.

5 DAYS' FREE AND CRITICAL EXAMINATION

This is the unqualified offer we make to you. Send the coupon below, without money. Sight Without Glasses will be sent to you at once for an entirely FREE examination. If within five days it does not prove at once its value to you—by all means return it to us, you will be under no obligation whatever. But if you do decide to keep it—then send us only $1.98, plus the few cents actual postal charges as payment in full. You will receive, FREE of any extra cost, the 7-Piece Kit of Eye-Strengthening Charts which have been specially prepared for readers of this book, and which are described in the panel above.

Think how much more comfortable you would be if you could leave your glasses off for good! How much more convenient it would be if you had no glasses to hunt for, to drop, to replace or renew! And how many years younger you would look. Here is the book that has been written specifically to bring you these blessings. We invite you to try its help now. Address the coupon to: NELSON DOUBLEDAY, Inc., Dept. R.G.2B, Garden City, N. Y.

FREE to you as a GIFT with this Book ...

for Nearsightedness, Farsightedness, Eyestrain.

SIT-DOWN READING CHARTS

Dr. Peppard, the author of Sight Without Glasses, has condensed the principles of his method into a series of simple, easily followed eye muscle routines.

To help you follow these routines correctly you will receive FREE with this book two copies of the chart shown above. It has been scientifically designed to give you the greatest improvement in your vision in the shortest possible time.

MICROSCOPIC PAGES

Four copies of this miniature page of reading are included in your Free Kit, to give you an ample supply against wear and soiling. These pages constitute an important step toward Sight Without Glasses.

FREE, if you mail the coupon below now, is the large chart shown above. It is eye-letted for hanging on your wall—provides correct routines for resting and strengthening your eyes.

What This Method Is Doing:

Miss B. Age 26. Had severe headaches for 7 years when reading, etc. Glasses prescribed; some relief.—Used this method...dispensed with glasses. Change in diet ended headaches. Results satisfactory after 1 month.

Artist. Age 36. Suffered strained feeling in and above eyes. Vision would blur after 2 hours' work. Glasses helped, but gave no complete relief.—Eyes became better after first treatment through this method... normal after five treatments.

Master B. Age 10. Had severe, frequent headaches from school work. Wore glasses 2 years.—Farsightedness completely relieved after five treatments. 4 years later he still is free of symptoms.

Mr. T. B. Age 20. Glasses worn since age of 6. Lens strength continuously increased, but eyes quickly tired.—Within 1 month after starting this method, was able to read regular print without glasses. Now can leave them off entirely.

A. Age 14. Cross-eyed from birth, worse when sick or very tired. Glasses worn since age 2, steadily increasing in strength. After a mastoid operation eyes became worse.—After 3 months of this method, however, eyes were straightened, vision became normal, glasses were discarded. No recurrence of eye-troubles for past 8 years.

Mrs. M. Age 74. For 5 years was unable to sew, knit, read, without intense discomfort.—After 10 days with this method, glasses 40% weaker proved sufficient. 3 weeks later, glasses reduced one-third more. Now uses glasses only for very close work.

5-DAY EXAMINATION OFFER FORM

NELSON DOUBLEDAY, Inc.

UNUSUAL was the word for the official opening of the new Army canteen at Fort MacArthur, California. Even though there were no ermine wraps, white ties and tails, and war measures forbade floodlights, the canteen's debut had all the earmarks of a real Hollywood premiere.

Jack Benny first decided to do a stretch at "KP," began washing dishes. But clamor for his autograph and his desire to please soon brought an end to that chore. The corps of volunteer dishwashers swelled to a veritable regiment when Claudette Colbert, in a snappy "VACS" (Volunteer Army

Opening of Ft. MacArthur Canteen Presents Gala Filmland Flavor

Canteen Service) uniform, took on the job of trying to polish cups between autographs.

Gary Cooper dashed from his appointment as defense-bond-and-stamp salesman at Defense House in Pershing Square, Los Angeles, to the opening of the canteen. By the time he arrived at the fort, the crowd was so thick he had a tough time elbowing his way through to join Claudette at the dish-tubs, stopping every few minutes to grant requests for autographs.

Present to help make the occasion a success were Anita Louise, Charles Boyer and Mary Pickford.

Head "VACS" for this occasion was Mary Livingstone (Mrs. Jack Benny), who saw that things moved smoothly. Her chief assistant was Mary Pickford, also right in the thick of things, making gallons of cocoa, serving doughnuts to hundreds of hungry doughboys.

As a finale to a large evening, both for doughboys and stars, all present joined in singing "God Bless America." And the way the stars sang that song showed that back of all the fun and hilarity, from doughnut-dunking to autograph-getting, there was an unshakable purpose: To back up the boys in America's service, strengthen their morale, and add something to the fighting spirit of all America!

What does March come in like? ...Okay, students, go to the head of the class.

Leo, you know, has enlisted for the duration. He's in the Army, the Navy, Civilian Defense and ready to serve wherever wanted by his Uncle.

Have you seen "Joe Smith, American"? Recommended, incidentally, by our generous First Lady.

★ ★ ★ ★

We don't speak much about shorts in this column, but it's hard to keep quiet about "Main Street On The March", made with government cooperation.

★ ★ ★ ★

The exhibitors of America, as well, are all out for our war effort. Their screens will inform, uplift and divert. Three essentials in a crisis.

★ ★ ★ ★

Among the diversions that Dr. Leo has brewed in his own laboratory is the newest rattle of that famous Hardy family skeleton.

★ ★ ★ ★

Despite the natural presence of that exciting, energetic, connubial dynamo—Mickey Rooney—nothing personal is intended by the title—

★ ★ ★ ★

"The Courtship of Andy Hardy".

It's undoubtedly impossible to refer to a beautiful young lady as a dark horse—

★ ★ ★ ★

But watch Donna Reed in this hardest of the Hardys.

★ ★ ★ ★

Space doesn't permit much about "Mrs. Miniver", (Greer Garson, Walter Pidgeon); "I Married An Angel", (Jeanette MacDonald, Nelson Eddy); "Ship Ahoy". (Eleanor Powell, Red Skelton, Bert Lahr, Tommy Dorsey's orchestra); and "Rio Rita", (Abbott and Costello).

There's so much to say about the merits of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures. We really ought to have two columns. Still—

JOE E. BROWN, at home in his den above (note the autographed pictures of famous figures in national life on walls), is Movie-Radio Guide's nominee as OCD entertainment coordinator. Right: Melvyn Douglas, OCD appointee

Editorially Speaking . . .

TOO much already has been said and written concerning the appointment of actor Melvyn Douglas as chief of the arts council for the Office of Civilian Defense (OCD). But since this tempest concerns the entertainment world, which eminently is Movie-Radio Guide's province, this publication feels constrained to add its two cents to the billion dollars' worth of debate Douglas' appointment evoked.

Facts are that Melvyn Douglas wasn't evading the draft in accepting the appointment. He certainly didn't in 1917, when he ran away from home, and though under age managed to enlist in the Army. As for the $8,000 per year which some alleged Douglas was to be paid—a salary of $8,000 per year would be a financial sacrifice to an actor of Douglas' earning-capacity. As to working for nothing, or on a minimum expense account, whatever the facts in the case may be, Douglas probably can afford to do so if he desires—and it should be every man's privilege to serve his country, with or without pay, in time of war. Neither should Douglas' political leanings be brought up here. Even if he were a trifle pink in the past (and this is a really debatable point) perhaps the answer can be found in his inclination for making speeches. Others who like to make speeches are helping win the war. Why not Douglas?

However, having whitewashed Douglas, we wonder just how much thought was put on the matter of his appointment. Take, for instance, the qualifications of a man such as Joe E. Brown. Here is an entertainer who has worked in medicine, tent, vaudeville and stage shows as well as pictures. He has been a regular entertainer on the radio, even has fine baseball and other sports connections. His acquaintanceship, not only among people of the stage, screen, radio and sports fields, is vast; he numbers dozens of influential politicians among his friends. There never has been any question about his one-hundred-percent Americanism, either. Joe E. Brown, for this publication's money, is the type of man the OCD should have approached for the entertainment coordinator job.

MEN who want to serve their country should be allowed to, even if they are actors. And the men who can serve best in various capacities should be selected with the same intelligent and judicious reasoning the selective boards use in drafting manpower from any other industry. Only in this way can the vast ability of the entertainment world be utilized to its fullest extent.

—The Editors.

This Is Fun: Two dozen soldiers of the 203rd Coast Artillery, Searchlight Platoon, were given daytime leave one day recently to be the guests of comedian Al Pearce at his Hollywood hilltop home. The Thursday NBC comedian heated his swimming-pool to offset the cool afternoon breezes. Most of the soldiers were from the East and Midwest, and they got a big kick out of swimming in midwinter under a bright sun. Pearce swam with them, and during moments of relaxation regaled the boys (above, left) with stories of his entertainment experiences. Al himself did kitchen police (center picture) in preparing the barbecued-chicken dinner that is being emphatically announced by the aproned soldier in the picture at right. The day was topped off with home movies by the Pearces. Al has been furnishing soldiers with coffee and sandwiches each night in addition to throwing this home party. He's planning other such outings and is making arrangements for service men to see his radio show

This Is Work: Picture-making is business, with plenty of hard work and nerve-strain and even physical hazards. Of course, it isn't all work and no play, but the business comes before the pleasure. For instance, it may look as if Veronica Lake is just relaxing a bit in her robe and bathing-suit while the make-up man touches up her eyes. But actually the make-up processes for movie cameras are strenuous and not exactly enjoyable, not just a matter of dabbing on powder and rouge and combing the hair down over one eye. It's work, even for the glamour girls! It will be even harder to convince you that the center picture, Veronica and Joel McCrea, represents work. But even the love-scenes have to be done over and over, you know. And the reason Joel McCrea looks so comfortable at the right is that it's one of the brief rest periods between scenes when the stars have to relax. These pictures were taken during the filming of "Sullivan's Travels," in which Veronica and Joel are co-starred

This Fills the Page: Out of Hollywood come many photographs of glamorous faces and figures, of colorful activities, of interesting backstage business. Out of the film capital also come occasional pictures that are purely gag stunts, because stars and photographers know the public gets a kick out of seeing celebrities with their hair down. And even though such pictures are often obviously posed for the sake of pictorial novelty, they do indicate how the stars in reality clown around offstage. Samples are above. The first: Rudy Vallee feigns bewilderment as peacemaker between Joan Davis (r.), regular comedienne on his Thursday program, and guest Diana Barrymore, with both girls doing some convincing mugging. The second: Doug Lovett, Harry Burns, Skinnay Ennis and Jim Jordan are hamming it up as impromptu participants in a floor show at Charlie Foy's. The third: Prof. Kay Kyser finds out what vocalists Dorothy Dunn (l.) and Trudy Erwin think of him

JANE FRAZEE RETURNS TO RADIO

IN FILM "WHAT'S COOKIN'?"

IN REAL LIFE Jane and her cocker spaniel Bossie do stunts in the backyard of home, as shown above. A typical American girl, Jane loves fun, is full of pep, and likes to wear shorts for informal hours away from her work. Of Norwegian and French descent, Jane's real name is Mary Jane Frehse

Film Shows How Radio Stars Are Supposed to Live; Movie-Radio Guide Tells You How They Really Do!

FORMERLY a radio songstress, Jane Frazee was a natural to represent merging of two great entertainment mediums—movies and radio—in role of airline singing star for Universal's "What's Cookin'?" Additional radio flavor is added to the piece by Robert Paige, who plays opposite Jane. Paige started out as a radio advertising salesman and portrays the same type of character in the movie.

Known as the opportunity girl, because she always took advantage of all chances offered to advance her career as an entertainer, Jane started out in radio with her sister Ruth as a duo. Pair were featured as

"Frazee Sisters" with Larry Clinton's band.

It wasn't until sister Ruth married Norman Krasna, well-known Hollywood scenarist, that Jane accepted a movie offer. Her role as the romantic lead, who sang popular ballads, in Abbott and Costello's "Buck Privates" won her a contract and boosted her stock via the fan-mail route, which has a way of leading to the nation's box-offices.

As an amateur, Jane performed in over four hundred functions. A theatrical agent who attended the last one—a Kiwanis banquet—started her on a professional career, which brought her to Hollywood. "What's Cookin'?" brings her success!

JANE bobbed her name, changed spelling when she and her sister Ruth began to appear in night spots and radio as a featured duo. An outdoor girl, Jane likes to ride a bike, owns a regulation racer

DULUTH, MINNESOTA-BORN, Jane started a singing career at eight in local theater, was paid $7.50 for first appearance. Above: She and Bossie attempt an unofficial census of the Frazee fish-pond

THE GARDEN of Jane's own home is an old-fashioned one, with flowers she has planted and tended herself. One of her pet chores (above) is arranging posies for decoration

REALLY a singer who has been allowed to sing in most of her recent movies, pretty Jane keeps in practice by spending an hour each day vocalizing and singing just for fun!

NOT a Movietown wearer of slacks, Jane loves colorful at-home frocks. She never has diet worries, likes big helpings of salad, any food in fact, and she is always in fighting trim

AS FILM-RADIO STAR Anne Payne in movie "What's Cookin'?", script called for a palatial home, formal gardens, with Jane smartly frocked, and hair in latest mode

FOR MOVIE ROLE, Jane dons a smart slack suit, and is surrounded by a riot of imitation flowers. In real life, Jane has a garden, too, but seldom wears slacks, except for an occasional day of sailing

ANNE PAYNE (Jane) relaxes in "cool" nook on her ten-acre estate (above). Actually, the scene isn't as cool as it looks, with the hot kleig lights turned on to accentuate glamour. Right: Anne poses before a gorgeous, specially made grand piano which she purchased (in this entertaining Universal film) from an eccentric ex-freckle-cream king. All furniture in "movie" home matches it

AS RADIO STAR in "What's Cookin'?", Jane has a complete orchestra play accompaniments (Woody Herman and his boys above) when she goes into rehearsal for songs in new airshow. In real life it's much simpler—Jane plays her own!

MAESTRO WOODY HERMAN and Anne before mike. Contrast Jane in "What's Cookin'?" role with any of her pictures on the opposite page, and you will have a pretty clear idea of wide gap that exists between reel and real radio stars

Hollywood Victory Committee Pledges Two-Fold Expansion; Charles Boyer and Gilbert Roland Become American Citizens; Laraine Day Makes Soldier Happy

By EVANS PLUMMER

NOT content with hanging up a record of more than a hundred stars making personal appearances or broadcasts for patriotic purposes in the past twenty-eight days, the Hollywood Victory Committee of the industry last fortnight pledged a two-fold expansion of its program. Actor members of the committee present included James Cagney, Jack Benny, Charles Boyer, Claudette Colbert, Ronald Colman, Gary Cooper, Cary Grant, Spencer Tracy and John Garfield, and Lieutenant Commander Walter Winchell made a flying trip from New York to be on hand. The Victory Committee voted to cooperate with the Naval Relief Fund show Winchell was planning for March 10 at Madison Square Garden, New York City . . .

Interesting to note is the change in story plans affected by the war. Before December 7, there were less than a score of war-tinted films in production or planned, now there are sixty-four on Hollywood's feature schedule and all emphasizing America's war. In less than three months, the industry has begun the punctuation of the exploits of Wake Island's defenders, General MacArthur and his troops, the Macassar Straits victory, and Capt. Colin Kelly. "Buzz" Wagner, Lieut. Buckley and the American fliers defending the oft-attacked Burma Road . . .

Doughboy dates, too, are THE thing with the screen pretties. Young Janet Blair, ex-Hal Kemp band chorister who is carving her way to Hollywood stardom at Columbia Pictures, made good her promise to date the first soldier to collect the "love insurance" sold by an enterprising soldier at Camp Callan. The policy-casher was Corp. Wallace Butcher, age twenty-four, who "lost his girl" and therefore was awarded $15 in cash and a tour of the Hollywood night-spots with Miss Blair. At the end of their prowl, she kissed him, too! . . . Another starlet to do her bit is Laraine Day, who answered last week a phone call from a soldier in Massachusetts. "I'm calling," he said, "from a pay station and I have exactly ninety nickels to last me until you say you'll go out with me when I arrive in Hollywood. I've also salted away enough for two hamburgers, five gallons of gas and a gardenia." Miss Day told him to save another nickel to phone her when he arrives, and that he then may have his requested date . . .

The "R. A. F. type" was being sought last week by director Arthur Lubin for his Wanger-Universal picture, "Eagle Squadron," until he talked his problem over with Eagle Squadron member John M. Hill, named to be the picture's technical director. Pilot Officer Hill pointed out that there is no one type that represents a fighter pilot. They are big, little, handsome, homely, dark and fair. They're all in their twenties, of course, but that's the only common factor. Hill himself, on furlough while convalescing from injuries received in a combat crack-up, is twenty-three, from Kansas City, Mo., weighs 120 pounds, and is five feet four inches tall. The "Eagle Squadron" cast will include Jon Hall, Diana Barrymore, Bob Stack, Evelyn Ankers, John Loder, Alan Hale, Jr., and Tod Karns . . .

Next week is DeMille Week in Hollywood, and particularly on Hollywood Boulevard from the Hawaii Theater at one end to the new Paramount Hollywood Theater at the other. The week marks the opening, with a formal premiere of Cecil B. DeMille's "Reap the Wild Wind," at the latter theater and the observation of the thirtieth anniversaries of "C. B." as a director and Paramount as a studio. Many of the historic spots associated with the screen industry will be marked or decorated during the week . . .

Charles Boyer, forty-two, and Gilbert Roland, thirty-six, became American citizens on Friday, February 13 in defiance of the hoodoo which in this case they both felt meant good luck for them. Boyer was born in France; Roland, whose real name is Luis Antonio de Alonso, is the son of a Spanish bull-fighter and was born at Juarez, Mexico, and came to the United States when he was eight years old . . .

If you've been missing Brad King from the Hopalong Cassidy pictures, you may like to learn his whereabouts throughout the 1941 series, is in the Remount Service of the United States Army and has been placed in charge of buying and breeding horses for the cavalry at Fort Robinson, Nebr. The cowboy's most recent film is "Twilight on the Trail" . . .

The book-stalls offer another best-seller by Pearl Buck, this time entitled "Dragon Seed," and Hollywood—as represented by David O. Selznick and Paramount Pictures—already is bidding. Over a third of a million copies of the new Buck tome have been sold and it is still going strong. With China so important in today's war news, the book has that "can't put it down" appeal and should be the basis of an excellent film . . .

Five illnesses or hospitalizations marked the Hollywood week. The new Mrs. Mickey (Ava) Rooney successfully underwent an emergency appendectomy. Peggy Drake has returned to work in "The Tuttles of Tahiti" after a serious attack of pneumonia. Priscilla Lane was conked on the head and knocked cold when a microphone boom fell on the set of Alfred Hitchcock's "Saboteur." Humphrey Bogart cracked several ribs when he tipped over in a rocking-chair while making "Escape from Crime," and weather changes brought back severe aches to the scars on the legs of Leon Errol which were from wounds inflicted on Errol as a small boy by an octopus off the beach near Sydney, Australia . . .

What-goes-on-the-lots department: Sam Wood, director picked by MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE to receive an "Elmer," has been pacted by Warners and assigned first to make "The Corn Is Green" . . . Jeanette MacDonald wants to do a comedy with singing secondary and so will make for M-G-M "Shadow of a Lady" . . . William (Bill) Holden is Army-bound as soon as he finishes "Meet the Stewarts" for Columbia Pictures . . . Jean Muir, who's made but one picture since 1937, has left Broadway to act in the screening of "The Constant Nymph," with Charles Boyer, Joan Fontaine, Peter Lorre and Alexis Smith . . .

Hall of records: Weddings, actual or contemplated, outran divorces three to one last week. Model and starlet Elyse Knox and commercial photographer Paul Hesse spoke their vows February 21 at Coronado; Elyse was long a photographic model for Hesse. Ensign Wayne Morris, U. S. N., took out a license February 19 to wed Patricia Ann O'Rourke (Pat Stewart), and deadpan songstress Virginia O'Brien gave out with the news that she expects to wed Kirk Alyn by next summer. The one divorce was granted to Anne Shirley from John Payne; charges, rudeness. Custody of their twenty-month-old baby, Julia Anne, was awarded to the mother.

Only item from the maternity ward was the name picked by actress Anna Lee for her infant daughter. It will be (are you listening, Mr. Ripley?) Caroline Lydia Boniface Clementina Stevenson. She'll never be an actress with that handle . . .

Rom-Antics of the week: It was learned that Jane Withers and the personable young A. C. Lyles, Jr., unit publicity man at Paramount, have been having dates. Anne Shirley and Roger Pryor were comparing torches and Carol Bruce was helping the recently divorced (by Nancy Kelly) Edmond O'Brien to extinguish his. Cupid hit the young hearts of Nancy Coleman and Dick Travis, Russell Arms with June Millard, and Craig Stevens and Alexis Smith, while spring continued to be the season for Laraine Day and Ray Hendricks.

A TENSE MOMENT in Carole Lombard's last picture, "To Be or Not to Be," in which she co-starred with Jack Benny (above)

MOVIE REVIEWS

"To Be or Not to Be"

Cast: Carole Lombard, Jack Benny, Robert Stack, Felix Bressart, Lionel Atwill, Stanley Ridges, Sig Ruman, et al. An Alexander Korda production, directed by Ernst Lubitsch. Original story by Lubitsch and Melchior Lengyel and screen play by Edwin Justus Mayer.

Type of Picture: This melodramatic comedy, with touches of pathos, is the one Carole Lombard completed with Jack Benny just prior to her tragic death in a plane crash.

This Is the Story: Maria Tura (Miss Lombard) and her husband, Joseph (Benny), are a sort of Lunt-Fontanne actor-actress team of Warsaw, Poland, just before its Nazi invasion and rape. They have one powerful anti-Nazi play in their repertoire, and Maria has one ardent first-row admirer, the young Polish flier Sobinski (Stack). He attends nightly the Tura rendition of "Hamlet" and goes backstage to court Mrs. Tura every time Hamlet, played by Joe (Benny), starts his soliloquy—a peculiarity noticed by Joe, who is desperate from thinking the flier is walking out on his act! Poland is invaded; the flier flies to England and the R. A. F., and the Turas merely exist, their theater closed. A Nazi spy, Professor Siletsky, gets the confidence of members of the Polish R. A. F. squadron, returns to Poland to give the Gestapo evidence against the fliers' relatives remaining in Poland. Sobinski gets wise, follows and tries to apprehend him. Mrs. Tura—and Joe, too—finally help to accomplish his apprehension and their own escape.

Verdict: A very funny melodrama, and a fitting memorial to the great actress Lombard. Take the family.

"The Courtship of Andy Hardy"

Cast: Mickey Rooney, Lewis Stone, Cecelia Parker, Fay Holden, Ann Rutherford, Sara Hayden, Donna Reed, et al. An M-G-M production, directed by George B. Seitz.

Type of Picture: Another typical Andy Hardy.

This Is the Story: Judge Hardy seeks to reconcile Donna Reed's parents because their separation has warped the life of and made Donna a recluse, definitely anti-social. He enlists the aid of Andy to date and make her happier, get her in with the young Hardy gang. All is well at the end.

Verdict: One of the best of the Hardy series. For the family, of course.

WASHINGTON

By MAJOR CURTIS MITCHELL

Listeners who keep an ear tuned closely to Washington broadcasters have noted a significant change. The post-Pearl Harbor ebullience is gone. The shallow optimism of those who thought this war would be a lark has vanished. In its place is a realization that Winston Churchill's now famous reference to "blood, sweat and tears" was harsh but true.

Critics have said that the Treasury Department's drive to sell bonds has succeeded too well. People grew to think that America could buy its way to victory. Such an attitude could not persist without danger to our nation.

So you heard Secretary Stimson warn that our coasts might be attacked. You heard General Ben Lear, hard-boiled master of the U. S. 2nd Army, state that this battle will be no picnic. You heard President Roosevelt himself speak sternly of sacrifice.

This change from optimism to bitter candor came about because a high official decided that the American people should not be fooled. "Give them the truth. They can take it," he said. So don't expect your news commentators to turn cartwheels of joy in your loudspeakers unless there is a real reason. From the fall of Manila to Singapore, there has been precious little of that . . .

American soldiers can still enjoy radio programs from home, no matter whether they are stationed in Australia or Iceland. The Army's Radio Branch is seeing to that. Just recently, a complete playback machine was sent by the Special Services Bureau of the War Department to each overseas base. Now all the bigger broadcasts are being recorded and prepared for shipment by transport. By the time you read this, platters with recent Fibber McGee and Molly, Bob Hope and Aldrich Family broadcasts will be spinning out their merriment to Yanks stationed all over the world.

Equally important is the twin series of short-wave broadcasts which will be premiered on or about March 8. These are special programs now being recorded by such stars as Fred

Louis G. Cowan, who is doing Government work in Washington. Recently Congress kicked up a ruckus about paying Walt Disney for making a Donald Duck cartoon, which is supposed to persuade people to pay their income taxes willingly. Being curious about the movie that Congress refused to approve, Cowan went to see it. Its message was simple: Now as never before money is needed by our Government. Income taxes paid in full and willingly are a service and a privilege, not a duty. Cowan agreed share to tell the public about the Army and what it stands for. His stories of little-known adventures in various military units are expected to inform many a youngster of the glorious records of the regiments which have given this nation its freedom.

NEW YORK

By MARTIN LEWIS

More and more, war's influence is being felt by radio—programs, sponsors and listeners alike. In previous columns we've spoken of shortages and priorities which have caused sponsors to cancel programs. Now listeners have been affected directly, as the Government last week ordered all production of radio sets for private use stopped entirely. New war programs—defense programs, morale builders—are cropping up, outstanding among them the Government-ordered "This Is War." Written and produced by Norman Corwin and broadcast from New York over all four networks and many independent stations—about six hundred in all—"This Is War" was the first of a series of thirteen programs, and caused more diversified comment than any one program ever has. This, we believe, is absolutely as it should be, for the right to our own opinion is one of the many things Americans are fighting for . . .

ABSENT from his post and unaccounted for is Bert Silen, NBC correspondent, who contributed a great job of describing one of first Japanese air raids on Manila

OTHER NBC reporters missing in the Pacific war theater are Dick Tenny (above), who was stationed in Tokyo, and Edward Hart MacKay, Shanghai correspondent

Allen and Eddie Cantor and their companies. One program will be known as "The Top Kick's Mail Bag" and will consist chiefly of letters to and from and about soldiers. The other, called "Command Performance," will be modeled on an all-state plan, famous entertainers from a state offering a music-and-drama salute to the soldiers of that state.

Fourteen short-wave stations will shoot these programs to Army listening-posts around the world. We stay-at-homes can hear them only if we dial in a short-wave station . . .

Norman Corwin, CBS' bright and shining production genius, has been haunting the Washington scene for the past few weeks. Since being assigned to direct "This Is War," the nation's all-station Saturday evening attention-getter, he has been smelling out dramas in dozens of Government branches. His writing-desk, by the way, has been the mahogany table in the library of the National Association of Broadcasters . . .

"Quiz Kids" creator is publicist and decided to put his shoulder to the wheel, too. That is why you have heard the last few "Quiz Kids" programs urging people to pay their taxes early, gladly and with a will to win . . .

Washington's radio men are continually delighted at the help they are receiving from stars and producers. "Tell us what to do," is the plea that comes in every mail. Over at NBC we were informed that war has taken its toll of foreign correspondents. At this writing, three of their crack war reporters have been listed among the missing since the Jap attack in the Pacific. Bert Silen, who made radio history by broadcasting an eye-witness description of an air attack on Manila and who stuck to his post till the very end, is one of the missing, and NBC is making inquiries through the State and War Departments to determine his whereabouts. Two others, Dick Tenny of Tokyo and Edward Hart MacKay of Shanghai, are presumably interned with other Americans in those cities, though no word has been received from them either. Better news comes from Martin Agronsky, who left Singapore one jump ahead of the Axis for Batavia and Australia; and better still from Alex Dreier, now in New York, who escaped from Berlin just a few hours before Germany went to war with the U. Bing Crosby—teams with Hope, Lamarr dian, with his writers, had gone to San Francisco several days in advance so they could work the camp atmosphere into the comedy script. They arrived in time for a brief blackout the first night. Jack had his roadster (not the Maxwell) tuned up for the trip, but Mary persuaded him it would contribute to rubber conservation to take the train. He did . . .

Crosby can keep a secret. Or maybe he just didn't notice that he had finished ten years of broadcasting. At any rate, Bing has become such a fixture that nobody else noticed it. So the anniversary—a pretty big one, you know, as broadcasting goes—slipped by without even a telegram of Tay Garnett has found the boy and girl he was seeking to play a pair of newlyweds in his new NBC dramatic show, "Three Sheets to the Wind." Garnett wanted two comparative unknowns to play the supporting roles to Helga Moray and John Wayne. He wants to build them into box-office names through the radio series and then feature them in the same roles in the motion picture Tay Garnett Productions will make later of the story. Winners of these opportunity-laden roles are Sharon Douglas, of "The Second Mrs. Burton," and Lee Bonnell, who made his radio debut through "Gateway to Hollywood" several years ago . . .

Kay Kyser, always working hard to please most of the people most of the time, is doing a series of appearances at a dozen service camps that will extend well into May. Between broadcasts Kay plans to sandwich in as many trips to camps for free entertainment as he can. There is a possibility that Kyser will take his band and his "College of Musical Knowledge" to New York late in March for a few weeks. In that case, he would do some extra camp shows in the eastern section . . .

Dramatic Incidents Connected With the Writing of Tchaikowsky's B Flat Minor Concerto and Mozart's Sparkling Overture to "Don Giovanni" Add Colorful Interest to Broadcasts

By ROBERT BAGAR

New York World-Telegram Music Expert and Associate Program Annotator for New York Philharmonic Society

IT'S getting so that you can't mention the Tchaikowsky B Flat Minor Piano Concerto these days without having to explain you mean the original and not some swung or boogie-woogied or otherwise trumped-up version. There's one thing about the

FRANCIA WHITE, California prima donna, discovered that war was serious business when she sang in Army camps for USO jazz boys of our time, however, they at least credit the source. In earlier days it was nothing at all for a "song-writer" to take a well-known classical piece, hash it up in some outlandish style and place his name prettily upon the result.

Today we even have such songs as "Everybody's Making Money But Tchaikowsky," which goes to prove that modern popular song-writers aren't backward about kidding themselves or at looking ironically upon the whole set-up.

Anyway, what we are concerned with in this place is the Tchaikowsky concerto in its authentic form, the fact that Reginald Stewart plays it with the Philharmonic-Symphony at its broadcast and something about its background.

The composer began work on this standby of the concert repertory in November of 1874 and he finished it in the following month. On Christmas Eve he gave a private performance of it for the benefit of Nicholas Rubinstein, his friend and patron, and Nicolai Albertovich Hubert, a colleague. He played through the whole piece, expecting some encouraging word from Rubinstein, but none was forthcoming. Finally, in desperation, he asked the great man for his opinion.

That, apparently, was the wrong thing to do, for Rubinstein landed upon it with the full weight of his scorn. He termed it banal, unpianistic, valueless. A good deal of its music, he insisted, had been borrowed from other composers and he even put on a burlesque of it at the piano.

But let Tchaikowsky himself tell you what transpired after that:

"I left the room without a word and went upstairs. I could not have spoken for anger and agitation. Presently Rubinstein came to me and, seeing how upset I was, called me into another room. There he repeated that my concerto was impossible, pointed out many places where it needed to be completely revised, and said if I would suit the concerto to his requirements, he would bring it out at his concert.

"I shall not alter a single note," I replied, "I shall publish the work precisely as it stands." This intention I actually carried out."

IT MUST be pointed out, though, that Tchaikowsky did make many revisions for a second edition of the work, most of them, it is alleged, the suggestions of the pianist Edward Dannreuther, who first played it in England.

The Russian composer had originally thought of dedicating his concerto to Rubinstein. With all that criticism, however, he found it difficult to do so. The man to whom it was eventually dedicated was Hans von Buelow, who took it with him to America and gave it its world premiere at a concert in Boston on October 25, 1875. What Nicholas Rubinstein would have said of the treachery, up-to-the-minute dance arrangements (which utilize only the main melodic theme in the first movement, by the way) no one shall ever know.

(Tchaikowsky's "Concerto for Piano and Orchestra in B Flat Minor, No. 1, Opus 23" will be played by the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, with Reginald Stewart conducting, as a part of its broadcast Sunday over CBS.)

YOUTHFUL COMPOSER Samuel Barber (32 this month), whose "Essay for Orchestra" is scheduled for Indianapolis Symphony broadcast

An Operatic Masterpiece

Mozart's "Don Giovanni"—this week's Metropolitan offering—has been called by some the greatest opera ever written. In setting the story of the fabulous Spanish Don to music, he drew his characters with a sharp clarity, differentiating them like the amazing expert he was. His music can only be called divine, mingling laughter and tragedy, ridicule and sympathy, human warmth and ironic iciness with the utmost felicity.

Mozart and his wife Constanze were the guests of Count Johann Joseph Thun in Prague. There they saw a good deal of the important musicians, Franz and Josepha Dusek. Through these friends the composer obtained a commission to write an opera for that city. "Le Nozze di Figaro" had already made a tremendous impression in the Bohemian capital and it was only logical for the impresario Pasquale Bondini to desire an association with so distinguished a personality.

With characteristic directness, Mozart sought out his librettist, Lorenzo da Ponte, in Vienna, and the latter mentioned the subject of Don Juan as a possibility. Work was begun almost immediately and, briefly, "Il Dissoluto punito, ossia il Don Giovanni" ("The Debauchee Punished, or Don Juan") was given its premiere performance in the city of Prague on October 29, 1787. Mozart conducted and the audience went wildly enthusiastic over the opera.

One story has it that the overture to "Don Giovanni" was written in the early hours of October 29. The copyist did not receive the score until seven o'clock in the morning. That evening at eight it was read at sight by the orchestra!

A Successful Young American

Samuel Barber, whose "Essay for Orchestra" is scheduled for the Indianapolis Symphony broadcast under Fabien Sevitzyk's direction, has had performances of a number of his orchestral works. He celebrates his thirty-second birthday on the ninth of this month. Mr. Barber's composing, actually, has taken account of the various categories. Thus, he has written chamber music, including a "Serenade for String Quartet," "Dover Beach," for Voice and String Quartet, a String Quartet in B Minor, a Cello Sonata, three songs and "The Virgin Martyrs," for women's voices a cappella.

Besides "Essay for Orchestra," his symphonic works consist of "Music for a Scene From Shelley," a "Symphony in One Movement," an "Adagio for Strings" and a Violin Concerto.

At the age of thirteen Mr. Barber entered the Curtis Institute of Music, in Philadelphia, where he studied composition with Rosario Scalero and singing with Emilio de Gogorza, among other subjects. In 1935 he won the coveted Prix de Rome and he was the recipient of another honor, the Pulitzer music prize for that year and the following one.

His orchestral compositions have been played not only in this country but also in London and in Rome.

(Samuel Barber's "Essay for Orchestra" will be heard on the Indianapolis Symphony program Tuesday over CBS.)

Fostering Music by Americans

This being just about the most psychological time of any for the development of our American music, one regards with interest the workings and activities of the "Milestones in American Music" programs. Three native sons are represented by works of theirs this week, Walter Mourant (String Quartet), Wallingford Riegger ("New Dance") and Leo Sowerby (First and Third Movements from the Woodwind Quintet).

Mr. Riegger obtained his early musical education in Indianapolis, studying later with Percy Goetschius in New York and with Stillman Kelley and Hekking in Berlin. He is a distinguished pedagogue, having held numerous important teaching posts. Besides, he has been connected with such musical ventures as the Yaddo Festivals, the Pan-American Association of Composers, the Dance Division of the WPA Federal Theater Project.

Mr. Riegger's compositions have been many and varied. He began early as a champion of romanticism, later swerving wholeheartedly into "modernism." He has composed several works for the modern dance.

Leo Sowerby studied in Chicago. Subsequently he became a Fellow of the American Academy in Rome. At present he is the organist at St. James Cathedral in Chicago and he teaches composition at the American Conservatory of Music.

"Milestones in American Music," featuring works of Mourant, Riegger and Sowerby, may be heard Sunday over CBS.

Soprano in Distress

Francia White, soprano soloist of the "Telephone Hour," is currently making a tour of the Army camps under the auspices of the U. S. O. She has discovered, to her dismay, that war is a serious business—even in practise performance. She had just driven up to the main gates of Fort Monmouth, N. J., one recent evening when suddenly all the lights in the area went out, owing to a trial blackout and air raid.

Having received no advance warning, she spent the next hour or so in a terrified huddle in her car as shot and shell and booming explosions rent the air about her. When the proceedings were over she learned that it was all make-believe, but her nervousness lasted all through the performance she gave for the soldiers.

POPULAR MUSIC

Hal McIntyre and his orchestra were all set to do a broadcast from the Glen Island Casino recently. The leader waited for his cue from the announcer, who soon shouted, "Stand by!" The leader raised his hand in the approved up-beat position, waited for the "On the air" signal, and when it came brought his arm down smartly for what he thought would be the opening notes of his theme. Instead, he got the most awful sounds ever heard. Trumpets blared in fourteen keys at once, drums crashed, some of the boys carried on like school-children with a substitute teacher and generally raised what is politely called the roof. Imagine his surprise, not to omit his embarrassment and all that sort of thing! It was all explained, however, and it appears that everybody was in on the stunt—even the customers—but McIntyre.

Sammy Kaye is the newest of the movie recruits. He will be co-featured (together with his orchestra) with Sonja Henie and Jack Oakie in a forthcoming 20th Century-Fox production, "Iceland."

The Better Pop Records

The mellow singing style of Bing Crosby is heard just the way you want it on Decca 4184, where the No. 1 troubadour delivers "I Don't Want to Walk Without You, Baby" and "Moonlight Cocktail," assisted very capably indeed by John Scott Trotter's orchestra. What week could go by without a first-rate Glenn Miller recording? On Bluebird B-11450 the youthful maestro presides over the disk destinies of "Let's Have Another Cup of Coffee"—you all remember that song of Irving Berlin's—and "Chip Off the Old Block," which is one of those smooth jive arrangements of a simple melody, but done with much variety and imagination.

A must for almost any record fan is Columbia album C-82, which consists of a selected collection of performances done by the Boswell Sisters—all three of them together, as of old. The set also boasts accompaniment music provided by what reads like a who's who of jazz and swing aristocracy. We haven't enough space to tell you about it, but get the album and listen!

Don't overlook Benny Goodman's recording of "When the Roses Bloom Again" and "The Lamp of Memory" (Okeh 6580).

Japs Become "Cocky"

WEBSTER'S dictionary defines the word "cocky" as aggressively impudent, conceited. This, it seems to me, exactly describes the insolent braggadocio which is more and more apparent in the Nipponese broadcasts. For example, this statement of a Japanese military spokesman: "Singapore will become the great military fortress of Japan in southwest Asia. Here we will be invincible. If the remnant of the United States and British navies would like to meet the imperial Japanese fleet in the southern seas we would welcome the conflict, but the outcome will be no different than the miserable failure of the British at Singapore. The status of southwestern Asia has now been determined for the next one hundred years." Brave words these, but can the Japanese continue to back them up? Winning the first round is a long way from deciding the final outcome of the fight. Invincibility is a much-abused word. Seems I remember hearing a lot about the invincibility of the German army in Berlin broadcasts during the early stages of the war, but with the Soviet soldiers still pushing the Nazis back in their worst defeat to date I don't hear the word invincible much now. Actually the Japs are becoming more like the Nazis day by day. Togo is becoming more of an Asiatic Hitler. "Burma for the Burmese, India for the Indians," he cries. "We will set you free of the yoke of British domination. We will make you free peoples," he boasts. Yes, the same kind of freedom that the occupied countries of Europe enjoy under Hitler's bondage. The kind of freedom where it is dangerous to even think an independent thought, where to voice an independent thought means the knout, a prison camp or the rattle of machine-guns in the gray of dawn. Yes, the Japanese have scored initial victories. They are moving fast. They have to move fast, for already licking at their flying heels is the ominous cloud of an awakened America. A united nation with vast resources that will eventually and inevitably, like a mighty juggernaut, roll over and crush the bragging and squealing Jap hordes with its ponderous weight. That day I want to tune in again to "Tokyo Radio." Then the tune will be different. For there is an old American adage about "He who laughs last."

The other night I heard a broadcast over "Radio Tokyo" by a U. S. Marine, now interned in a Nipponese prison camp. Said he, "It has been quite cold but I am all right since I have been issued five blankets." He also said he expected to learn the Japanese language. The Japanese sense of humor is indeed a thing to marvel at.

And speaking of humor reminds me of another one I heard over the "Rome Radio." The announcer told about the American Indians naming Stalin as an honorary chief for his outstanding contributions against the Axis powers. The announcer suggested that the name "Hungry Bear" or perhaps "Conquered Bear" would be suitable titles to bestow on the new chief. Did someone say "conquered"?

"Dutch Guiana Calling"

Those of our readers who have relatives in the United States forces stationed in Netherlands (Dutch) Guiana will welcome the following facts concerning short-wave transmissions from that country. PZX (11.515) and PZH (6.79), commercial transmitters used temporarily for broadcast purposes, are now off the air. All short-wave broadcasts are now under the control of the AVROS (Algemeene Vereeniging Radio Omroep Suriname), whose chairman is J. E. Herrenberg, Wagenweg straat 139, Paramaribo. The two AVROS stations, PZX (9.60) and PZX3 (5.946), operate week-days from 6:40 to 8:40 p.m. and Sundays from 9:10 to 11:40 a.m. EWT. The chaplain of the U. S. forces in Dutch Guiana conducts religious services over the air on Sundays from 9:10 to 9:40 a.m. EWT. The Chief of the Government Press Service broadcasts on Mondays and Thursdays from 7:40 to 8:40 p.m. EWT. All station announcements are in Dutch and English. The Dutch announcer is Ivan de Vrles;

the English announcer is O. Groman. All transmissions open and close with the Dutch anthem. The identification signal is one stroke on a gong.

Colonel Britton

In London's service to Europe, Colonel Britton each week addresses the vast "V" army of courageous listeners in the occupied countries who, tuning in on secret receivers in garrets or cellars, take their lives in their hands in order that they may hear these victory broadcasts; in order that they may know when and how to strike for freedom. These all-important broadcasts may be heard on Fridays from 6:00 to 6:15 p.m. over London stations GSA (6.05), GRT (7.15), GSW (7.23); on Saturdays from 9:30 to 10:00 a.m. EWT over London stations GSE (11.86), GSN (11.82), GRX (9.69), GSW (7.23) and GSA (6.05). Although these broadcasts are beamed on Europe, when reception conditions are good they may often be heard in the United States. Those hearing them are actually receiving some of the most highly important and dramatic short-wave broadcasts put on the air.

AFTER BEING recorded at CBS Listening Post, foreign news and propaganda broadcasts must be transferred to paper for handling by the news bureau. Above: CBS stenographers transcribe material from recordings. When of sufficient importance, broadcasts are taken down in short-hand

News About the Stations

PACIFIC AREA NOTES: Kom-somolsk-on-Amur, site of the new Soviet transmitters described last week, is north of Khabarovsk in eastern Siberia . . . Java stations PLS (10.365) and PLP (11.00) are being heard irregularly to approximately 9:00 a.m. EWT on the East Coast . . . Network pick-ups from Australia are usually broadcast over VLY (9.43) for the morning round-up; over VLN7 (13.57) for the evening round-up . . . India is becoming daily of greater strategic importance. The English news bulletin from Delhi, broadcast daily at 8:30 a.m. EWT over VUD3 (9.59) and VUD4 (11.83), is being heard with excellent signal strength these days. A second bulletin is broadcast at 12:00 noon EWT over VUD3 (9.59) and VUD2 (6.13) . . . Bangkok, Thailand (Siam), is being heard much better. IISP5 (11.715 and 6.06), Bangkok, operates daily from 7:00 to 11:00 a.m. EWT. An English period is broadcast from 8:30 to 9:00 a.m., with a woman reading the English news at 8:30 a.m. EWT. The identification signal is four chime notes—somewhat similar to Radio Tokyo's. Got quite a kick out of hearing "Cocktails for Two" sung in Thai by Thai girls.

EUROPE-AFRICA AREA NOTES: Berne, Switzerland, is again being heard. HER4 (9.535) is broadcasting in English to North America daily except Saturdays from approximately 9:00 to 11:30 p.m., with an English news bulletin at 10:15 p.m. EWT . . . Steve Mann, Hanover, New Hampshire, identifies the Spanish mystery station on 7.09 megs daily to 6:00 p.m. EWT as EA9AA in Tetuan, Spanish Morocco. This station was quite active during the Spanish civil war . . . Reception from Finland cannot be classed as good, but English news bulletins broadcast over OIE (15.19) and OFE (11.785) can occasionally be heard at 12:45 and 2:15 p.m. EWT.

NEWS OF THE AMERICAS: Bolivian amateurs are still on the air. Heard early evenings: CP1AG (14.07), CP5EA (14.06) . . . CB960 (9.60), "Radio La Americana," Santiago, is again active . . . OAX4K, Lima, has moved to 9.71 megs, where it can be heard daily from 7:00 p.m. to 12 mid. EWT . . . The Sao Paulo station on 6.095 megs is now using the call PYD7 . . . LRX (9.66), Buenos Aires, operates daily from 6:30 to 7:00, 8:30 a.m. to 11:05 p.m.; LRU (15.29) operates from 7:15 to 8:15 a.m. EWT.

* * *

It is persistently rumored that the United States Government will take over control and operation of all United States international stations for the duration. This will enable the coordinator of information and the coordinator of American affairs to use the entire output of our international voices for propaganda purposes. More power and a greater number of frequencies are probably in the offing. As soon as details are released, MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE will give its readers complete facts concerning this complete reorganization of United States international broadcasting.

Guide to Programs

March 7 through March 13

A Job for Microphones

IF YOU'VE ever attended a radio broadcast in an actual studio, you probably have a general idea how the programs that you listen to regularly are produced. The most important thing is to pick up with microphones, as effectively as possible, the sound which is being created by the orchestra or performers. This is extremely important if the maximum effect of reality is to be secured.

Take an orchestra, for example. Often the arrangement is to place a number of microphones among the musicians, each to do a separate job. One picks up the string section, another is for the brasses, the soloist has a third, there's a fourth for the woodwinds, and so on—according to how big the orchestra may be. What these individual microphones hear is then blended together electrically by an engineer in the control-room. He can make the brasses sound softer, boost up the strings, in fact, do whatever he wants merely by twisting the control-knobs in front of him.

Musicians don't always like this idea—particularly the conductors. Radio-control men are seldom musicians themselves, and a conductor may intend that during a certain passage a glissando of the strings should predominate. The engineer in the control-room, however, is watching a meter on the panel and thinks that maybe the strings are getting a little too loud. Therefore he trims them down. One conductor went so far as to have a control-panel built in front of him on the podium, then blended the various sections of the orchestra himself, and even wore headphones while conducting. The idea wasn't too successful: he didn't have enough hands to take care of everything.

The Way FM Does It

The music that the FM mike picks up can be sent straight through to the FM transmitter. The control man has little or nothing to do once the program goes on the air, since in FM there's no necessity to compress or limit the peak volumes of sound. FM enjoys what the engineers call "full dynamic range." It can transmit anything from the zephyr whisper of a harp string to the blast from a gang of trumpets blowing their brass brains out.

FM announcers have also developed a special technique. Normally an announcer keeps his mouth a distance of anywhere from twelve inches to two feet from the mike. In FM, however, this space must be widened to at least three feet and sometimes as much as four or five. Otherwise, strong sibilance and unpleasant lip noises will go out over the air, marring the quality of the program.

The acuteness of the FM mike is incredible. Not very long ago a fly found its way into a studio of one large Midwest FM station, and all during a newscast its buzzing could be clearly heard in the background.

Things Most Often Asked

It's been gratifying to read the many letters that readers of MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE have written about FM during the past few weeks. A variety of intelligent questions have been asked, and we feel sure that these queries—when not merely pertaining to possible FM service in various parts of the country—may interest a great many other readers. We quote, therefore, some most frequently asked.

Do FM stations broadcast commercial programs?

They do, indeed. Not as many, of course, as the regular stations on the AM band. FM stations have been authorized by the Federal Communications Commission to conduct business on the same basis as their AM brothers. Sponsors are just as important to the economic well-being of FM as to AM. People who complain bitterly about commercial programs are unreasonable. Radio stations must pay their bills like anyone else, and as yet no philanthropists have appeared to hand out millions of dollars yearly so that the ears of a few fussy people can be spared commercial messages at the start and finish of programs—programs that they get for nothing anyway. Our American system of broadcasting is based upon free enterprise and the right of the listener to tune out what he doesn't want to hear. In other countries listeners have not always been so fortunate.

Are there any FM networks?

In theory, yes. In day-to-day operation, not yet. The American Network, Inc., has been organized to link together FM stations in the forty-five biggest cities of the country. Test networks in the northeast, with seven and eight stations joined by radio relay, have already proved a notable success. Eventually the American Network, and probably a number of competitors as well, will operate as Coast-to-Coast chains. One of the greatest problems today, however, is the installation of telephone wires capable of handling FM's high tonal fidelity. Such wires are technically possible, but the cost of leasing them remains extremely high.

This weekly column of FM news and discussion is intended as a MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE service for the swiftly growing audience of FM listeners. Letters from readers are always welcome. We shall be glad to answer your questions, and, if you do not yet have FM reception in your locality, advise you whether any is in prospect.

To many listeners the news is radio. And however objectively one listens, the mind is more attentive, more stimulated if the listener knows something of the man who is transmitting or interpreting the news. For this reason we are offering from time to time this department of news about the newsmen, together with a convenient listing of news broadcasts and commentaries.

Reporters Make News

Radio correspondents are not only reporting war news—they're helping make it. Latest such name in the news is that of Martin Agronsky, globe-trotting NBC correspondent, who has been heard from Ankara, Turkey; Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Cairo, Singapore and Batavia, Java. Agronsky's recent charge that American warships were using shells so old the firing was ineffective led to immediate official investigation. Other NBC correspondents who are in the news—because they're out of it!—are Bert Silen, Dick Tenny and Edward Hart MacKay. They are unheard from and presumed to be in the hands of the Japs somewhere in the Pacific war area. For more details on this case see the New York column in the Radio Front section.

HOW TO USE THIS SECTION

- ★ Every program listed on these pages is heard five times weekly, Monday through Friday. No night-time programs are listed.
- ★ All regular network and local programs not listed on these pages—and all programs broadcast after 6 p.m.—are listed in the regular program section on the day of the week and the time of the day at which they are heard.
- ★ To make the most use of this new Movie-Radio Guide feature, check the program time (noted in parentheses after each listing). If the station in which you are interested is NOT listed on these pages at the completion of the specified program time, its listing will be found in the regular program section.
- ★ All programs not listed in the regular program section will be found listed on these two pages on a Monday through Friday basis.

Broadcast Mondays Through Fridays—7 a.m. to 6 p.m.

War Book for War Baby

Horace Heidt has something new in baby-books for his baby daughter, Harriet Hildegarde. He's pasting up headlines from the newspapers in the diary of the baby's progress.
The first headlines are dated December 7, 1941.
That's the date of the Pearl Harbor attack, of course—and it's also the date Harriet Hildegarde was born.

AFTERNOON

TUESDAY, MARCH 10

The Entertainment Week

Programs not listed here may be found in our new Monday-through-Friday Section on Pages 18-19

Doctor Meets Quack

A couple of buddies on the old-time Chautauqua circuit met in Kansas City recently for the first time in five years. They are Clarence Nash, the voice of Donald Duck, and Hugh Studebaker, who plays Dr. Bob Graham in NBC's "Bachelor's Children." Studebaker was visiting relatives in Kansas City, and Nash was stopping over en route from Hollywood to Montreal.

If you want a tip-off on what tunes the country will be humming next, you might listen to "Manhattan Merry-Go-Round" on Sunday evening over NBC, for Frank Hummert, the show's creator and producer, seems to have a flair for spotting potential hits. Five months ago he presented a modern version of a Tchaikowsky number for the first time on a sponsored show. You know the subsequent history of "Tonight We Love." Introduced last November on the program was a tune not yet published—"White Cliffs of Dover." Other firsts claimed for the show: "You Are My Sunshine," "The Things I Love," "Day Dreaming," and "Everything I Love." Cast of the program includes songstress Bea Wain, baritone Conrad Thibault and Alan Holt, soprano Marion McManus, the Manhattan Chorus, and Victor Arden's orchestra.

Tenor Jack Fulton is coming back to the CBS staff in Chicago about the last of March. You probably remember Jack best on the "Poetic Melodies" and "Just Entertainment" programs several years ago. Perhaps you remember back further to Jack's soloing days with Paul Whiteman's band. Those listeners within range of WLW, Cincinnati, have kept in touch with his singing the past year or two on the delightful late-night "Moon River" and other programs out of Cincinnati. You'll be hearing much more of Jack as a song-writer, too, from now on. Of course, you've been hearing "Last Night I Said a Prayer." That's his. So also is the tune "My Greatest Mistake," which the Ink Spots so successfully popularized . . .

With the plot of "Road of Life" plunged into a sharp tangent, five new characters have been added recently. New actors on this serial that is heard on both CBS and NBC are: Arthur Kohl as Mr. Hurley, Hellen Van Tuyl as Mrs. Hurley, Sarajane Wells as Claudia Wilson, Eva Parnell as Sara Radcliffe and Brct Morrison as Linden Ware. The new plot sequence revolves around the unusual case of twenty-year-old Claudia, who leads a cloistered life and doesn't seem well. Meanwhile, Ken Griffith as Dr. Brent, who has become interested in Claudia's case, continues as a principal, as do Muriel Bremner, Reese Taylor, Louise Fitch and Lois Zarley . . .

The "Quiz Kids" have been going right along proving that they know the answers to just about all the questions. But sooner or later a real stumper was bound to come along—and wouldn't you know it would be the income tax? During a recent program, math-marvel Richard Williams correctly computed an intricate income-tax problem, only to learn it was based on his own income. With that computation out of the way, the only problem remaining is how to pay the tax—since his "Quiz Kids" income is in bonds, not cash. Richard will have to look in the back of the book for the answer to that one! . . .

Kate Smith worked hard and joyfully for those sailors-to-be at Great Lakes Naval Training Station, when she put on her program from there recently. And how those fellows appreciated it! Soft-hearted Kate sang a lot of songs and talked earnestly and even clowned whole-heartedly. Immediately after the broadcast, Licut. Com. Eddie Peabody took over the p. a. mike and thanked Kate, and got a big vote of approval when he said he was sure Kate was now the Sweetheart of Great Lakes. Kate pounced on the vest-pocket banjo dynamo with a big hug, while the bluejackets sang "K-K-Katy" all over the place . . .

Phil Lord, veteran NBC actor (the father in "Arnold Grimm's Daughter"), really likes the water, and he comes by it naturally. His father was a captain in the Navy, his great-great-grandfather designed sails for warships of the Old Ironsides days; and an older brother beat him out for an appointment to Annapolis. Phil earned his commission in World War I.

Annual Star of Stars Poll

Winners in Movie-Radio Guide's 3rd Defense Bond-Stamp Slogan Contest!

THIRD pair of winners in this publication's "Defense Bond and Stamp Slogan Contest" were: Thirteen-year-old Beverly Gene Walker of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, for $25 bond award, and Mrs. Gay Lillian Boyer of Bloomington, Illinois, for $1 Defense Stamp. Beverly's winning bond slogan was: "Shell Out for Defense Bonds to Get 'Shells Out' for Defense." Five reasons were: 1—This war must be financed by the citizenry of this country. 2—Patriotism needs this kind of expression. 3—It is within reach of every pocket-book. 4—We are buying security at little cost. 5—It is good-habit forming. Stamp winning slogan submitted by Mrs. Boyer was: "Buy Defense Stamps and Join the Stampede to Victory." Her reasons for buying Defense Stamps were: 1—It is the best way to help defend America. 2—To stamp out traitors and oppressors. 3—To preserve the democratic way of life for future generations. 4—To preserve freedom of the press, religious freedom, and the right of every person to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. 5—It is a safe way to accumulate savings which may be sorely needed after peace is restored. For information of all who may want to enter this contest, a $25 Defense Bond, and a $1 Defense Stamp will be awarded each week to slogan winners, until further notice. Each slogan MUST be accompanied by FIVE brief reasons for buying bonds or stamps. If winning slogan is submitted by more than one person, five reasons given will decide the winner. Address your entries to "Bond and Stamp" Contest Editor, 731 Plymouth Court, Chicago, Illinois. No slogan entries will be returned. Decisions of judges must be considered final. No one may win both bond and stamp awards the same week. This contest is open to everyone except publication's employes and their families. This week's contest closes March 12. Entries received later will be considered in contest closing March 19. Watch for more winners in next week's issue!

Parties for movie stars visiting in New York seldom have been so numerous as recently. The President's Birthday Ball brought many glamour girls and movie men east. Most of them are returning to Hollywood via New York. And their studios are taking the opportunity of introducing them to members of the New York press.

In the elaborate Perroquet suite of the Waldorf-Astoria, Jean Gabin was kept busy for several hours shaking the cocktail-cooled hands of an unusually large number of writers. It was the same suite where, only several days previously, another very recent importation from France, Michele Morgan, smiled graciously and met a lot of men and women she won't remember but who will mean much in the success or failure of her career in the United States . . .

Reading remains among the more favorite ways of spending leisure time among many, especially when books like C. Hartley Grattan's "Introducing Australia" (Day Co., $3) are available. Mr. Grattan, an outstanding authority on that great continent "down under," which is playing such a vital part in present world events, has written an informative story. A reading of "Introducing Australia" will draw the people and continent itself closer to Americans—and the United States . . .

After reading last week's column, which mentioned the foreboding future of dance rendezvous, several really worth-while suggestions have been sent in by readers interested in seeing the survival of those places now jeopardized by tire-rationing. The most practical suggestion is that entertainment edifices located at least several miles from the hub of a city inaugurate bus service which would decrease the need of individual pleasure cars . . .

Several Hollywood celebrities are expected to plane into New York to entertain at the Navy Relief Show at Madison Square Garden in New York March 10. Wherever professional entertainers may be, they are talking about this affair, which will run about six hours and will include in its roster of talent the most beloved artists of this era.

Their Operettas Won Prizes — You May Win by Picking and Naming the Best Operetta

WINNERS of $1,000 in the WGN Great American Operetta contest were Jim Pease (l.) and Percy Faith, who collaborated to write one of three best operettas. Pease is radio writer; Faith conducts on NBC "Contented Program"

ANOTHER winner was Ross Hastings (above), of Los Angeles. He works in upholstery fabric house

WRITERS of another top operetta were Lee Armentrout (left), now with Ben Bernie and his lads, and Fenton Lee (right). Listeners will pick the final winner and name the operetta after three top works are broadcast over MBS

By Alberta North The Twinkling of an Eye

EYES are about the most important part of a woman's face—or a man's face either, for that matter. They're the clew to a woman's character—"the mirror of the soul," the poets say—and they can give her glamour like nothing else can.

They're important enough to get you a contract with Republic Pictures or, failing that, a fur coat perhaps or a pearl necklace. We're not fooling. That's what the Camille Mascara people in conjunction with the Republic Studios are offering to the girl with the most beautiful eyes. If you're interested—and who wouldn't be?—you can get all the details about the contest by writing to the Contest Director, Camille, Inc., Morristown, New Jersey.

Maybe somebody thinks your eyes are the most beautiful in the world and perhaps they are, but just a word of warning before you rush out and get your photograph taken so you can submit it to the contest judges. That old camera-eye doesn't take into account the fact that maybe you were up late last night and your orbs are still a little sleepy-looking; nor will it excuse the beginnings of tiny lines, horribly known as "crow's feet."

Before you have that picture taken be sure your eyes look as well as you can possibly make them look. In fact, it might be a good idea to wait a couple of weeks so that you can groom your eyes into sparkling irresistible appeal.

You might be interested in a special eye-cream that's recently appeared on the market. This Barbara Gould cream is prepared especially for lubricating the tender skin around the eyes so that you can help keep away those line indicators of age, or even neglect. You pat on the cream, starting at the inner corner of the eye and working gently upward and outward. Massage the upper lids, too.

Eyes are so delicate, so complex, that they reflect immediately ill health, worry or anything else that's not as it should be with you—eyes never can be made to lie. Movie stars, in particular, because they work under brilliant lights a great deal of the time, have to take special care of their eyes. Kaaren Verne, seen recently in Warner Bros.' "All Through the Night," thinks that the average woman is careless about the care of her precious eyes. Miss Verne is careful about her own eyes and bathes them nightly with a solution. Boric acid in solution is good for bathing the eyes; if you don't want to be bothered mixing your own eye-refresher, there are good products on the market, like Murine, designed for just this purpose.

Michele Morgan, the vivacious little French actress, who has just completed her first American motion picture, "Joan of Paris," has very distinctive, rather oriental-looking green eyes. She recommends eye massage and eye exercise. She says one of the finest relaxing treatments for the eyes she knows of is simply resting them by looking off into space. Her home in Hollywood hills commands a view over pine trees to the sea, and often you'll find Michele on her balcony, looking away over the hills to the sea beyond. You might think she is being poetic, but she's just resting her eyes.

LYNN MERRICK, pretty Republic Pictures starlet, has attractive eyes and lashes in her own right, but Howard Smit, make-up artist, gives them additional lure, interest with the deft application of mascara

Mascara is important, since eyelashes frame the eyes and can make your eyes ever so much prettier if they're luxuriant looking. You should use the shade that most becomes you, either brown, black, blue or green. In line with the return to naturalness, mascara should be brushed on lightly so that it doesn't show as mascara; if you face your public with beaded, stuck-together eyelashes, they'll look at your mascara and never even notice your eyes.

Men like curling lashes for one reason or another. We think that they do add glamour; and, since you can make them curl with one of those interesting Kurlash gadgets, there's no reason why you shouldn't take advantage of the added glamour curling lashes can give you. And if you have very short lashes, you'll be glad to know about the Ey-Tebs, artful "false" eyelashes (we put quotes around "false" since these Ey-Tebs are made out of real hair) which give you long, luxuriant-looking lashes with very little effort.

Get busy today with your eye routines if you're interested in that contest. If you really go in for an "all-out" effort, you may be the lucky one.

WHAT'S COOKING!

Allen Prescott, "Wife Saver" (Sat., NBC), seems surprised at the success of his efforts with pork roast

SERGEANT PORK

By GEORGIA SCOTT

TOP-RANKING sergeant in the B1 battalion is pork. Of all the meats we eat, pork is the richest in thiamine—that important energy and growth vitamin that you're hearing so much about these days.

So if you're really mad at somebody don't call him "a pig" or "you swine," because you'll be paying him a compliment. Pigs are highly respected animals these days, and those old-fashioned notions about pork being less digestible than other meats have been disproved.

A long time ago, when man didn't know about things like vitamins or sewer systems, the Old Testament peoples passed laws saying that it was against the divine command to eat pork. They had sound reason for such laws then, because the swine talked about in the Bible were really scavengers, and people didn't know about proper cooking and sanitation. But the fat corn-fed pigs of today have nothing to do with that time.

It's silly to talk in tongue-twister words about all the health values to be found in pork; maybe even the scientists don't know yet just what all those vitamins are about. In plain words, this B1 which is in pork will help your appetite, will prevent you from getting nervous disorders, will encourage the smooth functioning of all your body processes. And they say that lean roast pork, and fresh or smoked ham in about the amount of meat contained in one pork chop, is enough to supply your daily bodily need of B1. They also say that pork contains a goodly amount of an acid that helps to prevent pellagra.

Thorough cooking is about the most important single direction in cooking pork. Fresh pork should be roasted at 350 degrees, and forty-five to fifty minutes of roasting should be allowed for each pound. If it's a pork hock you're cooking (which is a great favorite with the men folks), simply cook it at simmering temperature for one and one-half to two hours. Hocks are elegant with black-eyed peas, with cabbage, with potatoes. Pork chops should be given considerable more time in frying than other chops, like lamb or veal; the meat should become white throughout.

One of the nicest ways to prepare pork chops that we've come across in a long time is this one: Pork chops with corn stuffing. Have your butcher cut the chops double thick and have him cut a pocket into each chop. The corn stuffing is made of a cup of corn pulp, one-half cup dry bread crumbs, teaspoon of salt and two tablespoons of minced green pepper and onions. Stuff the pockets with this filling and then brown the chops on both sides, cover, and finish cooking in a moderate oven for about one hour.

Piggies in spuds is a delightful way to serve pork sausages. You cut small baked potatoes in half lengthwise, scoop out the contents and mash them with about one-quarter cup milk and a teaspoon of butter for each cup of potato. Season this to taste and pile it back into the potato shells, placing one or two cooked sausage links on each half. Reheat in a moderate oven until browned, about twenty-five minutes.

Tasty dish: Piggies in spuds

If you would like to have a helpful little booklet describing different cuts of meat (it has an excellent section on all the different cuts of pork) and how to prepare them, you might write to Department L of the American Meat Institute in Chicago, enclosing five cents in coin, and they'll send it to you.

If You Get Up Nights You Can't Feel Right

If you have to get up 3 or more times a night your rest is broken and it's no wonder if you feel old and run down before your time. Functional rather than organic or systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles often may be the cause of many pains and symptoms simply because the Kidneys may be tired and not working fast enough in filtering and removing irritating excess acids, poisons and wastes from your blood. So if you get up nights or suffer from burning, scanty or frequent passages, leg pains, backaches, or swollen ankles, due to non-organic or non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles, you'll make no mistake in trying the prescription called Cystex. Because it has given such joyous, happy relief to so high a percentage of such cases. Cystex is sold under a guarantee of money back on return of empty package unless completely satisfactory to you. Cystex costs only 35c at druggists and the guarantee protects you.

A "Raft" of Fun for Service Men

George Raft Organizes, Takes a Sports Caravan on Tour to Provide Entertainment for Camps

WHEN George Raft, like many others, wanted to do something for boys in service, he hit upon the idea of a Caravan of Sports, thereby carrying out a policy recommended by General MacArthur, who has advocated competitive athletics as a morale-builder for troops. Raft's Caravan included a series of boxing, wrestling-matches put on at the camps themselves. The idea caught on, as shown by part of the three thousand lads (above) who gathered to see George's first Caravan at March Field, Calif., applauded group of fighters, old-timers, current champs, and Raft.

RAFT'S "Caravan of Sports" leaving American Stadium in Hollywood. First stop: March Field, Calif. Idea was applauded by Jerry Giesler, head boxing commissioner of state. Captain Mabbutt, athletic and morale officer at March Field, heartily agreed

CARAVAN arrived at March Field shortly after six o'clock, where George and fighters had dinner in mess hall. After meal, Raft, Captain Mabbutt checked over participants, announced program for evening. Now other camps await Caravan's arrival

CAPTAIN MABBUTT (left) introduced some of the principals in the show: Henry Armstrong, three-time champ; Mushy Callahan, Willie Ritchie, George Raft, Jim Jeffries, ex-heavyweight champion, and Ceferino Garcia

RAFT refereed the first fight of the evening. For the first time in fisticuff history, rival sports managers and promoters outdid one another in efforts to cooperate, make the Caravan of Sports at March Field a success!

...this great best-selling novel which strips the masks from an American town!

EVERY adult in Kings Row knew that a human face some times becomes a "mask"—hiding its owner's secret love hate, or ambition—but fourteen-year-old Parris Mitchell did not suspect it. He simply took people at their face values.

He liked his affectionate little girl-friend Renee. They tramped the country and went swimming together, at first in Adam and Eve innocence. He loved his big-hearted, girl-crazy pal, Drake McHugh. He liked and trusted Drake's tomboy girl friend, Randy Monaghan, and Jamie Wakefield, who secretly wrote poems, and whom people called "too pretty for a boy."

Cassie Tower, the prettiest young girl in town, he admired but thought "strange," perhaps because she was always kept at home by her unpopular physician father, who lived mysteriously well without any patients to speak of. Parris liked Dr. Tower, even if few grown ups did. But he feared and disliked the cold-faced surgeon, Dr. Gordon, whose patients' hearts were so often found "too weak for chloroform." Once Renee and Parris had heard frightful screams from a farmhouse, with Dr. Gordon's buggy there. Parris never forgot them.

Through this sensitive reaction to the people around him, Parris gradually developed the intuitive insight of a born physician; gradually he discovered that each and every one of them faced the world of Kings Row through some kind of protective mask, which hid a sickness of the mind or soul—perhaps a gnawing fear, a paralyzing inferiority complex, or a cherished vice. And later, as Dr. Parris Mitchell, equipped as a psychiatrist by years of study in Vienna he helped some of them to take off their masks.

How the masks of Kings Row were removed, and how their wearers' tangled lives joined in dramatic and thrilling conflict, makes an extraordinary story that is gripping in its intensity, exciting in its action, fascinating in its suspense, compelling in its power.

Here, at last, is a truly great American novel—a story that springs out of the lusty, zestful, growing years of adolescent America—enlivened with all an American town's charm, zest, ambition, passions, loves, hates, hypocrisies, tragedies, comedies and, sometimes, nameless horrors! The New York Times called Kings Row "a grand yarn, full of the sap of life. Eventful, swift in pace." The New York Herald Tribune said, "Rich in sentiment, emotional, powerfully felt—a moving and passionate book."

And now you can have this amazing best-selling novel, for which thousands have paid $2.75, entirely FREE. Here is one of the most sensational offers ever made by the DOLLAR BOOK CLUB. If you accept membership now we will send you, without cost, a copy of Kings Row.
