Sirs: If the listeners who stopped tuning in on "Mary Marlin" will try again, they may find the story returning to its original interesting pattern. I too stopped listening when the episodes were repeated over and over, and the pace slowed up, got nowhere, also the sudden disappearance of David Post (Carlton Brickert who passed away) and Mary Marlin (Anne Seymour who left the cast). Then one day, Joan Blaine of "Valiant Lady" left that show and turned up in the role of Mary Marlin, which stirred my interest again. I wrote Joan a letter telling her that we all were glad to have her back in the part of Mary, and I enclosed a sheet on which I pasted about a dozen of the "gripes" which appeared in your magazine, opinions of various listeners of "Mary Marlin." Should Joan pass this group of criticisms on to the author, it might influence the handling of the story in the future. Could be.

Joan Blaine is a grand actress and should have the best of vehicles, so I for one am going to have another try at it.

Mrs. J. T. Pruitt, 1931 South Union Ave., Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: Quite a bunch of people are throwing a lot of mud about the programs, "Mary Marlin," "When A Girl Marries," "Young Widder Brown" and others.

I don't like "Mary Marlin" so I just don't listen to it. I didn't like "Vic and Sade," so I didn't listen. I know there are lots of people who like both programs so I don't go around talking about them.

I listen to one story after another every day. My favorites are "When A Girl Marries," "Young Widder Brown," "The Romance of Helen Trent," and I like "Portia Faces Life" very much.

If I don't like a program, I just don't listen. Why can't others do the same?

Eunice Sweet, 107 South Cherry Avenue, Long Beach, Calif.

Sirs: With real pleasure, I endorse the letters of other readers regarding organ music. For over ten years, we enjoyed "The Bridge to Dreamland" with Paul Carson, and wrote many protests to the station on which it is broadcast when they began to shorten it and interrupt it for silly announcements in the middle of a beautiful rendition. It used to be forty-five minutes of requests played; now it is but ten minutes and ruined by news and ads. We also love the organ of Buddy Cole and several who make the organ speak.

People need good music of soothing quality more than ever in these heroic times. We love organ, piano, twin pianos and also, Hawaiian music—as well as the good orchestras.

Marie Karll, 311 O. P. Blvd., Ocean Park, Calif.

Sirs: My radio is really a human thing to me. It gives me all sorts of ideas. I like the commercials. I've made so many fine friends in the way of ideas, foods, cleansers, books to read, shows to see—and get a thrill over the many ways the announcer gets his "stuff" over. He means well and does no harm—and when we are getting so much for nothing, why gripe?

Ivah R. Edwards, 3744 S. E. Stark, Portland, Oregon.

Sirs: I am one of the listeners who would like to have organ music brought back into prominence again.

The sound of organ music always stops my radio dialing for further entertainment and I agree with another Radio Lifer who wrote that "we should give this thing some publicity." While we do have a few late hour organ programs on the airplanes of the Pacific coast, why can't we hear some early evening organ concerts? There is a definite relaxation which organ music does give, and, while all music has its place, still in these days one feels the need of restful listening.

Margaret Rush, 707 N. W. 19th Avenue, Portland, Oregon.

Sirs: I'd like to join the other Radio Lifers who have voiced a plea for more organ music. In these tense days of war, no other music gives the feeling of quiet peace that the organ does when it is beautifully played.

I have heard many excellent console artists both on the radio and on the concert stage in New York, Chicago, Salt Lake and other cities, and I think the one who merits top place in the entire country is Paul Carson, who lives in your own Hollywood. He makes his listeners feel the emotion in music, not just hear the melody.

Just before Pearl Harbor, one by one, the organ concerts were cut. We are still wondering why, and will be very grateful is something can be done to bring organ music back into prominence. In addition to Paul Carson, other fine Pacific coast organists could be called upon: Charles Runyan in San Francisco, Glenn Shelley in Portland, and in Hollywood, Dean Fossler and Milton Charles. Incidentally, Mr. Charles does a sweet job of singing while he plays, and, if given an early spot, might lure away some of Mr. Sinatra's Bobby-Sox Brigade!

Mildred Newton, 6818 Cahuenga Park Trail, Hollywood, Calif.

Sirs: In a recent issue of Radio Life, I read your comment pertaining to organ music on the radio. The most noticeable thing about organ music on the radio now is the lack of it.

Many times when a program is introduced by beautiful organ music. I leave it on, delighting in the brief moment of joy it brings, only to turn the dial as it stops, wishing that for once, the organ music might go on.

Now, no magic would be required for that to happen. Radio producers how about it?

Bill Smith, Home Villa Hotel, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: Your magazine is swell. But I have a radio kick! Why do we have such characters' names as Applegate, Curruthers, Sniffle and Mrs. Taper-tip on the air?

What's the matter with Smith and Jones and Johnson?

Did you read our article on radio names, entitled "What's In One, Anyway?" in the April 9th Anniversary Issue of Radio Life? Maybe you'll find your answer.

TOM IS A KINDLY old gentleman who dispenses philosophical air talk because he thinks there's a need for friendship in these trying days.

TOM IS REALLY portrayed by young Russ Stewart—as nice a young man as Tom is an old one. Russ has patterned his characterization from a rancher friend in Utah.

Meet Tom Owens

By Harold Carlock

IT'S QUITE PROBABLE that most listeners have met Tom Owens. Perhaps not the Tom Owens heard on KFI each morning Monday through Saturday at 6:15, but a kindly old gentleman whose philosophies in life are parallel.

KFI's Tom Owens is portrayed by Russ Stewart—as nice a young man as Tom is an old man.

I asked Russ 'how come' he dreamed up the characterization and this was his explanation:

"Tom Owens is not an imaginary person. He's as real as you or I. Oh, I don't mean you're likely to meet an actual Tom Owens—but I have a friend who lives on a ranch in Eastern Utah who is 'Tom.'

"That's not his real name of course, but as long as I've known him I've felt that more people should get a chance to be friends with him.

"His heart is as big as all-outdoors—big enough to take in all those who need help or comfort. He's never too busy to lend a hand or an ear—whichever is needed at the moment.

"You just know he's your friend the moment you meet him.

"That's the type of character I'm trying to portray on the air. I'm just trying to be a friendly 'old gent' to all those who listen—I think there is a real need for friendship in these trying days."

FREEMAN GOSDEN was looking at a picture taken twenty years ago when he and Charles Correll first started on the kilocycles. "Yes," he drawled in his deep, resonant voice, "this does recall something to my mind—that I used to have a little hair!"

Amos' faithful partner chuckled a rejoinder: "It's all right to remember twenty years ago, but don't forget we didn't get a salary until 1925. Our first pay was a plate of soup."

▼ MOST SURPRISING EXPERIENCE was when the team conducted a contest to name Amos' air child. Landslide of 2,400,000 replies necessitated setting up of postoffice in Chicago's Palmolive Building.

Gosden and Correll, like energetic business men, were sitting opposite one another in their tastefully decorated office in Beverly Hills where they come every morning to conduct the business affairs of Amos 'n' Andy just as if they were selling stocks and bonds instead of whimsical air entertainment. While Radio Life was interviewing the two famous black-face impersonators, Gosden and Correll sat opposite one another at their handsome, black marble-topped desk. Correll, 54 and older than Gosden by nine years, bent his head over a slip of paper and scrawled doodles as he and Amos unravelled some of the highlights of their two decades in broadcasting. Some of the highlights:

BIGGEST SHOCK: When the Chicago Tribune offered them $100 a week to sing on the air, making Gosden and Correll some of the first to get paid for radio work (1926). "Charlie," recalled Gosden, "bought a piano with his share of the first money. I bought a radio—a hot one with four dials on the front of it. We had to have quite an understanding about not putting lighted cigarets on it."

MOST IMPRESSIVE EXPERIENCE: Their visit to the White House, where they were invited by President Herbert Hoover in 1930. "In those days," Correll observed, "nobody in pictures or radio went to the White House. We spent an hour with the President and he complimented us on our clean brand of humor. We didn't tell him many stories because he spent most of the time telling stories to us. I remember we dressed in dark suits for the occasion. Then, on another occasion, we were invited to a cabinet dinner at the White House and we bought top hats for that. I still have mine in case anybody wants to buy it."

MOST SURPRISING: When Amos 'n' Andy conducted a contest to name Amos' air-child and the two received 2,400,000 replies. Government set up a postoffice in their office headquarters, Palmolive Building, Chicago, to help take care of the overwhelming landslide of letters.

STRANGEST BROADCAST: When they broadcast from the Cedars of Lebanon Hospital in Los Angeles, where Gosden was confined for a minor operation. He took a spinal

Resolutions of the Stars

★ You Aren't the Only One! ★
Your Radio Favorites Are Making Vows for 1945 Too!

IF YOU THINK radio stars are perfect and able to do whatever they want to do when they want to do it, you have another think coming! To prove our point, Radio Life canvassed the studios during the remaining days of 1944, and asked your airplane favorites for their New Year's resolutions. Here's what they told us:

KENNY BAKER: "I hereby resolve to teach my kids how to fish. In that way, I'll be sure to do some, fishing myself!"

ONA MUNSON: "I'm going to buy myself a hat in 1945. Right now, I don't even own one!"

MEL BLANC: "I resolve not to do

HELEN FORREST: "I'm going to keep right on following my hunches. They've always been lucky for me."

DICK HAYMES: "For years, I've been kidded about my big appetite. In 1945, I'm cutting down to a starvation diet—only five meals a day and no more!"

CATHY LEWIS (actress): "I'm going to quit worrying. I resolve this every year, but it never does any good."

JOE KEARNS (actor): "I resolve to learn to play "Staccato and Fugue" on the organ."

CHET HUNTLEY: "I'm going to take a day off next year."

ROBERT ARMBRUSTER: "I resolve to fulfil my life's ambition—to be a rich eccentric!"

TOM BRENNEMAN: "I resolve to continue going to bed with the bees, getting up with the birds, and worming my way down to Sardi's to let four hundred chicks make a monkey out of me!"

HOAGY CARMICHAEL: "Someone said in 1944 that I didn't want to write any more songs. Well, in 1945, I resolve to make you forget these words, and to write what you'll want to remember."

DINAH SHORE: "I resolve to keep George out of the kitchen because no G. I. should be made to do K. P. at home!"

HELEN WOOD: "I'm not going to make any resolutions to break."

NORA MARTIN: "I'm going to find something good in everybody and everything."

TED STRAETER: "I'm going to learn to do the zomba and the rhumba. Sonja Henie's my teacher!"

KITTY CRAWFORD: "I resolve to write that fifth chapter of my book!"

ROSEMARY DE CAMP: "I'm going to try to keep up with my two-year-old daughter who is way ahead of me already!"

GINNY SIMMS: "I'd like to take a vacation—but it will be another two years before I get one!"

Won't Kid Benny

ROCHESTER: "I resolve not to kid Mr. Benny about his toupee—at least, not the curly one!"

CLAIRE TREVOR: "I have a husband in uniform whom I want my little boy to get to know better in 1945."

SARA BERNER (actress): "I resolve to remember my creed—it's nice to be great, but it's really great to be nice!"

TOM HOLLAND: "I resolve to keep on playing juveniles, so that I can go up to any producer and call him "Pop!"

JANET WALDO: "I'm not going to make more than one date for the same night. I do it all the time!"

LINA ROMAY (singer): "I'm really going to work hard to achieve a spot for myself in radio, because I love it."

FANNY BRICE: "I resolve to make no more appointments in advance."

MARY LIVINGSTONE: "I resolve to be calm when we go on the air. I haven't been since my first broadcast, although I try to be every year."

JIMMY SCRIBNER: "In 1945, I want to come to Hollywood. Maybe I could resolve it, but maybe I'd better let "Papa Johnson" evolve it!"

(Please turn to Page 26)

FINGER IN MOUTH, Jack Carson looks dubious as he ponders his resolutions for 1945. All of your radio favorites pledge to buy more bonds, boost the nation's war effort in every way possible. Those resolutions they'll keep, but they're not so sure about their other vows!

Ring Out the Old

Radio can look back on 1944 with pride and satisfaction in a job well done. Not only have the airplanes filled our homes with fine, refreshing entertainment in these times when it is needed most, but it has also kept our anxious ears informed of the surging historic events of a world at war.

Two major incidents of world-wide importance occurred in the year of 1944—the Allied invasion of Europe and the American election. Radio was efficiently and effectively on hand for both, sweeping all else aside to bring the listening public swift, on-the-spot coverage of every development.

Along Radio Row itself, 1944 brought many interesting developments and occurrences. Thumbing through the pages of last year's Radio Lifes recalls them to our memory:

JANUARY

Time Inc. and Chester J. Laroche acquired an interest in the Blue Network from NBC for eight million dollars.

NBC commentator, H. V. Kaltenborn, just back from the Pacific war fronts, announced that 1945 predictions for the war's end were over-optimistic.

Kate Smith was chosen as one of America's ten outstanding women in a poll conducted by "The Woman" magazine.

Ed Gardner's "Leave us face it" was well on its way to popularity.

"One Man's Family" completed twelve years of radio life.

MAY

Ed Gardner proudly announced he had become a father and another "Archie" was around.

Sinatra returned to the coast.

"Johnny Mercer's Music Shop" was announced to displace "Fred Waring's Pleasure Time."

Jimmie Fidler was rushed to the Hollywood Hospital to undergo the penicillin treatment for glandular abscess.

As 1944 becomes a part of a memorable past, radio looks forward now to 1945, with complete confidence in its ability to meet any new challenges and with utmost devotion to the cause uppermost in the minds of all of us—a swift and sure Victory.

Goodwin Breaks Contract

Claiming that clauses in his exclusive contract with the Burns and Allen Show have not been carried out, Bill Goodwin has announced his intention to break this exclusive tieup by accepting a spot on the new CBS Sinatra Show. Goodwin charges that he has not been given the better buildup guaranteed when he abandoned other air assignments to appear on the Burns & Allen Show.

New Year Arrival

Among the New Year treats is one for radio fans. Blue's popular afternoon half-hour program heard Monday through Friday, "What's Doin', Ladies?" is coming to Hollywood from San Francisco.

Beginning on the first of the year the program will be conducted by ro-tund and jolly Perry Ward, former master of ceremonies on the nationwide "Scramby-Amby" show.

Family Grows

A pre-Christmas present for the Radio Life family arrived Monday, December 18, 9:29 p.m. at Hollywood Hospital. The tag bore the names of Business Manager Vinson Vaughan and Mrs. Vaughan and the package weighed seven pounds, two ounces. The baby boy will probably be named Dale G.

Miracle-Man David

On the pre-Christmas Jack Haley-Joan Davis show, the Robert Mitchell Boy's Choir was guesting. The choir, you will recall, was the talented bunch that added so much to the enjoyment of "Going My Way." Young David Street, who has taken over the direction since Mitchell's induction into the Navy, had his hands full with the youthful aggregation. His disciplinary methods were the wonder of the cast.

The boys were having the time of their lives running up and down the artist corridors pointing out the celebrities to one another. It was a big night for them. When the time for settling down and receiving last minute instructions came nobody was quite willing to give up his freedom. Patiently David explained the process of getting up-and-down and to-and-from the mike with the minimum of noise. The young devils grinned maliciously and continued poking each other in the ribs. David wasn't dismayed but took it with a good-natured grin. At last he calmly announced that if there were any more jokes the boys wouldn't sing. The words had a magic effect on the choir and peace reigned supreme.

"Gee," marveled the awe-struck cast, "do you suppose we could beg, borrow or steal David? Our wild Indians at home could use a little of his never-miss methods—but our kids can't sing," they wailed.

Notes on Frankie

That little girl in bobby-sox who out-squealed all the squealers at a recent Frank Sinatra broadcast was the singer's young daughter, Nancy,

NEXT WEEK

Next week's issue is rather unusual in that it presents informative stories on several air personalities and programs about which we've never written. In the first place, we've done some behind-scenes investigating of Fred Brady, comedy spark on the Gracie Fields' show, and give our readers an "at home" yarn on this rising young star. Then, as you all know, Jack Benny has a new singer, Larry Stevens, about whom you've been asking and now, in next week's issue, we're telling you he is and how he came to land on this top air show. The "Hour of Charm" paid Hollywood a recent visit and thus afforded Radio Life an opportunity to interview Maestro Phil Spitalny. How thirty-five girls get along is subject of our article. That fine supporting actress, Lurene Tuttle, recently performed the "impossible" before a mike. She played two roles on "The Whistler"—that of one twin sister who murders her twin, and that of the victim. Her splendid dual performance prompts a story on Page 28. All of you who have enjoyed KFAC's "Musical Masterpieces" will want to read the article about this program. Letters, pictures, and short items complete this issue, which you should buy early and pass on to a friend when you've finished with it.

Radio Roundup

from KFI

Here's a story which is going around radio row which we thought you'd like. It seems Archie found it necessary to put the 'bite' on Duffy and here's the routine which transpired.

"Things here at the Tavern ain't so good, Duffy. Mainly they are in a uproar, and all due to that new singer we signed—Bob Graham. Ye see, Duffy, the kid's got a contract and we got to abide in it or else we ain't got a singer and it seems this kid is more than just a plain singer, Duffy, he grabs off dames to fan him.

"Archie"

"Today the kid is opening his mail and up comes a note from some dames in the east telling Graham that effective the date post-marked on the outside said Bob Graham has a fan club all his own to warble in.

"The note request Graham send some pictures and such with his name signed for the purpose of decorating a wall or two.

"Now all this is fine Duffy, but Bob doesn't like the open angle in his contract where we remember to not mention any expense allowances. So the kid request we either allow him expenses to cover this little item, or we should draught him a new contract inserting such allowances thereby in.

"This is a serious thing Duffy, as this is the first fan club the Kid's ever had and I hate to be a heel and deny him his chance to be a Casserole with the dames. So, I hereby recommend that we spend an additional buck of your dough for said purpose of pasting Graham on the wall.

"So, don't get excited when you see an extra buck listed on the expense side . . . and by the way Duffy . . . this being a pretty good deal I think it only fair to warn ya that I expect the same treatment should the dames honor me likewise." (Archie broadcasts via KFI each Friday night at 8:30.)

Here's a gentle reminder—as though you would need one! The National Broadcasting Company is again going to broadcast the "Rose Bowl Football Game," exclusively!

That, of course, means KFI is the station to which most of the people will be listening most on January 1.

The game, with Bill Stern doing the play-by-play, is between the University of Southern California and Tennessee U, with broadcast time set at 1:45 p.m.

LUCK OF "BAMBI"

Paula Winslowe, who plays Mrs. Riley on Blue's "The Life of Riley" airshow, considers those family roles lucky for her. She won the audition for a "mother voice" in the Disney cartoon, "Bambi," thereby starting her "family career" and ended up by marrying the dialogue director who chose her.

GOODWIN'S TREE

Bill Goodwin was about to chop down a tree on his ranch when he noticed the famous name of the early California bandit, Joe Kennedy, carved in its bark. He now has built a fence around it and marked a path to the spot.

ALL ALONE

The Blue Network's singing comedienne, Gracie Fields, and her husband are living all alone now that her parents have returned to their home in England.

NO DAY OF REST

Announcer Jim Doyle finds Sunday his busiest day. He has taken on three announcing chores, all concentrated into about six hours of work, including rehearsal time.

CASS IS MARRIED

Much of the banter on the Frank Morgan radio show concerns comedienne Cass Daley's efforts to find a man who'll marry her. Cass is trying to think of a way to keep the gag alive and at the same time make the romantic swains understand that in real life she's happily married.

STRAIGHT MAN

Bud Abbott, partner of Lou Costello on the Thursday comedy airer, is always referred to as a "comedian" in spite of the fact that in his sixteen years in show business he's never cracked a joke. Accurate terminology for Abbott's profession is "straight man." More than half of Bud's career has been spent as comedian Lou Costello's partner.

"MAN FRIDAY"
Blue's "Hollywood Mystery Time" boasts a new character, "Plunger." He's Dick Ryan, who started out as Joe Penner's valet in vaudeville and later on the air played the same part. He has been heard on practically every program in Hollywood.

Virginia Sale of "Those We Love" is a very versatile young lady. Not only does she portray the housekeeper on this radio show, but whenever there is a need for a mewling cat or a squealing mouse, she also takes care of the sound effects on that too. As a little girl in school, Virginia discovered her ability to imitate and has put it to good professional use.

Lee Pepper, beautiful young character actress for Ed Wynn's "Happy Island" program, designs all her own clothes. Lee is also an expert in makeup and earns the weekly praise of the cast for her well-groomed appearance.

NOTED CONDUCTOR
Charles Hathaway, music conductor on "Hollywood Mystery Time," is one of the most noted and prolific arrangers in radio. He is credited with more than 800 arrangements in ten years, in addition to nearly 200 original songs.

PAPA WINCHELL
Walter Winchell and his wife have adopted a baby girl. They already have two children of their own—Waldie, 17, now in Hollywood working in pictures, and Walter, Jr., aged 9.

POSTMAN'S HOLIDAY

SCHOOL COMMERCIAL

Bill Goodwin thinks his daughter's remark about her Sunday School class is priceless. Asked if she enjoyed her morning she said, "The music was nice, but the commercial wasn't nearly so good as yours, daddy."

24-CARAT BERNER

That very capable and very well-liked comedienne, Sara Berner, has just completed her six hundredth free performance for servicemen. Sara is one of Radio Row's busiest actresses, dividing her time between appearing on such shows as Eddie Cantor's and Jack Benny's, and appearing before G. I. audiences.

Long before there were any official USO shows, Sara started entertaining the first draftees and has been doing it faithfully ever since. She is proud of the fan mail she receives from boys all over the world.

BUDDING PLAYWRIGHT

John Silverster, the newest member of Columbia's "Bright Horizon" cast, has shyly admitted to his bride that he writes. To date he has written several short stories a week. His latest effort is a play—still in the embryonic stage.

HALLOWE'EN'S OVER

Ish Kabibble, comic of NBC's "College of Musical Knowledge," says he has at last found a girl friend who's never bothered about transportation problems—she travels about on a broom!

Diggin' Discs

With JACK LAWSON

After 27 months of inactivity, the Columbia waxworks is humming again, and many new musical platters are in the shops, or on their way. Columbia's first release under its new agreement with Petrillo couples "White Christmas" and "If You Are But a Dream," with Frank Sinatra effectively on the vocals. Simultaneously, Columbia released "Ave Maria"—both the Bach-Gounod and Schubert versions—played by Andre Kostelanetz and his orchestra. These are by far the best holiday discs the company could come up with.

On the Columbia schedule for the near future are releases by Kay Kyser, Kate Smith, Harry James, Frankie Carle, Benny Goodman and Al Dexter. Before long, it will be like the old days again.

Decca continues to click along at a merry clip, heading the current parade with a Bing Crosby disc featuring two tunes from the "Bloomer Girls"—sides being, "Evelina" and "The Eagle and Me," latter a freedom declaration of a simple man, done in compelling Crosby manner.

Ella Fitzgerald, acclaimed the "First Lady of Swing," upholds her title with "And Her Tears Flowed Like Wine" and "Confessin'," with the Song Spinners and Johnny Long's orchestra for Decca.

On the concert side, Jascha Heifetz gives us "White Christmas" and Victor Herbert's "A la Valse" on one disc and "Figaro" and "Gweedore Brae" on another.

Capitol has two marvelous Christmas albums on the market, but in limited volume, unfortunately. First is "The Great Gildersleeve's Stories for Children," as entertaining for grownups as younguns. Second is a selection of Christmas Carols sung by St. Luke's Choristers.

On the pop side, Capitol has a new riot of discs coming up, including Johnny Mercer's "Ac-cen-tu-ate the Positive," backed by "Poughkeepsie," Jo Stafford's "I Promise You" and "Let's Take the Long Way Home," and Billy Butterfield's "There Goes That Song Again" and "Moonlight in Vermont."

All in all, it looks like a very musical holiday season.

FOR POETRY LOVERS

Thelma Kirchner, manager of station KGFJ, announces that beginning Saturday, December 30, at 7:00 o'clock, a weekly broadcast of poetry, philosophy and organ music will be featured by KGFJ under the name "Of Words and Verse." Program creator and narrator is poet Rene Malcolm Bozarth, former editor of the American Poetry Journal, and the author of a book of verse titled, "Sesame."

Resolutions of the Stars

LOUISE ERICKSON: "I resolve not to have any more crushes on older men. Hereafter, I'll confine my attention to the Van Johnson type, rather than the Alan Ladds."

DIX DAVIS: "I resolve to do all my homework—well, at least one night a week."

DAVE WILLOCK ("Tugwell" of CBS' Jack Carson show): "I resolve (at my wife's request) to cook my own omelet only once each week in 1945."

GLENN HARDY (Mutual newscaster): "I hope to be able to carry out my 1944 resolution—to be the one to shout 'the war is over' first and loudest, in 1945!"

Ladies Won't Worry

ART LINKLETTER (Blue's "What's Doing, Ladies?"): "I've decided to be more discreet while going through ladies' purses on my program!"

ED GARDNER ("Archie" of NBC's "Duffy's Tavern"): "I'm gonna get into the higher income brackets next year—$17.50 a week or bust!"

FRANK MORGAN: "I never make resolutions. They always make a liar out of me!"

JACK KIRKWOOD (CBS comic): "I will not knock ladies down in trying to beat them to a seat in the street car—I'll think of some other way!"

REX MILLER (Mutual news commentator): "In 1945, I hope to put my own code for a commentator into practice with every word I say—'let every word build a straight, sure route to peace. Let no word begin a detour from that route.'"

HAVEN MACQUARRIE (NBC's "Noah Webster Says"): "I resolve to stolligate the frantistraph whenever I thiculize the entire fosnick during 1945."

GEORGE "GABBY" HAYES (Blue's Andrews Sisters show): "I'm gonna git more actors to go where I've jst been, on bed-to-bed Army and Navy hospital tours. I want more people to see what I've seen. You kin bet there'll be less gripin' about sech things as the cigarett and gasoline shortages. Yessiree!"

PATTY ANDREWS: "I'm going to quit flirting with every good-looking man I see!"

MAXENE ANDREWS: "I'm not going to buy any more dogs. I just got rid of seventy-five!"

LAVERNE ANDREWS: "I'm going to bed earlier every night!"

Dagwood Serious

ARTHUR LAKE: "I'm going to continue to do everything I can to promote the war effort."

ELSIE JANIS: "I resolve to keep sincerely trying to make it a better and finer world for those boys who we hope will be coming home soon."

SAM HAYES: "I resolve that throughout the New Year I shall never forget what those boys who have fought overseas have done for us. I shall always remember they have the right to ask as that soldier boy on the battleground in Italy did when he thought he was going to die:

'What did you do today, my friend, To help us with the task? Did you work harder and longer for less,

Or is that too much to ask? What right have I to ask you this, You probably will say. Maybe now you'll understand— You see, I died today.'

DICK POWELL: "I'm going to stay on that war bond bandwagon."

JACK BENNY: "I hereby resolve to learn something else to play on my fiddle besides 'Love in Bloom.' In fact, I resolve to learn 'Love in Bloom.'"

PHIL HARRIS: "This New Year I dissolve to quit making them corny resolutions that nobody pay no attention to on Jan two, anyhow."

FRANK GRAHAM: "I resolve to continue living as wickedly as I have—and get by with it."

PAT MCGEEHAN: "I'm going to get married—that's all, brother!"

Mementoes of Dinah Shore's summer trip to England and France to sing to the soldiers are still drifting back to the NBC songstress. Latest to arrive this week was a snapshot of Dinah boating on England's Thames River and the man at the oars was no less than General Jimmy Doolittle!

Blue-KECA

MAXENE WAS THE first of the Andrews Sisters to arrive for our luncheon date. "I'm always on time," she grinned. "One of us has to be!"

Maxene is always identified as "the middle one" of the trio—the one with the brown hair. "Only now, it's red," she laughed, her hazel eyes twinkling.

Because it was the day after Christmas, Maxene, like everybody else, was full of holiday talk. "Ooooh!" she groaned, the minute she looked at the menu. "I ate too much yesterday—like I always do!"

"We had a thirty-three pound turkey for fifteen people—all our family and friends," she exclaimed, "but that isn't all! Somebody back east figured that turkeys would be hard to get, and sent us two twenty-four pound birds besides! But my sisters'll suffer—not me!" she went on merrily. "I'm not living with 'em. I'm happy—no turkey soup, turkey hash and turkey what-have-you for me!"

Maxene is the only married member of the Andrews trio. She is the wife of Lou Levy, their business manager. "'Maggie O'Levy' is what Lou's Irish secretary calls me," she chuckled. "Lou and I were married in 1941, on July 26, 27th, or 28th—I can't remember which. We never celebrate on the right day."

Relationship Verified

LaVerne and Patty joined us then to make the trio complete. Maxene chided them for being late. "People

THREE FOR THE SHOW: LaVerne (left) is the "dressiest" sister. Patty (center) is the youngest and the tallest of the trio. Maxene (right) is married to the girls' business manager, Lou Levy. "People always ask us if we're really sisters," the Andrews girls told us. "They should hear us ARGUE sometimes, and then they'd KNOW!"

are always asking us if we're really sisters," she commented to us. "They should hear us argue sometimes, and then they'd know!"

"Well, the interview's over, girls," she said to her sisters with a sweet smile. "Too bad you weren't here earlier. Maybe they would write a story about you, too."

"It doesn't matter if you did all the talking anyway," replied Patty, undisturbed. "We all sound alike."

Patty is the youngest Andrews sister, and the tallest (five feet, six inches). Her eyes are dark brown and her hair is blonde. "It used to be mousy," commented her sisters.

"Yeah," retorted Patty with a twinkle, "but look at my personality!"

LaVerne can probably be called the quietest of the trio, for her manner is more reserved and her voice softer. But her brown eyes twinkle as merrily as her sisters', her hair is an attractive auburn, and her clothes are colorful and dressy.

"I'm the one who likes tailored clothes," Maxene explained. "I wear slacks or suits or whatever I feel like wearing. I never wear a hat nor the elaborate costume jewelry Patty and LaVerne like to wear."

LaVerne, Fashionable

"LaVerne is the dressiest sister," the girls agreed. "Just take a look at her hat!"

LaVerne, who was sporting a perky plumed affair that would have made Hedda Hopper turn green, defended herself. "I didn't pick out this hat," she protested. "Mother did."

"That's alright, sister dear—you look stunning, positively stunning!" purred Maxene, with an aside to us: "This is the only way we can get along together."

"Yes, LaVerne," Maxene went on merrily, "you look stunning. All you need now is a horse!"

LaVerne and Patty, like Maxene, soon launched into turkey talk. "I don't think I ever stopped eating yesterday," primaced Patty. "I felt like Henry the Eighth, sitting at the table stuffed, gnawing like a buzz-saw on a drumstick."

"Our mother is an 'out of this world' cook," Patty went on.

"I'll say," put in Maxene, "we keep telling her that we don't see how such a wonderful cook could have three daughters who can't even boil an egg!"

All three girls confessed to a fondness for food, and not too strict a need to watch their diet, although Maxene is guarding against regaining the excess poundage she has just managed to lose.

I'd gotten fat," she frowned.

"Yeh," laughed Patty. "We used to have to roll her on and off the stage for our act."

"Yesterday was a wonderful day," smiled LaVerne, returning to holiday talk. "Christmas is a real family day for us. I love it!"

"On Christmas Eve," Patty joined in, "we appoint one of us as Santa Claus to pass out the presents, and there are always so many, it takes us for or five hours to open them!"

Radio Producer's

DREAM SHOW

By Jean Meredith

"This Is My Best" Combines America's Favorite Authors Of Favorite Stories Enacted By America's Top-Flight Stars

Tuesday, 6:30 p. m.
CBS-KNX

ASK ANY RADIO producer to concoct his personal formula for a dream-show, and it would probably come out something like this: OOTW/TIMB . . . or, Out Of This World/This Is My Best.

Because Columbia's new dramatic series, "This Is My Best," is a radio producer's dream.

It's a dream, because where else do you find a combination of America's favorite stories by America's best-known authors enacted by America's top-flight stars? And all in the same half-hour?

But that's not all. The main reason why "This Is My Best" is slightly on the dream side is the fact that the show's format calls for the leading stars to appear, not for name-value alone, but according to their suitability for the parts they play. When Thornton Wilder, now a Major in the U. S. Air Forces, cabled from his station in the Mediterranean theater that "Heaven's My Destination" was his choice from among his own works to be adapted for radio, the search began for a leading man. The story calls for a shy young boy who sets out to tilt a few wind-mills according to the letter of the Golden Rule. Producer Homer Fickett and Director Dave Titus went into a huddle over their list of stellar Hollywood personalities. The obvious choice for such a role was Van Johnson. And Van Johnson it was. Just like that!

Brand New

The play's the thing on this unique radio show. Built around Whit Burnett's Book-of-the-Month collection of favorite stories by favorite authors, "This Is My Best" is something brand new for the mike-men of radio drama. Burnett functions as editor-emeritus for the airline series, and at his New York City headquarters he meets with America's most distinguished men of letters and discusses with them the problems pursuant to adapting their favorite works for radio. For most authors, it's a unique experience to hear their stories dramatized over the air by leading Hollywood stars. And they like it! Although, like Robert Nathan, they feel that it's akin to the nerve-racking experience of watching one's youngest son deliver the valedictory at a junior high school commencement!

How Vehicle Chosen

◀ The authors included in Whit Bur-

◀ ALTHOUGH ESTRANGED at the time, Ida Lupino and Louis Hayward appeared on "This Is My Best", doing Graham Green's story, "Brighton Rock".

▲ AKIM TAMIROFF, brilliant star of "For Whom the Bell Tolls", and Bea Benedaret, prominent radio actress, played the role of refugees in Ludwig Bemelman's "Now I Lay Me Down to Sleep". Stars are chosen not only for their name value, but also for their suitability for their parts.

▲ ON SAME BROADCAST WERE Mildred Natwick and Ian Wolfe, pictured in emoting scene from Bemelman's story. Enacted are the choices of top writers, but occasionally, second choices have to be made because (like Sinclair Lewis' "Babbitt" excerpt) dramatization on thirty-minute airshow is impossible.

nett's book, "This Is My Best," were chosen by vote of 20,000 writers, critics, librarians, book-dealers and readers all over the country. Selected authors were then asked to pick their favorite stories, poems or passages from novels . . . works about which they themselves would prefer to say, "This is my best." It is from this same august collection that the radio show draws its vehicles. Sometimes, however, it is necessary to request an author's second choice, as in the case of Sinclair Lewis' "Willow Walk." Mr. Lewis chose an excerpt from his "Babbitt" for publication in Burnett's book, but inasmuch as the material did not lend itself to the thirty-minute broadcast treatment, the editor and the author held a conference at which they decided upon "Willow Walk" as Lewis' best immediate work for radio presentation. Orson Welles was cast in the leading role . . . or roles, since it is the dual role of a thieving bank clerk and his evangelist brother.

Said Burnett:

"Cooperation of authors in this unique and pioneering literary venture has been splendidly gratifying. Each author has some work he likes best and is reaching a great audience with that work. It is pleasing to authors who have generally confined their audience to readers rather than listeners. Ludwig Bemelman, who originally did not like radio and confesses he is frightened to appear on the air, personally was deeply impressed by the concise and dramatic treatment of his difficult 'Now I Lay Me Down To Sleep.' Robert Nathan appeared on the show in person to explain why he chose "The Sea-Gull Cry" as his best."

Step to Fame

And it's not only the established names that appear in the impressive cast lineups for "This Is My Best." Young Tommy Bernard made his radio debut as the little boy in John Steinbeck's "Leader of the People," and he's now well on his way to becoming one of radio's outstanding juvenile actors.

So when you turn your dial to CBS at 6:30 of a Tuesday evening, the cream of the nation's writers, actors, directors and technicians are saying: THIS IS MY BEST!

▼ TOGETHER ON "This Is My Best" were Signe Hasso, new scintillant on Hollywood horizon, and young Tommy Bernard, who made his air debut in John Steinbeck's "Leader of the People".

ROY ROGERS IS THE RECIPIENT OF HOLLYWOOD'S greatest amount of fan mail, has been in public eye for years, yet radio opens for him a new and thrilling career.

Tuesday, 9:30 p. m.
KHJ-Mutual

AS THE OFF-THE-AIR button flashed on, signifying that the "Roy Rogers' Show" had successfully presented its first broadcast to half a listening world (it is transcribed and sent overseas), Roy removed his white felt, ten-gallon hat, mopped his brow, and sank to the floor, where he sat and fanned himself with his script. Looking at the hordes of kids who were swarming up the stage steps and would descend upon him in a minute, he quickly murmured, "Gee, I wonder if I should give this radio business back to the Indians or to those kids—" him as an obviously nervous young man, to whom his past fame meant little at the moment.

On Mutual's floor reclined the pres-

Radio Life, covering the opening show, found Cowboy-King Rogers a very likable fellow with flashing dimples. He whistled in accompaniment, and tapped his expensively cow-booted foot in rhythm to the music of his pals (thereby, temporarily forgetting the mike fright which had beset him). He grinned constantly, had a word of greeting for everyone, and made one believe he meant it when he said, "Good luck, and may the good Lord take a likin' to you."

Yes sir, it's time to relax (but try to keep your spurs off the furniture), draw up your big easy chair, and tune in on Tuesday night's "Roy Rogers' Show." Anxious to be distinguished from its cousin, the hill-billy program, the Rogers' show smacks of cowboy authenticity. Take the Sons of the Pioneers for instance. They are literally what their name implies and are direct descendants of the first settlers of the Old West. Star Rogers is a farm boy from Ohio who once took guitar lessons through a correspondence course.

Music Easy Going

The music rolls along in the best Western tradition. "Chant of the Wanderer," "Cool Waters," "Tumbling Tumbleweed," and "Don't Fence Me In," are reminiscent of the easy-going philosophy of the cowboy. The Sons of the Pioneers have heaped more laurels upon their profession by laying claim to the composition of twenty-five percent of the Western tunes popular today. The humor, which is an essential part of the program, is earthy and rustic and is that of "just plain folks."

Along with Roy's old gang are a couple of "cowhands," newly initiated to the ways of ranch life, including orchestra leader Perry Botkin, announcer Verne Smith, and songstress, Pat Friday of the old "Kraft Music Hall" days, who knows she's "gonna like this howdee-pardner-stuff."

How He Started

Roy's success story and his friendship with the singing Sons-sextet are synonymous. Without them he wouldn't be where he is today and visa versa, for once he was Len Slye and a member of the sextet.

When newly married and still a struggling young artist, Roy overheard a conversation that started him on the road to becoming the present King. Officials were looking for a young man to replace the outgoing cowboy star of Republic Studio. Literally crashing the Valley studio, anesthetic and it made his face swell, closing his eyes. He had to prop his eyelids open with his hands in order to read the script. (Incidentally, Gosden and Correll broadcast a daily show from 1926 until 1934 with no vacation, missed only one or two shows. They claim they've broadcast under almost every conceivable condition—even from the men's room!).

MISSED SHOW: When they were hunting in Maryland with President Hoover's secretary and were snowed in. This was the first time they had ever missed a broadcast and their then unaccountable absence evoked more than one hundred front page newspaper stories throughout the United States.

NEAR MISSES: When their script was at their office in the Palmolive Building and they were in conference at the Blackstone Hotel, a six or seven-minute ride distant. They planned that Correll should get the script and meet Gosden at the broadcasting studio—but, there was a howling blizzard in progress when Correll stepped out onto the street and every cab within a radius of ten miles was tied up. He tried to beg a ride from a Negro coal truck driver, but the fellow answered, "I'se tired!" He ran up Wabash Avenue and finally persuaded a bricklayer to give him a lift. Arriving at the office, he snatched the script and reached the studio one minute before air time. This experience was almost duplicated last year in New York when there was no available transportation from station to studio and the twain desperately corralled a Hattie Carnegie truck, promising the driver to buy a dress if he'd help them out. Another breathless episode found Gosden and Correll on the street floor, destined for the broadcasting studio on the twentieth, and the elevators not running. They ascended under their own power. "We couldn't walk naturally for a week," they claim.

MOST CONTROVERSIAL EXPERIENCE: When Amos was being tried for murder. Listeners heatedly took sides only to cool down when script had alarm go off and proved Amos' dilemma was only a dream.

MOST COMMENT-PROVOKING: When Madame Queen was being tried for breach of promise.

MOST EMBARRASSING EXPERIENCE: When they were making a personal appearance in Salt Lake City in 1929 and heard a blackface team broadcasting over one of the local stations. "Who are those two terrible guys?" bristled Amos 'n' Andy, believing their material was being filched. Checking up at the station, the indignant team discovered it was one of their own records that was being played. (They were the first to make records for broadcasting exclusively).

MOST DISAPPOINTING: "Every Friday night." (Kidding, of course).

MOST UNIQUE BROADCAST: During their first vacation in ten years, Amos went to Alaska and Andy to Europe. It was arranged that when Gosden got back to the States from Alaska an international hook-up would bring him and Correll together, the latter talking over BBC from London. When the familiar theme, "The Perfect Song," was cut in, both Gosden and Correll became so homesick they could hardly keep their dialects straight. But swallowing the lumps in their throats, they eventually managed a bang-up, ad lib visit.

NICEST EXPERIENCE: When they received a silver plaque at the anniversary of their completing ten years on the networks. A surprise gift, the plaque was presented by Cecil B. DeMille, signed by both network presidents, and said: "For brilliant and important pioneer work in the progress of radio broadcasting and for faithful adherence to the highest ideals of good entertainment."

he convinced them that he was their man. Today he is their biggest money maker, and star of their numerous musical-westerns.

The Rogerses occupy a simple home in the San Fernando Valley, where Roy divides his time between the family he adores, his movie and radio work, and his hobby of raising pigeons. He has around one hundred and fifty of birds and competes in frequent flight races with other pigeon owners, such as Andy Devine.

Roy likes to talk about the children, Cheryl, his adopted five-year-old daughter, and the baby, Linda. He brags about the feats of the two-year old Linda and is greatly pleased over the gift to the children of a pony, matching in every way his famous horse Trigger.

Key to Popularity

Spending a few hours with Roy at his broadcast, it was easy to see why he holds such a tremendous appeal for his fans. It is his frank honesty and unassuming modesty which draw adults as well as youngsters to him. He is easy to talk to and easy to get along with.

Even in Hollywood it is an arresting sight to see Roy rigged out in his cowboy paraphernalia. He says he doesn't own a single business suit and spends a great deal of time and care in the selection of his clothes. He buys about twenty-five suits a year and pays anywhere from $175 to $200 for one consisting of pants, shirt, and coat.

In spite of the crowd that surrounded him, after the show, it wasn't hard to locate Roy in his big white hat, his black and white checked suit, and his yellow satin flowered shirt. He seemed to be looking for someone, and suddenly catching sight of the producer, shouted, "Hey, I feel rarin' to go. When do we start rehearsing for next week?"

Gleesome Threesome

Maxene interrupted with a giggle. "You make us sound so selfish. They're not all for us."

"Oh, golly no," Patty explained. "All our relatives and friends gather together for the holidays, and there are always extra presents for anybody who might drop in. It's so much fun."

"We have a good system," LaVerne added. "We always buy gifts for each other both collectively and individually. That gives each of us all the more!"

"Oh, and to show you what devoted sisters we are," grinned Maxene. "Here's what usually happens: One of us says to the other, 'I bought your gift today—and do you know how much it cost!'"

The irrepressible Andrews Sisters were born in Minneapolis, of Greek-Norwegian descent. They started entertaining in school day theatricals and amateur shows, and made their professional debut when Patty was just twelve, Maxene was fourteen, and LaVerne, seventeen.

Since then, they have climbed to the top in varied fields of the entertainment world from vaudeville to motion pictures. Recently, they have been touring this country and Canada entertaining in service camps and hospitals. Now, radio dialers may hear them weekly on their own show over the Blue, appearing with Vic Schoen, George "Gabby" Hayes, and noted guest stars.

For their own entertainment, the Andrews girls expressed enthusiasm for their ballet, fine artists such as Jascha Heifetz, and singers like Martha Tilton, Nora Martin and, of course, Birg (whom they call "Cros").

"Incidentally," the girls added, "we don't like people who put on airs."

"Yeah," giggled Maxene, "people who pretend to be 'Somebodies' give us a big laugh."

"Meow!" grinned Patty. "You should talk. Look at those feathers!" She pointed to the short wisps of hair that stood out straight at the side of Maxene's head.

"Well, can I help it," countered Maxene, with pretended indignation "if my hair is naturally curly and can't be trained!"

"We have a collective complaint to make, too," the girls chorused then. "We can never look pretty in pictures, because the cameraman always says, 'Make like you're singing.' Who can look glamorous with her mouth wide open?"
