KHJ BROADCASTS BEST WISHES...FOR RADIO LIFE'S 5th JUBILEE ANNIVERSARY

and an exciting invitation to Radio Life readers

Ever watch SHERLOCK HOLMES track down a werewolf...or ROY ROGERS' horse "Trigger" do a tap dance? How would you like to see the fireworks when Los Angeles battles it out against San Francisco on the QUIZ OF TWO CITIES...or watch the contestants squirm while guessing WHAT'S THE NAME OF THAT SONG?

Besides the fun of listening to KHJ-Don Lee programs at home—and reading about them in RADIO LIFE—you and your family and friends are invited to come out to the studios and see your favorites on the air. For information about obtaining tickets to current audience shows, just call or write the station.

Mrs. G. O. Greer, 4127 South Norton Avenue, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: For many years I've listened to the program, "Those We Love." I was pleased that "Martha," my favorite star of the program, was the subject of one of your recent articles. It was with great interest that I read of her homemaking ability in real life. I'll bet she makes lemon meringue pie as well as she makes curtains for her own attractive home! Thank you for the article.

You're right, Mrs. Greer, Virginia Sule Wren whips up a sumptuous lemon meringue pie!

Beverly Hargreaves, 14152 Kittridge Street, Van Nuys, Calif.

Sirs: There is one of my favorite programs that I'd like to see an article about in your magazine. It is "Teen and Twenty Time." I am only one of the hundreds of girls whose clubs take part in Mauri Cliffer's super program. I think it will help decrease juvenile delinquency.

I also enjoy the Frank Sinatra show, Bob Hope, Jack Benny, Andy Russell, Lux Radio Theater, "Screen Guild" and many others.

Mrs. C. J. Weir, 1336 East Wilson Avenue, Glendale, Calif.

Sirs: May I send verbal orchids to the radio program, "The Bible Says So," heard on KMPC Sunday afternoons? It is the most delightfully different program I have ever heard. How refreshing it is to be given answers and references directly from the Bible itself, instead of personal opinions! I say "three cheers" for this commentator and his sponsor!

Mary Stewart, 2428 Alsace Avenue, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: This is just a note to say "thanks" for that swell article on Mel Blanc. We agree with you; he's tops with us kids, and we'd sure like to hear him as "Moony" on "Point Sublime" again, very soon! Although we like "Bugs" and the rest, I think we all liked "Moony" the best.

A. C. Gian, 212½ South Parkview, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: Why haven't we seen a picture of Curt Massey, singer, in your Radio Life? Also would like to see his band and band leader in print. They play with such happy rhythm. The whole Massey program is very enjoyable. Wish it were longer than fifteen minutes.

When there are a sufficient number of requests we shall be glad to comply with your request.

◀ BENNY TODAY, the great comic, giving a corny performance on his violin. His playing is piece de resistance of all his performances.

teacher, asked: "May I have the first dance tonight, Alice?"

He stayed, not only for the first, but every dance that evening.

Started Early

"My folks started my violin lessons when I was six and I took until I was fifteen," Benny recalls. "That's when I thought I'd be a great violinist."

His cracks about being an infant prodigy are not without foundation. When Jack was still in knee breeches, he played his fiddle at the Waukegan theater and his talent soon became so noticeable that several moneyed citizens wanted to collect a fund to send him to Europe for further study. Benny dismisses this fact airily by saying "I was the best in Waukegan, but they didn't have much there anyway!"

His actual embarkation on a fiddle-playing career came about when he and Cora Salisbury, who was pianist in the theater pit, teamed up and played the local circuit. Jack's remuneration was $15 a week. His next partner was Lyman Woods, with whom Benny appeared in a medley of classical numbers. "And the 'Glow Worm,'" adds the virtuoso, "and of course 'The Rosary'—everybody played it then."

He did not add that he is remembered as the Waukegan cut-up. Friends recall that one night when Jack arrived to attend a school dance and was feeling very flip, the attractive librarian who was chaperoning the party told him he'd have to leave because of his antics. Sidling out the door, the irrepressible Jack turned, and addressing the pretty young ▶ ABOUT 1928. Benny in a "still" from a movie in which he appeared. He remembers it was called "A Song Writer's Revue," but off-hand can't remember who the siren was.

Training Station he was cast as a comedian on one of the revues, playing the part of a wild character named Izzy There. Already he was gaining a reputation as a wise-cracking comedian, who bowed the violin with dead-pan expression and a quirked little finger.

The war over, he decided to return to vaudeville and "do a single" as a fiddle-carrying comedian. Realizing that what audiences wanted was more belly laughs and less "Bee," he injected more gag lines in his routine. He played one engagement at the London Palladium and toured this country coast to coast in small time vaudeville, finally making the Palace in 1921. Engagements followed at Earl Carroll's and Schubert musicals to establish him as a top entertainer.

"Date With Judy"

I NSTITUTED with the issuance of our preceding anniversary edition, Radio Life on its fifth birthday milestone, again announces and presents its annual distinguished achievement awards.

Not to be confused with the widely-conducted popularity polls, these conferrals constitute a sincere and thoughtful tribute by the editorial board of Radio Life to those persons and programs which we feel have, in the past year, contributed constructively to the art of fine radio entertainment.

It has been physically impossible, perhaps, for us to have covered every niche and corner of material that has emerged from your radio loudspeakers during the last 365 days, but we have done our utmost to canvass impartially a representative portion of every type of production and to keep abreast of every new development in the field. We readily acknowledge the fact that we may have left some meritorious contributor uncrowned, but we trust that the recognition we are hereby extending to our selected few will inspire all to continue striving toward that one goal to which Radio Life, and everyone in radio, remains humbly dedicated—good listening.

Radio Life extends its heartiest congratulations and best wishes for the continued success of all performers and technicians who have added so much to the past year's ether entertainment.

CREATOR OF "BRINGING UP FATHER"
George McManus, appeared on the CBS show, told the story behind the birth of "Jiggs." Here, he talks over script revisions with research man, Fred Kroemer. (Note McManus' resemblance to his cartoon character).

MY JOB IS not only an interesting one," pointed out Fred Kroemer, "it's also a once-overlightly education in practically everything."

Kroemer is research man for CBS' "I Was There," the broadcast that weekly brings to the airplanes stories of interest as told by someone who was on-the-spot when they occurred. Kroemer and his co-worker, Elaine Ross, spend the entire week preceding each "I Was There" airing, tracking down good stories to tell and the people to tell them.

"Everybody always asks me just how we go about finding the stories we use and the eye-witnesses who relate them," Kroemer told us, when we talked to him in his office at Columbia Square. "The answer is, "he went on, "we never do the same thing twice. We get relatively few of our ideas from newspaper stories or letters or any such obvious leads.

MARIA AURORA QUEZON, daughter of the late Philippines' president, told the thrilling tale of Manila's capitulation on "I Was There" at the time of MacArthur's triumphant return to free the city. Here, Miss Quizon goes over her script with writer Larry Roman and researcher Kroemer.

We simply remain constantly alert for the germ of a good story, then begin the complex procedure of finding the person best qualified to relate it."

Kroemer spends his days reading, making phone calls, trekking to odd spots, interviewing and interrogating a dozen people an hour—some of them persons of great prominence, others inconspicuous housewives and workmen. He finds all of them eager to be of help to him, happy to impart their contribution to the story he is seeking.

"Whatever my job is," Kroemer smiles, "it's never dull."

Some of Guests

Among the persons who have appeared on "I Was There" are Dr. Rebecca Lee Dorsey, who was working with Pasteur when he found his cure for rabies; Oscar J. Regnair, who witnessed the historic Lincoln-Douglas debate; Lt. Harold Miller, the soldier who is credited with the fatal shooting of the German's General Rommell; Capt. Pierre Dreyfuss, son of Alfred Dreyfuss, who was wrongly accused, and tried as a traitor to France and sent to torture and imprisonment on Devil's Island; Mrs. Zane Grey, who was there when her famous husband decided to forsake dentistry to be a writer; Prof. Joseph Leitler, the first man to hear Franz Lehar's "Merry Widow" music; and Harry Barris, one of the original Rhythm Boys who related the rise of Bing Crosby.

The stories told on "I Was There" are narrated by Chet Huntley, dramatized by a stellar dramatic cast, with graphic commentation by the eye-witnesses, who saw the stories happen. The program is produced by Robert Hafter, with music by Lud Gluskin and scripts by Larry Roman. The show's announcer is Joe Walters.

Miss Ross and Kroemer have an average of twelve tangible leads to follow each week to track down the three stories used in the final air-script.

Unique Search

To locate the witnesses to relate them, the research workers spread a net of phone calls, letters—and well-worn shoe leather. Kroemer remembers in particular the time he decided to find the man who witnessed what happened to "the chestnut tree" of Longfellow's famed "village smithy" poem. The wood from the tree was used for an armchair which was presented to the poet by the children of Cambridge, Mass.

Kroemer discovered a man named Edgar Dakin had been one of the children in the Cambridge Public School who made the presentation of the armchair to Longfellow. In a frantic attempt to locate Mr. Dakin, Kroemer conducted a lengthy correspondence across the country to Cambridge and to Chicago (where Dakin was reported to have moved), then found that the man had come to California and was living within a half a block of the CBS studios where "I Was There" is aired!

portant part of his entertainment. Says Don Wilson, "Jack's playing is the piece de resistance of our performances. People always tear down the house when he tucks his rare old Stradivarius under his chin, and saws soulfully away, like a corn cob on a barbed wire fence!"

But oftentimes, Benny teams with some noted instrumentalist to produce a bona fide performance that leaves those who think he's just a corny bow wielder aghast. Recently, on a trip east, he played a duet with Isaac Stern, concert violinist, and performed in Carnegie Hall.

▲ A NEW RECORD FOR THE KGJFJ "SATURDAY Swing Club" is being shown by jockey Bob Hanna to announcers, Leonard Valenta and Art Stoullil.

▲ WHEN KFWB'S ANNOUNCER, HARRY HALL'S PET PEKINESE, "Fu Chu," the best educated dog in Hollywood, died, Hall was heartbroken. His fellow announcers got together and presented him with this pedigreed pup, who is tentatively titled "Lady."

Mutual On Vine

The KHJ-Mutual-Don Lee broadcast- ing studios, currently housed at 5515 Melrose Avenue, will move, as soon as wartime restrictions permit their $750,- 000 building plans to be completed, to a 90,000 square foot tract on the west side of Vine Street, from Home- wood Avenue to Fountain, three blocks south of Sunset Boulevard. Early fall is set as the anticipated date for the ground breaking.

The new structure will contain four major broadcast audience studios, each with a seating capacity between 300 and 400, and seven medium-size, non-audience studios, plus facilities for both AM and FM transmission and television production.

Summer Treat

When summer comes and the sun is shining brightly but you're a little leary of the beach fogs, how would you like to be able to turn on your radio and get the latest Santa Moni- ca weather reports?

Starting May 12, KECA is introduc- ing something new by way of public service. Hourly the station will boardcast week-end weather reports direct from the Santa Monica pier in an effort to keep the public informed on all changes at favorite swimming spots. Consequently, bathers will be able to save gas and picnic lunches for a sunnier day if conditions are unfavorable.

FIFTH WALL

Dinah Shore needs a fifth wall to one of her rooms! The NBC singing star has received so many awards and citations in the past year that all four walls of her den are covered and she no longer has any more room to hang the many medals and prizes she has collected as one of the top singers of the country.

SOME HUNTER

Basil Rathbone, the hunter, heard on the MBS "Sherlock Holmes" series, became the hunted when he failed to arrive at a party given in his honor by members of the Holmes cast. When finally located, the ace sleuth had to admit he couldn't find the scene of festivities.

SONG WRITER

Bob Nolan, leader of the "Sons of the Pioneers," singing group featured on the "Roy Rogers Show," is called the Stephen Foster of the West. He has written the words and music of over one-hundred and fifty cowboy songs.

The Music Station

Congratulates Radio

KFAC pays homage to Radio on its twenty-fifth anniversary. Largely because of Radio, music has more than ever before become a universal language. Through Radio, young artists and composers have been given a chance to win national renown, and good music has been stripped of its false mystery and exclusiveness.

As "The Music Station" for Los Angeles, KFAC is proud to have played its part in Radio for the past sixteen years, presenting programs for the day-to-day enjoyment of those who want the finest in music.

BREAKFAST WITH TOM BRENEMAN—Quite a contrast to "Breakfast in Hollywood," with Tom gaily turning on the charm for scores of adoring ladies and paying marked attention to their hats. Mrs. Breneman, on Tom's left, is wearing one of her favorite chapeaux (and one that he despises), while Daughter Gloria and Son "Brenny," are absorbed in breakfast. (Note: This is just a gag shot. Actually, Tom gets up early and makes his own breakfast before driving from the Valley to his program).
—Sterling Trevor Photos.

Mrs. Breneman's BREAKFAST WITH TOM

By Evelyn Bigsby

Monday-Friday, 9:30 a.m.
Friday, 9 p.m.
Blue-KECA

TOM BRENEMAN, the wise-cracking, hat-wearing, hearty-laughing emcee of "Breakfast in Hollywood," uses three alarm clocks. One is set for 4:30 a. m. Another for 4:40. The third for 4:50.

Sometime between the first and last call, Tom climbs out of bed, piles on his clothes, and cooks his own breakfast before driving into Hollywood from his Encino home.

"Afternoons," reported Mrs. Breneman to Radio Life, "my husband comes home and sleeps. He eats dinner in his pajamas and robe and goes back to bed to sleep some more. On Sundays he installs himself on the large porch to read the papers and the current magazines. He's out there every Sunday and listens to the radio all day."

Ladies, that's life at home with your idol, Tom Breneman. But only part of it. The rest is very merry and exciting.

Busy Family

Tom, Mrs. Breneman (a charmingly youthful-looking blonde) sixteen-year-old Gloria, and twelve-year-old "Brenny" (Tom Jr.) live in a white, two-story house on an acre of ground which boasts, in addition, fifteen walnut trees, forty-five chickens, three gobblers, a ten-year-old dog named Rusty (and accurately "just plain dog") a horse called Honey, and an alfalfa patch for the horse.

Gloria, a blue-eyed blonde like her mother, is an A-11 at Canoga Park High School. Horse-back riding is her passion and her hobby is collecting miniature horses. Brenny, who attends Ridgewood Military Academy, is fond of sports and planes. The walls of his red-rugged room are covered with airplane pictures. "Yep!" Brenny stated decisively, "I'm gonna fly a P-39 or a P-51."

Both Gloria and Brenny are radio-wise, for each member of the family has his own set and tunes his favorites. Gloria likes "Let's Pretend," "Counterspy," "Superman," "Suspense," "The Whistler," and being musical like the rest of the family, is fond of Fred Waring's program and "Great Moments in Music." Brenny doesn't miss "Inner Sanctum," "Hit Parade," or "Eastside Club;" Mrs. Tom balances her radio diet nicely between music and comedy, while Tom remarks facetiously "My favorites are 'Romance of Helen Trent' and 'Our Gal Sunday'" (heard around 9:30 a. m.)

"The children," observed Mrs. Breneman, "think their dad is the funniest man in the world. I've only missed hearing Tom's program a few times. It's the highlight of my day. I've attended 'Breakfast at Hollywood' about half a dozen times only. You see, I was a professional in radio when I met Tom and I make him nervous when he's working because he claims I'm his severest critic. I get jittery, too, and the few times I've attended the program, I've become just as tired as I could be. I think he's terrific," she concluded proudly.

▲ YOUNG "BRENNY" is a student at Ridgewood Military Academy, estimates he has "3,000 funny books," has plane pictures plastered over the walls of his red-rugged room, wants to fly a P-39 or a P-51.

Energetic Wife

Mrs. Breneman, who has been Tom's wife for nineteen years, has brought professional understanding plus womanly interest to her marriage. She doesn't look it, with her girlishly slim figure, but she's the type of grub in the garden raising both flowers and vegetables. Plunking a big hat atop her smart, up-swept hair-dress, she cultivates and digs to the point of exhaustion. One day in her enthusiasm to till the soil, she narrowly missed a sun stroke.

She likes to cook but says her husband's specialty is "just plain food." Fried chicken, a once-weekly requirement at the Breneman dinner table, seems to be Tom's favorite. "The children," pursued their mother, "are nuts about steaks."

Home, to Tom, means a place to relax and rehabilitate himself before facing another strenuous mike stint. He likes to water the yard and rake leaves. "But he's a most leisurely gardener," chided Mrs. Tom. "He rakes about two square inches at a time."

▲ GLORIA BRENNEMAN, 16, attends Canoga Park High School and does her homework in a room gay with blue cretonne, a hooked rug, and an oversize bed where she can sprawl full-length when reading a magazine.

For Tom, perhaps his only trouble at home stems from the one thing which has made his program famous—HATS. Of course he, himself, doesn't admit owning a hat, but dainty Mrs. Breneman loves them . . . usually the smart, small type.

"I own a closetful of hats," she lamented to Radio Life, "but every hat I put on, Tom says 'Bill, that's terrible. I won't go out with you if you wear that. Go change it.' His idea of a smart hat is a slouch or a beret and if he bought my hats, that's what I'd wear.

"In fact," she bristled becomingly, "I have two adorable feather numbers and I've never had a chance to wear either of them!"

1. SHERLOCK HOLMES and Doctor Watson, while strolling over an English racetrack, meet Marc Blaine, a famous horse trainer. "Gentlemen, there's been a terrible accident," he tells them. "One of my jockeys has just been kicked to death. I'm going for a doctor." "Perhaps we can help you," replies the great detective. "My friend here is a doctor."

ONE OF the most familiar figures of all-time in the field of crime detection is Sherlock Holmes. The famed detective comes to the airwaves each Monday at 8 p. m. over the Mutual network, in the person of Basil Rathbone, accompanied by his distinguished co-worker, Dr. Watson, as portrayed by Nigel Bruce.

Together, they put into practice their skilled technique in tracking down criminals and proving their guilt. In the accompanying sketches, Radio Life has recreated a "Sherlock Holmes" crime and invites its readers to join the sleuth in his search for the clues that will convict the murderer. After studying the pictures and their captions see if you can answer these questions: "How did Sherlock Holmes know the jockey had been murdered?" and "How did Holmes know that Blaine was guilty?"

To see how good a detective you are, turn to page 84 for the solution!

2. ARRIVED AT THE SCENE of the accident they examine the dead jockey. "I saw it happen, Mr. Holmes," says the trainer. "He was going at full gallop and the horse kicked him as he fell." "What do you make of it, Holmes?" inquires Doctor Watson. "It's a very unusual accident, old chap," replies Sherlock Holmes.

▲ 3. AFTER CAREFULLY EXAMINING the body, Holmes has moved it aside to study the indentation left by the body in the soft earth.

▲ 4. "LOOK, HOLMES," SAYS WATSON, "he was kicked twice in the face. The toe of the horseshoe has smashed the temple above the left eye, and the heel has split his nose." "Yes," replies Holmes, "and you will observe this long, shallow cut on his chest."

▼ 5. SHERLOCK HOLMES, HAVING STUDIED the scene, decides to examine the trees on either side of the track.

▼ 6. SHERLOCK HOLMES EXAMINES the bark of a nearby tree trunk through his magnifying glass. "That's a peculiar looking mark," says Doctor Watson. "Yes," Holmes replies, "and you will remember we saw an identical mark on a tree on the opposite side of the track. Obviously this was no accident. It was deliberate murder and you, Mr. Blaine, will have to answer for it."

Solution to Murder On Sherlock Holmes

Sherlock Holmes knew that the jockey's death was no accident because the hoof-prints were unbroken. Had the rider been kicked by a horse there would have been a break in the hoof-prints.

Again, the two hoof-prints on the jockey's face were upside down. A horse kicks with his hind legs and it would have been impossible for the jockey to have been kicked from such an angle. Also there were two hoofmarks. No rider could have been kicked twice in the face by a cantering horse.

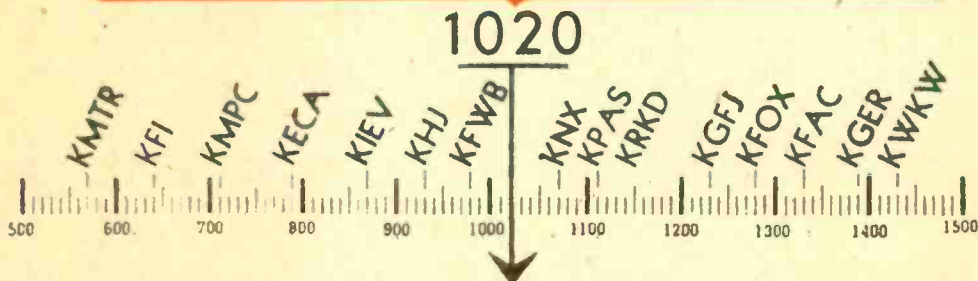

Having observed the long, shallow cut on the jockey's chest, and then coupled that with the marks on the tree trunks, Holmes deduced the method of dismounting the jockey—a wire stretched between two trees. Blaine said he had seen the "accident"—obviously, therefore, he was guilty. Also, he said the rider had been "galloping." At a gallop a jockey is crouched down below a horse's head and so could not be dismounted in such a way. Later, when Blaine was arrested, there was found in his possession a sawed-off pick handle with a horseshoe nailed on the end of it. This instrument had been used to bludgeon the jockey to death after he had been dismounted. Reason for murdering the jockey was that Blaine had heavy money bet AGAINST his own horse and wanted his jockey to throw the race. He refused to do so, therefore was killed so Blaine could replace him with another rider.
