Ida Antoinette Perry, 2194 Broadway, Apt. No. 1, Redwood City, Calif.

Sirs: I heard Evelyn Bigsby's broadcast last Sunday evening during which she interviewed Hedda Hopper and I enjoyed it very much. I would like to add my word to the sentiment expressed in a letter which she quoted remonstrating against so many unwholesome stories on the radio. While a few stories of this type may impress upon us that "Crime Does Not Pay," why wouldn't it be a good idea to have more programs that put the accent on the kind of living that is worthwhile similar to "Those We Love," which I hope will soon return to the air.

I have tried, but not always very successfully to keep my two daughters from listening to the crime and murder stories, but it seems that the radio and movies have done a good job and they prefer these to the others. As it is, it seems that children are not nearly so affected as older people when a murder is committed or some one is being brutally treated in the stories. It has become commonplace to them. This seems not only an unwholesome attitude, but a potentially dangerous one. Perhaps a few stories, such as those based on the records of the FBI would be good, but it surely is not necessary to have so many fictitious ones. I think there are many fine programs on the air and I sincerely hope that they will gradually outnumber the other kind, thus helping the coming generation to grow up in a little more wholesome atmosphere.

Mrs. Mary Parnell, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: Of all the silly programs, the "Thin Man" tops them all. I wish they'd put another good mystery on instead.

I think your magazine is the best ever.

Mrs. Colletta P. Ensign, 2839 Oregon St., Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: I have listened to "Hawthorne House" for years and always enjoyed it, but what has happened to it? It's got to be a boresome program, so I just stop hearing it. I hope some day it will come back like the old days. I wish you would put a picture of Johnny Thompson in Radio Life. He was the singer with Don McNeill's "Breakfast Club" when Jack Owens was sick.

Mrs. Lee A. Stukey, 1839 260th Street, Lomita, Calif.

Sirs: In recent years, I, too, have depended on radio for a great deal of my entertainment, and it seems to me that the great majority of programs are getting worse by leaps and bounds. I keep my radio turned off all day now, except for news and sometimes in the evening. The soap operas are nauseating. There is nothing educational. Nothing to teach or inspire, no good music to speak of. It's either boogie-woogie or too classical for most of us, judging from myself and my neighbors. There are far too many murder mysteries on in the evening, and we have to forbid most of the evening programs to our twelve-year-old daughter. Can't we have stories about anything but murder, killing, torture, grief and tears? Haven't we had enough of that in four years of war?

Why are the commercials and the bridge music for the programs so unmercifully loud? The silly, monotonous advertising is about four keys louder than the rest of the program. Why?

Loud music is due to engineering policy of the stations. Perhaps sufficient pressure can change that policy.

Katie M. Elarth, 1100 South Maine Avenue, Baldwin Park, Calif.

Sirs: This is my "first," but the Sunday night programs call for an outburst. Of all nights to clutter up the air with mystery plays! I never did care for them, and it has gone from bad to worse.

Please may we have "Those We Love" on the air Sunday evenings once more? Also is it possible to have the "English Coronets" again, or some similar play?

In my estimation the best programs of any kind have been the following and in the order of listing: "One Man's Family," "Those We Love," "English Coronets," "Count of Monte Cristo," "Dr. Christian" (this would be second, except for the mystery plays enacted), "Hawthorne House," "Mayor of the Town."

William D. Field, 317 West Mooney Drive, San Gabriel, Calif.

Sirs: Is there any way the summer series, "The Saint," could be brought back on the air? I started following it in Arizona and think it had any of the so-called detective stories beaten by a wide margin. The "Thin Man" has turned silly; "Ellery Queen" is fantastic.

While in Arizona I became acquainted with a Graham Alexander who is now out here. Could you give me any information on what, if any, radio station he is? He had a program called "Juke Box Jamboree" back there.

If there is enough interest expressed in "The Saint's" return to the air, it is likely to be brought back. At this writing, we seem unable to locate Mr. Alexander. Sorry.

Jean Wentsel, 5822 South Wilton Place, Hollywood 44, Calif.

Sirs: I've enjoyed reading Radio Life very much. I particularly like the story about Dick Haymes in one of the older magazines. He's my favorite singer and since I've seen him in person so many times I also know he's a swell person.

Your stories are great, but how about one on the "Sentimentalists," the vocal group with Tommy Dorsey? Because they're from my home town, I know them. Many people have heard their top-selling record of "On the Sunny Side of the Street," but few people have ever seen them. They're really bee-ootiful! So how about a story on them with pictures and everything, huh?

Sirs: I think that the "Jack Carson Show" on CBS is about the best program on the air. How about running a story or at least some pictures on his show? If any of the readers would like to join a fan club for him would they please write to me?

THE STIRRING story of the Theater Guild—its fantastic creation following the first World War, its expansion into the realm of radio at the end of World War II and its aims and aspirations in this new medium—was told to the ABC program's first-night audience by Lawrence Langner, the Guild's co-director, with these words:

"Ladies and gentlemen, I want to welcome you to the opening night of 'The Theater Guild on the Air.' In the theater, opening nights are very exciting affairs. You sit expectantly in your seat—the lights go down and there is a magical glow on the curtain. To me, one of the most beautiful things in life is this moment of expectancy. The curtain rises. We hope for a great experience. Too often it's denied us, but every once in a while a fine play is revealed—sometimes a masterpiece.

"That is the excitement of the theater. Thanks to our sponsor (U. S. Steel), we hope to bring you some of this excitement on our program. . .

"About this same time after the end of World War I, a small group of young people who loved the theater were meeting at my apartment to form the Theater Guild. We took ourselves very seriously, which was just as well—because no one else did.

Love Was Capital

"We had very little financial capital—as a matter of fact, just five hundred dollars. But our real capital was our love of the good things of the theater and our faith that the American public, given the opportunity, would share this love with us.

"Our faith was more than justified. We have since produced over one hundred and fifty plays in the theater, some gay, some serious, some both gay and serious, and now we are bringing them to you over the air.

"We shall give you the cream of the crop, and where possible, the actors and actresses who created the parts in the theater. We shall bring you the best plays of the best authors—Eugene O'Neill, S. N. Behrman, Maxwell Anderson, Philip Barry, Ferenc Molnar, and last but not least, George Bernard Shaw.

"Speaking of Mr. Shaw, I recently received a cablegram from him, reading, 'The answer is definitely no.' Since I hadn't asked him for anything, I couldn't quite get his meaning, except as a general statement of his attitude toward life.

*"Cappy", or "Fuse-Face", Is Smart
Business Man on Radio Row, But a Disheveled Farmer in Spare Time*

▲ "CAPPY", WHO HAS SERVED as producer of Hope's air show for the past two years, used to be a radio engineer, twisted the dials for the same program for three seasons before turning into a cue-thrower.

PRODUCER of Bob Hope's sophisticated top comedy show (it led the rating list for eight months out of last season's nine) is a reserved, six-foot-oner, Al Capstaff—"Cappy" for short, or "Fuse Face" because he always has a cigar stuck in his mouth. Cappy delights, however, in being a hick.

During business hours he presents the appearance of a well-groomed executive. On his two and a half acre ranch in the Valley, on the other hand, Cappy "dresses" in a pair of shorts and sneakers. Recently he ran a tractor to uproot thirteen trees and currently he's putting up a corral for his three race horses.

One of the horses is now running at Tia Juana. The other two, brood mares, are stabled in central California. "I've tried to route the Hope show through central California for the two years I've been producing it, but to date I've had no luck," grinned blond, blue-eyed Cappy. It's a wonder he hasn't covered every inch of the country, for he's traveled 100,000 miles in the time he's produced Hope's show . . . a "join the Hope troupe and see the world" proposition.

Cappy became interested in radio when he was eight, when his father bought him a crystal set which he hooked to his bed springs. By the time he was in high school in the early thirties, Cappy made bold to apply for an engineering job at WODA, Patterson, New Jersey. "Take this copy of the Saturday Evening Post and read this page," they told him. "But I want to be an engineer," young Capstaff remonstrated.

From Jersey

"You'll have to combine two jobs here," he was told. "And you'll make a fine announcer if you get rid of your 'dese, dems, and dozes'." "I really was from Jersey," explains Cappy. "Lived right near Pallsades Park and remember when they built the Cyclone roller coaster. Before taking on passengers, they gave it a trial run, filled with sand bags—and me!"

For several years, young Capstaff was a radio engineer—for three seasons he twisted the dials for the Hope show he's now producing. Then he became a network producer, and three years ago took on the job of production head for the agency, Foote, Cone and Belding.

His main problem with Hope is that the comic wants to jam twice as much material into a half hour as it's possible. Next in brain twisting processes is keeping the transportation rolling (Hope has put on only one studio show since Pearl Harbor). There are 42 in the Hope troupe and getting 42 across country and into hotels gives Cappy a big headache.

Hope Helps

But Hope lightens the general pain by being such a superb showman. According to Capstaff, the comic goes over every bit of the material his seven writers turn in. He checks the jokes he thinks good, double checks the sure-fire gags, and draws an egg for the flat ones. Inasmuch as Hope tells a gag in three lines, complete from build-up to pay-off, the wording is extremely important. "He'll work for one hour on a one-word change," observed the producer about Hope. "By the time he goes on the air, he knows his gags by heart." But the script is invariably seven minutes over at final rehearsal and that's when Cappy faces his No. 1 problem.

Hope's producer also supervises the work preceding the comic's appearance from a camp. Because the script is designed to fit the audience, a survey is made before the Hope troupe plays a camp. Two weeks before broadcast time, guide material is handed over to the writers. This material is gained from the public relations officer and especially from hitch-hiking soldiers whom the surveyors pick up and quiz for slants on G.I. sentiment.

Cappy's fondest memory is the per-

THE FIRST thing one should note about Wilbur Hatch, CBS musical director, is the fact that the memorable music he orchestrates and conducts on an impressive handful of CBS' top dramatic programs are melodies of his own making.

To create the score of one show alone, Monday night's "Screen Guild Players," Hatch spends from twelve to sixteen hours writing the music and seven or eight hours orchestrating it. He attends the program's initial rehearsal Friday evening when the cast assembles to read the script, then goes home and spends his weekend working on a musical score to suit the theme and the mood of the play to be presented. This practice enables him to study the actors' delivery of dialogue and to create appropriate melodic embellishments.

This procedure is duplicated several times weekly as the conductor composes and orchestrates additional musical scores for "The Whistler," "Hollywood Preview," "Twelve Players" and a goodly number of the other popular programs emanating from Hollywood's Columbia Square studios.

Modest

Hatch modestly terms himself "a slow composer and an average orchestra leader." He calls his music-making "a lot of hard work." He sometimes works as many as four hours on one idea, then throws it out as unsatisfactory.

Bill Hatch turned to music professionally when faulty eyesight forced him to forego a career in chemistry, the subject in which he majored at the University of Chicago. He was graduated from there with a bachelor of science degree.

WILBUR HATCH calls his music making "a lot of hard work", but here, as he batons finished product, he seems to be having fun.

Hatch is now forty-three. He is light-complexioned, quiet-mannered and good-natured. He wears glasses, stands five feet, seven and a half inches tall and admits that he is trying to take off some of his excess weight.

The musical director is married to Peggy Mathews, formerly a professional blues singer. The couple has three children—sixteen-year-old Robert, fourteen-year-old Nancy and two-year-old Margaret. Bobby and Nancy both play the piano—"but are not exactly musical geniuses," their father added smilingly. "They do, however, have a fine appreciation of good music."

The Hatch family frequently attends concerts and programs at the Hollywood Bowl.

Mr. Hatch admits that he seldom listens to the radio. "I don't even know what my 'competitors' are doing," he smiled. "Don't even know the theme songs of other shows."

Hatch himself wrote the theme of "The Whistler" series. It is a fragment of melody he originally created as musical enhancement for "troubled mind" sequences on the old "Gateway to Hollywood" air series.

Interested Spectator

As musical conductor on the "Screen Guild" shows, Bill Hatch has watched many of Hollywood's most outstanding dramatists at work.

An airing of several weeks ago presented "The Valliant," with Dorothy McGuire as its feminine star. "I don't believe," Hatch remarked during our interview, "I've ever enjoyed watching anyone perform as much as I did watching her. One could almost see her mind working out every step of the play."

The CBS maestro also related for us the amusing coincidence that brought about his first meeting with another artist whose work he greatly admires, Alec Templeton. "My wife called me at the studio one day and told me to guess who was coming to our house for a party that night," recalled Bill. "Alec Templeton!"

It seems that radio producer Thomas Freebairn-Smith and his wife had planned a party, with the famous blind pianist among the invited guests. Then they encountered the Radio actress Martha Wentworth, who has twelve years at the mike to her credit, dropped by Radio Life's busy office the other afternoon to set us straight on something. Seems she's been playing the role of Sylvia Appleby on "The Nebbs," whereas our story in the issue of November 11 gave credit to another air thespian.

Miss Wentworth, who works on four or five big shows every week, has a very interesting radio story which we hope to let you in on in the not too distant future.

Malone Home

Your Radio Life reporter joined other members of the press the other afternoon at an American Broadcasting Company fete for returning war correspondent, Ted Malone.

Having recently flown over Hiroshima, visited in Tokyo, been present in Paris on V-E Day, Malone had much to tell. In peacetime, the conductor of radio's popular "Between the Bookends" series, soft-voiced, pleasant-mannered Malone now graphically described the destruction wrought by allied bombing missions over Germany and the holocaust caused by the atom bomb at Hiroshima.

He said, like all world travelers, the war correspondent struggles with the problems of currency rates, the changes in time, the language differences, the variety of foods to be consumed.

He spent some time in India, called Calcutta "the bottom of the world." He showed us a wrist watch he had acquired in a trade with an officer. It told the date of the month as well as the time of day. It was set on New York time. "I kept it that way throughout the trip," related Malone. "Pretty soon, I'll be back where I started and it'll be right again," he smiled.

From Los Angeles, Malone was heading for San Francisco, then to the East coast and home to his family.

One of the most humorous incidents the reporter told happened as he was being outfitted to go abroad. An officer was advising him what to purchase at the PX to take with him on the trip—a pocket knife, a flashlight—"and," added the officer, placing his hand on a rack of pocket books, "how about taking along some of these to read?"

"Oh, no, thanks," said Malone. "I really don't think they amount to much."

Then both men glanced down at the book on which the officer's hand had been resting. It was Malone's own recently published collection of favorite verses!

To Be Bride

It's a wistful sigh which fans of "One Man's Family" are giving these days. Teddy is getting married. Not the script Teddy but her live counterpart, twenty-one-year-old Winifred Wolfe.

Winifred joined the family as Paul's adopted daughter ten years ago and has literally grown up with the "Family." While chatting with us over the phone last week, Winifred explained her wedding was to be a small one including members of her family and the family.

On Thanksgiving day, she will exchange vows with Vernon Beck at the home of writer Carlton Morse. Vernon is a brand new civilian, having been honorably discharged from the army but four weeks ago.

Winifred is thrilled and pleased over the abundance of wedding gifts which are pouring in to her from friends and fans. "It's really getting crowded in my small room," she laughed.

She will be gowned in traditional white satin and carry a bouquet of mixed white flowers. Her matron of honor will be the groom's sister.

ON THE AIR

Members of the Radio Life family will be interested in the fact that Editor Evelyn may now be heard with an air edition of the magazine. She broadcasts every Sunday night at 9:15-9:30 over the American Network and is heard in the Los Angeles area over station KECA. Evelyn gives the latest radio news, a feature on a star or show, and interviews some well-known radio personality. Confined strictly to radio, her program like the magazine, stresses behind-scenes reporting, appealing to all kilocycle fans. Her guest on November 25 is Agnes Moorehead.

Following the ceremony, the couple will honeymoon (said place is a secret at this writing) for ten days. "The only sad thing," moaned Winifred, "is we have no home in which to return. But we won't let that stop us. We'll stay with my parents until we do find something."

Radio Life extends its warmest wishes to the happy couple and realizes with a nostalgic sigh that time marches on.

Red's Back

We knew comedian Red Skelton was back in town the minute he and his lovely manager, Edna, burst into our office last week. Looking heavier than when we had last seen him, Red proved that eighteen months in the army and away from the bright lights of Hollywood had done nothing to that wonderful sense of humor of his.

"Gee, it's swell to be back," he grinned. "You forget how good these places look to you until you can't get another look at them."

While lunching at the Derby with Red and Edna, we were delighted to see the warm reception Red received from old buddies and acquaintances. Comedians Jack Haley and Maxie Rosenbloom dropped by his booth to

The stories presented on ABC's "David Harding—Counterspy" series very often parallel real news stories . . . and have an almost uncanny habit of preceding the real story by a day or two.

It happened again recently . . . The fictional "Case of the Girl With the Photographic Mind" described the exploits of a young lady who had an unbelievably perfect memory, which she used to aid a ring of crooks. Two days after the Counterspy story was enacted, the newspapers of the land carried a real story about a girl with a photographic memory who landed in an American military jail at the end of a sensational Gestapo spy career!

Radio Roundup
from KFI

Again this year, one of the most responsible jobs in the broadcasting of the KFI-HOLLYWOOD BOWL YOUNG ARTISTS COMPETITION is handled by Miss Ruth Franzen. As the producer of this air series heard each Monday evening at 9:30 p.m., Ruth is responsible for the program from beginning to end, and you can imagine the possible complications that can arise when you remember that a number of the young instrumentalists appearing on the air are under the age of ten. When we asked Ruth if she'd tell us of some hectic experiences she's undergone in her three years with this program the most outstanding that came to her mind was on last year's competition when one contestant who was in the Navy received his call to sea on the day prior to the broadcast. Though producing the YOUNG ARTISTS COMPETITION is only one of Ruth's staff duties, it's a man-sized job that this talented young lady is handling beautifully. Keep her in mind when you're listening to the show this Monday.

MORE ABOUT GOOD MUSIC. As a reminder for you to be sure to listen to KFI for some really outstanding musical programs being presented over the air, we'll recall to your mind the following: THE WESTINGHOUSE PROGRAM WITH JOHN CHARLES THOMAS (Sun at 11:30 a.m.); NBC SYMPHONY WITH GUEST CONDUCTORS (Sun at 2:00 p.m.); THE STANDARD HOUR (Sun at 8:30 p.m.); THE VOICE OF FIRESIDE (Mon at 5:30 p.m.); THE TELEPHONE HOUR (Mon at 9:00 p.m.).

Interesting testimonial for "NOAH WEBSTER SAYS" (KFI 9:30 p.m.) came from Dr. Emery Stoops, Co-ordinator of Occupational Information and Vocational Guidance of the Los Angeles County Schools Office. Dr. Stoops was a recent contestant on this program and he amazed Haven MacQuarrie, emcee, and Prof. Charles Lindsley, word expert, with his absolutely correct answers to every question given him. "We, in education," said Dr. Stoops, "are specially fond of this program for it is a very easy way to learn words that are usually drudgery for us."

Claire Niesen who plays the role of Mary Noble in "Backstage Wife" (Mon thru Fri 1:00 p.m.) realized a life-long ambition to become an actress in 1937 when she auditioned for a radio part and got it. Strangely enough, Miss Niesen never would have gone through the audition had it not been for the strong insistence of a close friend.

PLAY DATE

REPORT ON THE TREASURER

SOUNDS NICE!
 A recent "Murder Is My Hobby" script called for a kiss, but sound men Art Fulton and Bill James decided to make it really exciting. They made a production out of it by using the squeaky-door device and ended it up with a pistol shot!

WHAT ELSE!
 Orson Welles, the man of many talents who is heard every Sunday over the American Network in a commentary from his own home, paints for a hobby. His favorite subjects are circus clowns.

TRUE STORIES
 Cornelia Otis Skinner, who writes and appears in the "William and Mary" sketches with Roland Young on NBC's "Johnny Presents," says that practically all of them are based on her actual experiences.

WHERE THERE'S A WILL...
 Opie Cates, musical director and comedian, points out that even Hitler's relatives are different than most people's. They haven't even bothered to turn up to claim his estate.

RADIO WEST

say hello, fans mobbed him for his autograph, and the photographer was busy snapping his picture.

We knew it was the same old Red when the waiter brought the check. Red glanced at it and shrieked, "What for?" Then Red and Edna went through another game of his handing her the check and then demanding it back. When she finally turned it over to him he quickly perused it and returned it, quipping "Yep, it's correct! You can pay it!"

Like we said, we knew Red was back . . . and it was a good feeling.

On the Run

Rosemary DeCamp, "Judy" of CBS' "Dr. Christian," had to celebrate her birthday on the run this year because it came on Wednesday, the day she does the two airings of "Dr. C." Immediately following the first broadcast (for the east coast), the actress dashed for her Plymouth coupe, drove home to Beverly Hills to open her gifts and consume the birthday dinner in her honor, then headed swiftly back to Hollywood for the show's second airing less than two hours later.

Climax of the star's birthday celebration came the following morning at six o'clock when her brother, Jerry, an M.P. stationed in Germany, phoned home during his furlough in Switzerland!

Benny's Bird

It's Mel Blanc who does the heckling, whistling and squawking for Polly the parrot, on NBC's Jack Benny show. On the Sunday the script called for the bird to cackle a chorus of "Mother," Benny suggested during rehearsals that Mel deliver the ditty in a high-pitched voice. "Okay," smiled Blanc, marking his script. "I'll cue it C sharp."

Joe Louis was Benny's guest that afternoon and, in the script, hero "Jackson" had to take a beating from a "thug," played by Eddie Marr. Much ado was made to secure the right sound effects to create the noise of Benny being pummelled on the jaw. The soundman finally settled on a punching bag slammed hard against his bare fist.

Commented "Rochester": "You needn't have gone to all that bother. We could have just lined up eight men along the wall and let Joe go to work on 'em!"

Party

and Harriet," had a birthday last week and his mother treated him, and a dozen of his best pals, to a dinner and a routin', shootin' movie at the "Hitching Post."

Among those present at the party was Joel's real-life counterpart, David Nelson, the McCoy—who, incidentally, is near the spittin' image and has all the mannerisms of his pop, Ozzie.

Dessert

It's a great treat for the cast of Mutual's "Rogue's Gallery" every time Dick Powell, in his role of the private detective, gets hit over the head in the script. The soundman creates the effect by cracking a melon.

After the show, the actors eat!

Sports Sketcher

Dennis O'Keefe, we've just learned, is a sketch artist in his spare time. The co-star of ABC's "Hollywood Mystery Time" once wrote complete sports reports of football games and then illustrated the highlight plays—all for his own amusement.

In fact, he even sculptured the twenty-two players of two mythical teams, showing by their positions just how the plays were intended to be executed.

calamity of having all their furniture out being renovated on the night the get-together was set to take place, so they called upon their friends, the Hatches, to save the situation by holding the party at their home.

It was a full two years after that evening that Bill Hatch met Alec Templeton a second time. "I came up to him to offer my congratulations for a program he had just played at the Bowl," Hatch went on to relate. "I merely spoke to him, and he astounded me by calling out my name immediately. The man is truly uncanny."

No Hobbyist

Conductor Hatch has a good library of recorded music—"not for show but for study." He has no hobby in particular, declares himself to be "a dull fellow who plays a lousy game of golf, rotten tennis, and I don't go around taking pictures of everybody, or anything else of the sort."

He continues to be very much interested in science and chemistry, but has no time to make it a hobby.

He does most of his work at his home, in the living room, and does not require absolute quiet, other than not having any other music within earshot. "Except for that, utter pandemonium may reign," he maintained. "In fact, I could turn out my work in a bowling alley!"

He told us that his children listen to his shows ("unless there's a good mystery story some place else on the dial"), and that they are "pretty frank individuals."

"The main fault Bobby finds with me, however," Bill Hatch concluded, "is the fact that I can't play boogie!"

The Hick Who Produces Hope Show

sonal tour of the White House given the Hope cast by President Truman, who served lemonade and cookies to his guests. "Truman's a real wit," remarked Cappy. "He topped Hope as many times as Hope topped him."

During the past few years, Capstaff has served as president of the Kessco Engineering Company in Los Angeles, a concern making tooling for aircraft assemblies. "With a half million dollars a year billing," Cappy added with evident pleasure.

At his Valley ranch of two and a half acres (as yet unnamed) Capstaff raises apricots and peaches, 30 ducks, six chickens, and a turkey—marked for Thanksgiving dinner for Mr. and Mrs. C. and their three daughters, 6, 7, and 10 years old. The producer, who weighs 210 pounds B.B. (before breakfast) or A.H.B. (after Hope broadcast) says he actually moved out into the country so he could have all the cream he wanted. His greatest weakness is whipped cream.

Knows Bing

Cappy and Bing Crosby are good friends, their interest in horses being mutual. But Hope is the only one who calls the producer by his real given name, Albert. "Bob calls the office and asks for Albert," remarked Cappy. "Nobody knows who he wants."

What I Think of Edgar Bergen

By Charlie McCarthy

Sunday, 5 p. m.
NBC-KFI

I AM ALWAYS being asked what I think of Edgar Bergen, who is on my "Charlie McCarthy Show" each Sunday at 5:00 o'clock.

Generally speaking, I manage to keep a civil tongue in my cheek.

If you happen to like the Bergen type, he's not a bad guy. His type is rare—and perhaps it's just as well. Putting words into another guy's mouth is a dangerous business and likely to bring on a continuous civilian war. However, without Bergen and his peculiar talent for telling me what to say, I should be without a job in about five minutes, standard time.

MISTER Bergen can be very annoying. He interferes in my private life, dragging me hither and yon—in trains, automobiles and planes. It's a terrific strain to sit by and wait while he makes up his mind whether to go into the Alaskan dog-sled territory or bask under a hibiscus bush with a ginger flower behind his ear, in Hawaii. He pores over travel folders and sky maps, while I go slowly nuts.

Is Confidence Enough?

Now that he has a plane of his own, one of those PT-19 Fairchild numbers, 175 horsepower, he insists on flying over the landscape, with me huddled in a corner holding my breath. I know he has a license, but will that help when we hit the side of a mountain or crash into a water tower? I never notice him reading it while we drop 500 feet in an air pocket. I often wonder whether complete confidence is enough at 6,000 feet in the air.

Although he doesn't like to separate himself from his money where I'm concerned, he seems generous enough with other people. For instance, only recently he spent $100,000 for a store building in Hollywood, while I shivered in my cowboy boots. How long can a guy hold out financially on deals like that? He told the real estate fellow he was doing it for me—but I'd rather have the cash.

Mortimer Snerd is a thorn in my side, but Bergen likes him. He says stupid people never notice his bald head or that he sometimes moves his lips as if he were talking to a deaf mute. Personally, Mort's buck teeth get me down; he smells of horses and the hair oil Bergen pours over him can't disguise the stable aroma.

Monocle Tiresome

Another thing about Bergen; he's a crank about my clothes. While he gets himself up regardless, in yellow polo shirt, slacks and near moccasins, Levis and Charlie McCarthy never meet; my cowboy costume is my only recreation, sartorially. This monocle thing becomes a bit tiresome, old bean, don't you know?

And school! How Bergen makes me sweat through that routine!

When I play hookey, he's furious. Why? What I learn I have to unlearn. History and geography change their minds overnight and McCarthy is left holding the bag. "B" says he doesn't want me to grow up to be a dope. Personally, I don't see how I'm going to avoid it, with things as they are.

Bergen's love affairs intrigue me—sometimes I think more than they do him. He likes to make me the goat in my attempts to make a hit with the fair sex, insisting I'm too young for romance. Piffle! I have a keener eye for a pretty girl than he has; maybe he's too old!

His latest brainstorm is a pretty good idea. It's a pint-size dressing room trailer all done up in chrome and gray enamel, with my name above the door. There's a hitch in it, though. That oaf, Mort Snerd, shares the dressing room space. Bergen says such luxury should make me feel like a movie star—and act like one. I'd just as soon go on being myself, if you don't mind, MISTER Bergen. And please don't stick that Gay '90's number, Effie Klinker in with us. I can't stand the lavender water she uses on her handkerchief and she has a nasty tongue which she never keeps in her cheek. She doesn't approve of Mort and me and there's no love lost. Bergen likes her, but his taste in women must have taken a beating. Also I notice she often gets lost for weeks at a time and he never seems much interested.

Yes, you can take Bergen or leave him. As for me, I've got to take him and like him!

pleaded Bill. "Have a life of your own."

After Bill and Lois were married and well embarked on that "real homelife", Lois' first opportunity for radio (unbeknownst to Bill) knocked at the door. It was a CBS show entitled "Reveille Sweetheart", with Lois at the helm as vocalist, femcee- and writer. She delightedly took it and hoped to surprise Bill.

She surprised him alright! For she forgot to mention it was an early bird show, six mornings a week at 5:30 to 6:30 a.m. which meant arising at 4:30 a.m. and into bed by nine!

"It's a standing joke in the family," laughed Lois. "Just mention 'get into radio and enjoy a home-life' to Bill and he screams."

But the story has a happy ending. Lois learned to love radio and never intends to leave. Unfortunately, she LOIS JANUARY is a radio devotee whose conversion came about the hard way! She is one of the prettier young things about whom you hear so often. With wide gray eyes, reddish brown hair and plus in the proper places, she was a natural for the talent scouts. So she went to Universal Studios.

In succession followed New York stage appearances ("Yokel Boy") and nightclub engagements (Rainbow Room, Club Versailles etc.). Lois was happy about the whole thing. She loved to sing and was creating a sensation with her mellow carolling of ballads, sweet and hot.

Then radio (in the form of producer, Bill Gernannt) appeared in Lois' life. "Get out of show business," regrets, the early morning show was too hard on her and she gave it up after three years. Today you can find her on her own 5-day-a-week Mutual ainer, "January's Calendar of Tomorrow."

The day Lois, saucily garbed in black lace and crepe, appeared in the Radio Life office, she was filled with excitement. It was her birthday. "Look at the lovely gift Bill gave me," she exclaimed displaying a jeweled earring-pin set. "He has wonderful taste, don't you think?"

In her hand she held a gift from a fan. "They're just wonderful to me." The present was a lovely compact from an admirer in Georgia. Lois eagerly opened it murmuring appreciative oh's and ah's. "Isn't that sweet?"

"I just know the radio gang is planning a party for me," she confided, and my dear mother is in the midst of plotting at home. She doesn't know I suspect but I saw the

Mr. Smith Goes To Town

DON'T LOOK NOW, but there's a young man named Jack Smith on the air now—a days who's practically a one man revolution! He sings . . . without crooning. We know that it isn't being done. We realize that to accrue a gigantic, screaming following you've got to murmur softly into a mike so that the folks standing a foot away can't hear anything but a hiss. It also helps if you close your eyes, sag at the knees and lean at a forty-five degree angle.

Jack knows all this, too. But he can't help singing! Out loud, too, as if he enjoyed it, and wanted everyone around to hear and enjoy it with him.

Most people who've been accustomed to the dronings of crooners have been shaken awake by Jack's personality voice. And they've said so, in no uncertain terms. So now Jack is the star of the "Jack Smith Show" five nights a week on CBS at the enviable time of 8:15 o'clock. Which is pretty good for a boy who was limited to one song a broadcast once a week on the Prudential Family Hour last winter. A lot of people found themselves waiting all week for that one song!

Like Champagne

One radio listener wrote in: "There's something in your voice that reminds me of champagne, just bubbling over. I always picture you smiling, happy in the joy of your song, and I just can't help but get happy myself."

To scores of returning servicemen, however, Jack is known as Mr. Smith, dignified instructor at the New York School of Aircraft Instruments. In fact, the members of his class in installation, repair, assembly and calibration of instruments on the

HOME LIFE OF A FUNNY MAN

Is It Funny? Read and Decide for Yourself!

COMEDIAN JACK DOUGLAS appropriately calls his Northridge ranch, "Loose Ends."

NOT ONLY MANPOWER shortage at the Douglas ranch, but horsepower. Here Jack pretends he's Old Bess while his charming wife, Merle, does the plowing.

JS JACK DOUGLAS, comedian-writer on the Kay Kyser "College of Musical Knowledge" as screwy in private life as his gags might lead one to believe?

Read on and decide for yourself. Jack, his blonde ex-actress wife, Merle, and their new-born son, Jack Jr. live on a huge ranch in Northridge. Jack used to raise hogs, until the war took away his hog tenders. Now the pens are a great ghost town, for Douglas gave away the pigs to newspaper columnists and editors (and created quite a stir in the process).

Appropriately enough, the Douglas Ranch is called "Loose Ends." Driving along Reseda Boulevard, one is apt to speed past the place unless he knows exactly where to turn off, for from the road, it appears to be a dense jungle. A narrow, twisting lane leads through this overgrowth back to the large, rambling L-shaped house.

Quiet?

One is impressed with the utter quiet—not a sound comes through but the cheeping of the birds. But once the big knocker on the front door is used, all pandemonium breaks loose. It sounds like eighteen dogs yowling simultaneously, but actually, it's only four—Pete, the Great Dane; Tony and Patty, the Dachshunds; and Gertrude, a mongrel who dropped in one day and stayed.

The informal Douglasses wear play clothes around the house. They make no more than two or three trips a week into Hollywood. Rooms of the house are spacious, and the mammoth living room and rumpus room have great stone fireplaces.

A corner of the den is used as Jack's office. Here he thinks up the situations and gags that'll later bring chuckles from the listeners.

It's serious work for the mid-thirty Douglas, who looks more like a tired athlete than either writer or performer. A born lounge, he gets most of his inspirations by stretching his six feet out on one of the many sofas—his eyes usually glued to the beamed ceiling.

Then one day Jack decided he wanted to perform as well as write funny lines. He cut an audition record.

Scout Looms

Shortly after that, a certain talent scout spotted an attractive blonde in one of the popular Vine Street restaurants. As soon as she discovered he was on the watch-out for new material, she shyly asked: "Could you use a good comedian?"

"Why-a-a-a, ye-e-e-s, but we'd have to hear a recording first."

Without batting her blue eyes, the blonde reached under the table and produced a record. That record did the trick, for the blonde was Mrs. Jack Douglas and the recording was Jack's audition disc, introducing him as a performer as well as gag-writer. It resulted in his engagement on the "What's New?" show, making him one of the few in radio to write and also deliver his own material.

Since early last summer, Jack has been writing the Kay Kyser show and doing a small spot as "dean of dramatics"—a kibitzer deal with Kay.

Samples of Douglas humor:

Kay: How about a nice romantic story?

Jack: Fine. I've got just the thing. It's all about a beautiful dancing girl who works in a delicatessen.

Kay: A beautiful dancing girl who works in a delicatessen? What's the name of it?

Jack: Salami, Where She Sliced!

Kay: Well, I can see that you've had a pretty tough life. Tell me, have you always been good to your mother? Well, have you? (Pause) What's the matter? Didn't you have a mother?

Jack: No. We were very poor!

Kay: Well, did you have any brothers or sisters?

Jack: Yes. I had one sister. She was eighteen years old. In fact, on her eighteenth birthday she put on a sweater and tried to be a sweater girl.

Kay: Oh . . . did she look good in a sweater?

Jack No. We were very poor!

"I planned my den", Jack told Radio Life, "with lots of built-in shelves where I could file my ideas, gags, old scripts, books, magazines, newspapers, and whatnot. (I've collected gag ideas and written gags for fifteen years).

"But they're all carefully filed away. I never use my file."

guest list. You mustn't tell," she asked. (We aren't breaking our promise; this all happened several weeks ago.)

Pried away from the microphone long enough to do a few songs in the forthcoming movie, "Breakfast at Breneman's", Lois averred she wasn't really interested in pictures. "I'd like a big airshow of my own someday—not that I'm displeased with the way things are progressing."

A great deal of her spare time is spent in searching for an apartment. "I'm another one of those people," she smiled. "You don't know of anything, do you?"

At present while Bill is in New York with the "County Fair" show. Lois is residing with her mother. "Bill may have converted me to radio but I converted him to California. He was a loyal New Yorker but now all he does is brag about the merits of California."

The Gernanns have developed into regular old homebodies. . . "In spite of everything," she laughed. They love a quiet evening at home or entertaining friends, including old buddy Norman Corwin, in their outdoor barbecue pit. "That is, mother's barbecue pit," explained Lois.

In spite of her petite appearance, Lois is an outdoor girl. She rides, swims, and golfs whenever the occasion permits. She loves feminine clothes and jewelry—"lots of it." And she isn't too adept at housework—"but I get it done."

"It's nice having two radio people in a family of two," she happily concluded, "even if one of them is a refugee from the bright lights of the theater. You never want to go back—only forward on the air?"

panel board of planes rarely know that their scholarly teacher is the same young singer whose buoyant enthusiasm in putting over a song has garnered him 3,000 fan clubs! On the afternoons before each show and on three evenings a week following the program, Jack is at the school, lecturing and directing the rehabilitation studies of discharged veterans. Jack can put over more than a song!

While he was still a student at Hollywood High School, Jack formed a rhythm trio with two pals. When the Rhythm boys, Harry Barris, Al Rinker and Bing Crosby, left the Coconut Grove in 1931, 16-year-old Jack and his trio, the Ambassadors, applied for the job and landed it. For about a year they were featured at the Grove at night, and went to school in the daytime. After graduation, all thoughts of being an architect, Jack's original ambition, disappeared and the Ambassadors went east with radio in mind.

Rapid Rise

The boys hooked up with Kate Smith, Eddie Cantor, and Ray Bloch. Then Kate Smith gave Jack a solo opportunity and after that he was on his way. Last spring Jack Smith emerged as a new personality to be reckoned with. He was featured singer on "Gaslight Gayeties" when the producer decided to try Jack with some comedy lines. Smith proved such an able comedian he became one of the regular characters on the show. Consequently, Jack's present CBS series finds him handling dialogue as well as ditties.

Jack was born in Seattle, Washington, the son of an Annapolis naval officer, on November 10, 1915. Coincidentally, that was the same day and year that the future Mrs. Smith was born. Mrs. Smith is the former Victoria Schertzinger, niece of the late Victor Schertzinger, film director and composer.

The Smiths met when Victoria's cousin, whom Jack was courting at the time, arranged a double birthday party. Their wedding anniversary is—appropriately—November 10!

Jack has a hatred of idolatry, and sees to it that the Jack Smith Fan Clubs resort to none of the bobby-sox hysterics associated with the crooner craze. Another fan letter, signed by 620 people, says they consider Jack "one of the finest and most outstanding young singers on the radio today." Which some think is a much nicer (and much quieter way of complimenting an artist than the audible squealing and sighing that the fans of some popular singers seem to substitute for attention. Jack is most appreciative.

Though Jack's brother, Walter Reed, was a well known leading man in pictures before the war, Hollywood is one of the things on Jack's black list. (And he should know, having been brought up in the film capital.) He believes that married couples, particularly those in show business, have a better chance for uninterrupted happiness away from movieland.

"You can't be in a different and beautiful girl's arms every other day—making pictures—and not eventually succumb. Radio is safer. All you can hug is the mike!" he says. But you don't even need to do that, Jack. Just stand back and sing!

air. But he adds, . . . 'uncut and uncooked,' and you all know what that means. . . ."

Thus, "the theater" has come to radio, bringing to the microphone all the humor, drama, romance and excitement of the art, for the enjoyment of the millions of people who would otherwise be denied it.

Plays and personalities that have appeared on the impressive series of hour-long dramas include (at this writing): "Wings Over Europe" with Burgess Meredith, Cecil Humphreys, Henry Daniell and Everett Sloane; "Jacobowsky and the Colonel" with Annabella, Oscar Karlweiss and Louis Calhern; "John Ferguson" with Martha Scott; "The Guardsman" with Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne; "Ah, Wilderness" with Walter Huston; "Mr. Pim Passes By" with Arlene Francis; "Sing Out, Sweet Land" with Burl Ives; and "At Mrs. Beams" with Burgess Meredith and Paulette Goddard.
