Mrs. M. F. Hadley, 1030 E. Ocean Blvd., Long Beach 2, Calif.

Sirs: For some reason some of the programs are not listed in the daily logs. For instance, "Background for Living" KNX, 1:45 p.m. Friday; Jane Cowl, daily on KVOE, 9:45 a.m.; "Three Bees," Saturday afternoons, KNX. By chance, I happened upon these—all good, too. Also, Fulton Lewis, jr. has been listed for several weeks on Sunday afternoons. Have been unable to get it and find another program in its place.

I hope that soon we may be able to depend on being able to find what we want to hear. Radio Life has been so reliable that I hope it will continue to be so.

Georgina S. Townsend, 409 Tenth Street, Santa Monica, Calif.

Sirs: In the November 11 issue of Radio Life you have a story called "Associated Grows Up," with a picture of George Fisher and others. George Fisher appears over the American Broadcasting Company. ABC released over station KECA here. Now what is "Associated"? Was that a misprint? If not, where is the Associated Broadcasting Company released?

Can you tell us any good reason why Jane Cowl, over Mutual, released over KHJ, should have been removed from this western release? Have made every effort possible to have her restored so we can hear these most worthwhile broadcasts from so gifted a woman and so fine an organist as "Hank." She had no local sponsor and was replaced by a "name spelled backwards" that is on ALL the stations. Doubtless that is why she was shunted off. But we'd take her in preference even to that sponsor, than what now is given us.

Associated Broadcasting Company is released locally over station KFOX Long Beach. George Fisher is heard over both the American Broadcasting Company and the Associated.

Jane Cowl is listed yet over KGB and KVOE, at 3 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Mrs. Dot Miller, 1215 St. Louis Avenue, Long Beach 4, Calif.

Sirs: We scan Radio Life thoroughly each week, mostly for those swell mystery stories which my husband and I try to figure out. It's great fun and the stories are grand, especially "Suspense," "Haunting Hour," "Rogue's Gallery," and "District Attorney" and all the rest. We thought the most wonderful program ever to come through the radio was the one where they had the boys in Japan talking to their loved ones just like it was a telephone call. Your magazine is greatly appreciated and so are the swell programs . . . and we won't ever miss a copy.

Thank you, thank you!

Sally Darnell, 2329 Alsace Avenue, Los Angeles 16, Calif.

Sirs: How about putting "Point Sublime" back on the air? It was a lot better than "Glamor Manor" and August Moon really made the

One more question: At what time is "Jones and I" on? If it is a real good comedy program. Please keep Radio Life the swell magazine it is. It's tops.

No sign of "Point Sublime" returning to the air. KECA says that "Jones and I" is still heard on that station at 7 p. m. on Tuesdays.

Mrs. Y. M. Palmer, 1521 North Vista, Hollywood 46, Calif.

Sirs: Thank you for your notice of my letter. Daisy Darling is on KPAS, Pasadena at noon. Formerly this was catalogued as "Hal Hart." "Hal Hart, Dixie Darling and Gang" was the way it was announced.

Hal has been noted as a trainer of fine Arabian trick horses, leads parades, etc. Now the program is Dixie Darling in "Life."

Hal's wife, Dixie Darling, has taken over his program for an indefinite time. Station KXLA, formerly KPAS, says that Hal is making pictures now, and probably won't be back on his old program.

Marcia Lindsay, 1106 North Serrano, Hollywood, Calif.

Sirs: We are often driven to turning off the radio for the simple reason the so-called "bridge music" and shouting commercials are just more than our nerves can stand. We would gladly buy a product offered with dignity and naturalness—as the commercial is delivered with that very delightful play, "Count of Monte Cristo."

How we need music—just simple, loved, tuneful music from light operas, spirituals and quartet arrangements. So many evenings we try and try without success to get something besides torch singers and slap-bang stuff.

There are so many other programs to enjoy that we can just "put up" with those two silly, always-the-same and exactly alike programs, "Thin Man" and "The Norths."

So very much missed are "The Saint" and "Those We Love."

Claudia Comes Back

By Betty Mills

*She's Pretty Barbara Fuller Whose
Thirteen Years of Air Experience
Make Her Tops in the Profession*

▲ BLONDE BARBARA is sitting on top of the world. She's thrilled over her two choice roles and some day looks forward to acting opposite Van Johnson.

THERE'S A PRETTY, blonde newcomer along Hollywood's Radio Row who has the town buzzing. And she deserves the kudos coming her way, as she's a veteran of thirteen air years. It's little wonder she walked off with two of the season's choice parts—thirties "Claudia" of "One Man's Family" and teen-aged "Susan" of the Barry Fitzgerald show. Her name is Barbara Fuller—and she's radio's newest wonder girl.

Because Radio Life, too, was curious about how it feels to grow up on radio (and we must confess we were anxious to meet the much-talked-about "Claudia") your reporter was interviewing her the other noon at the Derby.

She arrived first (Barb is always punctual) and greeted us with such an easy-going manner that it was difficult not to feel like old friends immediately.

Perfect "34"

As she nonchalantly ran her fingers through her long golden bob and fascinatedly gazed about the celebrity-filled eatery, we gazed at her. Her glittering green eyes, clear olive complexion and perfect "34" accorded her, in our opinion, the title of one of radio's most attractive young actresses.

We soon learned that Barb enjoys a healthy appetite and doesn't have to watch the scales. "Well," she modestly grinned, "I have on a new suit—and I don't want to outgrow it yet."

The roles of Claudia and Susan are very dear to her heart. First, because they are just the type of parts she relishes. And secondly, because they brought her to California—a lifelong ambition. She confesses she is a great movie fan—and doesn't want to lose her enthusiasm.

"I have four Nelson Eddy scrapbooks—and they are labors of love, believe me—with which I wouldn't part for the world. That adulation began nine years ago."

Second man on Barb's "list" is Van Johnson. She would love to work a show with him ("And who wouldn't?"). And she probably will, because young Miss Fuller possesses the patience and persistence of Job. That's how it all came about.

A friend of her family, Harvey Hayes, was production manager of the NBC Chicago station back in 1932. He knew nine-year-old Barbara was an avid reader for her age and asked her to audition for him. She did and got the part. She liked radio—and more important, radio was pleased with her.

As she grew up, being on the air seemed a perfectly natural thing. Of course, it meant being a little different from the other kids in school, but Barb soon became one of the gang.

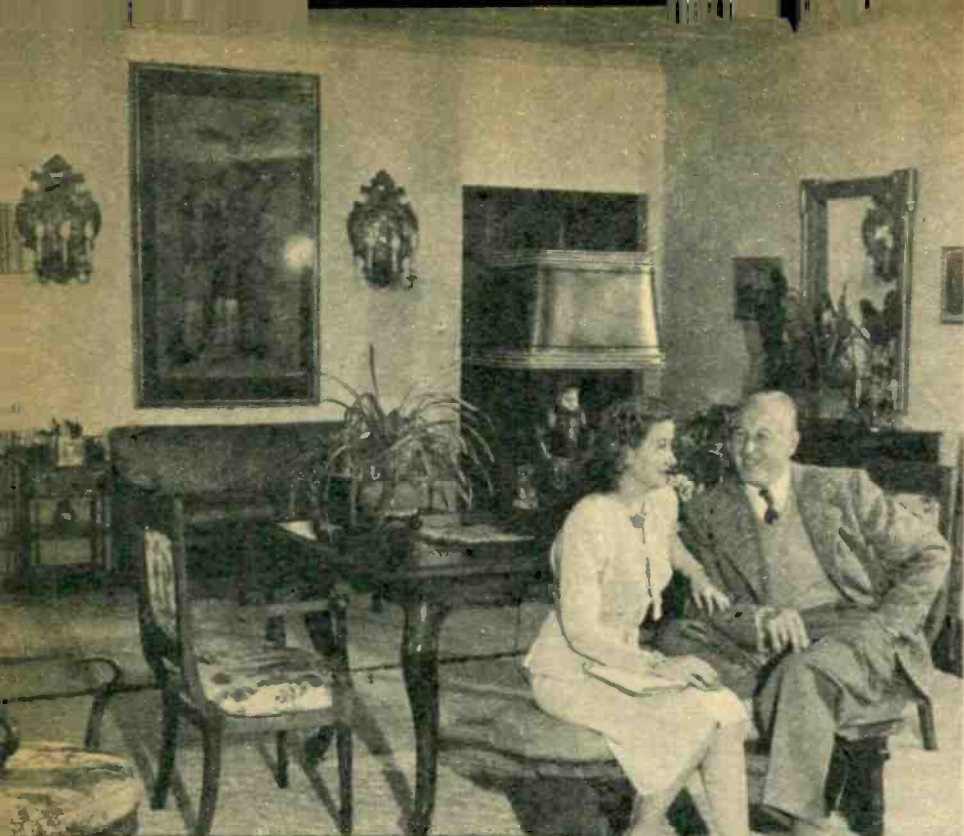

During her junior high and high school years she was heard on such shows as "Stepmother," "Scattergood Baines," "Road of Life," "Authors Playhouse" and "First Nighter."

Eyes Movies

Other radioites marvelled at her wonderful poise and complete lack of fear. "I sometimes now get butterflies in my stomach," she laughed,

WILLIAM KEIGHLEY (pronounced Keely) ushered us into his home "office" — the stoned terrace at the rear of his lovely hilltop home, overlooking three acres of wooded grounds. The silvery haired, smiling-eyed host of CBS' "Lux Radio Theater" gestured to a card table, a chair and a phone. "Here," he said contentedly, "is where I work."

A spacious green lawn stretched out leisurely in one direction, a slope of vari-shaded greenery on either side. Flowers bloomed profusely.

"I must show you my color pictures," Mr. Keighley said immediately, displaying a series of miniature Kodachrome views of his beautiful Beverly Hills estate. "It's a photographer's paradise," he beamed, indicating he was enjoying a "postman's holiday," as he has just recently been retired from active duty as

Supervised Training

During his three years in uniform, Colonel Keighley supervised the acquiring of the Hal Roach studios in Culver City, California, for the shooting of Air Force training films, turned these movies out at an average of ten every month, and dispatched Combat Camera Units to every theater of war.

In 1943, Keighley himself went overseas to inspect and reorganize the activities of Combat Camera Units in the North African, Mediterranean and European theaters of operation. While in England, he produced "Target for Today," a training film which General Arnold ordered every member of the Army Air Forces

Upon his retirement from active service, Mr. Keighley had every intention of purchasing a small home in Hollywood and spending most of his time traveling. But with his assignment to a weekly stint at the "Lux" microphone, and the formation of production plans for his forthcoming screen presentation, "I Love You Truly" (the story of Carrie Jacobs Bond), he and his attractive wife, Genevieve Tobin, find themselves more or less confined to the cinema city.

They have, however, brought the atmosphere and intrigue of distant horizons into their home, for its spacious rooms are furnished with exotic pieces the Keighleys have accumulated from far corners of the globe.

When at home, Mr. Keighley spends much of his time sitting in a comfortable chair in his den, a box of chocolates at his side (he doesn't smoke), a book in his lap. He reads extensively, continually searching for material suitable for filming.

When not working, he likes to don old clothes and work on the grounds around his home, clearing away brush and cultivating the rich land. His companion is "Meg," a lively airedale puppy.

"Sorry I was so rough, ma'am."

When Mark Buckley, radio director at the agency, heard the story, he wired Pat in Los Angeles, where she was stopping en route back to San Francisco headquarters after doing some research in El Paso, "Get back soonest." Pat, not knowing what was up, took the night train out of Los Angeles, rushed home, deposited her luggage and dashed to the office. When she found out that she was to leave for Sacramento in ten minutes to interview McDaniel, she had no time to go back home and change her clothes. So, dressed in a fluffy hat and open-toed high-heeled pumps, she started out, just as she was.

She had no luggage when she checked in at the Sacramento hotel, and the clerk, who insisted that she pay in advance, gave her such peculiar looks that the agency later bought her an emergency overnight case which she keeps at the office to

Only Girl Researcher in Radio Who Is Written Into the Script

ONCE IN A LONG while there'll crop up an unbelievable story . . . a story so full of tension and human interest that it makes front pages from coast to coast. But when that story has behind it another one equally tense, with a pretty girl for the heroine, then you've got something really worth talking about!

And that something worth talking about is Pat Barbagelata, researcher for Foote, Cone and Belding, agency producers of "The Main Line" on KHJ-Don Lee Wednesday nights. Pat is the only girl researcher in radio who is actually written into the scripts, and no wonder, for often her own adventures in tracking down a story are just as hectic as the story itself.

Witness the day back in 1944 when she went into the Sierras to get the story of Tug McDaniel. Tug, brakeman on a sixty-car Southern Pacific freight train, was standing in the cab as the train started down the grade near Dutch Flat on a winter afternoon. He looked out of the window just in time to see a four-year old boy sitting right spang in the middle of the track, and his train-man's experience told him the engineer couldn't possibly stop that train in time. So Tug jumped, raced ahead of the engine down the track, picked up the child with one swoop and threw himself and the child headlong down the side of the embankment as the engine rolled past,

"Sorry Ma'am"

What Tug didn't know was that the baby's mother was racing for the child herself up the other side of the embankment. She couldn't see Tug leap from the cab, couldn't see him race with the train, pick up the child and throw himself off the tracks in the nick of time. All she knew was that her baby had been sitting on the rails and that the train had passed over the spot where he was. So when Tug, considerably out of breath, appeared around the side of the stopped train and handed avoid just such unpleasantness. She talked to McDaniel, had dinner with him and his wife, and left the next morning for Dutch Flat, where she was to see the mother of the baby Tug had rescued.

Pat had telephoned her arrival time in advance, and asked the owner of the sole cafe in town, where the bus stopped, to have the woman meet her. When she got up to get off the bus, a great towering man blocked her passage. "Who are you?" he wanted to know. Pat, somewhat bewildered, told him. "Hmph," was his only comment. "Ain't never seed you before."

With this delightful introduction to Dutch Flat, Pat got off the bus. It was pouring rain and there was no one to meet her. Finally she managed to find her way to the woman's

Predictions for '46

Once again, at the start of a new year, the news commentators of NBC have prepared predictions for the next twelve months. Here they are:

Robert St. John, New York — At home, more and more labor-management conflicts, with this issue dominating 1946 elections. Abroad, despite UNRRA help, wide-spread starvation in Europe and some epidemics. Despite the activities of professional Russia-haters, there will be an improvement in Anglo-American-Russian relations.

John W. Vandercook, New York—Long before end of 1946, most of the apparent causes for conflict among the big powers will have become a vague memory. All proposals for universal military training will have failed to get through Congress. Though there still will be sporadic skirmishes in China, that country will come within sight of a greater unity than it has ever achieved before, under a government no longer headed by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

Morgan Beatty, Washington — Soviet Russia and the United States will write and keep an armed truce in the interests of reestablishing world law and order—and promoting peace through UNO. A World Trade Congress will adopt an American program to re-establish commerce with a Russian amendment, favoring the cartel system.

Henry C. Cassidy, Paris—I predict wholesale turnover of western Europe political regimes in 1946. Franco will be overthrown by allied boycott followed by internal pressure. Leopold will be dethroned by the Belgian parliament. De Gaulle will encounter a crisis over a new constitution but will retain presidency of France with reduced powers in compromise with constituent assembly.

Max Jordan, Baselland — Present appearances to the contrary notwithstanding, central Europe's politics and economics will regain a fair amount of stability and normality this coming year. Momentum of public opinion everywhere will continue to assert itself for peace and against every form of radicalism. Chaos will be conquered and order restored considerably.

Roy Porter, Nuremberg — Predictions about this area of occupied Germany, most difficult particularly since the lack of food and fuel renders civilian life almost unbearable. At the same time, Washington directives are wholly inadequate, although the American army and military government are working as hard as possible. I predict that unless we get a new basis of operation from Washington soon, we are going to lose the peace as definitely as our fighters won the war.

W. W. Chaplin, New York—Atom bomb agreements will be made but violated and a production race will begin with international distrust heading us toward the inevitable catastrophe. Labor difficulties at home will ease after a serious crisis and prosperity will open the doors to inflation with depression expectable by 1947. English-speaking countries will form unofficial mutual protection block with Russia strengthening eastern European buffer fringe and leaning toward direct alliance with China.

Robert McCormick, Washington—For the first half of the year—a relatively mild depression. Then a boom, during which we'll have perhaps 5,000,000 unemployed, but those of us who do have jobs will have comparatively big incomes. In foreign affairs, confused policies will prevent the UNO from becoming a powerful world force. And we will one day suddenly find other countries are making atom bombs.

Leif Eid, Washington—International—The seeds of World War III will be sown in 1946 at a peace conference establishing spheres of influence, buffer states and island bases. National—Prices will rise in an inflationary spiral—labor troubles will be frequent despite passage of the Truman mediation measure—unemployment will increase—the housing shortage will grow more acute—Republican labels will be changed for Democratic ones following most of the state elections.

Larry Smith, Hollywood—American intervention in Chinese internal affairs, particularly in economics with definite trend away from the present Chiang Kai-Shek government. Collapse of the present government of Japan, with a new one based on far greater democratic freedoms—possible abdication of Hirohito in favor of his son. Public demand for anti-labor legislation in United States as economy drops to a new low and the veterans of World War II enter the home picture. Further swings away from the "New Deal" as a protest move rather than Republican policies, reflected first in the Congressional elections.

Alex Drier, Chicago—Naziism will remain substantially alive as a political force. Germany will have central government despite objections by the French—the Rhineland and Ruhr will remain part of the Reich. Communists will suffer additional setbacks in free elections and Franco will be assassinated or thrown out. The big three—in a broad sense—will achieve hoped-for cooperation and coordination not only in Europe—but also in Asia and the Pacific—China will have a coalition government including the communists. Japan will increase her "soft soaping" attitude. Germany will remain sullen, difficult to govern.

In this country, major labor strikes will all be out of the way by summer and production will hit its peak by the end of 1946 with industrial Dow Jones averages around 200. Stassen will loom larger as the 1948 Republican presidential candidate.

Lurene in Films

One of etherdom's most popular and capable actresses, Lurene Tuttle, has just given us the good word that she will soon make her initial bow in motion pictures. Lurene is scheduled for a role in Mervyn Leroy's much-talked-about forthcoming RKO production, "The Robe."

Lecture Tour

On January 2, John B. Hughes, Associated Broadcasting System news analyst, left his Hollywood headquarters for an annual nationwide lecture tour.

During his swing around the nation, Hughes will lecture to universities, business and professional groups and make general personal appearances, speaking on "America's Role in the Peace." First leg of the trip will be a New York state and Pennsylvania circuit, which will swing to the mid-west early in February.

Hughes is expected to return to Hollywood in mid-April. His newscasts will be heard at their original times.

By VIRGINIA WEST

It's a lucky day, any day, for people who attend ABC's daytime audience participation shows. For instance, on "What's Doin', Ladies" (KECA at 2 p.m.) the other day we saw a lucky lady not only win the "Cinderella" contest which gave her a beautiful pair of shoes AND a pair of Nylons... but a make-up kit, a compact, a huge bottle of cologne, and an orchid corsage! Perry Ward, emcee on the fast-moving funfest, also awards other contest winners prizes like new radios, new kitchen ranges, lovely watches, and other hard-to-get items.

John Nelson, who plays host on the Monday through Friday "Bride and Groom" show (now KECA at 3 p.m.) really dispenses the valuables, however. The "Bride and Groom" of the day always receive beautiful wedding rings, a wedding outfit, and flowers, plus all kinds of other things like honeymoon trips, matched luggage, silver dinner service, vacuum cleaners, etc.

And not to be outdone by the coast shows, Johnny Olson's "Ladies Be Seated" (KECA at 12:30 p.m.) which originates in New York, recently added a new prize to its already impressive list of awards... To the winner of the "Singing Housewife" contest, Olson gives a complete outfit of clothing and and accessories from one of the nation's top fashion houses.

Speaking of big prizes... Here's an extra special scoop! Tom Breneman of "Breakfast in Hollywood" fame, and Hedda Hopper, Hollywood columnist and ABC star, will very soon announce a TERRIFIC combination contest! And when you hear what the first prize will be... well, we'll let you in on the secret... It will be a week's air trip to visit the fashion centers of London and Paris!

So ladies, if you're not too busy, write for tickets and attend the broadcasts... YOU might come away with a new house and lot!

William Hall—News—7 a.m.

WHAT'S NEW: There's a new time, as you may have discovered, for that popular daily "Radio Parade" with Bob Nichols... Bob is now on KECA, Mondays through Fridays at 1:15, with his up-to-the-minute news on the radio scene... Have you heard Louella Parson's new quarter-hour show on Sunday evenings at 6:15 on ABC? The increased time permits Miss Parsons to augment her coverage of movie news and gossip, present more special features, and interviews with Hollywood's great... The Kellogg Company has renewed their sponsorship of ABC's "Breakfast in Hollywood" for another year... Tom Breneman's show continues its merry way sponsored by Proctor and Gamble from 9:30 until 9:45, and by Kellogg from 9:45 until 10.

Williams Hall—News—7 a.m.

The current issue of "Metronome," well-known musical monthly, is a special Woody Herman number. There are 38 pages of story and pictures, giving the entire history of the band and its individual members, most of whom are popular poll winners. "The Woody Herman Show" is heard every Saturday at 5 p.m. on ABC-KECA... Her fame has travelled far... We mean Marjori Hunt, gal producer on ABC's "What's Doin', Ladies"... This week Marjori received, via express, a whole bag of Idaho's best potatoes! The "spuds" came from that state's governor, Arnold Williams.

Williams Hall—News—7 a.m.

HERE AND THERE: To Al Pearce's low-pressure salesman, "Elmer Blurt," is accredited this gem... Elmer says that high altitudes bother him so much he gets dizzy when he eats a three-decker sandwich!... Orson Welles, ABC Sunday commentator (KECA at 10:15 a.m.) heads for New York where he will collaborate with Cole Porter on a new musical... Five hundred juke-box operators over the nation rank Sammy Kaye's version of "Chickery Chick" as the most played number... Chet Lauck and "Tuffy" Goff (Lum and Abner on ABC at 8 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays) are gentlemen of the old school. Whenever they have pictures taken with visitors to their program, the boys simply say: "Thanks for letting us have our pictures taken, with you."

Norman Randolph Field is instructor in the course which will meet weekly on Tuesday mornings.

Another section of the same course, designed for the convenience of business people, opened the following evening, January 9, and will meet weekly on Wednesdays from 8 to 10 p.m.

On January 30, the University will open an evening course in television, with Don C. McNamara as instructor and on February 1, a course in radio speech training opens with Patricia Challengren as instructor.

Baby Shop

Friends of air actress Betty Winkler will be glad to know that her mother, Mrs. Paula Winkler, has moved to Los Angeles and recently opened a baby shop in the Beverly Hills Hotel. "It's something I've always wanted to do," Mrs. Winkler said, "and I hope Betty will be able to join me some day."

Who's He?

When the front page of a recent newspaper flashed the picture of a Captain Carleton Young about to marry a Chinese girl dancer, KHJ-Don Lee received an anguished phone call

"Is that Carleton Young your Carleton Young... the man who plays the "Count of Monte Cristo?" an excited feminine voice wanted to know.

The answer was reassuring, but apparently not comforting... that the "man with the romantic voice" on the network's Tuesday evening Dumas dramas was already quite happily married, and the father of three growing youngsters!

Turnabout

Art Gilmore, familiar actor-announcer recently returned to Radio Row from active duty in the Navy, found himself on the outside-looking-in the other day. He stood in line for forty-five minutes awaiting admittance to view the CBS "Lux Radio Theater" broadcast of "Pride of the Marines".

Among Those Present

When Keenan Wynn co-starred on CBS' "This Is My Best" with Rosemary De Camp, he had some stiff competition for the attention of the bobby-soxers. Sitting in the client's booth interestedly observing the broadcast was Hollywood pin-up boy, Peter Lawford.

ACADEMY Award winner Barry Fitzgerald assumes the character of Judge Bernard Fitz in "His Honor, the Barber." The judge dispenses justice in his own way on the new NBC program, aired Tuesday evenings.

JANET Logan and Peggy Webber play principal roles in NBC's popular daytime program, "Dr. Paul," heard Monday through Friday at 3:45 p.m. (PST).

ISH KABIBBLE of Kay Kyser's "College of Musical Knowledge" looks the way he sounds on NBC.

WORDMASTER Haven MacQuarrie brings his popular fun quiz, "Noah Webster Says," to NBC's West Coast listeners at 9:30 p.m. (PWT) every Monday.

Fashions IN HOLLYWOOD

By BERTIE NICHOLS

A LITTLE-GIRL suit with a big sister look is ANNE WHITFIELD'S choice for those Sunday morning rehearsals at Radio City where she plays "Penelope" on One Man's Family. Her brief red and white check pleated skirt is topped by a snugly fitted jacket whose buttons, collar, pockets and trimming repeat the check. Anne wears white shoes and carries a white string handbag in her neatly gloved hands.

ANNE WHITFIELD

ANOTHER SMART YOUNG MISS who is following in her mother's footsteps is SANDRA BURNS, daughter of NBC's George and Gracie. Sandra has a grey flannel suspender dress which is fashioned just like her mother's—high fitted waistband with suspenders forming cap sleeves and fastening at the waist with large pearl buttons. Full skirt combined with white wool jersey blouse.

DAWN BENDER, who is known to her radio listeners as "Margaret" on Barry Fitzgerald's show. His Honor, the Barber, favors a Pacific blue velveteen dress with basque top and full gathered skirt—the neckline and long sleeves edged in a crisp white lace—while on her pigtails she ties two matching velveteen ribbons.

SUGGESTION OF THE WEEK: Take a discarded man's jacket and make it into a coat for your Small Fry fashion plate, is the advice of Mrs. Opie Cates. Mrs. Cates says that since children's clothes have been so scarce and good wool even more difficult to secure, she recommends making the most of what is on hand. Use a bright contrasting color wool for the collar and front facing, plus new lining crepe to match and four new buttons to provide the finishing touches.

MINDS AT EASE—Judging by the alert expressions on the faces of Duffy's Tavern regulars, Eddie the Walter (Eddie Green) and Clifton Finnegan (Charlie Cantor), there'll be no trouble in adding the check and making change. The only problem seems to be: Who'll be cheated? You guess.

TWO BOBS! Bob Hope grabs a light from Bob Burns' pipe before going on the air at NBC in Hollywood recently.

ANNIVERSARY. The O' Professor, Kay Kyser, offers flowers and congratulations to Dinah Shore and George Montgomery on the occasion of their second wedding anniversary.

WILSON Foster, NBC commentator, is shown here in the first network interview with Lt. Gen. Robert Eichelberger on the latter's return from a four-year tour of duty in the Pacific area. Foster is heard with John Storm on "Okay for Release" Mon. through Fri. at 5:00 p.m. (PST).

SONG STYLIST

Songstress Anita Ellis is now heard on the NBC "Red Skelton Program," Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m.

ANITA ELLIS

FEATURES IN NEWS

Art Baker comments in his informal style on interesting news of the day Mon. through Fri. at 10:45 a.m. (PST) over NBC.

MUSICAL DIRECTOR

Thomas Feloso, NBC musical director, conducts the music on "Pacific Story," heard Sunday nights at 10:30 p.m. (PST).

CHURCH PROGRAM
 Harry McNaughton of CBS' "It Pays to Be Ignorant" spent his New Year's Eve producing the annual entertainment at the Roslyn, Long Island, Presbyterian Church.

NEW HOME
 George Fisher, KECA's popular movie commentator, is currently beaming over the word that construction on his new Beverly Hills home will begin in January.

FAN-FARE!
 From California, an avid admirer of Helen Hayes addressed a fan letter to her as "That Great Actress, Helen Hayes, c/o CBS, New York."

Gallery" show, and his wife, June Alyson, proficient sailors, they are excellent skiers as well. They abandoned their boat for the holidays and spent New Year's in the mountains doing some fancy Christies.

Customer's Always Right

Another amusing KHJ story came to us this week. When the Bureau of Power and Light in Los Angeles had a power failure recently, that station, along with others, went off the air. An irate listener, interrupted in the middle of his favorite broadcast, called the station and demanded to know why.

Patiently, the switchboard operator explained what the trouble was. It was too much for the customer.

"Omigawd, lady!" he exploded. "Why don't they announce it on the air!"

'Lux' Has a New Host

writing are 1) that Fannie Hurst is doing the screen play of his Carrie Jacobs Bond picture, 2) that he has the largest grapefruit he has ever seen growing, in his back yard, and 3) that he has just received an invitation to do a series of lectures on motion pictures.

Born in Philadelphia, William Keighley's background in show business includes twelve years as an actor, ten as a producer and director. (Movies he produced include "God's Country and the Woman," "Green Pastures," "Brother Rat" and "No Time for Comedy.") His early experience traveling with Chautauqua was followed by acting and stage directing in New York, London and Paris.

In his role as host of radio's institutional "Lux Radio Theater," he is happy to be working again with many of the performers he worked with in the past on the stage and on the sound sets. Prior to this air assignment, his radio appearances had been infrequent. He likes radio because "it dispels anonymity." "A producer's name is seldom familiar to the general public," he pointed out.

He doesn't suffer from "mike fright," is nervous only during rehearsals. During his first weeks at the "Lux" microphone, he used the Sunday afternoon preview (audience show for servicemen) as a testing ground for his delivery. "I wanted to decide which was better — a homey, chatty style of talking or a friendly but more authoritative tone. The latter proved the most effective."

Studies Recordings

Keighley keeps a record of every broadcast, plays them over at his home, studying them for improvements. "It's a good thing we have no close neighbors," he laughed. "They'd certainly get sick of hearing the 'Lux Radio Theater.'"

Although he is termed the show's "producer," Keighley pointed out that he does not direct the "Lux" presentations and isn't present during the preliminary rehearsals. He does, however, give the program the benefit of his many years of experience, making suggestions for forthcoming shows whenever he feels his ideas will help to make a superior production. He speaks the highest praise for radio's regular performers. "Those AFRA actors are amazing!" he exclaimed.

He has obtained a number of worthy suggestions from the mail he has received from his listeners since his acceptance of the radio post. "And," he added earnestly, "as much as I can manage it, I am answering the letters which I receive. I greatly appreciate them."

He is also pleased by the voluntary testimonials he has been receiving from the program's sponsor—such as the note from the New York laundress who for years has washed the costumes for many a top Broadway show, "currently the voluminous skirts worn in "Bloomer Girl." "Yes," smiled Mr. Keighley, "she uses Lux!"

He is also still laughing over the time he recently tended store for a groceryman friend, and sold a customer a box of Lux flakes! "I'm probably the only person in radio," Keighley reported proudly, "who has ever actually gotten out and sold his sponsor's product over the counter!"

"but not in the old days." Barb has always liked good stage plays, but as for flickers . . . "ah, here," she confides, "I didn't miss a one, and I yearn to be on the screen someday."

There were times when her youth held her back. But with typical Fuller stick-to-itiveness, she usually won her point—or the part. She once played a forty-six-year-old woman for three months.

While still in Chicago, she was wanted for two different network airshows, whose times, unfortunately, followed one another. Barb didn't decline. For over a year, she dashed from the second floor of one building, across the street, up to the eleventh floor of another building in four minutes.

Following two years in New York she finally realized her dream of coming to California last May. But life won't be perfect for Barbara until her mother, Georgia, joins her. "And that," says Barbara, "we hope to accomplish soon. You don't know of any apartments, do you?"

She loves to walk, bicycle or just sit and look at the lovely California setting. "It's so beautiful," she enthuses.

As one of radio's most smartly attired actresses, she prefers tailored things. Her pride and joy is her mink coat (which she bought out of her own earnings) and her favorite extravagances are shoes. She rarely wears hats.

At present she is living in the Hollywood Studio Club, but when she gets that apartment she'll be well stocked. For she can't resist buying pottery, china and silverware.

Love Interest?

She looks forward to getting married and having a home and family. There was a young Air Corps officer in her life but, at this writing, Barb is busy playing the field. She finds night-clubbing fun, but so is a quiet evening with her close friends, the Les Mitchels.

She is a Carlton E. Morse devotee and loves working with him. She would someday like a show of her own, featuring a series of comedy and dramatic stories. But above all, she hopes that she can continue on radio for thirteen times thirteen years.

house. She got her story, got back to the cafe to catch the six o'clock bus. By this time it was snowing, and Pat was foundering through the snow in those open-toed shoes.

Six came and no bus. Seven came, still no bus. Inquiry revealed that the roads had been blocked by the storm and no traffic was being allowed through.

She was cold and she was hungry. She asked the cafe man, where she sat waiting for the bus, for some dinner. There was not only no food: there was not so much as a glass of milk. And she had had nothing to eat since breakfast that morning.

Only Woman

But worse than that, she was worried about how she was going to get back to San Francisco. Mark had said to have the story in his hands by nine o'clock the following morning, and she was determined to see that it was. So she looked around the cafe for a sympathetic face. Most of the truck drivers by this time were pretty thoroughly drunk. She was the only woman in the cafe and she was feeling more uncomfortable by the minute. Now, Pat says, she'd take things like that adventure in stride, but when it happened she hadn't been on the job very long and Dutch Flat was a rough, tough world.

Finally one driver took pity on her, offered to take the chance of giving her a lift to the next town. They started out to the truck to get in. As they got up, the door to the cafe opened and in walked his inspector. The truck driver dropped Pat like a hot potato, went out to the truck and drove off. Pat disconsolately sat down again.

Eventually the bus came along. Pat had to flag it by standing in the middle of the road in the snow with her arms outstretched so that it was either a case of stop or kill. The bus was filled and the driver refused to add her to the load. By fast talking, she managed to persuade him to let her stand in the aisle, and stand she did . . . all the way.

Instead of going into San Francisco, the bus stopped at Vallejo. She got there at four in the morning, NBC's Cass Daley, who turned the handicap of buck teeth into a money-making asset, is starting a "Handicapper's Club" for handicapped children. The idea is to encourage the kids to strive for success.

Dinah Shore rounded out 1945 by setting a new record in poll-winning, tallying her eighth victory in the year. In 1944 Dinah won seven national polls as top girl popular singer.

KFVD

By B. J. Hammer

KFVD ANNOUNCERS and newsmen Fred Allison, formerly of KNX, Hunter Hancock of "Harlem Holiday" and David Hall who also does the "County Barn Dance".

THE NEXT TIME we visit station KFVD, we're expecting to walk up to a big, modern glass, brick-fronted building—at least, that's what Howard Grey, commercial manager of the station has promised us!

Right now, the station is in the middle of being redecorated, and in spite of the usual disorganization that accompanies such plans, it's apparent that soon it will be one of the most attractive small stations in Southern California.

Mr. Grey conducted us on a quick look-around, and we were very impressed at the well-organized and equipped control room, and the gigantic record library that lines its walls. The station has approximately 7000 records and 500 transcription hours.

One of the best known of the record shows, Hunter Hancock's "Harlem Holiday," is a feature of KFVD. It spotlights the recordings of the best in Negro jazz, and Hunter has as his guests most of the big names in that field. Count Basie, Jimmy Lunceford, Nat Cole, Earl "Father" Hines and many others have been interviewed on the show. Because so many of the leaders have local engagements that conflict with "Harlem Holiday" program time, some of the interviews are transcribed by Hunter and played on the show later. The program has a very large juvenile audience, the largest musicians' audience, and all of Central Avenue as enthusiastic fans.

KFVD also has the longest continuous record show on the air—"Von's Victory Parade," which is heard from 9:15 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

Cliffie Stonehead's "Covered Wagon Jubilee" is another favorite. On the air two years, it took over popular Stuart Hamblen's spot and continued to win its own popularity with audiences. Dal Williams' "Newsical Time" is the only program on a small station sponsored by the Firestone Company. It's a well-balanced, three-hour program of news and carefully chosen music.

Popular Starting Point

Back in 1933, none other than Tom Breneman was manager of the station. Others who have gone from KFVD to become well known in the radio scene are Mark Breneman, John Conte, John Kennedy, Ted Myers and Bob Swan. Paul Myers, now a member of the crew of the "Good Ship Grace," was once an announcer at the station. Which goes to show that a small station is the best entry to big time radio. Unfortunately everybody has that same idea. At least, according to Howard Grey, "We get between sixty and seventy applications for announcing jobs every week, on the telephone alone. People are perfectly willing to sacrifice three hundred and four hundred a month jobs for a two hundred a month job announcing on a small station." He estimates that there are perhaps 300 announcing jobs in this district, and about 3000 people trying to get them. He was careful to point out that most of KFVD's announcing staff have been with the station for some time, including, besides those already mentioned, announcers David Hall, Fred Allison and George Wilhelm.

Good from Catastrophe

During what Californians still refer to as "The Big Wind of '39," KFVD's antenna tower blew down in the middle of a news broadcast. Three-and-one-half hours later the station was back on the air through the efforts of radioites who rigged up a makeshift tower on a nearby telephone pole. The telephone company worked all that night putting up a steel pole for the station to use as a tower. LIFE magazine carried pictures of KFVD's catastrophe—which proves that something good comes of everything.

Though the station has no salesmen, all its time is sold out. Star Outfitting Company has twelve years of continuous sponsorship—which sounds as if it could be some kind of a record.

The only black cloud on KFVD's otherwise happy existence is the fact that it does not operate on a full-time schedule. At present its air time starts at 6:00 a.m. and it ends at

Thar's GOLD In Them Thar Hillbillies

By Lynn Roberts

SON OF A BAPTIST MINISTER, Roy Acuff rose to fame with his singing of a religious folk number called "The Great Speckled Bird".

Saturday, 7:30 p.m.
NBC-KFI

"IM SINCERE," said Roy Acuff simply. He prefaced our chat with that statement, and wrinkled his forehead in earnestness as he spoke the words.

It seemed incongruous indeed to find this homey backwoods boy with the twang of the Tennessee mountains in his voice, his lean face coated with movie makeup, his slight figure bent forward over a booth in the busy eatery across from Republic studios. In Hollywood for his 7th film assignment, in "Night Train to Memphis," Roy Acuff still appeared as little suited to this atmosphere of tinselled make-believe as a sprig of mountain laurel in a corsage of orchids.

He readily admitted that he "don't go much for this picture business." "It's jest a sideline," he shrugged, shaking his dark curly head of hair in a gesture of bewildered acceptance of the good fortune Fate is continually strewing in his path. "Y'know," he pondered, "it's a fact. Everything I touch jest seems to turn to gold."

Huge Audience

For eight years now, Roy Acuff and his Smoky Mountain Boys have been pleasing the public with their distinctive delivery of American folk music on NBC's popular "Grand Ole Opry." Back in Nashville, Tennessee (where the broadcasts emanate except when Acuff's film work necessitates his being "cut in" on the show from Hollywood's Radio City), some four to five thousand people congregate weekly to witness this folksy session of laughter and song. The auditorium has consistently been filled to capacity, with standing room occupied and people lined outside.

"The folks come and bring their families and we jest have a real good time together," is Roy Acuff's unpretentious way of putting it.

The same people come week after week and sit in the same seats. Roy looks for their friendly faces, and if they are absent, he leans over the footlights and asks their neighbors where they are. Invariably, they are absent only when illness has made it impossible to attend.

Between broadcasts, Acuff and his aggregation make personal appearance tours around the countryside, entertaining both gatherings that number into the thousands and small groups of a hundred and less in remote areas where the only theater is a crudely-constructed little room lighted by a lantern.

Acuff himself lives outside of Nashville in a log cabin, backwoodsy, but containing pleasant evidences of the luxury in which its owner finds himself ensconced. The house, its rooms built on different levels, has a large living room and fireplace, and a pleasurable recreation room.

Roy is married to a girl who used to live just four blocks from him. "I don't think my wife ever went with anyone except me," he reminisced, "but I went with everybody. Then, on my way home, I'd pass her house and see the lights still on, so I'd go in to have some coffee with her and her mother. Afore we got married, I drunk so much coffee I'd like to get sick!"

Admits a Temper

The Acuffs now have a two-year-old son, Roy Neil. "He's learnin' a lot of new words these days," his proud father related. "He says things like 'Daddy's car.' I would a' brought him out here with me this time, only I could jest see him in the dinin' car on the train, throwin' his potatoes around. He's got a temper like me."

Roy readily admitted having a temper. "When I git mad, I set my head and can't be moved no more'n a mule." But where his work is concerned, he controls his temper.

"I don't believe my boys and me have had an argument," he declared. Acuff is conscientious about the responsibility of having in his control the careers of the men in his Smoky Mountain ensemble. He plans to set each of them up in a business of his own choosing "so they'll have somethin' to fall back on."

Acuff hopes soon to take what he terms "a vacation." It will be an absence from the microphone, but he intends to spend the time traveling with a tent show. "I used to do it so I know what it's like," he and various species from the sea, boomerangs, a "rain scene" which seems almost too real and walls covered with tapa cloth. There is a "China Room," so named because of its grinning Buddha, and a "Cannibal Room" bearing the above spears and tongs.

Its most frequent patrons would fill the who's who of radio. Der Bingle and his family drop in, Rudy Vallee and his guests are a Thursday night regular, Cass Daley, Wendell Niles, Don Prindle and Bob Hope and Jim and Marian Jordan can be spotted at their favorite tables.

In the center of the main room stands a four-windowed glass case containing the private chop sticks of many famous people. You don't rate these unless you actually use them . . . or make the attempt. Among the names on the sticks can be found those of Amos and Andy, Fibber McGee and Molly, Marlene Dietrich and Jimmy Doolittle.

Service is excellent, partly due to the capable staff of 65, but largely due to the efforts of lovely owner, Cora "Sunny" Sund. Contrary to legend, it is not Don who owns and operates the Beachcombers but the blonde ex-school teacher from Minnesota. Since she bought it twelve years ago, the eatery has moved from its original location across the street and has enlarged twofold, both in size and business.

Sunny, who is somewhat like a queen, herself, occupies the Queen's Chair at the King's Table near the entrance to the dining room. This exclusive table was made from a giant tamarind tree, which was a gift from the Chinese Government to the Queen of Hawaii many years ago. In the center of it rests the official crest of the Beachcombers bearing Sunny and Don's names. If neither is using the table it is sometimes offered for a patron's occupancy.

During the course of the evening Sunny moves silently about the Beachcombers, overseeing the dining room, bar and kitchen and greeting the guests. The very attractive Miss Sund used to make her home in the apartment above her eatery but today owns a lovely home in the valley.

In the brightly lighted, spotless kitchen, which is soon to be enlarged, can be found many chefs who all belong to the same Chinese family of Lee. In the Chicago Beachcombers kitchen are the remainder of the Lee family who delight in calling up their cousins in California and chatting for hours. "They all have to take a turn at the phone," laughed Sunny.

Specializing in island dishes, the Beachcombers is popular with stars of radio and cinema. Rudy Vallee occupies the same table and is served by the same waiter weekly. He always orders barbecued spare ribs. Cass Daley and her husband, Frank Kinsella, are, in turn, fond of the pressed duck; Niles and Prindle relish the fried shrimp and egg roll; Bob Hope raves about the egg foyong and Billie Burke's favorite dish is mandarin squab. The tasty dishes offered by the Beachcombers are not prepared in advance but cooked to order.

Headwaiters "Larry" and "Pat," manager "Bud" Bachtold and shopkeeper, Mrs. Davidson have all become Beachcomber legends. Although many imitations of it have sprung into being through the years, only the Beachcombers in Hollywood and Chicago are the originals.

We'll soon visit Tom Breneman's colorful restaurant. Watch for it.

Keep An Eye on KFVD

4:45 p.m. It comes back on the air with "Newsical Time" at 10:00 p.m. and signs off at 1:00 a. m. However, they are having a hearing soon, and KFVD is hoping to have its power increased from 1000 to 5000 watts, and also to go on full schedule.

And, by the time owner Frank Burke comes back from the navy and walks up to the new glass brick-fronted KFVD, he's going to be pleased and surprised at the way in which his friendly little station is growing up.

told us, insisting, "There's not much to it."

Acuff and his boys never rehearse their songs before their broadcasts. "We know 'em, so why should we," Roy commented philosophically.

On his own part, he plays the fiddle and has a repertoire of close to two thousand songs, some of which he has written himself.

Some songs he finds he can't sing on the air because they make him cry. One of these is "Sad Memories," his own composition which he tried for six months to sing on his program before he could do it without breaking into tears. Roy is the son of a Baptist minister and first rose to fame with his singing of a religious folk number called "The Great Speckled Bird."

Wife Is Manager

Taking success in his easy, backwoods stride, Acuff concerns himself with neither the fame nor the fortune that it has brought him. His wife acts as his business manager and has complete charge of his financial affairs. Of the film earnings he is currently amassing, he drawled, "Now I'll take this money they're givin' to me here and carry it back home, and give it right to her."

In the same manner of placid unconcern, he never reads his fan mail, but has hired two girls to take care of it. "Why read it?" he reasoned. "If it has some criticism about a certain song, well then, no matter how hard you try, if you've read that letter, you're not goin' to be able to sing that song right any more.

"And," the Tennessean concluded in his folksy drawl, "if it's a letter with praise in it and you read it, well, you're apt to find yourself git-tin' a swell head!"

Meet Pat Barba

caught a cab to her home in Marin county. Three quarters of the way there, she remembered she'd left her notes on the bus. She had to call the station, get somebody willing to locate the notes, and go back after them.

But when she finally produced her story for Buckley the next day, it was complete down to the last detail, which is why Pat is one of the best researchers in the business. Brown haired, brown eyed, and young, she brings an unbounded enthusiasm to each assignment. Engineers and trainmen, accustomed to railroading being a man's world, are flabbergasted when she walks into a yard. At first, she confesses, she hadn't the foggiest idea what they were talking about, but now she can discuss high-balling and hot rods with the best of them.

Voice Similar

Pat by now is such a fixture in Southern Pacific circles that she is written into each Main Line script. Because Barbagelata is a mouthful, she's called Pat Barba on the air, and the part is played by Betty Lou Head, radio actress who was especially selected for the part because her voice so closely resembles Pat's own.

"The Main Line" format will change soon from a documentary story about Southern Pacific's history to a special series on Pacific Coast cities and towns on "The Main Line." When that happens, not only will Pat Barbagelata continue to do the research in real life, but Pat Barba on the air will be given a bigger role than ever . . . secondary lead to Ted Von Eltz, narrator on the show.

And Pat, of course, is looking forward to the new series with even more enthusiasm than she turned loose on the old. For what girl wouldn't like to go to the Arizona desert, Crater Lake, and Mexico, and get paid to do it?
