Sirs: If the technicians of the stations could listen to the loud music after the talking on the radio, they would tone the music down some. After the talking, comes the music that deafens a person. Cannot something be done?

Gloria Foreman, 415 Walnut Street, Bellflower, Calif.

Sirs: I have been trying to get tickets to several radio broadcasts without much luck. We received a letter from NBC saying that children under 14 may not be admitted to the studios. I wish to know why. If it's because of the noise, I think that's rather silly. Any child over 10 could be just as quiet as anyone else. Are all studios like that? If not, would you please tell me where to write for more tickets.

I would enjoy an article on "One Man's Family" with pictures of the cast.

Most radio programs are designed for adult audiences, so the stations are anxious to have studio audiences that give the same adult reactions they hope to create in their listeners. They feel that children are apt to create disturbances. This is a rule followed by all stations.

Mrs. F. S., Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: Why is it that there isn't a program for young children? My child and my neighbor's children enjoyed the "Uncle Harry" program on KPAS, Pasadena. "Uncle Harry" was so good for them, and if he told the children to clean their plates—their plates were cleaned. Can't we have him back?

Have you heard, "Uncle Whoa Bill" on KFAC, 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, and Smilin' Ed McConnell on NBC, Saturday mornings? KXLA says that "Uncle Harry" may come back, but so far the time is indefinite.

Mrs. Helyn R. Ford, 2025 West Bess Street, Baldwin Park, Calif.

Sirs: I would like to know what happened to Major Bowes. I've heard several different stories of why he is not on the air any more. Could you give us the facts?

According to the network, Major Bowes is in permanent retirement because of ill health.

Trudy Bonner, 4220 Tivoli Avenue, Venice, Calif.

Sirs: A bunch of us kids from Venice High School are wondering why you have never had an article on Mauri Cliffer of "Teen and Twenty Time."

We feel that Mauri has done more to promote good fellowship amongst the 'teen agers than any other person on the air. He has spared no efforts to bring guest stars to the Friday afternoon get-togethers of the various club groups. During the football and basketball seasons he al-

Quentin Ellis, 1325 West Fourth Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: If Mr. Carlton E. Morse of "OMF" considers his excuse to Radio Life and to his listeners sufficient regarding the death of "Irene," he is mistaken. It is very apparent that Mr. Morse is suffering from conscience qualms and rightly so, for this action is most unforgivable. At a time like this when the world is just emerging from years of tragedy and chaos, it seems unsuitable and wicked for Mr. Morse to thrust more unhappiness upon his listeners. His entire program has been cheapened and degraded by this episode and I, for one, have lost a great deal of respect for Mr. Morse and his radio show.

According to Carlton E. Morse the death of "Irene" is an occurrence that could happen in any family: "Please consider this tragic turn in the lives of the 'Barbours' another stern reminder to DRIVE CAREFULLY."

man's day off, she delights in doing the family cooking. In the same manner, although they have a hired man, Jim enjoys performing the variety of odd jobs around the house and yard. A handy man with his hands Mr. Jordan has built the attractive lawn furniture that is placed invitingly in the spacious grounds surrounding their two-story California Monterey type house.

Recently, his labors have turned toward the care of the shrubs in his nursery and the building of some hundred redwood flats in which to place the new-born plants. He is also working on a play-pen for little Diane, the comparative newcomer who occupies the choicest spot in the Jordans' hearts.

In real life, Marian and Jim have two children, Kathryn and Jim, Jr. The latter has lately been appearing on the "McGees'" show doing a variety of character roles. He is a contract player at RKO film studios. His wife, Carmela Bergstrom, is a Paramount film player.

YOU COULD feel the let-down in the studio, and you just knew the listeners at home were experiencing the same disappointment," one of "Fibber and Molly's" NBC co-workers related. He was referring to a Tuesday a few weeks ago when Marian "Molly" Jordan was unable to join husband Jim—the fabulous "Fibber"—at the microphone for the weekly Tuesday night frolics of the "McGees."

Everyone was disappointed—but, most of all, "Molly" herself. She was home in bed, listening to the show and enjoying it as much as any other dialer—"but all the time," she added wistfully, "I was wishing I could be there!"

Whether it be at the microphone or at home, the Jordans are seldom apart—only during the "break" in their radio rehearsal, when they emerge on Vine Street to partake of a light lunch. Marian usually favors the Brown Derby, while Jim customarily heads for "George's", the sandwich shop just across from the NBC studios. After the broadcast, the couple enjoys a leisurely dinner together at the Derby.

Seldom Recognized

It's interesting to note that the fans and autograph-seekers who throng outside the studio gates seldom recognize Marian and Jim as the famous "Fibber and Molly." Most of their public know the Jordans only as the lovable, laughable residents of "79 Wistful Vista."

Actually, too, the Jordans are not very different from the McGees. Their private life is normal and wholesome, wholly devoid of any Hollywood artificiality.

Away from the microphone, their life centers in their Encino home. There is a housekeeper, but Marian still likes to do many of the household tasks herself and on the wo-

He is now stationed ashore, but was on duty in the Pacific up until the birth of their daughter, the aforementioned little Diane, and arrived back in the States on the very day of her birth, May 18th, which also happens to be the Goodmans' wedding anniversary.

Diane, of course, has become the Jordans' pride and joy. Mrs. Jordan greatly enjoys the times when she has complete care of her. The baby, dark-haired, blue-eyed, good-natured, looks a good deal like both her mother and Marian.

Mrs. Aldrich's

Boy,

Henry

Has Come Back from Four Years in
The Army to Amuse Dialers with His
Squeaky Voice and Screwy Antics

EX-MASTER SERGEANT Ezra Stone, who plays Henry Aldrich, experienced happenings in the Army that equalled Henry's air shenanigans.

Friday, 9 p.m.
CBS-KNX

A sharp mind and a chubby good-natured face. A penchant for getting in and out of mischief.

Unwitting victim of humorous incidents.

That's ex-Master Sergeant Ezra Stone, squeaky-voiced Henry of the "Aldrich Family," who was recently caught in the Army's demobilization program after four years of service and whose antics during that period proved that he never really stepped out of the Henry role.

Known as the only "all-American waterboy" for the Fourth Air Force Flyers' football team in California, Ezra was catapulted into the job of radio publicity director for the team because he happened to be standing near his commanding officer at the time.

Thus, with the rare acumen sometimes characteristic of the Army, Stone, who had seen only one football game in his life, was ordered to go ahead and be an expert. Gathering his bewildered wits together, he collected all the books on football he could find and proceeded to study the phraseology of the game as he would a radio script. As a result he became genuinely interested in the sport and ended up talking about "single wing" and "mouse-trapping" with the nonchalance of an expert.

In relating the saga of his experiences, Stone recalled the time, just before a night football game with the Washington Redskins, when he asked the secretary of the Los Angeles baseball team to call off his game because of the conflicting dates. The secretary, Stone said, became indignant, threatening, and ended a long tirade with an emphatic "NO."

Unique Tactics

Undaunted by the man's unneighborliness, Stone acquired an Army sound truck and paraded around the baseball park announcing the coming football game. With loud screams of pain, the surly secretary rushed out and threatened an injunction, to which Stone calmly replied, "It will be rather difficult, sir, to get an injunction on the United States Army."

The next night he and several of his "staff" walked through the parking lot of the baseball park and attached bumper signs to the rear of the cars, with the result that the citizens of Los Angeles were treated to the incongruous spectacle of baseball players unwittingly advertising a football game. The largest sign, of course, was attached to the secretary's car.

At another time, while operating the sound truck at eleven o'clock at night on Hollywood boulevard, his vehicle was suddenly surrounded by siren-wailing police cars converging from all directions. It turned out that the loud speaker had blared out through the valley for miles and people from as far away as neighboring towns were making the desk sergeant's formerly placid existence a nightmare with their complaints.

Ezra also recalls the morning before an important game with Randolph Field, when he had to chauffeur All-American Bill Dudley to the field in a jeep. Dudley, the rivals' star, had played half the season with the Fourth Air Force before being transferred and as Ezra declares, "I really gave him a ride." Dudley arrived at the field white and shaken after that experience and, of course, Stone's team won the game.

His greatest thrill came the day General H. H. Arnold entered the field just as Jack Jacobs, the Flyers All-American from Oklahoma, caught the opening kickoff and raced down the field ninety-five yards for a touchdown.

When his discharge came through, Ezra boarded a plane for the East wearing his uniform, but carrying the only civilian clothes he could buy because he wanted to meet his wife as a civilian. Just before the plane reached Washington, D. C., Ezra slunk into the plane's washroom with his suitcase and, balancing himself on one leg, proceeded to change his clothes. Then, before the startled gaze of the bug-eyed stewardess, he stepped out sartorially brilliant in a yellow sport shirt, slacks, brown suede jacket and light brown shoes.

"No," she moaned, though with a faint tinge of admiration in her voice. "What happened to the soldier that went in there?" Stone told her

IN MY opinion, juvenile delinquency is a reflection on the homes, parents and environments of children—not on jazz," said young Leonard Sues emphatically. Leonard is in a good position to know, he's been in show business since he was five and is now the conductor and jazz trumpet soloist on Eddie Cantor's show. "If parents haven't given their children a decent philosophy, they can't blame music. After all, jazz bands play in the Philharmonic and Carnegie Hall now. The older generation had worse things than jazz—remember dance marathons?"

Leonard is unique in the musical world in that he's the only trumpet player we've ever heard of who is also a dramatic actor. In the Broadway play "Johnny 2x4" Leonard played a trumpet . . . and a gangster. In "Sons and Soldiers" he did a straight dramatic part, sans horn. An actor by the name of Gregory Peck was also in the cast.

When the life of the late, great jazz trumpet man, Bix Beiderbecke—"Young Man with a Horn"—is filmed, Leonard is pretty certain to be playing the lead, both dramatically and musically. Leonard has listened to and studied the records of the fabulous Bix and of Louis Armstrong since he first became a trumpet student and thinks they have both influenced his style. They are still his favorite trumpet players and he adds Harry James to that list as a popular favorite. "A musician hears so many records and jam sessions that when he plays he retains certain things that he remembers and admires. But remember, the public still has to like it—at least a little bit. Lots of musicians fluff off their audience, but I think it's possible to please both the musicians and the audience." Leonard admits that he enjoys all good music whether it's symphony or jazz. "A good musician is a good musician no matter which he plays," he added.

◀ THE SONG CHEFS, Jack, Dan and Carl Landt, literally "take it easy" while Dick Willard looks alert!

Monday-Friday, 8:30 a.m.
MBS-KHJ-KGB

BRING your sit-down chores, draw up a chair, relax, and TAKE IT EASY!

That's the idea behind "Take It Easy's" rollicking quarter-hour of mirth and melody presented for harried housewives who need a few minutes of leisure in the midst of their early morning housework. Old songs, new songs, and novelty songs are offered by those long-time favorites, the Landt trio, known on this broadcast as the "Song Chefs." Master Dick Willard gives out with queries regarding dozens of homemaking problems, running the gamut from how to defrost a refrigerator to repairing last summer's straw hat, to which Helpful Dan always knows the answers. Dick's not kidding when he gives the solution to one of these questions. His methods are tried and true and certain to give satisfactory results.

Rounding out the cast is Frank Novak and his Dinette Ensemble, featuring five of radio's most talented musicians. Frank, himself, has gained fame for his versatility, playing over forty legitimate musical instruments, plus hundreds of novelty ones. Al Duffy, a composer in his own right, takes care of the violin, Tony Getuso plays the guitar, Johnny Cole fingers the ivories and slaps the bass. Frank Novak just picks up whatever instrument isn't being used at the moment and fills in.

Dad Helped

The stars of the show, the "Song Chefs" are Jack, Dan and Carl Landt—real brothers, by the way. Their repertoire of songs is one of the most complete in musical history—and they admit that their seventy-year-old dad has been invaluable in putting them on the track of some really old-time melodies.

The three boys have been vocalizing together for quite a few years, but their entry into the musical world wasn't exactly what they had planned as individual careers. Dan was in the paint business, Carl was teaching chemistry and Jack still attending high school when they hooked up with Howard White.

White was the only one of the four who could read music, but they got along famously and soon began headlining on the vaudeville circuit. Perhaps their top assignment was playing "The Palace" in 1934, every

"Beulah" Stilled

Sudden passing of Marlin Hurt, well known and liked star of the "Beulah" program, shocked all Radio Row on Thursday, March 21. Feeling under the weather the preceding two days, Marlin visited his doctor Thursday morning and was ordered to bed. A friend drove him home and Mrs. Hurt was helping her husband into bed when he suddenly slumped and died in her arms, of a heart attack, a few moments later.

Marlin Hurt

Marlin, who would have been 41 next May 27, had risen rapidly in his radio career since coming to Hollywood about three years ago, but had been in radio since 1929 and had been interested in show business ever since boyhood. He pestered his father, a Duquoin, Illinois, theater manager, until he was given the job of carrying a spear in a mob scene, from there went on to dialects, with special interest in that of the Hurts' Negro cook, from whom Marlin got the inspiration for his Beulah characterization. After appearing in Hollywood on the Fred Brady show, Hurt was written into the Fibber McGee script by Don Quinn and his "Love dat man!" became a national catch phrase.

Since last July 2, Marlin had been starred in his own show on CBS. Into the broadcast time he would have occupied Sunday had he lived was scheduled a Marlin Hurt Memorial half hour, with Gordon Jenkins, one of Hurt's closest friends (dating from early radio association in St. Louis) conducting the music and many other musical friends playing in the orchestra.

All for Nylons

KLAC's Al Jarvis and Peter Potter stuck their necks 'way out last week—and all for the sake of publicity and about a hundred pair of nylons.

Celebrating the moving of the "Make-Believe Ballroom" show to 570 on the dial, Al and Peter promised to give away nylons. The rush was preceded by a parade, with the women (and men!) following a sound truck from which an announcer loud-speakered free nylons to the first persons claiming them. The paraders, leaving the corner of Selma and Vine in Hollywood, were drawn to KLAC at the corner of Cahuenga and Santa Monica where Jarvis and Potter were handing out the hose.

The nylons were disposed of within fifteen minutes, leaving in their wake walls of disappointed stockingless.

"How popular can you get?" grinned Jarvis and Potter, veritable wrecks after several hundred women had mobbed them.

To "Be-Bop" or Not

To "be-bop" or not to "be-bop" seems to be the $64 question along Radio Row; and what is rumored to have originated as a publicity stunt for Ted Steele, musical director of Station KMPC, has started a snowball of comment across the nation.

Radio Life, interested in the temp-est caused by Musical Director Steele's banning of "be-bop" music for the aforementioned station, has attempted to track down the facts to report to its readers.

Owner G. A. Richards of the "Station of the Stars" issued the following statement:

"In our opinion, the playing of 'hot five music,' which usually emphasizes suggestive lyrics, is a type of music that arouses degenerative instincts and emotions. We will not feature artists who continually try to reach the public with music of this type."

Young director Steele on March 12 issued a memorandum, in keeping with the station's conservative policy, forbidding the playing of any "hot five." Steele's press agent titled the brand of music in question "be-bop," due to the instrumental sound achieved by the rhythm, and released the item to various news services. The avalanche of response proved a source of surprise to Steele.

Steele, to date, has received hundreds of letters of commendation from persons throughout the United States. Adults prove themselves to be 100 per cent in favor, with 'teen-agers in 90 per cent accordance. Congratulatory letters include messages from the managing director of the Hollywood Bowl, and a score of churches and organizations across the nation.

Brickbats as well as roses have been heaped upon Steele, with local disc jockeys using the issue to further the sale of "be-bop" music and artists by claiming there is nothing suggestive about either the lyrics or music. The battle is on, but statistics prove that the sale of the banned melodies has jumped sky high since their thrust into the limelight.

Jarvis-Potter Split

Peter Potter is no longer cavorting with his chum, Al Jarvis, on the latter's "Make-Believe Ballroom," newly moved from KFVB to KLAC. It seems (according to KFVB's and Potter's own publicists) that Potter's KFVB sponsor ("The Smiling Irishman") didn't like the idea of having the southern-voiced disc jockey competing with himself. We're told that when the record-spinner joined Al Jarvis in his jump to the top-of-the-dial station, their agreement was not binding, as Pete's other sponsor ("The Irishman") was out of town at the time. When he returned, he signed Potter to a long-term contract, more lucrative than Jarvis could offer.

KECA mike memos

By VIRGINIA WEST

KECA has two recently inaugurated "situation comedy" programs which we think are "sure things" for the top rungs of the radio ladder. They are ABC's "Bill Thompson Show" on Monday nights at 7, and KECA's local show, "The Anderson Family," heard at 7 on Wednesday nights.

The Bill Thompson Show, built around the adventures and misadventures of Bill and his pals in the 40-room house he has just inherited from an uncle, whose "responsibility," to say the least, left much to be desired. Bill, in the script as in real life, is a recent dischargee from the Navy.

Bill Thompson

Speaking of Thompson's Navy "background," as a child his mother's favorite picture of him was one in which he wore a sailor suit . . . Then in 1943, he donned another sailor suit, this time "regulation," when he enlisted in the Navy. Here's a recent (and very good, too) picture of Bill, sans sailor suit!

"The Anderson Family," written by Howard Swart, who also plays the role of "Oliver," the husband who is always in some difficulty, includes in its cast such well known talent as Conrad Binyon, as "Junior"; Virginia Gregg as "Mary," wife and mother, and Charlie Lung as "Homer," the man who lives next door. This very humorous story of the lives of a small town family and their friends and neighbors, is heard every Wednesday night at 7, over KECA.

... 790 ... It's The Spot ...

NEW ON THE SCENE . . . Is "Question for America," ABC's own public opinion poll, heard Monday nights at 7:30 over KECA. The half-hour discussion of the "issue of the week" pools the opinions of five or more of ABC's correspondents, at home and abroad, in a radio symposium. Divergent views on the subjects discussed get a thorough airing . . . George Hicks, former chief of ABC's news staff in Europe, has resumed his weekly series of commentaries on current news and anecdotes drawn from his experiences . . . That's Tuesday night at 7:30 . . . In the public interest . . . "Fool's Money" is KECA's latest offering. Prepared in cooperation with the Bunko Detail of the Los Angeles Police Department, the shows are written by Walter Gering of the station's staff, and aired on Wednesday nights at 9:15. In narrative style, "Fool's Money" warns citizens against the many schemes of "bunko artists" . . . And speaking of public interest shows, KECA was awarded top honors for two of its shows in this field in Billboard Magazine's nationwide poll of radio editors. . . . The shows are "Jobs for G. I.'s" and "Design for Death."

... 790 ... It's The Spot ...

WE LIKED THIS ONE . . . There's a man in Brooklyn, N.Y., who won't ever again have to worry about losing his pocket watch. A recent contestant on ABC's "Detect and Collect" (KECA at 6:30 p.m. Thursdays) guessed from clues given him by emcee Fred Uttal that his prize behind the "magic curtain" was a chain. . . . It was a chain, at one end of which was a 17-jewel pocket watch and at the other, a golden pen knife . . . just like all watch chains. But there the normality ended. The chain itself was 18 feet long and weighed 900 pounds. . . . It was part of a ship's anchor chain!

... 790 ... It's The Spot ...

MUSIC STUFF . . . There's a new songstress on the Woody Herman Show, heard Friday nights at 8, on ABC-KECA. She's Lynn Stevens, who has replaced Frances Wayne as singer with the band. . . . From grammar school choral groups to the vocal spotlight with Paul Whiteman's orchestra on his Monday night (6 p.m.) "Forever Tops" show, has been an upward trail for Eugenie Baird. While in high school in Pittsburgh, she won an audition at KDKA and was signed for a three-a-week show. Later she sang with such bands as Tony Pastor, Jan Savitt, and Glen Gray. Then came featured vocal spots on such shows as Bing Crosby's "Music Hall," the "Supper Club" and others. Now she's reached the "Tops" . . . the Whiteman show. . . . If you like music from south of the border, then we recommend KECA's six-a-week "Fiesta Grande," which features the very best recordings by Latin-American orchestras . . . playing their latest and best toe-tickling tempos. That's Monday nights at 9:30, and Tuesday through Saturday nights at 11 o'clock.

On March 18 he married a girl he had first fallen in love with twenty years ago and hadn't seen since until a few months ago. She is the former Mrs. Darlene Sammons, of Hollywood, whom he first met when they were both youngsters playing in a Fanchon & Marco unit in 1926.

After the stage revue broke up, Arquette and Mrs. Sammons went their separate ways, married and had children. They re-met at a Hallowe'en party this year. By this time both were single again.

Although they had set a wedding date for March 22, they slipped away without even close friends knowing and got their license four days early. And, at the Little Brown Church in the Valley, in North Hollywood, they were married by the Rev. John Wells at 8:30 in the evening.

Besides their friends, next day they had to tell her daughter, Charlene, aged 11, and his son, Michael, 10, about it.

Iris

CBS' Columbia Square studios were saddened last week when the news reached the KNX station's personnel that nineteen-year-old Iris Menge had been killed in an automobile accident. Iris was the pretty blonde elevator operator whose gay voice and cheery manner made everyone who rode in her car feel like her friend.

The accident occurred late Monday night. Iris died the next afternoon without having regained consciousness.

NEXT WEEK

There's a fine birthday anniversary party in store for you next week! And the little seven-year-old miss who'll cut the cake is celebrating twenty-nine years of success and happiness. Sounds incongruous, doesn't it? But it's perfectly logical, and you'll understand why when you see Fanny Brice as "Baby Snooks" on our cover . . . Between the covers we visit those happily-weds Dinah and George Montgomery in their one-room love cottage . . . There's a profile on new bobby-soxer dreamboat, Mauri Cliffer . . . Les Mitchell's "Famous Radio Players", KNX's Staff Announcers, and the famed Burns and Allen script, which President Truman requested, are presented for your reading pleasure . . . Don't miss 'em!

severe attack of laryngitis, trouper Fanny determined to go on with the show, didn't give in to her afflicted throat until just a few hours before airtime.

Songs were then hurriedly cleared as Carmen Dragon and his orchestra, with singer Bob Graham, arranged a thirty-minute offering of musical selections.

Farewell

KHJ's "Spotlight Bands," the program which has brought the music of the top bands of the land to military camps and war plants throughout the nation on its 1,600,000-mile wartime tour, spotlights its transition to the postwar era with a farewell appearance to the Navy and Army on March 27th and March 29th, respectively.

Johnny Long and his orchestra will play from the hangar deck of the aircraft carrier "Wasp" at Bayonne, New Jersey, as the program bids adieu to the Navy. Ted Fio Rito and company play a "Spotlight" farewell to the Army when the program travels to Roswell, New Mexico, to salute the workers and military personnel who harnessed nuclear energy and developed the atomic bomb.

"Missing Heirs" Return

That novel and exciting radio program which helps to locate people who have a fortune coming to them, returns to the air starting Sunday, March 31st, 2:00 p.m., on ABC. By dramatizing the life of the person who made the will, or describing in detail the rightful heirs to money, the program hopes to locate those to whom the legacy rightfully belongs. A total fortune of some $2,000,000 has found its way to the right recipients via this airshow. The largest single settlement ever

AMONG THE GALAXY OF ENTERTAINERS THAT COME TO YOU EACH SUNDAY VIA NBC-KFI ARE THESE TWO PERSONALITIES—BOTH FAVORITES WITH MILLIONS OF RADIO LISTENERS FROM COAST TO COAST.

DENNIS DAY

Now back on the Jack Benny program (KFI Sundays at 4:00 and 9:30 p. m.) is Ireland's gift to radio. Dennis completed about two years in the Navy, during which time he and a troupe under his command entertained servicemen from Guadalcanal to Iwo Jima.

EVELYN

Evelyn, first lady of the Hour of Charm All-Girl Orchestra, plays her magic violin as the featured solo each Sunday over KFI at 7:00 p. m.

QUESTIONS!
 Is Bing Crosby color-blind? Why did Turhan Bey jilt Lana Turner? Will you ask June Haver to marry me? Are Jack Benny's wife and Fred Allen's wife sisters? I bet five dollars they were.
 That's just a small sample of the questions pouring in to Erskine Johnson on his KHJ-Mutual Don Lee program in response to his promise to answer questions about the stars.

RADIO TO BROADWAY
 CBS stars currently in Broadway shows include Gary Merrill of "The Second Mrs. Burton," in "Born Yesterday"; Horace Braham of the CBS School of the Air in "Antigone" and Mercedes McCambridge in the forthcoming "Twilight Bar."

made on the program was $150,000. A feature of "The Court of Missing Heirs" will be a seventy-five-dollar Victory bond, which will be given anyone who gives information leading to the discovery of a missing heir described on the show.

Just Like a Woman

Lionel Barrymore, CBS' "Mayor of the Town," tells us that his housekeeper "Marilly," played by Agnes Moorehead on the Saturday night show, has powers of persuasion both on—and off—the air!

Mr. Barrymore had become accustomed to taking his Saturday evening dinners at drive-ins during the two-and-a-half hours between his eastern and western shows . . . and poor Agnes "Marilly" Moorehead was practically forced to put up with the night air while munching those drive-in specials.

But Aggie had other ideas. Calling in person at a cheery Sunset Strip restaurant, complete with the longed-for chairs and tables, Miss Moorehead "fixed it up" with the head waiter for a royal reception to be given Mr. B. the following week—providing, of course, Miss M. could wheedle him into going there.

Miss M. wheedled and wheedled; Mr. B. groused and groused like an old bear . . . and finally decided to try dining indoors.

Mr. B. dined at the restaurant, enjoyed himself immensely, and Saturday night rolled around again to find a rather silent Agnes awaiting the "word" from her co-star. She got it! Mr. B. pronto asked when they'd leave for the Sunset Strip.

And now, Mr. Barrymore concludes, each Saturday night finds him persuading Miss M. to join him!

Name Change

A couple of weeks ago we did an article on radio actor Pat McGeehan (NBC's "Bill Lance" among many other things). Pat was enthusing over his newly-formed production company, "Pyramid Productions." The other day we ran into the McGeehans, Pat and Karen, and inquired how the production company was going. "We changed the name," laughed Pat, "it's now Teleways Productions". Karen claimed that sooner or later people were going to get around to saying—"If it's a Pyramid Production—it Sphinx!"

Academy Award Theater

"The Academy Award Theater of the Air" makes its microphone bow come Saturday, March 30th, 4:00 p. m., on CBS. Initial offering will be Bette Davis starring in "Jezebel," fol-vaudevillian's dream. "The Landt Trio and White" became one of the best known teams of the day, but with White's death the boys disbanded and headed for home.

For several years they continued their vocalizing on the side, but after appearing on a local radio station they received a call to New York, and from that day on their hours have been filled. The boys are heard ten times each week, over two different networks, one of their programs being Mutual's Monday through Friday "Take It Easy Time!" Rehearsals are riotous! Everyone gets in the act, from Producer Chet Miller, who joins in song, from the control man to Announcer Dick Willard who may pick out a tune on the piano while Al Duffy tries to compose a new musical number on top of a shelf of hats.

NBC's "A Date with Judy," is no longer just a fictitious character, enchantingly portrayed by pretty Louise Erickson. Louise recently received a snapshot of a cute little three-year-old miss of Rochester, N. Y., and an accompanying note that explained "When you came on the air, my Mommy and Daddy liked your name and named me after you." It was signed "Judy Foster."

What!

Bob Garred, CBS news reporter who just spent four years as a Naval Intelligence Officer, had been worried about finding a place to live on his return to Hollywood. Taking note of the desperate housing shortage, he phoned a friend to ask if he could put him up for a few days. "Sure," said the friend, "but why not buy the whole house? I'm going to New York to live. You can move in today!"

In Films Already

Ann Sothern, CBS' "Maise," and her actor-husband Robert Sterling, took the first color movies of their year-old daughter, Tisha, at her christening, and have continued to lens the baby every three months. They intend to keep this pictorial record of their daughter until her sixteenth birthday, when they will present the films to her. The baby's godfather, movie director Walter Lang, is editing the film.

Subtle

Watching a recent KHJ-Mutual Don Lee rehearsal of "Rogue's Gallery," we noticed producer Dee Engelbach has his own way of getting directions across. For instance the orchestra went one bar too far on background music . . . and Mr. Engelbach leaned over the communication mike to shout, "Petrillo just called!"

P. S. The orchestra got the idea.

Likeable Jay Stewart Gave Up Ten Ladies' Shows To Relax—Now He Only Works Seven Days

WE HADN'T been lunching with announcer-emcee Jay Stewart more than five minutes when he looked at us and announced, "Golly, it's our third anniversary."

"Wedding anniversary?" we asked, happy to note such a thoughtful husband.

"Huh uh,"—Jay waved the thought aside—"Not that. That comes in August. I mean the third anniversary of our coming to California."

It seems this major event in the lives of Jay and his actress wife, Beverly Barnes, never passes without a dozen big red roses to note the occasion. While wedding anniversaries are celebrated by a gala evening out, usually at the Players . . . which all goes to prove that Mr. Stewart is a very thoughtful husband.

"Oh, I don't know," modestly replied Jay. "Guess I'm just a family man at heart . . . and, by the way, you can't call me a 'Ladies' Man' any more, 'cause I've only got one 'missus show' to date."

Jay was referring to a previous article by Radio Life in which we dubbed him "Ladies' Man." This title was brought about by his participating in fifteen weekly ladies' shows. But we ended the argument by calling it a draw. Only one woman's show does take him out of the aforementioned class, but we wondered if those two charming ladies in his life don't put him right back in.

His "Harem"

Just like the proud father that he is, Jay pulled out a snapshot of a smiling, round-faced, pug-nosed, blue-eyed baby girl, held in the arms of her attractive mother. "My harem," he grinned. "And we don't care if we have six more like her" . . . pointing to the tiny moppet.

Since Jamie's arrival six and a half months ago, the Stewarts find they don't have as much time to spend with their Cincinnati cronies. With help so hard to find, they alternate their time in watching the baby. Jay spends three hours daily on "Meet the Missus," a major part of Saturday on "Truth or Consequences," and Sunday on "Money on the Line."

"That's a laugh," said Mr. Stewart, "because I left CBS in December to freelance and enjoy a little spare time. And look at me now! I'm working seven days a week — is that bad?"

Back to the baby, Jay gave us a minute-by-minute description (as it was given to him via the p.a. system) of little Miss Jamie's arrival. "There I was nervously pacing the hospital floor, when the p.a. would suddenly announce 'Papa Fix (Jay's real name) your time is drawing near.' When at last I learned I was the father of a baby girl I broke down and smoked my first cigarette in two years. Four minutes after her birth, Jamie made her mike debut—I heard her crying lustily. The p.a. heralded it as a personal greeting to me."

Neighbor Helps

If Mama Beverly is working, Jay tries to help out by minding the baby. If that's impossible, a kind neighbor across the way takes over. The Stewarts live in a North Hollywood court.

Someday they want to build, but first they want to rent. "It's been so long since we've had a home, we wouldn't dare to build one without living in a reasonable facsimile."

A big problem in Jay's life at the moment is his weight. "Bev says I'm getting too fat and has convinced me I should diet. That's a pretty big move in my life," he stated sadly, eyeing our roast pork. Then sighing, "Maybe I'll lose a few pounds in six months." He's also supplemented his rigid calorie intake with three nights a week of

AMONG THE NUMEROUS collections on his celebrated "Walking Horse Farm" is this fabulous saddle collection. Whiteman, an excellent horseman, is equally proud of his saddles, ranging from the simplest to the most lavish.

Farmer At Heart

BIG, GENIAL Paul Whiteman politely stifled a yawn and explained to his luncheon companions that he just couldn't help it. "Since I've been living on a farm I know I'm a farmer at heart," he grinned, "especially when it comes to keeping hours."

He is used to rising at 4 a. m., retiring at 9 p. m. and finds that life in the big city (Hollywood at this writing) exhausts him. In a confidential aside, he smilingly whispered that he was going right back to his hotel and take a nap because he might have to stay up until twelve o'clock!

The farm to which musician-turned-farmer Whiteman referred was his own, "Walking Horse Farm," six hundred acres of rolling country around Rosemont, N. J., which have comprised the Whiteman homestead since 1938. And according to its master, they've supplied him with the most pleasure he has experienced in years.

the ABC in addition to his duties on "Hall of Fame" and the newly inaugurated "Forever Tops," commutes between New York and California whenever he is needed for a picture or a radio show. He is one ex-California resident who is sold on the East, frankly admitting he was anxious to return within the next few weeks to New York.

Paul returned to one of his favorite subjects and painted such a vivid picture of his beautiful farm that all of his companions eagerly offered their services as farmhands. "You'd like it," guaranteed the musical director. "We shopped around for a long time before we found the location we desired. It's settled, in the curve of the Delaware River and the original farm buildings were erected in 1778."

The originals were done over by Whiteman and then family members began adding on to a new, smaller, more comfortable dwelling for themselves until, at last count, they had ten bedrooms, one for each member of the family, complete with several guest rooms, and a forty by fifty glassed-in porch. "It's ideal," explained Paul, "because we can shut off any part we're not using at the time."

RADIO LIFE SLEUTHS A RADIO SINGER

By Evelyn Bigsby

1. SINGER ANITA ELLIS, flying enthusiast with fourteen solo hours toward her private license, wants her own plane and here looks over models at Eddie Meyer's used plane lot at Third and Vermont. Anita's interest in flying was sparked when she spent last summer with her husband, Lieut.-Col. Frank Ellis, in Jacksonville, where she went up three mornings a week. —NBC Photos

NBC-KFI-KFSI

WHAT SORT of life do radio singers lead, in and out of the studios? Asked that question numberless times, Radio Life set out the other day to shadow "Skelton Scrapbook" canary Anita Ellis, whom we consider a typical up-and-coming radio artist. Anita first attracted our attention in 1942, when she was singled out as songstress for Tommy Riggs' air show. Later she went with Jack Carson, then rated her own program.

She won the warbling spot with Red when he returned to the cycles recently.

The accompanying pictures show how a week with Anita passes. Could you stand the pace?

2. AT U.C.L.A. ANITA ENJOYS a leisure period with fellow-student. Three mornings a week (9-11 o'clock) she attends classes ("Ethics", "Educational Psychology") as an auditor. She has 10 units toward a minor in Music, wants eventually to get A.B. in psychology. Previously (between 1942-44) she attended U.C.L.A.

3. DASHING FROM CLASSES,

Anita rehearses with her accompanist, Jeanette Goldenberg. Partial to "simple, sincere songs (mostly ballads)" Anita favors them for the Skelton show, is assisted in making her selection by Producer Keith McLeod and Orchestra Leader David Forrester. Number to be used is chosen a week ahead.

And Finds Out What Anita Ellis Eats, How She Sleeps, Relaxes, Dresses, and Works at Career

▶ 4. ONE OF HER FAVORITE FORMS of relaxation is hiking barefooted in the hills behind Hollywood, where Anita lives on Foothill Drive with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kert, sister, and two brothers (one of them, Cpl. Mort Kert just back from overseas). On her hilly hikes (she walks very fast) Anita is always accompanied by her dog, Duchess.

▶ 5. SOMETIMES ANITA EATS dinner at home, helps with the dishes, but does not wash them as her hands break out when they're in water very long (swell alibi, Anita!) Mrs. Kert, right, used to sing on Canadian radio station, Anita's sister and one brother are a singing team, and Cpl. Mort wants to write—so the whole family is bursting with talent.

▶ 6. TWO OR THREE TIMES a week, Anita likes to eat dinner at the Derby or Beachcombers all by herself ("I get so excited when I have a date to eat alone"). She usually takes along a book, but sometimes just eats, thinks, and relaxes. Her pet food hate is—oysters!

▶ 7. SHE WEIGHS 105 POUNDS, but would rather tip the scales at 102, stands five feet two-and-a-half inches and hence has to take up every dress she buys about an inch and a half. Her wardrobe is balanced between skirts and sweaters for U.C.L.A. and four suits, 25 summer dresses, ten winter dresses, four good formals, with black predominating. She hates burgundy tones.

▶ 8. JUST TO PLEASE RADIO LIFE, Anita, who never wears any nail enamel, tried her luck at applying some and found it was harder to do than it looks. She wears her long-bobbed brown hair in soft curls about her neck, goes twice a week (Mondays and Thursdays) to the beauty salon for a shampoo and set.

▲ 9. ONE WHO ABHORS LENGTHY phone calls makes an exception of her husband, former radio announcer who is still in service in Colorado Springs as C.O. in charge of Search and Rescue with the 2nd Air Force. Anita and Frank, who haven't seen one another for three months, keep in touch via phone (sometimes he calls her at 4 a. m.—"I can't sleep—let's talk") with Frank clocking conversation with his stop-watch.

▲ 10. EVERY NIGHT BEFORE going to bed, Anita likes to dance to classical music on the air (usually the after-midnight programs, like "Rhapsody in Wax"). Her radio doesn't disturb other family members because she virtually has her own apartment. When Frank is discharged from service, he and Anita plan to build their own home.

▼ 11. TUESDAY IS ANITA'S BUSIEST day. She checks into NBC studio at 11:30 a. m. for band rehearsal, which carries over until early afternoon; comes back at 3 p. m. for script reading. Here, during a break in rehearsal, Anita puts her hair up in pin curls while she's standing in front of dressing room mirror.

▼ 12. FOLLOWING AFTERNOON REHEARSAL, Anita hurries home to change into dressy clothes for broadcast and to comb out her pin curls. Returning to the studio at 7 p. m. (half hour before broadcast time) Anita looks every inch a glamour girl as she poses here with Skelton and Forrester (at piano). Anita also attends Skelton preview Sunday nights.

athletics. "It's killing me," he moaned.

The Stewarts, you recall, have worked together on several programs in the past. They long to form an air team again. "But we haven't decided on a format," laughed Jay. "Every time one of us thinks of something, the other tears it down. If we don't hurry up, our duet may turn into a trio."

Farmer at Heart!

after a twenty-year old Tennessee walking horse, keeps growing. If another room isn't added to the antique-filled house, a new barn might be added to the present company of five. Next summer Paul intends making two lakes. He is thrilled over a recent purchase of brightly-colored horses from an old fashioned carousel. He'll use them to line his front walk. "We'll be the horriest farmers you ever saw," grinned Whiteman.

But that isn't so. In addition to horses, Whiteman raises Aberdeen Angus cattle, a black, short-legged breed, source of the most luscious steaks that "Pops," or any other hearty eater, ever wrapped himself about. "We have the tenderest steaks you've ever bitten into," he remarked, looking reproachfully at a neighbor's tough sirloin.

Paul, who raises only thoroughbreds, is proud of the ribbons he has won with his animals and considers them too valuable for the slaughterhouse, although their descendants usually wind up on dinner tables all over the country. His cold storage lockers sometimes boast as much as two hundred fifty pounds of good meat.

Hampshire hogs are another Whiteman farm product. As most of the feed for the animals is grown on the farm, Paul briefly explained the strip farming system of planting a few rows of produce alternated with a field of grass. The farm also is equipped with extensive drainage ditches which carry off the water after heavy rains and prevent flooding of the fields.

Remote Control Farms

At least several days a week are spent on the farm. When he is away, such as his latest visit to Hollywood, complete weekly reports are sent him so that he is in constant touch with his home. "I'm a farmer by remote control," he laughed. "Some day," he added in a more serious vein, "I could retire and live very comfortably on Walking Horse."

Mrs. Whiteman, the former Margaret Livingston, a movie star of silent screen days, son Paul Jr., daughter Marge, and Mrs. Whiteman's mother are the farm's regular occupants. Paul and his wife maintain a New York apartment, live in a hotel on their brief visits to the coast.

"We all love the farm dearly," said Paul, "but you cannot be truly happy on a farm and make it produce unless you're a farmer at heart. And I am. I was born and raised on a farm. So you see," he smiled, "I've just reverted to type."

Young Man With a Horn

tract with him," finished Leonard happily.

The Cantor troupe had just returned from New York when we talked to Leonard, and on their return trip they played the Purple Heart Circuit. "We played the so-called psych wards. (By the way, that's a name I object to very much). We took a little piano around the wards and played and sang. The fellows can't always understand jokes, but they always understand music. You can see that it reminds them of something pleasant. One doctor told us 'You not only entertained the boys—you gave them a treatment, too.'"

The Cantor company did three or four benefits of this kind every week in New York, and is still going out once a week now.

"They're all wonderful, cheerful guys," said Leonard. "After you've played for them you go home with your own troubles and are glad to have them."

Leonard is another musician who enjoys dancing. "But then being in vaudeville, I always had to know how to dance and sing. Look at Harry James. He's a wonderful jitterbug. He was raised in a circus, you know, and he's even been a contortionist!"

At the age of six, Leonard was touring the Texas circuits in a little thing called the "Toyland Revue" which also featured a girl named Ginger Rogers. Before that he had been crowned "King of the Bathing Beauties" in Galveston, Texas. At twelve Leonard was a night club emcee. Encouraged by Ben Bernie, Leonard and his mother arrived in Hollywood where Leonard went to the Professional Children's School. Judy Garland was one of his classmates. At sixteen he conducted a symphony for the Deanna Durbin picture "That Certain Age." You can see that when Leonard says music has nothing to do with the delinquency problem he's got a good basis for his statement.

Seven Fan Clubs

Leonard is very grateful to his fan clubs for their support and encouragement. He has seven of them now, and says that they have been wonderful. "It's a little disconcerting though," he added, "to meet a bunch of kids who know more about you than you know about yourself!"

In his spare time, Leonard is an artist specializing in oil and charcoal portraits, and has presented Cantor with a portrait of himself done in the latter medium. He used to be an amateur magician, but gave it up in favor of painting. He likes all sports, especially tennis.

Leonard isn't married, but hold on, kids, he feels that "a fellow should be set in his career and have had all the fun he can get before he's ready to settle down and get married. I don't know, though," he added, "that Cantor keeps inviting me over for dinner!"

Mrs. Aldrich's Boy, Henry

that he was the soldier, but she wasn't convinced until she had gone over the passenger list.

Foiled Wife

He experienced the same difficulty with his wife, who was waiting for him at the airport. When Ezra stepped off the plane she looked right past him, turned on her heels and started walking away. "Henry's" high-pitched scream of anguish and a Jesse Owens-like one hundred yard dash finally stopped her. Her reactions were comparable to that of the stewardess, except that she donned a pair of dark glasses.

Back on the "Aldrich Family" show now, Ezra, who is also directing a New York play, "January Thaw," said he receives a great many personal letters from the friends he made while in the Army. One woman stopped him in the studio recently and gushingly told him how much her little daughter had enjoyed him on the radio for the past three years.

Ezra courteously thanked her and then stopped her with "But I've been in the Army for the past four years."

"Molly and Me"

Jim, Jr. likes to come up there, too," grinned "Molly." "I think it's the fresh eggs and BUTTER that gets him!"

It is these pleasant family get-togethers which both Marian and Jim enjoy the most—happy times when the entire family, and often several of their close friends gather at the Jordan home, sit around the piano while Marian plays and everybody joins in an old-fashioned song-fest.

"Just being together," smiled "Molly" warmly, with an affectionate glance at "McGee." "That's what's fun!"
