Sirs: Your survey of your readers was very interesting, and I am going to add to it. I have been taking Radio Life for several months and have every copy . . . on file for my friends to read and refer to. We all like to read the "low-down" on radio personalities and you give such good descriptions and are so fair about everyone, no matter how small their part may be. Now, I have three pet peeves on radio:

First: I think it is most inconsiderate of stars not to mention the names of all the supporting cast. If they are good enough to be on the show, then they certainly should have their names mentioned.

Second: We all think it's a little unfair for movie stars to hog radio, then gang up on each other's programs to help put the show over. We like them in the movies, why don't they stay there?

Third: People howl so about commercials, don't they know that's the very heart of radio? We like them, some better than others—and who wouldn't get a kick out of Jay Stewart's happy voice giving out on "Truth or Consequences?" Well, we all do around here and that's only mentioning one of the many.

We do appreciate the work you are doing on Radio Life, even though we miss the west coast shows. We can hardly wait each week for our copy.

All the way from Elwood, Indiana. Thanks.

ON OUR COVER

The Scotch laddie is none other than Alan Young, who is dressed appropriately for the FLING he's about to take when he returns to the airlines via NBC. The rising Young comedian will move into the spot vacated by "Duffy's Tavern" on Wednesday nights. If it's laughs you're seeking, be sure to tune in on Alan's new ether adventures next week.

Gil Marchan

Sirs: I would like to see some photos and a story on the new, excellent male singer, Gil Marchan, heard on that new, fascinating program, "Gantner Beach Party," on Thursday evenings on KECA at 7:30 p.m.

Request noted. In the meantime, here's handsome Gil Marchan.

Mrs. M. A. Nowlin, 548 South Harvard Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: For myself and many others, the question is: Ted Malone fans would like hear all Mr. Malone has to say and the loud musical background obliterates too much of his voice. Can't something be done?

It's up to the networks, who are doing their best. Research is now being done and one of these days the sound level of your radio will be adjusted to your liking, they hope.

Col. Adam Leon, 2810 East 7th Street, Long Beach, Calif.

Sirs: Will you please tell me in your column "The Ear Inspires The Pen" what has become of Frank Munn? Since I have returned from overseas, five months ago, I have failed to find him listed and now, in looking over the Radio Lives for some time prior to that I note his name has been missing even longer than that. I vote him radio's top singer.

Happy Man Munn

To all those who have asked about Frank Munn, we're addressing this reply. Our informant is none other than Paul Whiteman, who ought to know. Paul says that Frank just up and decided to retire a while back in spite of his enormous popularity with audience and sponsor alike. So far entreaties for his return have failed and Frank is at home happily confining his vocalizing to singing while he shaves.

Senator Claghorn--

THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE

By B. J. Hammer

▲ DON'T LET HIS SERIOUS EXPRESSION FOOL YOU— beneath this studious exterior lurks the South's loudest son, Senator Claghorn! Yes, it's Kenny Delmar arriving at the studio for a day's shooting on his first picture. (Kinda looks like a young Harold Lloyd, doesn't he?)

Sunday, 5.30 p.m.
NBC—KF1-KFSD
Beginning Oct. 6

THIS is going to be a story about a certain Kenny Delmar, in which we are not going to backfire our sentences, repeat "that is" throughout or use the phrase, "That's a joke, son." Kenny Delmar also happens to be Fred Allen's nemesis, "Senator Claghorn," and the temptation to imitate him since he first blasted into fame on Allen's show last season has proved irresistible to Americans above and below the Mason-Dixon Line. We're going to be different!

We found Kenny on the Eagle-Lion lot in make-up and costume, "Senator Claghorn" to the life, in the midst of filming "It's a Joke, Son." He greeted us enthusiastically and introduced us to the rest of the cast including Una Merkel, who will be "Mrs. Claghorn."

"Oh, Kenny," Una twinkled, "I was so embarrassed yesterday when I met your wife. I shook hands and said, 'It was awfully nice meeting you, Mrs. Claghorn!'" Kenny joined her in laughter. He's used to that sort of thing now, but it still amuses him.

"Last night," he related, "we went to Ciro's. The manager provided us with a Texas waiter, the only southerner on the staff, and the bartender said, 'Southern Comfort, of course?'"

"I think I've proved one thing about the South, at any rate," smiled Kenny. "They certainly have a terrific sense of humor. So much of my fan mail and gifts come from the South. I've been made a Texas Ranger, an Arizona Vigilante, a Kentucky Colonel and been given the key to New Orleans. It seems the South can really laugh at itself."

Will Be Different

Will the Senator be the same overpowering windbag in the movie version? "Well," smiled Kenny, "we're going to show that at home he's pretty much of a Milquetoast around his family—but when he gets out with the boys, he's the same old Senator."

Believe it or not, you've been hearing this same Kenny Delmar in radio for the past twelve years. He was one of the "March of Time" cast members. "I played Greeks, Arabs, Anthony Eden, Stalin, Hungarians and I was an auxiliary Roosevelt," recalls Kenny. He also appeared in the history-making Orson Welles broadcast of the "War of the Worlds"—popularly known as "Man From Mars."

▲ CLAGHORN'S HAT DOESN'T FIT KENNY, JR., but both Kennys seem to be getting a kick out of the attempt. Little Kenny can't stay up late enough to hear Daddy on Fred Allen's program, consequently has a misty idea of what Delmar does on the air.

Kenny's character of the Senator, drawn from a Texan who had once given Kenny a lift while he was hitch-hiking to California, was first heard on the "Alan Young Show." Fred Allen heard it and decided that Claghorn was needed for "Allen's Alley." "The name 'Senator Claghorn' was Fred's idea," said Kenny, "and it was just what the character needed."

That's putting it mildly—the day after Senator Claghorn blew the lid off "Allen's Alley," the country was you that you look like Harold Lloyd?" we ventured.

Kenny laughed. "Just everybody!" he replied. "That's why I can't wear these"—he indicated the glasses he wears on a ribbon with his costume—"they make me photograph exactly like Lloyd!" Also the cigars planted in a row in the Senator's breast pocket are just that—Kenny's strictly a cigarette man.

Mrs. Claghorn—oops, Mrs. Delmar, we mean, and son, Kenny Jr., accompanied Kenny on his brief trip to Hollywood. And all of them love California. "Everyone back in New York radio told me how difficult movie making was and how much I'd dislike it. I love it!" he exclaimed. "I only hope I'll make many more pictures!"

What does five-year-old Kenny Jr. think of his father, we wanted to know.

(Please Turn to Page 28)

THE WELL-DRESSED SENATOR this season wears a string tie! At least he does in the Eagle-Lion movie, "It's a Joke, Son". The gray at the temples is strictly a make-up job to add to the Senator's years.

Kenny Delmar's Platform Is Mirth as He Goes Into His Second Season With Allen's Alley as Voice of the South full of facsimile Claghorns and Kenny had removed the phrase, "that is," from serious conversation forever!

His "Firsts"

All in all this has been quite a year for Delmar. "I played the lead in my first play, wrote my first book, made my first movie and will have my own network show," he smiled. The play was "They Knew What They Wanted" at the Westport summer theater opposite Broadway's June Havoc. Kenny was expecting critics to take that this-young-man-should-go-back-to-radio-where-he-belongs attitude, but without exception they were enthusiastic. The book is "The Life and Times of Senator Claghorn," scheduled for fall publication. The movie you'll be seeing in December. The radio show, as yet untitled or formatted (at this writing) should be on the airlines in mid-September.

"Say," exclaimed Kenny suddenly, "you're the people that gave me that radio award last year. I'm mighty proud of that—got it framed and hanging up in my library!" We immediately felt proud of his being proud! (He won Radio Life's Distinguished Achievement Award for the year's most outstanding new characterization.)

Something had been bothering us ever since we sighted Kenny, and at last it clicked. "Did anyone ever tell CLAGHORN SAID he'd come by SOUTHERN Pacific or not at all! Kenny greets admirers from the observation platform on his way to Hollywood and movie-making. Only other time he visited California, he hitched!

Radio Life Manages an On-the-Run Interview With That Busy "Hit Parader," Joan Edwards

Saturday, 8:00 p. m.
CBS-KNX

BECAUSE "Your Hit Parade" charmer, Joan Edwards, is usually to be found only on the East coast, Radio Life has previously deferred bringing you an article about her, hoping all the while that the day would come when we could meet her personally and give you a first-hand report. So, when we learned that she was heading out California way during her eight-week hiatus from the CBS song show, we made immediate plans to corner her for an intimate chat.

But first, we garnered some interesting information about this Edwards miss. For one thing, she has introduced into the radio industry a novel practice, already put to good use on the movie sets—the employment of a stand-in.

Two years ago, when Joan was spending much of her time between broadcasts touring Army camps, she found on one occasion that the plane would get her into New York in time for her airshow, but too late for its rehearsals. She frantically wired the "Parade's" producer to hire a substitute for the dress rehearsal so that microphone balances and the timing of each song could be set prior to Joan's arrival for the actual show. The system worked so well that, ever since then, the singing star has had a permanent "stand-in"—a talented young singer-pal of the Edwards lass, Peggy Mann. In addition to "standing-in" for Joan, Peggy substitutes on the air for her whenever she has to be absent from the "Hit Parade" microphone. During Miss Edwards' stay in Hollywood for the filming of Republic's "Hit Parade of 1947", Peggy is being heard weekly on the airshow.

Saves Three Hours

"Having a stand-in," explained Joan, "actually saves me three hours of constant singing every broadcast day—and just ask any singer what a life-saver that is!"

Joan Edwards has been singing professionally ever since she was sixteen, and two years before that, she had made her radio debut playing the piano on local New York stations for ten dollars a week. Born and raised in New York City and educated at Hunter College, Joan studied piano for twelve years under the tutelage of Raphael Saamuel, George Gershwin's teacher.

As a singing pianist appearing weekly on the local airways Joan attracted the attention of Rudy Vallee, who signed her for several guest spots on his network show. This led to her having her own series on NBC, on which she sang, played the piano and led the orchestra!

This, in turn, led to her discovery by Paul Whiteman in 1939 and a two-year contract with him as singing star of a CBS series. Then, in 1941, she became the feminine singing star of "Your Hit Parade," vocalizing in turn with such top male vocalists as Barry Wood, Frank Sinatra, Lawrence Tibbett, Dick Todd, Johnny Mercer, and Andy Russell (her present singing co-star).

Star Family

That Joan should be talented and a successful star in show business isn't surprising when one takes a look at her family tree. The late Gus Edwards, one of the most famous showmen of all, was her uncle. Her aunt, Dorothea Edwards, was one of the foremost singers of her day and was the star soloist with Roxy's gang at his famous show place when he opened it seventeen years ago. Her father is one of New York's leading music publishers and her uncle, Leo, and brother, Jack, are songwriters.

What is more, her husband, Julius Schachter, is one of radio's top freelance violinists. They were married in February of 1942, and their daughter, Judy Ann, aged three, is already a Harry Conover model!

But all of the above, garnered chiefly from the Edwards biography, didn't satisfy us. We waited, with

Breakfast Clubber

Visits Hollywood

Handsome Jack Owens and His Pretty Mrs. Share the Spotlight in This Story and Next Time Jack Promises to Bring the Gang

Joan Buchanan

HANDSOME JACK OWENS, cruising troubadour of Chicago's "Breakfast Club", spent an all-too-brief vacation in Hollywood. Looks as if it left its mark, though, in that shirt that Jack's sporting!

Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.
ABC—KECA—KPRO—KFMB

WELL, look who we had in Hollywood long enough to grab for an interview for Radio Life! None other than Jack Owens, a real Chicago Breakfast Clubber. If you are a fan of Don McNeill's "Breakfast Club," and betcha are, you don't need any introduction to handsome Jack.

"Yes," smiled Jack in answer to our question, "Don may bring the 'Breakfast Club' out to Hollywood to do a picture, but so far, the plans are still up in the air. One of the difficulties is that we'd have to go on the air at 6:00 a. m. here in order to hit our usual time back East. But there is a possibility that we may come out."

We met Jack and his pretty blonde wife, Helen, for lunch and in our own devious way found out more from Helen about Jack than he told us about himself. One of our discoveries was the fact that Hollywood certainly doesn't have the corner on loyal bobby-socks fans. "Heavens," said Helen, "it's so embarrassing when I go to the broadcasts; the kids even ask me for my autograph!" Jack's job as Cruising Troubadour on the "Breakfast Club" brings him right down into personal contact with his fans as he roams the audience singing to them personally.

"And there are no two reactions alike," says Jack, "some get red as a beet, some look as if they really enjoy it and some look as if they've gone into a trance."

How about embarrassing moments? It sounds like a spot where they might occur. "Yes," he agreed, "Sometimes as a gag I sit on a guy's lap and sing to him. Once I was pulling this cute stunt and went to stroke the fellow's hair. To my horror I lifted the whole front of it up; a toupee! We both turned bright red. After the show the fellow came up to me. 'Gosh,' he said, 'I thought you were going to scalp me!'"

"How about Jane Russell?" laughed Helen.

Gag Backfired

"Well," Jack continued, "when Jane visited the show, I sang to her and it was pre-arranged that she should grab me, give me a resounding kiss on the cheek and leave me covered with lipstick. Instead, she let me finish the song and then very tenderly kissed me on the mouth. I was completely flustered! Like I say—no two reactions alike!"

Getting back to the fans. Helen told us of Louella Carreira, president of Jack's fan club, who came all the way from New Bedford to see the Owens. "And when Jack was sick last summer with rheumatic fever, we got 10,000 letters. I tried to answer them!"

"Rheumatic fever!" we interjected, "that sounds awful!"

"Most fun I'd had in years," contradicted Jack. "I was in a wheel chair all that time and Helen had to push me around. We had a wonderful time!"

Tiny Helen laughed. "Imagine me pushing this great big guy around. He's forgotten the unpleasantness

Vine Street Welcome

That indefatigable carrot-topped comic, Red Skelton, came back to the NBC microphone on Tuesday last, and his ether audiences weren't the only ones eagerly awaiting his return. We stopped by Mom's Hot Dog Stand on Vine Street and found its crew anxiously anticipating Red's return to his pet eating stand. Every Tuesday afternoon, between broadcasts, Red and Edna can be spotted at Mom's, having "two with the works"!

Junior Now

Tommy Cook, who gets our vote for being just about the busiest teen-ager on radio, called to inform us that he now can be heard as "Junior" on NBC's "Life of Riley." Whew—makes us tired just thinking of Tommy's crowded agenda.

In Lead

KFWB's Gene Norman, who is in the midst of conducting a Popularity Contest, reports that Dinah Shore, Frank Sinatra and Stan Kenton are the current leaders. The disc jockey is holding the first contest of its kind in this area to determine the number-one male and female vocalists along with the number-one bandleader.

"There's hardly a breath between the leaders in the respective divisions and the runnerup," declared Norman. "The music fans are voting by the thousands. In short, the field's still wide open for the Comos, Haymeses, Whitings, Simmses, Goodmans, Dorseys, et al."

Babies Make Debut

CBS soundman Dave Light has a problem! He's wondering if he should pass out cigars to announce the happy event—of twins! You see, it's this way.

Friday, August 30th, he became the father of a baby boy, David, Jr., and on Saturday, August 31st, Dave's make-believe companion, Myrtle O'Brien, made her radio debut on Columbia's "Sweeney and March" show.

Myrtle is the imaginary, precocious companion of Light, who created her as a voice trick a few years ago. He decided one fine day to experiment with his own voice and see what sort of childish prattling he could dream up. Myrtle was the result.

Although she had never been heard on the air until her bow on the Sweeney-March broadcast, Myrtle is well-known around the corridors of Columbia Square. Now that she has "arrived," Dave will continue to make with the radio noises . . . but he plans to let Myrtle handle the theatrical fame.

No Longer Musical

Lionel Barrymore, Columbia's "Mayor of the Town," is concerned about the musical future of Conrad Binyon, who plays the role of "Butch" in the series. Seems Conrad is sporting a new crew haircut, and Barrymore fears its effect on Bach and Beethoven. "After all," mourns the Mayor, "only long-hairs are allowed at the piano. Guys with billiard-ball haircuts just don't rate!" But Conrad takes this joshing in good spirits, and continues to beat out the classics.

What a Job

It makes one wonder if the charming ladies of Mutual's "Leave It to the Girls" have had a change of heart or just decided to give their male guests a break. At any rate, Ted Malone returns to the Friday night roundtable in a different capacity, as he takes over as first masculine emcee on September twentieth.

Malone will replace Paula Stone, until now mistress of ceremonies. The acquisition of a "mere" man as master of ceremonies is calculated to give the male of the species a bit more of a chance by evening things up somewhat. Paula, meanwhile, will be freed of the restraint of maintaining a semblance of neutrality when she takes over the place of Robin Chandler, a panel-member who is leaving the show to marry screen actor Jeffrey Lynn.

Comes in Handy

Sight-of-week: songbird Anita Ellis of CBS' "Tommy Riggs Show" sitting on one of the benches in the corridor of the Columbia Square studios, typing out the lyrics for her number on the show. "Couldn't find a secretary," grinned Anita. "Good thing I took typing in school—but I hate it!"

It's nice seeing Tony Borris again strolling along Vine Street in the "red coat and brass buttons" of "Johnny, Radio Life also found time to visit KNX's "Jack in All Trades" Show and brings you a first-hand report of this delightful quizzer. . . . Sport fans, take note! There's an interesting story of radio's coverage of baseball with views and news by Fred Haney. . . . Around ABC-KECA there's no need for taking a peek into the proverbial crystal ball to know that there's good listening in store for the fans this fall. With many old favorites returning, and new programs galore... Well, you'll pardon our pride in pointing out just a few.

On October 3rd, that oldtimer, the "Pot O' Gold," returns to the air after a protracted absence, with Peter Donald as the featured comedian, Harry Salter and his orchestra, Vera Holly as girl vocalist, and the tenor voice of Jimmy Carroll. You remember "Pot O' Gold"... that's the show which keeps everyone at home, listening for the telephone's ring. With name, address and telephone number selected from the massed telephone directories of the nation, on each "Pot O' Gold" program Peter Donald gives away large money gifts to the lucky person who answers that important ring.

Bing Crosby

'twill be a Crosby program just like the fans like it. By the way, here's a picture of that boy, Bing.

AROUND THE DIAL: Orval Anderson, the originator of ABC's coast-to-coast quiz game, "Darts for Dough" (heard Sundays at 1, on KECA) has returned to the show following his discharge from the army. Orval has been a radio instructor in tank intercom, stationed at Fort Knox since he donned khaki in June, 1945. . . . The maddest half-hour in radio, that's what it is! To the delight of audiences across the nation, Henry Morgan now has a whole half-hour a week for his completely different comedy show . . . Listen on Tuesday night at 7:30, KECA that is, and the odds are that you'll turn your dial to that spot every week . . . Also back for another season is the hour-long drama series, "Theatre Guild on the Air". From six to seven every Sunday night, KECA-ABC brings you the most distinguished stars of stage, screen and radio, in world famous plays which run the gamut of Broadway's best . . . comedies and musicals, mysteries and tragedies.

... 790 ... It's the Spot ...

You've probably noted the change in format on "America's Town Meeting," Thursday nights at 8:30 . . . With the number of guests cut from four to two, and H. V. Kaltenborn and Quincy Howe, both well known radio commentators, acting as regular interrogators on the broadcasts, more of the courtroom procedure is suggested. Moderator George V. Denny, Jr., has an outstanding list of guests and many important topics lined up for the fall season.

FOOTBALL ON THE AIR: KECA's grid games for Sept. 28th are the West Point-Oklahoma University classic from the home field of the Cadets, with ABC's own ace sportscaster, Harry Wismer, doing the honors . . . The game starts at 9:45 a.m. . . . In the afternoon at 2, you'll hear the first Associated game of the season . . . the always exciting battle between Washington and St. Mary's from Seattle.

A special staff of ace MBS sports announcers will be selected to bring listeners the color and pageantry of this baseball classic, as well as an accurate description of each game.

New Contract

William Keighley, distinguished host of CBS' Lux "Radio Theater," tells us he has signed a one-year contract to direct films for 20th Century-Fox Pictures.

Trucking on Truk

Clete Roberts, good-looking radio correspondent who covered the Bikini atom bomb tests, swears it's true. Jitterbugging natives on the former Jap island of Truk in the western Pacific were the welcoming committee on hand to greet scientists and UN observers during a visit to a native village. The scientists found the natives "cutting a rug" to frantic musical accompaniment provided by an ancient phonograph. Music and tempo were not readily distinguishable, but closer inspection developed that the natives had secured some old thirty-three-and-a-third recordings of American hill-billy music which they were playing at the accelerated tempo of 78 RPM.

Radio Beauty

"Miss Radio of Hollywood, 1946!"

That's the impressive title bestowed on Mary Foster, charming receptionist at KFI, in a contest conducted by commentator George Fisher to discover the prettiest girl employed in local radio stations.

Winner Mary polled over 1300 votes to win by a good margin and has been wined, dined and gifted lavishly.

But don't despair, fellas—the local radio beauty is widely distributed. The contest runners-up are Gayle Burrow of KMPC, Marjorie Larkin of KNX, Maryanne Brennan of KECA, Lee Tracy of KFWB and Jeri Johnston of KHJ.

A Real Tale

KHJ's Erskine Johnson told us about a friend of his who owned a talking dog, a big hit with the GI's when they toured overseas with the USO.

Returning to Hollywood, the gentleman heard that Hal Roach studios were testing for a "leading dog," and decided to take his talented canine

KGEE BREAKS RECORD

Breaking a couple of records, KGER has scheduled 23 Long Beach football games, with 20 of these sponsored. Twelve games are Long Beach City College; 11 Long Beach high school. Station will run its own remote lines for out-of-town games. Hal Shideler, sports editor, is in charge of the entire production. This intensive football coverage of all the Long Beach schools is the result of the determination of C. Merwin Dobyns, KGER owner and general manager, to place great emphasis on all Long Beach and Harbor Area sports and civic activities. Mr. Dobyns says: "If it's a sports event in or near Long Beach, KGER will have it."

YIPROCK HAROUTI!

Slim Gaillard, whose "Cement Mixer" sold over a million records has opened his own record store at Jefferson and Arlington Boulevards and now broadcasts daily over KLAC at 3:15 p.m.

BERGEN IN TELEVISION

Edgar Bergen and Patrick Michael Cunning have launched a joint television production enterprise. First production is "Bergen's Barnyard," in which the radio star will introduce four new television characters.

When actor Vincent Price came to Columbia Square to visit "Barbara Tate," he was so impressed by the Merchant Seamen's Art Exhibit in the studio lobby that he purchased one of the paintings.

THE CHILDREN'S COUNCIL
 5:05 - 5:30 p.m. Sat.
 Sponsored by B-Y's
KGER — 1390 kc.

NEW EMCEE
 Replacing Don Wilson on NBC's "Let's Laugh and Get Acquainted," is Jack Gregson, who comes to Hollywood from station KPO in San Francisco.

"A" FOR MUSIC
 Young Henry Blair, currently heard as "Skipper" in "One Man's Family," rates high scholastically in his music studies and is especially interested in piano.

"MASQUERADE" CAST
 Two of Hollywood's top radio actresses, Lurene Tuttle and Georgia Backus, have joined the cast of NBC's "Masquerade." Miss Tuttle plays the part of "Marion" and Miss Backus that of "Louise."

NEW "LITTLE BEAVER"
 Johnny McGovern, nine-year-old screen and radio youngster, has taken over the role of "Little Beaver" on Don Lee's "Red Ryder" program.

BOY'S MENTOR
 In addition to his occupation as creator of ABC's "Jack Armstrong", James Jewell runs a boy's camp in Northern Michigan, Camp Kee-Mo-Sah-Bee.

KNOW HIM?
 The name Thomas Garrison Morfit may mean very little to radio audiences, but that's Garry Moore's real name when he's not co-starring before the mike with friend Jimmy in the CBS "Durante-Moore Show".

over for a try. The pup went through his routine, then came to the high spot in his act... rolling his eyes and waggishly intoning "Hubba! Hubba!"

The director thought deeply. "He's good, all right," he admitted. "But I'm afraid he's not the type."

Not-So-Gay Blade

CBS newscaster Bob Garred recently received a 400-year-old Samurai sword as a gift from Captain Omae of the Imperial Japanese Navy. The sword is inlaid with gold and silver, and formerly belonged to the Numa family, top newspaper publishers of the country.

While serving as a naval liaison officer in Japan after the surrender, Garred met Captain Omae, Nip naval intelligence officer who planned the Pearl Harbor attack.

Best of Luck

According to Pinto Colvig, radio specialist in funny noises and the voice of Disney's "Pluto" and "Goofy", the best luck in the world is yours if you own a hair from an elephant's tail. Ex-circusman Pinto carries one for good luck and strokes it three times before each performance. Other radioites who follow his custom are Verna Felton, "Rochester", Lillian Randolph and Sarah Berner. Sarah wears hers woven into a good luck ring.

Give and Take

His "Bride and Groom" couples were certainly on Johnny's mind when Nelson's own wedding anniversary rolled around, last spring. Did he, ensconced in the romantic surroundings of orange blossoms, wedding rings, and misty veils, remember his own marital milestone?

He did not. It took a call from Mrs. Nelson to remind him.

His Schedule

Kenny's New York radio schedule is really something, and probably the reason he calls movie-making easy. Look at this seven-day-a-week routine: Monday, Wednesday and Friday he's on the air, Tuesday and Thursday he has script rehearsal, Saturday he does the Lucky Strike "Hit Parade" and prepares his scripts for the following week and Sunday he answers Fred Allen's knock at "Allen's Alley."

"You know," said Una Merkel, as she rejoined our group, "everybody's having such a good time on this set!" And everybody did, including us.

pencil and paper poised, for the pretty "Hit Parader's" arrival in town.

Came that time, however, and off she was whisked to the Republic sound stage for her camera chores on the "Hit Parade" picture—and Radio Life is still awaiting the day we'll meet her in person!

But our telephone rang the other day, and an attractively husky voice with a definite New York flavor, informed us, "This is Joan Edwards." She was calling from the studio during her "break" for lunch.

We told her we would like a little "personal" data, straight from her, for our story.

"Well," she replied obligingly, "I'll try." She took a deep breath and started in—and in the ensuing sixty seconds, this was what she said:

"I love Hollywood, although I seem to be always losing and finding things here. Last night, I discovered my dog had wandered away. I came out here with my dog and a crowd of people, you know—my maid and my nurse and my baby and my secretary, who has become my stand-in for the picture. She had to take her shoes off to be my height, but she said she'd do anything so that she could be my stand-in, even become a blonde. Only she has freckles. We couldn't do anything about that. Anyway, we found my dog this morning, on somebody's lawn. I have a house out here, with a pool, which is wonderful because I get home from the studio about six-thirty every evening and a swim feels great. I love it out here. I'm only going to be here eight weeks, but I'm going back and start working on my hubby. I want to live here. Yes, my baby might become musical. She can carry a good tune already, and she sure knows how to act for a camera. She has blue eyes and blonde hair and looked like her father until I came out here, because I have brown eyes and dark hair. But it's gradually being made blonde, so pretty soon I'll look like her Mommy. . ."

Miss Edwards gulped in a breath at this point, and we thanked her for her graciousness in calling and delivering this fast monologue to let Radio Life's listeners know a little more about the miss who weekly sings to them the nation's number one hit songs.

"The only other thing I know about myself," concluded Miss Edwards, with a smile in her voice, "is that I've got fifteen minutes left for lunch—and I'm starved."

With great reluctance we said goodbye to the little bit of the South reconstructed on the sound stage. An added touch of authenticity was the manner in which gallant Senator Delmar kissed our hand in farewell! Long live Dixie!

now. He just remembers the fun we had."

Jack could almost be called a three-career man: singer, songwriter and father. The three little Owensens are Noel, five; Johnny, nine, and Mary Anne, eleven. When we talked to him, Jack was wearing a bracelet of blue and red plastic that daughter Noel had made for him. He's been wearing it for weeks," smiled Helen.

Song Hits

As a song-writer Jack earned enduring fame in the profession as the guy who carried the "Hut-Sut Song" around with him for seven months trying to get someone interested in it. Other hits have been, "Hi, Neighbor," "Louisiana Lullaby" ("By-Lou-By-Lay") and currently, "Cynthia's in Love." This fall his "Don't Believe a Word They Say" and "Mistletoe Song" will be released.

Tulsa, Wichita, Hollywood and Chicago can all claim Jack as a "local boy." He was born in Tulsa, went to school in Wichita, hit Chicago radio in 1934 and came to radio in Hollywood on station KEHE. While in Hollywood Jack dubbed the singing voices of less gifted male stars. The only instance he could recall at the moment was singing "Easy to Love" for Jimmy Stewart. "It used to make me so mad," recalled Helen, "to be sitting in a theatre listening to Jack singing his heart out and then hear the people next to me say, 'My, I didn't know so-and-so had such a lovely voice!' I always wanted to stand up and tell them that that was Jack Owens they were listening to!"

This time it looks as though the Owensens will be vindicated. Just wait until Miss and Mrs. America get a glimpse of Jack Owens in that promised "Breakfast Club" picture. That should even up the score between Hollywood and Jack!

wagon or nestled in the clean hay. As the procession bumped out of the ranch yard on its two-hour journey in the moonlight, "Red Ryder's Riders" formed a picturesque horse-mounted cavalcade in ten-gallon hats and chaps. Someone in the wagon strummed a guitar and everybody started to join in on "Sioux City Sue."

All evening long, nobody mentioned his ulcer.

↑ TED LENZ CLAIMS the world's record for marathon announcing (53 hours, 16 minutes, continuous, on Fourth War Loan Drive, KSAN). He received a letter from President Roosevelt and the Meritorious Medal from the U. S. Treasury Department. Heard on "Hollywood House Party" "Jive at Five" and "Midnight Special".

↑ TEXAN TED RYAN announced on stations in his native state before joining the Hollywood House staff last March. He attended University of Texas, likes golf, handball, squash, considers himself the "homeliest guy in radio, but one of the best cooks in America".

↓ TWENTY-THREE-YEAR-OLD PHIL NORMAN, a native of St. Louis, is married, lives in North Hollywood, was with KGFJ before the war, has also been a free-lance radio actor and taught radio announcing to officers and G.I.'s at Biarritz, France. He speaks Chinese (Foochow dialect) and goes in for archery.

KGFJ's Growing Announce Staff Is Composed of Men with Youthful Slant but Diversified Background

THE Hollywood House of KGFJ is proud of the fact that all its staff announcers are veterans of World War II. Equally proud are these veterans of the sumptuous surroundings of Hollywood House—the only independent in the heart of Radio Row, at Sunset and Vine.

With the new location and the competent help of the ex-servicemen, Thelma Kirchner, only feminine station manager in Los Angeles, is busy revamping the twenty-four-hour station's musical fare. One change already effected is contrasting the long-established two-hour "Musical Digest" dinner concert with the light quality of the new ten-to-midnight "Hollywood House Party" with Ted Lenz, formerly San Francisco's leading disc jockey.

↑ ANNOUNCER HOWARD FLYNN claims San Francisco as his birthplace, but he has announced on KFI, KSL, KLO, WJLS. He came to KGFJ about six months ago. Is single, claims writing as his hobby.

↓ ON STATIONS KVOD and KOA in his native state, Colorado, Ed Brady gained microphone experience before coming to Hollywood. He lives in Los Angeles, is single, and claims tennis and flying (he has a commercial license) as his avocations.

↓ DAVID BALLARD HAILS from Seattle, Washington, was in Marine Corps 1940-43, staff announcer at KOL, Seattle, 1943-44, played "Captain Eddie" in "A Bell for Adano" at 20th Century-Fox. At KGFJ a year, Ballard handles program scheduling and announces "Musical Digest", is narrator on "Caucasian Memories" and the 12 o'clock noon newscast.

↓ ANOTHER RECENT ADDITION to KGFJ's announcing staff is Tom McKee, native of Buffalo, N. Y., who held various mike positions in the East, also served as free-lance actor, announcer, narrator, and legitimate actor. His chief hobbies are hunting and fishing.

Give and Take

"Bride and Groom" Is Both, in Banter, Information, Excitement

By Evelyn Bigsby

▼ PRIVILEGED TO BESTOW the second kiss on the happy bride is "Bride and Groom" emcee, John Nelson, here giving send-off to the new Mrs. Charles Wright of Los Angeles.

▼ INTERESTING STORY OF HOW THEY MET is always related on program by pair honored for the day. This couple, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Cartwright, met at a lunch counter when he asked her to pass the sugar and she asked for salt and pepper.

Monday-Friday, 3 p.m.
ABC—KEXA-KFMB

GOLDEN WEDDING anniversaries, as well as weddings, are celebrated on ABC's "Bride and Groom" program, soon to observe its own first anniversary. One day a fifty-year-wed couple was appearing on the program and was giving bits of advice on "how to keep happy though hitched." Said the elderly man: "Our marriage has been a give and take proposition. She gives and I take!"

"Bride and Groom," too, is give and take—both in banter, information, entertainment, and gifts. The other day, Emcee John Nelson received a letter from a woman in Cleveland, ▲ PRECEDENT WAS BROKEN ON PROGRAM when couple wed by proxy was re-wed on "Bride and Groom". They're Mr. and Mrs. Forrest E. Anderson, Jr., of Long Beach, united by proxy while he was serving as Air Force major in France. Bride took vows in Kansas, went to Niagara on honeymoon alone, but "Bride and Groom" gave them a second wedding and honeymoon in style.

▲ AMONG GIFTS TO BRIDAL PAIR, there's always the honeymoon at a place of their choice. Bob and Lorraine Strahlmann chose Boulder Dam.

Ohio, who wrote: "I listen to your program every day and certainly get a kick out of it, but today was the pay-off. I got so excited that I pulled my wedding ring off and down the register it went. And that ring was thirty years old. Will have to wait till the furnace is out now to take the pipes down. It sure was a wonderful program."

It's exciting, too, even to such jitter-invulnerables as Nelson and his co-workers. One day the couple scheduled to be married hadn't shown up by air time. Nelson improvised endlessly. Just four minutes of the broadcast's thirty remained when the pair breathlessly rushed into the studio in Chapman Park Hotel. Seems the bridegroom, a sailor, hadn't been able to leave his ship in Long Beach, until just an hour before air time.

Now that "Bride and Groom" has become established as a coast-to-coast listening habit (one man spent $13.75 in phone charges, to call from Amarillo, Texas, and ask for tickets), its office receives an average of fifty letters a day from couples desiring to be guests on the program. As you who have followed "Bride and Groom" know, the pair appears briefly on the air, telling how they met, are given the wedding ring and bride's bouquet and sent from the El Morocco Room to the Chapman Park chapel, Pueblo Oratorio, where they are united (off the air) in the presence of their chosen guests. When they return to the studio as Mr. and Mrs., Nelson stages a shower of gifts for them: camera, sports outfit, washing machine, gas range, and other valuable presents, PLUS honeymoon trip.

At this writing, couples are wait-

BOB ALEXANDER, emcee of "Inside Band Land" (KHJ, Saturdays, 5:15 p.m.) and writer Betty Mills of Radio Life, reserved a corner of the hay wagon for their ride.

LOU HOLZER, PRODUCER of "California Caravan", rides behind Mrs. "Cactus" Short on her white horse, Prince.

PLEASANT ACCOMPANIMENT TO HAYRIDE was the music, here being furnished by Bob Purcell of Mutual's "California Caravan" program, with Mrs. Purcell, right.

MARY LOU STEINBRINK, who, with her singing partner provides warm-up entertainment for both "Jonathan Trimble" and "What's the Name of that Song?" helps a couple of youngsters eat watermelon.

AT THE radio station and offices they left behind in sticky-hot and feverish Hollywood there were scripts to finish, cues to give and take, endless rehearsal hours with time only for a sip of coffee. But as Mutual's performers and their guests drove out El Monte way, they sloughed radio, just as they had shed their business suits and dresses for checked shirts and slacks.

Destination was the ranch of Brooke Temple, who plays "Red Ryder" on Mutual's series of the same name. Here the party found a flickering camp fire, gently steaming spaghetti (made from home economist Norma Young's pet recipe) and coffee. As the almost-full moon started to appear, Lucky White and his Dude Ranch Playboys serenaded with Western music.

After supper, the gang climbed onto the waiting rack, dangled legs over the sides of the horse-drawn

MEN OF MUSIC

No. 8 of a Series

Felix Mills

▲ MAESTRO MILLS HAS WORKED FOR years to get away from city life, now spends as much time as possible in his hilltop home retreat. He does most of his composing and arranging there.

FELIX MILLS, musician—conductor, arranger and maestro of “Felix Mills and His Strings”—needs no introduction.

But in his lovely home, “on top of the highest hill in the Los Feliz district” one meets Felix Mills, the man.

If environment affects the artist, all of the Mills music should indicate harmony and happiness, for both conditions are decided factors in the Mills family life. Married since 1921, Felix is a self-made man in music who can play any instrument in the book, and who has passed his ideals for personal achievement on to three fine and now-grown youngsters. The Mills hilltop home is a constant bustle of going and coming—what with George, twenty-four, and J. Mack, twenty-one, back from the Coast Guard and Navy, and daughter Betsy, nineteen, with her husband, Dick Armstrong, staying there temporarily until they can locate a home.

Not to overlook Betsy's six-months-old baby girl, Jennifer, who keeps them all hopping with her formulas and linen changes.

No Man About Town

Having worked for years toward just such a retreat from city life as he now has, Felix spends as little of his week as possible in town. Except for coming down to do the show (6:30 p.m., Sunday, CBS) and “Man Called X,” Tuesdays on NBC, he does most of his composing, arranging and living strictly at home. He has a quiet, specially-designed den, where he spends most of his working day. And the rest of the time he is busy with his hobbies and his home life—a game of golf with his son George, a little fixing of unhinged doors and cupboards for his wife, Thelma, and now and then a few hours with his pastimes of wood-working, painting and photography.

For this casual and contented life, he wears the easiest sort of attire—comfortable sneakers, loafer jacket, sweatshirt and sports trousers. On Sundays and Tuesdays, it's suit and tie, but straightway after the show and through the rest of the week, he reverts to type.

Felix and his very pretty wife, Thelma, can tell the rest of us about happy married life—they just celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary!

Give and Take

ing at least two months to be married on "Bride and Groom." Their selection is made very carefully, after they've completed application blanks and been interviewed by a staff member of the program. But one couple which hadn't expected to be scheduled for some time was hurried into the honor spot not long ago. Reason: the prospective bride and groom slated for the coming day, had a falling out and cancelled plans. Another lucky pair was hurriedly booked in their place.

How They Met

Many unusual belles and beaux have been spotlighted on the broadcast. One bridegroom was a vet of the Bataan death march and overseas for five years. His girl received only one letter and one post card from him, but as soon as they met again, it was love and they knew it instantly. Another couple met in a London theatre — he an American soldier and she an English girl. She made disparaging remarks about the authenticity of some news pictures being flashed on the screen. He took exception to her comments. Later, at a Red Cross club, they bumped into one another and "had it out." Their comments led to permanent "I do's."

A blind girl and man met at a school for Seeing Eye dogs. When they were feted on "Bride and Groom," their Seeing Eye dog was present and stood up with them during the marriage rites.

A nurse and her Marine patient whom she coaxed back to health were another twosome. Many met on blind dates, but, on the other hand, several had known one another for a long time, had even grown up together. One couple, divorced for three years (1941-1944) were remarried.

Here are other experiences as related to Emcee Nelson, proving that Cupid may be lying in wait just about anywhere, even in a traffic jam. "He" and "she" were both stalled and struck up a conversation that ended in romance. One bridegroom admitted he proposed by writing on the auto's steamy windshield. Another pair were perched at the drug store fountain. She was eating a hamburger and he was having coffee. He asked her to pass the sugar and she asked for salt and pepper. One girl, a waitress, took a fancy to the chap who left a big tip. Another bride admitted she'd had a flat tire and looked so helpless that the man who was, unknowingly, to become her husband, stopped and fixed it for her.

No Welder

One bride told Nelson she had met her sweetheart at CalShip, where she was a welder and he was her boss. He didn't like the way she welded and fired her. Later, they met at a picnic and patched things up. Another couple met at a party, where the girl was with another man. She spilled her drink and it provoked her escort. The husband-to-be gallantly came to the young lady's rescue and saw her home.

One husband said he was a signalman in the Navy and had to obey his superior, in this case, the girl, a Chief Yeoman. He met her at a dance. She asked him to dance first, she took him home, she kissed him first, later proposed. "But from now on," he said firmly, "the orders will be coming from me!"

One girl had a Cinderella story. She appeared on Tom Breneman's broadcast and won the wishing ring, wished to be married on "Bride and Groom." She was, too, just three weeks later.

One Navy hero appearing in role of bridegroom was more nervous about the proceedings than he was while sinking the Jap battleship Yamate. Another chap, standing up with the day's groom, said: "He (the bridegroom) stood by me at Guadalcanal, so I'm standing up for him on his wedding day."

One duo of newlyweds were very thrilled over their washing machine which they received after the ceremony. "Do you think you'll be able to work it?" queried Nelson. The bride blushed prettily and answered: "Well, if I can't, my husband will—he's a Phi Beta Kappa."

Mail Revealing

Some of the letters received by the program reveal a fascinating cross section of Americana. Some writers pen their thoughts, without any wish to appear on the broadcast (or even to be married). For instance, one war-time pair of lovers had been married only six and a half hours when he was sent across country. He wrote and simply asked that his bride's favorite song, "My Heart Sings," be sung by Jack McElroy, who does the vocalizing for "Bride and Groom." A shut-in from Portland wrote to say she takes down each day's program in shorthand. A lady from Georgia said: "Even my very good neighbor, a widow, fifty years of age and with two grown sons and a dead husband of seventeen years is getting young again and wanting to be married on your program. She is just lacking—one husband."

A twenty-nine-year-old nurse wanted Nelson to find her a boy friend. Hers had been killed in France. One girl said: "You are always helping girls get their men roped and tied. Well, why don't you try and help the more unfortunate girls out?" She went on to explain she had been married and divorced, that she annexed boy friends easily enough, but when they found out about her three babies, "they take a powder."

Outstanding among letters was this one, written in pencil: "I am writing this to tell you how I enjoy your program and about how lucky I think the people are who are married there . . . I really think it's wonderful. It takes the place of the empty spot in my heart because the things you make possible on your program are the things I've never had but have always dreamed about.

True Romance

"My husband and I met one night in April . . . and a year later we were married. He was only a corporal and had to help out with the money problems at home and he couldn't afford a ring. I had to help out at home because of my father's death a few years before and I couldn't afford one either, so we used an old birthstone ring I'd had since childhood. He wore his uniform and I had only a $5.98 crepe dress. My mother bought me a corsage of rosebuds. We were just poor farmers' children, so instead of having a church wedding like both of us had always dreamed of we were married by a Justice of the Peace. Just as he started to say, "I now pronounce you man and wife," a train went through town and we couldn't hear him say it. We could only see his lips move.

"After the ceremony my husband had to go back to camp, so we borrowed $25 to go to Virginia where he was stationed. He was only there for five weeks, three days, two hours, and twenty-five minutes before he left for overseas. . . . He was wounded three times and received several medals. Now we are both working hard and saving every cent we possibly can for the farm of our dreams. When you said, 'You're getting married for life,' it's true, but what we always say and have said is, 'We're getting married for love and for life.' I only hope that everyone else is as happy as we are. . . . Keep on with your good work, for it makes so many people happy."

Another letter struck our fancy, for it stood out in such sharp contrast to the preceding one. Scribbled by a girl in North Carolina, it said: "Dear John Nelson. I have been listening and sure enjoy it. I have always wanted one of your rings, so please send me a diamond ring, size four, and a pair of nylons, size eight and a half. I guess no one has ever wrote you for anything, but I want the ring and hose so bad. So send them at once. Thanks a lot for them."

Letters don't perturb Nelson and his associates. Johnny's prime consideration is the program and his main duty, he thinks, "is to get the supreme joy of the bridal twosome to the radio listening audience.

"Sometimes," he recalls, "I've been so interested to push the bubbling, blushing bliss of the bride into my roving mike that I've forgotten to give the wedding ring to the best man."
