What Makes a "Perfect Husband"?

Monday through Friday, 4:00 p.m.
KECA

WE ASKED Mrs. George Fenneman, formerly Peggy Clifford, wife of the emcee of KECA's "Perfect Husband" airshow, who her ideal "perfect husband" was. Understandably, she replied quickly: "George."

"Why?" we asked, teasingly.

"He is understanding, loves the children, helps build a home and a marriage—and he's such a nice guy," she said.

That's a sure endorsement for any man who has been married for nine years to his college sweetheart.

George interviews four women on each airshow and asks them pointed questions about their courtship days, married life and why they believe they have the "perfect husband." He then awards the winner and her spouse some valuable prizes and sends them on a gay whirl about Hollywood. He denies flatly getting any "perfect husband" tips from his show contestants, and un-Hollywood, strange as it may sound, he has found almost all his guesting couples to be very proud of their marriages.

When we turned the tables and asked George what were his qualifications for a perfect wife, he had the answer in a moment. "There's only one qualification as far as I'm concerned . . . that is, that she be Peggy Clifford."

BEVERLY is a rather puzzled spectator during a practice canasta game. Practice occurs so that in a real game the elder Fennemans can be familiar with each other's techniques. Thus no quarrels arise. Another "perfect" idea.

HERE'S THE QUESTION: Is George actually helping or merely showing how it is done? George insists that he does actually and frequently help—and anyway, could he help it if a photographer just happened to walk by at a good moment?

October 12, 1951

YOUNG CLIFFORD Fenneman, aged seven, gets a healthy dunking from the shoulders of his famous emcee father in the pool at their own San Fernando Valley home. Clifford, a good swimmer, can afford to smile!

GEORGE REALLY TRIES to live up to the "perfect helpmate" routine. While he never washes the dishes, he always lends a hand as "wiper." Daughter Gloria, a year and a half, isn't actually watching mother and daddy. She isn't even watching the legendary "birdie."

"Frosty Frolics"

M
Wednesday, 8:00 p.m.
KTLA, Channel 5
 MAGIC OF A three-ring circus plus the glamour of all the national ice shows you have ever seen combine to bring viewers KTLA's exemplary "Frosty Frolics."

Recently nationalized over Paramount stations, "Frosty Frolics" is the unusual venture masterminded by KTLA's Klaus Landsberg, who as a youth spent many winter seasons skating and skiing in Switzerland. His knowledge of blade and ski sports and the acclaim which greeted KTLA's telecasting of portions of "Ice Follies" and "Icecapades" shows led Landsberg to put "Frosty Frolics," a complete hour-long revue, on ice every week.

Headlined by such well-known skaters as Roy and April Schramm, fifteen-year-old national men's amateur champion skater Evey Scotvold, Buff, Joan, and Dorothy McCusker, and a host of other champions who cut more than mean ice figures, "Frosty Frolics" is set in a make-believe Swiss chalet. The setting is so realistic that many reviewers have called asking for information on reservations and accommodations.

Off-Camera

Behind-the-scenes accomplishments of the "Frosty Frolickers" are as startling as their finished product. Since the show originates from the Polar Palace here in Hollywood, rehearsals are held every week-day night at eleven, after rink patrons have left. On Wednesday the cast and KTLA crew work from 5:00 p.m. to showtime, weaving costumes, lights, scenery and talent into uniquely different rink revues.

Activity

In three short hours, Jerry Maddon and his KTLA scene setters erect an outdoor chalet; Bob Turk, choreographer, supervises final dance details; emcee Stan Chambers practices the one fall on ice that he makes each week; and then the crew of approximately sixty is ready to go on with the show.

Manny Strand, musical director, adds another unusual feature to "Frosty Frolics." His "Tyrolean Troubadours," a sextet of musicians many of whom are Europeans, play authentic German beer-garden airs, utilizing typical musical instruments. Strand and his crew have received many invitations from the show's viewers to revive this type of music at functions other than "Frosty Frolics."

New Slant

Skaters themselves look to "Frosty Frolics" as both a demanding and a fulfilling type of show. Shirley

October 12, 1951

ROY AND APRIL SCHRAMM met at an ice rink when April was just learning how to skate. They were married in 1947. Roy, who started skating at the age of seven, comes from Beach, North Dakota, and plays the saxophone and clarinet as hobbies. April is a native of Burbank and accompanies her musical-minded hubby on the piano.

Landers, an accomplished mistress of the blades who spent five years with Sonja Henie's troupe before joining the frolics, registered a typical reaction. "When we work on national shows, we skate the same routines for a whole year. On TV, we get a chance to do new ones each and every week. It's hard but rewarding work."

The variety of specialty numbers in any one "Frosty Frolic" provides a clue to the diversity of talent and imagination possessed by these skaters, each of whom originates his own choreography. Evey Scotvold and Shirley Landers skate "Tennis on Ice"; specialty skater Penny Edwards curves her way through an Oriental dance; Roy and April Schramm and a bevy of ice-queens do a fancy waltz production number; the McCuskers (husband-and-wife team of Buff and Joan, and Buff's talented comedienne sister) do an amusing comedy sequence; and finally, in a spectacular "South-of-the-Border" type production all the cast blend skates, color and talent into a typical "Frosty Frolics" production.

One reviewer has said of Frosty Frolics: "The ice may be cold, but the show is hot."

JOAN McCUSKER, who teams up with her husband, Buff, is one of the feminine favorites on "Frosty Frolics." Hailing from Minnesota and starting her skating career at the age of six, Joan has hopes of including her three-year-old son in her act.

BUFF McCUSKER was born here in Hollywood and got his big break when he was Sonja Henie's partner in "Wintertime." He then toured the United States with her. Free-lancing now, Buff has become a star in his own right.

EVEY SCOTVOLD is only fifteen years old but he has been skating since the age of five. He is the youngest member of a world-famous skating family and is the holder of the Pacific Coast Skating Championship, which he won this year as an amateur while attending San Diego High School.

➔ AFTER SHE WAS SEATED in the "Lemac Box," the all-important question arose: "Can you name the only state of the forty-eight which contains none of the letters in 'L-E-M-A-C'?" Mrs. Navlet pondered her correct answer, "Ohio." Her G.I. competitor was puzzled.

➔ A HAPPY MRS. NAVLET, scarcely able to believe her fortune, was declared winner of the big jackpot and congratulated by an equally happy Bob Hawk.

Lemac Question: Is It Worth $30000?

Monday, 7:00 p.m.
CBS-KNX, KCBQ

BOB HAWK, sharp-witted emcee of the Bob Hawk Show, has it easier than most of his "Lemac" contestants. At least he doesn't have to shiver 'n' shake over the answer to a question which may win as much as $3250. That was the sum of the jackpot prize which Mrs. Jewel Navlet recently took home. It started out on April 9 this year as a $250 award for the correct answer to the Lemac question, which participants are eligible for only after answering five other questions correctly.

Some Are Scared

One contestant admitted she was "pretty scared" and that her son had pushed her up to the mike to win the $3000 Lemac money. At the very moment when Hawk was about to hurl the first question at her she even asked, "Can I quit right now?"

Another lady said she was nervous before she stepped in front of the mike, but became calm immediately after Hawk started chatting with her in his casual fashion. Most persons who get in the Lemac box admit to feeling funny sensations in the pits of their stomachs, forgetting everything they ever knew, or dreaming

(Please Turn to Page 34)

➔ WAS IT WORTH IT? Mrs. Navlet certainly thinks any loss of composure and mental strain was well worth winning that $3250 check Bob Hawk is putting into her hands. She plans to use the money to send her young son to college.

This Week in TV

In & Out of Focus (General Comment)

On Our Cover

On our cover this week is youthful Dorothy McCusker of KTLA "Frosty Frolics." A native Californian, she is regarded as "the greatest comedienne on skates today."

Dorothy started skating at the early age of ten. One of her favorite teenage pastimes was seeing all the Sonja Henie movies, some of them as many as ten times.

With the "Ice Capades" for three years, she understudied everyone in the cast, including, in one skit, the back end of a horse. Producer John Harris was instrumental in making a star out of Dorothy in her own right.

Dorothy loved to travel and she did just that, appearing in various hotels in skating revues throughout the United States. Later, she also toured with the "Hollywood on Ice" show and "Ice-landia."

Now Dorothy seems to be at home with the "Frosty Frolics" shows, which has just been contracted for a coast-to-coast showing. The whole nation will now be able to laugh at—and applaud—Dorothy's antics on ice.

Frosty Frolics New Time

A change in time and place has occurred since our story on KTLA's "Frosty Frolics" went to press. This video ice show is now viewed on Wednesday at 8:00 p.m. and comes to you direct from Pasadena's Winter Garden.

KTSL's New Name

During the month of September we received word from KTSL that soon their call letters would read "KNXT," to denote CBS television just as KNX means CBS radio out here. We quickly changed many of our logs to conform.

A few days later we received word that the big name change would not take place until later in October. Well, it's almost "later in' October," so we left KNXT in print by way of getting us all ready for the switch. (Remember, though, KNXT is really KTSL!)

First "Kine"

The very first kinescope film of a network TV show to be shown to members of the armed forces overseas was presented by an NBC Vice President, Sylvester Weaver, to Lt. Lowell O. Orr, USN, chairman of the Armed Forces Television Film Recording Selection Group, recently. The show was a chapter of "Assignment Manhunt" (seen here on KNBH on August 4) and marked the culmination of an industry-wide effort of six months' duration to make many more "kines" available to overseas troops so that they may enjoy TV too.

Looks Like

... Rhonda Fleming is personally designing her own television wardrobe, which includes a unique "plunging-neckline sweater." ... Robert Merrill doesn't need his own television show. The popular baritone has signed for a total of eight appearances on the Ed Sullivan "Toast of the Town" TV show (seen in the East); two guest shots with Milton Berle, and a possible "Show of Shows" visit. ... TV station KELD-TV, in Matamoros, Mexico, has affiliated with ABC-TV and is the first foreign television station to become an ABC-TV affiliate. The addition will make available to set owners in the vast Rio Grande Valley the network shows of the American Broadcasting Company. What a fertile spot for the right show idea!

... KNBH's Gene Norman again tops the list of disc jockeys west of Chicago in the annual Billboard poll recently released. He was number five nationally, and preceded only by other men who are heard on coast-to-coast shows, giving them an infinitely broader field for votes. ... KNBH on October 6 set some sort of a sports record. In the a.m., third game of the World Series; then the Illinois-Wisconsin football classic live on the microwave; the wrestling matches and finally the Loyola - U of Florida game!

... Those telecasts from the Southland's popular "The Oasis," which we rumored recently as being about to commence, are now signed and ready to go, with Channel 4 doing the picking up of Lionel Hampton and crew as an opener.

... Dennis Day, long a fixture with NBC, because of his own radio show on the net, is now enjoying "an agreement" with CBS for both TV and radio. The word "contract" was not mentioned in any news release we have seen or received. ... Hawthorne goes to a new CBS-TV time, you know, starting this Friday, October 12, at 10:30 p.m. Don't blame us if you miss him. ... Art Linkletter on film not only looks better, but his show seems to go at a somewhat smoother pace. Here's one example of a spontaneous show not losing any spontaneity through taking to celluloid. ... Ed Reimers, KTTV announcer on "You Asked for It," "Calo Pet Exchange," "Come Into the Kitchen" and "Kay Mulvey's Open House" underwent major throat surgery last week and is convalescing at Queen of Angels hospital.

Rumors Are Flying

... Jack Benny will do a half dozen more TV shows this winter if sponsor Lucky Strike has its way. ... NBC-TV is scouring the country for new comics, preferably young ones. At the same time it is reported to have signed William Bendix, who, while always good, is scarcely young or new; and Al Pearce, who hasn't been heard of since he and his "Gang" were a big thing on radio.

"Crime Syndicated"

Tuesday, 9:00 p.m.
CBS-TV, KTSL, Channel 2

This new series possesses a diversity of interests. The stories provide one; Rudolph Halley's own odd personality the second; and the ghastly quality of the Schick commercials the last. During these last-mentioned, we almost called a repairman, thinking our set had conked out. But no, when the program resumed, black-and-white took over for light-gray tones and phantom forms. Interesting.

The show is presumably dedicated to the problem of closing down crime syndicates, with stories of how this has been done and where. Rudolph Halley himself introduces each chapter, reading from a sheet before him. If Mr. Halley is getting the legendary salary rumored about earlier this year, he should be made to learn his lines, just as do the actors who make up the casts in his show. He does not read very well.

The story that followed his halting introduction had to do with the closing of a New Jersey casino which netted $1,000,000 each month. The local authorities were in fear of their lives and it took a judge's signature for even the necessary search warrant. Once that legal mumbo-jumbo was under way, the story turned out to be most satisfactorily violent, with the heels of the wheels and tables expressing themselves in the best prescribed tradition of mystery-book jargon, e.g., "I'll fan ya . . ." "Knock 'em down for protection," and so on. One of the "syndicate members," in to check the casino owner's books and shake him down for a bigger cut of the take, was even named "Slick." Best of all, nary a girl was in the plot. One or two very chi-chi dolls were seen playing at the tables before the long arm of the law descended, but they were completely incidental to the plot that found the maddened casino owner finally turning a turret gun on friend and foe alike.

John Peyser directed beautifully, and made the most of every camera shot of the extensive, able cast and the expensive, multiple sets.

Now if Halley can only learn his lines it will be peachy.—J.P.

"Studio One"

Monday, 7:00 p.m.
CBS-TV, KTSN, Channel 2

"Studio One" returned to the video lanes via microwave relay. It's noteworthy to report that sharper, clearer images enhanced "Studio One's" dramatic impact. No more washed-out "kine" faces to detract from their usual excellent productions.

The initial airer, "The Idol of San Vittore," adapted from Indro Montanelli's book, starred Maria Riva and Eduardo Ciannelli. Although the setting in a Nazi prison provided impetus to overact, the tendency was handled with restraint. Briefly, the story concerned a pickpocket who was granted amnesty by the Nazis providing he would masquerade as an Italian general and act as an informer of the political and military prisoners. However, the pickpocket displays humanitarian instincts in adopting his general role. Within limits, he does whatever he can to comfort the prisoners. The uniform transforms this social outcast into a gentleman. Being a gentleman's general doesn't set well with the Nazis, and his reward for kindness is death.

Instead of resorting to melodramatics, the presentation used inference to depict the Nazis' harsh brutality. This was evident throughout the script. As one of the prisoners, Maria Riva showed a sensitive face registering emotions which dialogue could not duplicate. Eduardo Ciannelli was superb as the pseudo general. Paul Nickell's direction was well-paced, and Willard Levita's sets were realistic. Tony Minor can be proud of his initial returning airer.—M.R.

"Truth About Dixie"

Tuesday, 7:30 p.m.
KHJ-TV, Channel 9

The truth about Dixie in this case is that the show benefitted greatly from a vacation. Harry Hickox, Marvin Ash (whose piano work still reminds us of the late Bob Zurke's, whether Mr. Ash cares for that fine comparison or not!) and singer Dottie O'Brien, whose new and more mature mein is vastly becoming, are on hand all over again in the New Orleans back-room setting of last year.

The show opened with piano by Ash and an overheard phone conversation on the part of Hickox and an unseen. Introduction of the guest of the evening was a bit we wish could be captured and sent around to all fellow TV stations and artists. The camera merely picked up Jack Teagarden's face behind the bell of his famous tram as he opened with a few bars. No wearisome ". . . and now, ladies and gentlemen." The guest just appeared to please and startle. His name was spoken later.

Later, while Teagarden was breaking our hearts with a vocal and instrumental on "One Hundred Years From Today," the camera work and direction turned up as the finest we have ever seen on any show, any place. Close-ups such as you get from leafing through a magazine or a book were greatly in evidence. This is a method of pickup we have prescribed, heretofore futilely, for music coverage, for some time. Paul Knight directed.

The show rolled on with all the regulars contributing, and some more fine camera work with an overhead mirror when Ash rumbled through "You Know You Can Depend on Me." But no one forgot that "Big T" was the draw of this opening show of what promises to be a fine series, and he was sent back before camera for a turn at "St. James Infirmary" and "Baby, Won't You Please Come Home." On "St. James," Teagarden went through a bit of old-time bandstand trickery, supplanting the bell of his trombone with a water glass. Musicians of today laugh at that sort of thing, but few of them can do it. None of them can do it like Teagarden! Jack is as good as he was in 1926, 1936, 1946, and probably will be in 1956.

The nicest thing we can say about "Dixie" is that you keep imagining someone like Mildred Bailey on it. It's the kind of a show that sends you scuttling to the phone, reluctant not to share the treat with everyone else who likes good jazz.—J.P.

Red Skelton Show

"Everything comes to him who waits," goes the adage. Yes, everything, even Red Skelton to TV, an event for which we have been waiting for years. At the close of his premiere last week he was worth the wait. Red "dood it!"

As a TV performer, Red was natural . . . relaxed as a hunk of wet spaghetti . . . eager to lend himself to any maneuver, from having his head whammed by the lid of the grand piano to being dragged offstage by his heels at the finale.

It was Red's show all the way. Instead of complicating his initial telecast with elaborate wardrobe, he used his facial expressions, supple body and simple props to carry over his ideas. The resultant uncluttered effect stood out in happy contrast to the over-produced TV opus which many lookers have wearied of.

CONTEST ANNOUNCEMENT

On October 14, TV-Radio Life is starting four weekly contests for its readers. The contest is to be called "Why I Like My TV Set." All it entails is a letter to TV-Radio Life telling as briefly but completely as possible why you prefer the set you have.

Entries will be judged weekly by the staff. Each week will have a new contest and fresh winners. To get under the wire for any week your entry should be at the TV-Radio Life office, 6361 Selma Ave., Hollywood 28, no later than 6:00 p.m. Saturday. First week begins Sunday, October 14, and ends Saturday, October 20. For the best letter each week we will award four tickets to Red Skelton's new NBC telecast. (For those outside the immediate area, first prize, on request, will be a six-month subscription to TV-Radio Life.) First winning entry will be printed in the October 26 issue.

Get busy, folks. Jot down your ideas. It will be fun for other readers to compare notes with yours. And if you win, what exciting fun to see Red go through his TV antics! If you wish, enter today. Simply fill in the coupon below, tear out and mail to TV-Radio Life.

telecast dealt with Skelton as "Clem Kadiddlehopper," a concert tenor, assisted by Dave Rose at the grand. Show could also have used Maestro Rose and orchestra more at the beginning—one of our few minor complaints about the program was its sign-on; we sadly missed the familiar Skelton theme and did not react well to Red coming on immediately with no build-up.

Compared with the Eddie Cantor show, which preceded Skelton by two hours on relay, Red's half hour clearly showed the advantage over a sixty-minute telecast. Sixty is too long for one star, no matter how good, to carry. Somehow or other, too, even well executed commercials in an hour show seem to intrude more than in a half hour.

West Coast TV has a tremendous asset in Skelton and TV has a sure winner. Milton Berle may have to change his billing as "America's Number-One Television Star."—E.B.

Second Glances (Critical Comment)

We Point With Pride

... To the camera work on the part of pick-up station WPIX during the three playoff games between the Giants and Dodgers carried on KNBH last week. (Just this one mention and we'll rest the case forever!) On the second day, everything happened on the baseball field that could happen. It rained. Microwave difficulties arose. The light over the diamond was awful. But in the third inning, Duke Snyder barrel-housed home and was declared out by umpire Larry Goetz. The big rhubarb was on, with the camera picking up not only the attempted homer but the umpire-Dodgers' beef. Quick thinking and good work on the part of production. This was the day we were watching on a regular twelve-inch RCA, and could not only see everything, despite the elements, but could identify players. The next day, when the big blow-up of the top half of the ninth inning made the Giants pennant winners and made baseball history, we were watching on a huge nine-by-eleven-foot screen at NBC's El Capitan theater. Nothing. We could hardly see the homer hit. For sports, we'll take the small screen, where a natural diffusion doesn't render all the participants of a red-hot game anonymous.

We View With Alarm

... The absence from our screens of Michael Darrin, popular singer of ABC-TV's Johnny Downs show. Mr. Darrin is not only considered a real fine guy and good singer by those who actually know him — he has also been piling up poll points and fan mail at a great rate from fans. To replace Darrin the show is having a different vocalist each week, leading off with Johnny Bradford and following this week with Georgia Lee.

"Suspense"

Tuesday, 9:30 p.m.
CBS-TV, KTSL, Channel 2

This Auto-Lite video series has managed for the most part to come up with some corkers, following in the footsteps of its radio counterpart. A week or so ago the story was built around the early days of showman Joey Lewis, as exciting a chronicle as any fictioneer's pen ever laid down.

Apparently searching for another departure, production powers on "Suspense" put Walter Slezak into an 1885-London setting as a poison murderer. The "Dr. Cream" shown in a London rooming house had come from Liverpool, home of an exciting and unexplained wife-poisoning murder.

No viewer has any special reason to assume the young ladies of England during this era were complete imbeciles. Yet the story cast all the subsequent victims of the "Doctor" in just that role. Giggling girls who just couldn't say "no" to a clandestine drink of poisoned hooch with a total stranger! Of course they couldn't say "no" even once because "Suspense" runs but thirty minutes, and time wouldn't allow any better dressing of the plot.

But that point is minor. What showed up brilliantly during this stanza of an ordinarily good show is the fact that the psychological story of a man obsessed by fear of age can't be crammed into a half hour, even with Walter Slezak hustling the title role along.—J.P.

"The Thing Is the Play"

Wednesday, 9:00 p.m.
KLAC-TV, Channel 13

Shakespeare had it "... the play is the thing." The new package being seen on KLAC-TV inverts this classic statement to fit the gimmick of tossing a random object or situation to a group of players and having them build a play around "the thing." When Tallulah Bankhead and colleagues spend time on a session of the same sort, it is known as "extemporaneous theater."

Frank DeVol serves as host, and a group of dramatic aspirants from the Batomi Schneider School entertain. The audience suggestions found a television camera, a diving board and a news stand being suggested as "things" around which plots were conceived. Generally, the ensuing playlets are well thought out and well conceived. Paul Livermore, Bob Richards, Joan Vohs, Irene Vernon, Maggie Lord, Dorothy Arnoide and Sy Marsh were the players. Marsh undertook to "help" DeVol with audience work and the comedy element and managed to make DeVol (always a likable, poised guy and a fine musician) stand out, by comparison, as a superior dramatist, host, wit, emcee and moderator. The only person, it seemed to us, who slowed down the proceedings more than Marsh was the very poor choice of audience members who came on stage to serve in one of the sample skits. Marsh undertook comedy bits that would have given even Milton Berle pause to consider, with the inevitable result that a good many of his moments didn't pan out. The audience seemed to love him, so maybe we are hypercritical. Players whose performances and good looks certainly will result in either further TV commitments or screen work for them were Irene Vernon and Joan Vohs, it seemed to us.

The program is an hour which undoubtedly with further practice and grooming will develop into a popular viewing spot. The public will probably take it as a new and super sort of charades game, and it is about time the well-worn device of charades on TV bows to something new and super. This is the spot to take over.—J.P.

“Super Circus” Safari

A few weeks ago three husky elephants were on their way to the ABC Civic Theater for a rehearsal of the following day's "Super Circus." The pachyderms were brought in trucks to a parking lot at the corner of Washington and Wacker—just across the street from the theater. To be taken into the theater, the animals had to file across Washington Boulevard, pass under the theater marquee, enter a truck entrance backstage of the Civic Opera House and pass on into the Civic Theater.

All went well until the trunk-toters were filing across Washington Boulevard and suddenly came to a sudden, noisy halt. It so happened that Wacker Drive is currently being torn up for construction of a new underpass. It also happened that the workmen got just as far as the Civic Opera Building in their digging, leaving a tremendous width-of-the-street pit in front of the theater.

The elephants, on seeing this, must have put their good memories to work and recalled the time, centuries ago, that one of their forefathers stood on the edge of a cliff in India only to have the sides cave in and tumble him to his death. This trained trio wanted none of that. So they planted themselves in the middle of the street as motorists stared goggle-eyed. Nothing budged them.

It took the frantic Phil Patton, producer of "Super Circus," the stage hands, act booker and many prop men to solve the problem. From ABC properties room, all the cardboard trees, shrubs, vines and scenery that had been used in past performances on ABC-TV shows were dug out. These were carefully placed along the rails surrounding the pit. And the corner of Washington and Wacker suddenly became a green cardboard forest surrounded by some of the nation's tallest buildings.

Horns stopped blasting. Master Cole stopped prodding, and the elephants walked peacefully past the pit and into the theater.

Selling a TV Show

One of the major problems facing every television packager or producer is the high cost involved in preparing TV film for audition purposes. Stanley Cowan, a Hollywood independent publicist and packager of TV shows, hit on what he thinks is a novel idea for putting over auditions for new TV programs. Instead of an expenditure which may run between $5,000 and $10,000 to get a new dramatic television production on film for the purpose of selling it to likely prospects, he makes a transcription of the show, which costs only about $1,000. This is, of course, the way many radio shows jumped from a tryout stage to a sure thing on the airwaves. He now has a new television-drama format called "Write Your Own Ticket," which touts unknown writers who want to sell their product on TV and a comedy-giveaway format entitled "It's Deductible." In the first-mentioned TV-audition transcription which is co-produced by Margaret Rhodes, Carol Ann Beery, daughter of Wallace Beery, femcee the show with a critical panel consisting of Walter Ames, Anna Sten and Bert Douglas. "It's Deductible" was put on record with Ukie Sherin and Sams Mannis emceeing. Cowan claims that with a transcription of a TV idea, he can leave the record with the prospective buyer to play at his convenience, whereas a costly film would presume the killing of many a bright TV idea before it could ever reach the ears and eyes of a would-be sponsor or millions of set owners.

Dear Reader

This week things will be better, we are sure. We mean the logs, both radio and TV. First, the fall shows came back. Then the microwave came through and with its completion, live TV.

As we told you last week, we aren't leaving a stone unturned to get and keep our logs in order. Every detail is checked and rechecked. The information we give you is the latest the networks and stations had just before our presses rolled. Please do not blame us if last-minute changes beyond our control upset schedules. This transitory period is drawing to a close. We ask your patience meantime.

Handy Hints

By Dorothy Gardiner and Dick Gar-ton, stars of KTLA's "Handy Hints," Monday through Friday, 6:45 p.m.

Each week we pick the best Handy Hint sent directly to TV-Radio Life, 6361 Selma Avenue, Hollywood 28, and use it, with your name and address, in this column as well as on the air over KTLA, Friday evening at 6:45. A lovely gift will be sent to everyone whose hint is used here as KTLA-TV-Radio Life Hint of the week.

Here is this week's winner: Mrs. Max Warren, 4529 N. Cowan, El Monte, Calif.

The hint is:

IF YOU HAVE AN OLD TREADLE SEWING MACHINE, YOU CAN MAKE IT INTO A VERY NICE PATIO TABLE. First remove the old machine cabinet, then the foot pedal and arms on each side. You will have two grilled ends left, then use a piece of plywood sized to your own need, as the table top, and paint to match your patio furniture. Now you will have a patio table that will stand the weather and one that cost you very little money.

YOU CAN MAKE A TRELIS OUT OF WOODEN COAT HANGERS. Just remove the wire hook from hanger, then drill holes on each end of hanger and assemble hangers by using a common bolt and nut inserted in drilled holes. Various designs can be made, suitable to each person's taste. They're very good for all climbers, such as sweet peas, ivy, climbing roses, etc.

IF YOU CATCH THE HEM OF YOUR SKIRT AND THERE'S NO TIME TO FIX IT, REMEMBER THIS! Just take some scotch tape and fasten your hem with the tape; you'll find it will hold until you have time to sew it.

ANOTHER USE FOR A BREAD PAN OR MEAT-LOAF PAN. If you have an old one around the house, don't throw it away. Instead fasten it to the inside of one of the doors underneath the sink. Then place your cleanser, scouring pads, etc. in the pan. Then they are always handy when you need them.

WHEN YOU USE A YARDSTICK FOR MEASURING OR AS A STRAIGHT-EDGE, you'll probably find that if the yardstick has a handle it will be easier to use and more accurate. Just get a handle of the type used on screen doors and attach it with two small screws.

Joe—"The Champ"—Pazandak Lives Up to His Reputation

JOE IS a champion's name. There's Joe Louis, former world heavy-weight champion for so many years. (And Joe Palooka, too, king of the ring in the comic strips.)

In baseball, Jolting Joe DiMaggio has been the idol of the diamond ever since he first came to the World Champion New York Yankees.

During World War II, and in Korea today, G.I. Joe is the symbolic name for all the fighting men.

Not to be outdone, the wrestling world also has a champion. Oddly enough, his name is also Joe.

We are speaking, of course, of Joe Pazandak, better known as "The Champ."

A mammoth figure at five feet nine inches and weighing a solid 240 pounds, Joe is originally a native of Minneapolis, Minnesota. As a matter of fact, he still owns a seed company in the Gopher metropolis.

A professional for more than ten years, Joe was introduced to the mat racket by Joe and Tony Stecher. At present Tony is still managing Pazandak, and is also a boxing and wrestling promoter in Minneapolis. Joe Stecher has long been recognized as one of the greatest matmen of all times.

As a part of their business, some wrestlers are prone to spout off a few five-syllable words, the meaning of which they have no cognizance of. But when Joe puts on the intellectual front, he's not kidding.

Like so many other American boys during the depressive thirties, Joe had to work his way through the University of Minnesota. He has a slick diploma at home to prove that he holds a degree in Art and Science from that university.

Undefeated as an amateur around Minneapolis, Joe entered the ring as a professional to foot some of his collegiate expenses.

"The Champ" was all set. He had a degree, and was making good money on the mat. But then Pearl Harbor came, and as with so many other millions of Americans, his career was interrupted. Instead of his opponents in the ring, Joe now began to give the Nazis a bad time.

All told, Joe spent four years in the Army. He saw action—and plenty of it—as a member of the famed 34th Infantry Division. In the North Africa campaign his field-artillery gun fired the first shell against the Germans.

Only seven men stayed with the 34th during that entire rugged year—and "The Champ" was one of them. One day of actual combat would be enough for any man. But Joe put in a total of 600 days on the front line.

After his discharge, "The Champ," who is of Bohemian descent, took to the ring again and toured throughout the United States, making friends (and enemies) wherever he went.

As Joe puts it: "Other men who have met me, named me 'The Champ.' And as long as I'm in the game, I intend to live up to that reputation."

BY EVELYN BIGSBY

CAN'T LET ANOTHER WEEK go by without commenting on Alan Young's amusing teleshow. His wistful brand of comedy is right down the center this season. I still get a chuckle just thinking about his Grauman's forecourt routine when Alan recently played cement mixer; Bob Crosby's guest appearance this past week was delightfully entertaining and nicely integrated; and to hear the Bob Cats was something special. Alan is doing a fine job in his unique way; wish more viewers would appreciate it.

IF YOU THINK YOU HAVE TROUBLES, give Dr. Paul Popenoe's Institute of Family Relations a look 'n' listen. Last Tuesday night there appeared a young woman who had married a Navy man just before he left for Korea. He is coming home soon, and she has A Problem: she and her employer, a married man with a family, became involved and now have a baby daughter about whom the Navy man knows nothing.

THE PANEL HAS DELIBERATED some real toughies recently, but the other night's poser takes my cake as the most complicated TV tangle the program has yet been asked to unwind.

THE EMPLOYER, WITH NO notion of breaking up his own family, was all for putting the baby out for adoption, figuring it best for baby and everyone else. The mother wanted to keep it "because I love her." The panel indicated she might be right, but advised she tell her husband the whole truth, putting no pressure on him whatsoever regarding his decision, and warning the woman that she might have to go away with the child and start life all over again. Sometime I'd like Dr. Popenoe to bring some of these "cases" back to show how they were solved. As it is, now I am thinking about this woman and left wondering whether her husband will come through magnificently, as she hopes, to establish a home with her and the baby, or whether some other solution will be reached. (And people scoff at daytime serials, claiming their goings-on are fantastic!) But aside from the human-interest angle, major contribution of this program is in pointing up the fine, dignified work of the Institute. Puzzled people see that there are solutions to problems; and the diagramming of some of these also deters other lookers from making the same mistakes as the Mr. X's and Mrs. Y's.

NBC's FORMER CHIEF ANNOUNCER AND special-events man, Clinton (Buddy) Twiss, has authored a really clever book which I can't put down. Called "The Long, Long Trailer," it describes the recent two-year trailer excursion on which Buddy and his wife visited forty-one states. Buddy writes as he talks (and he's a great raconteur). Understand Reader's Digest has bought "The Long, Long Trailer" for condensation, paying more for it than anything since "Chicken Every Sunday." Book would make a cute movie, too.

OCTOBER 15 IS THE FIRST anniversary of Al Jolson's passing, and this column agrees with Mrs. Jolson it's a shame the disc jockeys don't play his records much any more.

My own Point with Prides: To Patricia Munsel and Louis Armstrong for two very pleasant guestings on Milton Berle's show. . . . To Vaughn Monroe's suavity when he forgot his lines to the parody he was doing with Berle on "C'mon a My House." "My memory slipped," Monroe sang, and "I'll give you one more chance to rehearse your script," sang back Uncle M. . . . To Arlene Harris's appearance on Ina Ray Hutton's show. She does her monologue just as well, if not better than ever, and nobody can

Contests

AND OFFERS

Some lucky woman will receive a personally fitted copy of the original Jeanne Gray Television dress, designed by the internationally famous DeVilliar, as first prize of a contest being conducted on the "JEANNE GRAY SHOW" (KTSL, Channel 2, Mon.-Fri. 3:00-3:30 p.m.).

Viewers will be asked to guess the name and identity of a mystery guest who will appear on the program on an unannounced day before the contest closes November 15. A clue will be given to viewers each day.

Contestants must complete in twenty-five words or less: "I would like to see the following on the Jeanne Gray show." All entries must be postmarked no later than November 15.

EDDIE SILVERMAN'S "It's a Neat Trick" (2) will introduce something new in the way of contests. He will magically produce a dove during his telecast and ask viewers to submit a suitable name for his feathered friend. All entries should be mailed to him, care of P.O. Box 88, Pasadena 8, and must be postmarked on or before October 24. Winner receives two prizes—coffee table for the household and a bicycle for the junior member of the house.

touch her for this type of performance. When Arlene was supposedly trying on a hat and the saleslady assured her she had no wrinkles, Arlene cracked: "Are you kiddin'? If I had a few more I could screw my hat on!"

On the Ball

with Bob Kelley

More than a year ago, I was rather surprised to receive a letter that went something like this: "Dear Mr. Kelley: I just wanted you to know that in our house we always turn on the Los Angeles baseball broadcasts that you do over KMPC while we are watching our television."

Well, I didn't actually understand the full connotations of that letter until I received many hundreds more just like it. It seems that people were actually turning off the audio on their TV sets and were listening to my radio play-by-play while watching the picture on television.

Now, the last thing I want to do is make this sound as if I'm tooting my own horn. I'm sure the same thing would happen if Hal Shideler or Bill Welsh or Jim Healy were doing the radio broadcasts. But the fact is, you just can't tell fans too much about a sporting event.

People were tuning in on me because the telecaster wasn't describing enough of the play-by-play action. And as I learned when I started broadcasting sports events seventeen years ago, there's no such thing as giving too much description.

Actually, the reason for all those hundreds of letters is very simple. When play-by-play telecasts of sports events were first originated, the TV producers instructed their announcers something like this: "Don't talk too much. The viewers can see what's going on. They don't want you to insult their intelligence."

However, like all pioneering projects, TV sportscasting had to learn its lesson. Fans do want a play-by-play picture of the ensuing action; they do want to be told where the ball is going; and they do want to know the name of the player who made that brilliant stop.

Virtually all of your major-league baseball broadcasts are simulcasts—in other words, the same announcer is describing the action for both the radio and television audiences. In fact, most of the coverage of Eastern professional football games is also handled by the simulcast method.

So, television—in addition to a guy named Kelley—has learned something. You just can't give the fans too much description. A complete word picture is great. A visual picture is even better. But a combination of both... well, to the sports follower, that's the greatest of all.

Tune Kelley Monday through Saturday, KMPC, 6:15 p.m., and Monday, 8:15 p.m.

You Think You Got Troubles? Listen to This Brooklyn Fan

By a Guy From Brooklyn

W

E WUZ robbed! Dat's all I gotta say.

Our boys should'a won, if it wasn't for that Louse Leo the Lip and his Lucky Bums, and that Lucky Bobby Thompson, and a lot of other lucky reasons.

As you fans know, we been saying "Wait Tilt Next Year" here in Brooklyn for tow-sands of years. Well, dis was "the year."

Ever since spring training we knew we had the "greatest team in the history of the National League." Even our old boss, Branch Rickey, admitted that.

At the beginning of dis season, we licked those "unmentionables from across the river" five straight times. By August, we were toiteen-and-a-half games ahead. We couldn't miss. Then dose guys led by that traitor Duroucher started to get lucky.

Our beloved bums were almost caught napping. On the last day of the season, they finally woke up and had to make a great—and skillful—comeback. Wasn't our Robby wonderful with his great catch and his fourteenth-inning home run? Da whole nation—da whole world in fact—went nuts.

We lost dat foist game to the Jints by 3 to 1. With a couple of breaks we could'a won, but we wanted to make things real interesting, and we knew our boys would still come troo.

And didn't they? Da very next day we skunked those Jints, ten to zip.

Then came the "croocial" game. Didn't we give 'em a lesson in how to play ball for eight and one-third innings? We were ahead 4 to 1 when those rats took unfair advantage of poor Newcombe. The big guy was all popped out after pitching so much the past week, and gave up a couple of hits.

Then whoop! That lucky Bobby Thompson closed his eyes on one of Ralphie Branca's gopher balls—and all our dreams went out into the left-field stands.

Now you people in sunny California (why don't youse wise up and come to a good country to live?) may tink we Brooklynites brag too much. And it's a unsubstantial fact, dere's no doubt, dat for the past ten years we have been blowing our tops because our boys have either been in first division or else right up there in the thick of the pennant race.

But youse people out dere in the Western wilderness don't remember the days when everybody laughed at our lovable bums. But we people in Brooklyn—especially guys like myself who was reared and born here—don't forget too easily those lean years.

Remember back in the 30's when Bill Terry asked: "Is Brooklyn still in the league?" Well, we knocked his Giants right out of foist place dat year.

Let's face it, though. Bill was ejaculating the truth. From 1921 to 1941, Brooklyn didn't even get a good smell of foist place. I can still remember the teams of Burleigh Grimes, Uncle Robinson, and even Casey Stengel.

I could keep talking about Brooklyn all day. But I'm gonna save me strength for next season.

We ain't never won a World Series before—they're all afraid of us over in dat odder league. You just wait, though. All the other teams can't be lucky all the time, and next year will be our year.

(Editor's Note: What'll you bet, you bum?)

NOT GUILTY!

Last week when we decided to economize on log room to make space for more news items, we did something that, in our opinion, should have been done years ago. Instead of using up columns of valuable space to repeat the Monday-through-Friday daytime logs (which are, with few exceptions, the same every day) we placed them together on one page. You'll find them complete this week on Page 26. If you are looking for a schedule any time from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, simply turn to Page 26. Logs for Saturday and Sunday remain as they have always been.

Last week, TV-Radio Life had several phone calls from old-time radio fans wanting to know what we had done with "their logs." Apparently they started to consult the schedule before reading our editorial note on Page 8. But by and large, all of these persons calling the office were agreeably straightened out and thought the extra space could well be devoted to more news and an occasional midnight-to-8:00-a.m. log. We want to emphasize that THE RADIO LOGS HAVE NOT BEEN CUT. THEY HAVE SIMPLY BEEN REARRANGED TO STREAMLINE THE NEWS SECTION. We want you to get the most for your 10 cents; repeating schedules is therefore not consistent with this objective.

as with his manner of approach. Within the short space of fifteen minutes, he was able to give a composite and complete picture of the economic, social and political situation in the various countries.

Neither he nor his guests pulled their punches. They criticized as well as praised American policies in Europe. Without apologies, they explained to listeners exactly what some Europeans think of us. And above all, they told the American people not what the big shots and social elite are doing in Europe, but what the majority of people are eating and wearing, what kind of homes they live in, and what their political viewpoints are.

There was nothing new or sensational about the contents of the program; no "scoops" or bulletin flashes. It was just crammed with concrete, pertinent facts—a little dry to some folks, maybe, but nevertheless necessary if we are to understand our future success (or failure) as the leading nation in the North Atlantic treaty.—T. H.

"The Big Show"

Sunday, 3:30 p.m.
NBC-KFI

After last year's record of winning almost every award given to those on the radio side of the mike, Tallu and her "Big Show" have a lot to do if they equal their own achievements of last season. Sunday's opener no doubt is not a typical entertainment line-up of the caliber or flavor to be aired on subsequent Sundays, because it was tailored for a British audience with its London origination. There were a number of English comedians, who somehow don't seem to know how to get laughs on this side of the Atlantic, although judging from the broadcast's applause they hit the funny bone of the Britishers. Tallu, who is supposedly without equal when it comes to femcees, failed to exhibit the freshness and wit which we expected her to have after a summer of radio silence. Of course she is known to be unpredictable, so we expect her easily to outshine all her past performances on any future Sunday.

One of the highlights of the first fall airer was a dramatic scene from Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra" as enacted by Laurence Olivier and Viven Leigh. Bea Lillie proved that she was competent to exchange witticisms on an equal basis with la Bankhead, and it seems to us that she would be a wonderful regular or at least frequent guest on "The Big Show."

After a Paris-originated broadcast, Tallulah will return to her more familiar stamping grounds in New York City and then sooner or later will probably come out to Hollywood for a couple of air shows. Regardless of whether "The Big Show" cast have their feet securely planted on the East or the West Coast, you can count on more and bigger laughs and super entertainment per minute than from almost any other airshow.—A.G.

"Theater Guild"

Sunday, 5:30 p.m.
KFI

"Main Street" has been covered by almost every conceivable medium more times than even Sinclair Lewis, if he were still living, would probably care to count. Joseph Cotten and Joan Fontaine, as co-stars, heaped more honors on the original story and on the fine record of past "Theater Guild" broadcasts.

"Main Street," as you probably recall, concerns the lives of a small-town doctor and his wife who try to adjust to each other and the relatively uneventful life in the small town of Gopher Prairie. This particular production relied heavily on the script and dialogue as set down by Sinclair Lewis. In so doing the cast were able to catch convincingly the tempo of the times presented in the original novel. Perhaps this technique may have made some of the speeches seem over-long, but that was forgivable since the production was so successful in capturing the deeper meanings and flavors woven into this great American literary classic.

"Theater Guild" promises to be again one of radio's most outstanding dramatic presentations. With fine casting to uphold what is usually an extremely vigorous scripting there is no reason this caliber of radio drama can not pull its share of set-siders in the late Sunday afternoon hours. This is radio fare that, it seems to us, will always be keen competition for tempters offered by the visual medium.—A.G.

"This I Believe"

Monday through Saturday, 10:55 p.m. KNX

Edward R. Murrow, outstanding news commentator, seems to have come up with a fine gem worthy of listeners' attention. Under the title of "This I Believe," Murrow introduces recorded short (approximately five-minute) talks by well-known people on their personal philosophies. Into this capsule-sized lecture, which by the way is not like a lecture so much as it is a friendly chat with a neighbor, these people put a sincerity and profound honesty that is seldom aired on any program. The list of voices to talk about their belief in God, man, our desperate world situation, as well as the little things which occupy their time and thought, includes such notables as General Lucius Clay, Pearl Buck, Helen Keller and Professor Harry A. Overstreet.

It's a program with nary a commercial, as the time is donated by the station and the costs are paid by subscription made by businessmen. It started after Murrow started talking over lunch with four businessmen about their respective values and meaning of life. They tried to answer questions being asked by every individual today, such as, "What is worthwhile? What can I believe? What shall be my personal credo?" The nightly broadcasts are Murrow's attempt to be "helpful in basic thinking and living."

Every guest sends a script and a short biography to "This I Believe" and later a record is cut and then edited by Murrow. The entire series steers clear of any dogmatism, editorializing or preaching of any particular religion. Maybe you think "This I Believe" is aired a bit late in the evening to become a listening habit, but give it your attention a couple of times and you may find it is exactly that mental stimulation which you have needed and have been searching for each day. It's probably the most in the least bit of time any set-sider can get today by simply twisting that little radio dial.—A.G.

"Amos 'n' Andy"

Sunday, 4:30 p.m. CBS-KNX

"Amos 'n' Andy" have returned to the airlines for their twenty-third season. They adhere to their tried and true format which fans have grown to love. The honorable "Kingfish" is everlastingly trying to dupe his best friend, and "Amos," as usual, comes to "Andy's" rescue.

Initial ailer concerned a $3000 diamond ring which accidentally fell into "Andy's" box of crackerjack while he was attending a ball game. "Andy," thinking it was a simulated diamond (produced by irritating an oyster) generously passed the toy ring on to his girl friend. When the "Kingfish" learned that there was a $500 reward for the ring, he ineffectually maneuvered its return. "Amos," believing honesty the best policy, told the disengaged fiancée the truth, and she returned the ring. Retribution occurred when the "Kingfish" inadvertently dropped "Andy's" $500 reward bill into, you've guessed it, someone else's box of crackerjack, while watching another ball game.

Supporting Correll and Gosden were Ernestine Wade,

Did Louella Pull a Lulu?

Sunday, 6:15 p.m.
KECA

One Sunday night we were completely confused. The cause: two women, one radio program, and a newspaper boy.

It all began when we tuned in Louella Parsons at 6:15 p.m. Sunday. As always, Louella was really giving the listeners the inside dope on Hollywood, including several of her "exclusive scoops."

As her guest that evening, she interviewed Judy Garland. Judy's happiness seemed to vibrate over the airwaves. ("Oh, Louella, I love you, because you are the only one who doesn't pester me with questions about my weighty past.") Judy told of her wonderful European tour (they loved her in Edinburgh), and her future theatrical plans in New York ("But I will return, because this is my home.")

Then she sang a number with the old Garland gayety.

Five minutes after Louella signed off the air, we took a walk. The first fellow we met was a newsboy on the corner. He was yelling: "Here ya are, read all about it. Robinson homers. Dodgers and Giants tie for the pennant. Judy Garland reported in crash row."

Like most pseudo-educated Americans, we just read the headlines: "Judy Garland Reported in Traffic Crash-Melee. Witnesses Link Singer as Participant in Fracas."

We thought we had just left Judy seemingly without a care in the world. We scratched our head. (No itch, just puzzlement.) Who was screwy? the radio? The newspaper? Had Louella pulled a lulu? Had the scooper been scooped?

Of course the solution to our predicament was simply that Louella has her interviews taped several days before the Sunday night show. At that time Judy was not involved in the front-page controversy. (And please—do not take any of this as a criticism or even a study of Judy's private affairs. That is not within the scope of a radio review column.)

STV (since television), a favorite slogan of ardent air listeners has been: "Radio is not dead." After listening to Louella and then reading the papers, many a die-hard journalist must have remarked mockingly: "Newspapers are not dead."—T.H.

MOVIE-A-WEEK CLUB

To stimulate lagging motion-picture attendance, a "Movie-a-Week Club" has been formed. Members of the club get fifty-two courtesy passes to member theaters. They must, however, bring a paying adult guest with them.

On October 15 membership started for the general public, President Paul Erdos announced.

Record Notes to You

By ANDY MANSFIELD

Choice album releases this week from Capitol and Coral feature music from the movies, the keyboard, the dance band and the vocalist. Cap's background music from the sound track of "A Streetcar Named Desire" is truly different and unusual; here is mood music that will stand on its own merit without visual assists. With the orchestra conducted by Ray Heindorf, Alex North's composition embodies classic, jazz and serious modern touches, fused into a descriptive work of advanced harmonies and rhythms. . . . Art Tatum's "Encores" (Capitol) is a collection of eight standards by the keyboard master with the unbelievable technique—"Blue Skies," "Aunt Hagar's Blues," "Don't Blame Me," "Somebody Loves Me" and the others provide an unusual musical experience with this man who is more artist than entertainer, more pianist than stylist. . . . Jimmy Dorsey's Orch. (Coral) features a collection of "George Gershwin Music" in arrangements designed for dancing and highlighting Bob Eberly's vocal assists—"I Got Rhythm," "Love Walked In," and "They All Laughed" as well as several less familiar tunes from motion pictures are included to round out a top collection composed by one master and re-created by another. . . . Herb Jeffries' (Coral) intimate vocal stylings of yesterday comprise "Time on My Hands," "Just a Memory," "Among My Souvenirs," "All Alone," and others just as familiar. With no heavy arrangements and small combo backing, Herb's relaxed and sincere vocals are not showpieces—they're what you'd expect if he were singing just for you. . . . Frankie Laine and Jo Stafford (Columbia) swing free and easy on "Hey, Good Lookin'" with its fine Weston backing of plenty of guitars and rhythm. "Gambella, the Gambling Lady," is on the flip—but then I didn't like "Good Night, Irene" either. . . . Benny Goodman (Columbia) continues to dust off goodies like "King Porter Stomp" in the style that established his leadership in the orchestra field—and coupled with a sextet discing of "Farewell Blues," how can you miss? . . . Andrews Sisters (Decca) also revive "Carioca" and "Daddy," both great rhythm tunes with the gals' individual touch for which they've always been known but seemed to have forgotten lately in favor of the slower ballad, Welcome back, gals! . . . Eddy Howard Orch. (Mercury) has the makings of a hit disc in "Sin," a beautiful melody with sincere lyrics in the style made to order for Howard . . . nice rhythm, and ample arrangement without production gimmicks make it one of Eddy's best in months. . . . Walter Schumann Chorus (Capitol) has a beautiful waxing of "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows" and a pop adaptation of the Cornell Alma Mater, "Far Above Cayuga's Waters." This is production choral singing at its best with full orchestral backing that further enhances these unforgettable melodies. . . . A.M.

Ear, Eye Inspire the Pen

name and address withheld.

Could you please tell me if Ina Ray Hutton has made records that are on sale? I have asked all around town.

Ina Ray has not recorded any commercial records, nor is she under contract, at the moment, to any record company.

Emma F. Decker, 1121 Oxford Ave., Claremont, Calif.

Please tell me if "Toast of the Town" is on the air, as I can't find Ed Sullivan's program listed in your TV logs.

The Ed Sullivan show, "Toast of the Town," has not been renewed, up to this date, for release on the West Coast.

Harry G. Wagner, 318 N. Orange, Rialto, Calif.

Could you kindly inform us through your wonderful magazine just "who is Who" in "Time for Beany?"

May I suggest a little information pertaining to what makes television tick? It does not have to be too technical, but a little beginners' introduction with a gradual step-by-step advance into the mystery of it.

You published one item in a previous number pertaining to the care of television sets, and I assure you that it is appreciated—now for a little more of it, please.

Stan Freberg mimics "Cecil," and Daws Butler is "Beany," KTLA's popular "Time for Beany." Together these two hosts impersonate all the other characters on the show. . . . We have periodically published factual technical stories on television, and have more coming out. Watch for them.

Samuels, 1222 So. Dewey Ave., Los Angeles, Calif.

After viewing "The Aldrich Family" for the first time in the West, I'm certainly disappointed that Ezra is as "Henry," and Jackie Kelk as "Homer," are being substituted. Without them "The Aldrich Family" will never be the same. They certainly made a fine team.

As far as I've noticed, they haven't found real substitutes for "Henry" and "Homer" on the television version.

Watch for a big story coming up in TV-Radio Life on Jackie Kelk's new TV program, "Young Mr. Bobbin."

Janne Weichsel, 6473 Lexington Ave., Hollywood, Calif.

How do you think you are trying to fool when you say Ray Hutton is only thirty-two years old? . . . When my mother was twelve and going to Clay School, Miss Hutton came to the Victoria Theater on Market Street in Wheeling, West Virginia. My mother is now thirty-eight and she wasn't even allowed to go see her. Was she (Ray) only six when she started to lead a band? . . .

Bill Sherman, 1170 Gateway Blvd., West Los Angeles, Calif.

I am very disappointed to see that Frank DeVol and his orchestra are no longer on "Bandstand Revue." He has a wonderful personality and his orchestra is such a pleasure to listen to. . . . Incidentally, my family enjoys TV-Radio Life very much. The many articles in your magazine are very enjoyable and enlightening.

WHITE KING'S WASHING MACHINE CONTEST

WIN $90,000 in WESTINGHOUSE LAUNDROMAT and DRYER Prizes!

240 WINNERS
330 APPLIANCES IN ALL
40 WINNERS EVERY WEEK!

White King's Washing Machine Contest last Spring was sensational! This one is BIGGER...and BETTER! It offers you MORE prizes...MORE chances to win! In addition to 90 twin combinations of Westinghouse Laundromats and Clothes Dryers...150 wonderful Westinghouse Laundromat automatic washers go to the winners of this thrilling contest! And remember... this is a regional, not a nationwide contest! It's confined to most states west of the Mississippi. (See Rule 6.) You can enter each weekly contest as MANY times as you wish! And it's so EASY. If you use White King Soap in your washing machine...your chances to win are GREAT!

HERE'S HOW TO WIN THE $500 WESTINGHOUSE TWINS

If you want to win the famous WESTINGHOUSE LAUNDRY TWINS...the $300 Laundromat and matching $200 Clothes Dryer, complete the statement "I wash with White King Soap because..." in 25 additional words or less. Send your entry with 1 White King Soap box-top and 1 White King Water Softener box-top to:

"1-2" Contest, Box 3422, Los Angeles, 54, Calif.

15 of these TWIN units will be given away each week for six weeks. These TWIN prizes are brought to you in behalf of White King's "1-2" washing method...the perfect method for hard-water and automatic washer use.

HERE'S HOW TO WIN A $300 LAUNDROMAT

Complete the statement "I wash with White King Soap because..." in 25 additional words or less.

Send your entry with 1 White King Soap box-top to:

"1-2" Contest, Box 3422, L.A. 54, Calif.

Remember...if you want to try for one of the 25 new $300 Westinghouse Laundromats to be given away every week for 6 weeks be SURE to enclose a White King Soap box-top with each entry.

HERE ARE THE RULES! ENTER NOW!

1. Complete the statement "I wash with WHITE KING SOAP because..." in 25 additional words or less. Your name and address must appear legibly on your entry.
2. To be eligible for the $500 WESTINGHOUSE LAUNDRY TWINS, consisting of both Laundromat and Dryer, submit your entry with 1 WHITE KING SOAP box-top and 1 WHITE KING WATER SOFTENER box-top. If you do not win, your entry will still compete for one of the Laundromats. To be eligible for the $300 Laundromat prize, you need only to submit 1 WHITE KING SOAP box-top with your entry.
3. Mail your entry, together with the proper qualifying box-tops, to:
"1-2" Contest, Box 3422, L.A. 54, Calif.
4. There are SIX SEPARATE WEEKLY CONTESTS, with 15 sets of Westinghouse Laundromats and Dryer Twins and 25 additional Westinghouse Laundromats awarded each week for 6 weeks...330 appliances...240 winners in all. Each Laundromat and Dryer will be delivered and a normal installation made in the home in which the winner resides.

ENTRIES FOR WEEKLY CONTESTS MUST BE RECEIVED AS FOLLOWS:

First Contest — Midnight, Oct. 14, 1951 Fourth Contest — Midnight, Nov. 4, 1951
Second Contest — Midnight, Oct. 21, 1951 Fifth Contest — Midnight, Nov. 11, 1951
Third Contest — Midnight, Oct. 28, 1951 Sixth Contest — Midnight, Nov. 18, 1951

Enter each weekly contest as many times as you wish, but be sure that each entry is submitted properly as explained above including the proper qualifying box-tops. Eligible entries must carry sufficient postage. Only one prize to a contestant.

5. Entries will be judged by the Reuben H. Donnelley Corporation on the basis of sincerity, originality and aptness of thought. Decision of the judges is final. Duplicate prizes awarded in case of ties. All entries and ideas therein become the property of WHITE KING SOAP COMPANY and none will be returned or acknowledged. Winners will be notified by mail and a list of winners is available upon request.
6. Entries will be eligible only if postmarked in the states of California, Oregon, Washington, Arizona, Nevada, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Utah, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri, and South Dakota. Anyone may enter the contest except employees of the WHITE KING SOAP COMPANY, their advertising agencies and their families. This contest subject to U. S. Federal and State Regulations.
7. Submission of an entry is your expressed acceptance of these rules.

Al Joyce and His Entire Staff Are Working Hard All the Time for

"Your Big Moment"

Wednesday, 7:30 p.m.
NBC-TV, KNBH, Channel 4

THEORETICALLY, "Your Big Moment" is supposed to be an amateur show. In actuality, however, from the producer to the regular performers to the contestants—even down to the commercials—it has professional polish.

There are many reasons for this efficient and entertaining effect, the two main ones being, by name, Keith Hetherington, original emcee, and Al Joyce, writer and producer.

This half-hour show is their baby.

They first conceived the idea several months ago (let's say nine to make it legitimate) while working together at KTTV. But a baby, no matter how cute, still has to get on its feet and make its own way in the world.

(Since this story went to press, Keith Hetherington, because of other commitments, has been replaced by Bob Barker as the emcee of "Your Big Moment." Ed Chandler has also been added to the staff as an announcer.)

That's when Westinghouse, the rich uncle, kicked through. Keith and Al were willed the Fantasy Playhouse at 1600 North La Brea so they could bring up their brain-child in the proper environment. As a result, the "Stars of Tomorrow" started a sudden and phenomenal growth.

When we talked to Keith and Al they had just finished their eighth performance. Even at that relatively early stage Al was able to report with pride: "We have already come up to the largest mail pull on NBC."

The two men, tired but smiling with satisfaction, didn't seem to be worrying about any growing pains, either. They talked eagerly of the future and said they "plan to stick around for some time."

After watching their show, both on the screen and backstage, we see no reason they shouldn't.

Why

As Keith explained it: "Each week we audition approximately 250 persons who have written us. That's one of the toughest parts about this job: picking out the six acts who will finally appear on TV."

As a consequence, then, the six contestants who appear on the program are not, strictly speaking, amateurs. They have already passed a pretty stiff test.

One peculiarity about the show is that not one but two acts can and usually do become the winner. The first one is chosen by an applause meter on the night of the broadcast. Then, on the following week, another winner is announced on the basis of postcards sent in by the viewers.

"The same act can win both times, but oddly enough," as Keith told us, "it very seldom happens."

Popular Cast

The all-around soundness and showmanship of the show have also contributed to its skyrocketing acclaim. For example, there are the unique commercials of Nancy (Wible) and Candy.

Candy is a cute little doll. And so is Nancy, her blonde and vivacious creator. Keith and Al first saw them doing a show in June at Harbor City.

"We caught Nancy's act, thought it was terrific, and asked her to join us. Rather than being merely a commercial, Nancy and Candy are a separate act and have proven tremendously popular. This was proven to us recently when Candy celebrated her first birthday. On that occasion she got stacks of mail from her followers."

Every successful show must have an able director. That's where Carrol O'Meara enters the picture—figuratively speaking, of course.

At the show we attended, we were in the control room during the final minutes when the names of the persons responsible for production were flashed across the screen.

When Carrol's name appeared with the others, he kiddingly remarked: "Now there's a couple of people with real talent!"

After watching Carrol during the rehearsal and the actual shooting, we had no choice but to agree with him.

There are many other good features: the musical background supplied by Ruby Lloyd; the appearance of pretty Margie Cushman, who presents each contestant with a gift from Westinghouse; the warm and expert showmanship of the emcees and the high quality of the so-called amateur performers.

Finally, as another unique innovation, every woman in the studio audience (which, unlike that of many TV shows, is packed for each performance) is presented with an orchid.

Although it may be against the house rules, we hereby extend our metaphorical orchids to Keith and Al and their entire cast.

KEITH HETHERINGTON and Al Joyce watch an act and get two different reactions. Maybe it's a duet? (NBC-Ball photo.)

... SUPER-SENSITIVE.

... WON'T EAT BEFORE BED-TIME!

... DEEP FEELING FOR THE SIMPLE.

An Inside Story on Sid Caesar

1. Are you aware that you won our TV-RL award? How many other awards have you received during the past year?

Yes, I know about your award. Thank you. I've received about a dozen—they are displayed in the NBC studios, the main offices and in my dressing room.

2. Coming out to Hollywood, were you recognized, and what do people do when they know who you are?

The first thing they do is stop and say "Naw." Then the one with 'em says, "Yeah!" TV fans are different from other fans. They feel they know you personally.

3. Can you give an incident to illustrate this?

Yes. The night after I got into Hollywood I was sitting at a table in the Mocambo when a couple danced by. He looked at me and then said "Naw!" and she said "Yeah!" and then they asked me, "What do you think of the couch in our living room?" I didn't know what they meant and they said, "You come into our living room every Saturday night. You ought to know!" Sometimes I take a walk and as I'm going down the street a man will grab hold of me and yell, "I've got him! I've got him!" Then his kids will come running and when they get to where we are they just stand and look up at me, ask for my autograph and then say, "Okay, let's go!"

4. What is the tightest spot you've been in on your show?

We had a TV sponsor and the script was passed on Wednesday for the Saturday show, but right after dress rehearsal (at 7 p.m. as the show went on at 8) the agency called and said that a six-minute spot we were doing on "TV, Before and After" was out. (In it we did a thing showing a family before TV—the children came home from school, said hello to their mother and father and settled down to do their homework. Friends came in to play bridge and everybody had a good time chatting. After TV, everybody was glued to the set. The children wouldn't budge from it and when friends dropped by, the father and mother said to one another, "Oh, no, not them again!") Well, when they told us the spot had to be taken out, we went upstairs into a huddle. It was impossible to write a whole new number. Finally somebody said, "Let's do a pantomime." We worked out a routine about a man getting up in the morning and then called the musical director and said, "Please clear some getting-up-in-the-morning music." He had "Beautiful Dreamer" already cleared. It was perfect for the pantomime.

As Revealed in Answer to TV-Radio Life's Twenty Questions

... GIVEN TO EXCESS AT TIMES.

... DEEPLY INTROSPECTIVE.

5. What precautions do you take to assure your being fit for TV?

I used to have the problem of eating too much. Working in TV is so strenuous you don't have much time to devote to relaxation, so eating itself becomes a pleasant relaxation. I used to eat big lunches and dinners. Now I am on a high-protein diet—don't eat starches or sweets and I am not eating before bedtime.

6. Do you consider that there is any secret to your type of mugging for TV? If so, explain.

No, no secret. Harry Rich to me was the greatest mugger.

7. What would be your advice to an aspiring young TV comedienne?

(Answered first by Sid Caesar): Be good.

(Answered by Producer Max Liebman): Be persistent. Don't be discouraged by rebuffs.

(Facetious afterthought) Have a couple of good friends.

8. Do you have any pet superstition or tradition which you follow before going on TV? Explain.

I used to knock wood. Then one night I said, Who's doing this show? Wood or me? I didn't knock wood and came out with an unusually good show. So I don't knock wood any more.

9. Are you a live or film TV advocate?

For dramatic shows, I'm for film. It needs no audience. For comedy shows, I'm for a live performance. Comedy shows need a spontaneous audience.

10. Have you ever noticed a difference in audiences?

Definitely. Sometimes we think we have a good show and there's nothing. (Addition by Liebman): It may be because in the audience there's a large group of people who have been to a district meeting, had a heavy dinner and are not too responsive. Also sometimes they become interested in the mechanics of the show and forget to laugh.

11. Have you noticed that the headline news has ever made a difference in the way the audience responded?

No, we have never been on the alert to watch. It might be interesting. In general, a rather young audience is livelier.

12. Please describe Imogene Coca in eight or ten adjectives.

Tremendously talented. Gifted. Versatile. Extremely shy. Not temperamental. At times actually anticipating what's going to happen—a second sense. Pixie.

13. In what special ways do you feel indebted to Mr. Liebman?

When Max first saw me, I just had a comedy sense. Through him I have acquired taste, great discipline. He'll cheer me up when I'm down and knock me down when I'm too cheered.

14. (Question directed to Producer Liebman) Please describe Sid in a few words.

He has become understanding. Considerate. Generous. Completely lacking in unnecessary temperament. Deeply introspective. Highly amusing. Home-loving. Has a deep feeling for the simple. A strong esthetic sense.

15. (Directed to Mr. Liebman) What do you think Sid Caesar's faults are?

He's very impulsive. Given to excess at times. At one time I called him "Double Caesar." He had to have two lobsters, two spring chickens, two everything.

16. (Directed to Sid Caesar) What do YOU think your faults are?

I get moody. I often get mad and don't know what I'm mad about. I'm too super-sensitive.

17. In what ways do you think TV could advance best?

To me, the shortcoming of TV is what Fred Allen said . . . it becomes like a water tap. You can quench your thirst at any time. You'd appreciate it more if you couldn't . . . and you can quote Fred Allen.

18. Do you have any special plans for your future in TV?

(Answered by Liebman) We want to include two or three new ideas in our fall format. We want to develop technically. We'd like new quarters . . . we've been in the same place for three seasons. I have an idea the time will come when space requirements for TV won't be sufficient in New York.

19. Do we take it, then, that you would be agreeable to doing your show from Hollywood?

Yes.

20. What would you like to be doing (excepting TV) twenty years from now?

(Answered by Liebman) Producing plays in the theater.

(Answered by Caesar) Be alive! And happy!

... MAX LIEBMAN: ADDED TASTE AND GREAT DISCIPLINE TO A COMEDY SENSE.

FILM STAR Audrey Totter seems to be enjoying this part of her Spanish lesson from Señor Don Eduardo. No strain on the instructor either—especially on his eyes.

KALI

ACTOR, AUTHOR . . .
director, disc jockey
. . . lab man, lecturer
. . . producer, projectionist . . . prop man, pulp writer . . . salesman, soldier . . . teacher and tramp.

These are only some of the various occupations of just one man—with two names.

At the present time, Señor Don Eduardo (alias Edward Le Veque) spins the musical platters on his Fonografo Radiografico show, Monday through Saturday over KALI.

All together Eddie is putting in a full five hours every day over the air. Starting at the ungodly hour of five o'clock in the morning, Eddie has his own two-hour program in the morning. Then from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. he takes part in a bilingual show.

Featuring Spanish and Latin American numbers, Eddie peps things up for his potential audience of 400,000 Spanish-speaking people with humorous introductions and comments, with lessons in both English and Spanish, and with only a slight accent on commercials.

Music With Onions

A typical quip: "The next number is Guadalajara, played with so much gusto by Xavier Cugat that you can smell the perfume in the flowers and the onions in the enchiladas."

Unlike many disc jockeys, Eddie makes it a policy "not to load the program with useless commercials. My clients are the best, and although my commercials are only incidental to the music and my own ad libs, I make them stand out like the City Hall."

Proof of this was shown during Eddie's first week at KALI. One furniture store for which he did commercials received so many daily calls that it had to hire a special girl to take care of them all.

In the Beginning

During his lifetime, the loquacious Eduardo has seen movies, radio, and television start out as infants and grow into gigantic industries. Before World War I, he did kid parts for the American Film Company in Chicago, and in 1916 he worked as a prop boy, Keystone Kop, and general actor for the old Keystone studios. There were radio parts for him in the 20's and 30's, and he gave lessons in "Easy Spanish" in the early days of television.

Reminiscing, Eddie told us: "I had and second, to his wife, Florence. Thankfully, the second one proved to be more permanent. They have three children, Susana, twenty-two, Gilbert Edward, twenty, and Carol Marie, nineteen.

In the precarious business of trying to make a living a la Hollywood, Eddie took a crack at many things: from writing, directing, and producing his own pictures at Bakersfield, and later at his own studio, the Filmart, on the corner of Bronson and Santa Monica—to various jobs at Paramount studios for more than eighteen years.

Keeping Busy

Between times, he gave lectures and wrote several books on phonetics, mnemonics (the art of memorizing), and "Easy Spanish" and "Easy English." Originally published in 1944, "Easy Spanish" circulated more than 20,000 copies and was highly praised by many leading figures in the cinema and literary worlds. As a matter of fact, Eddie still takes time out to get rid of the "American accents" an exciting childhood, including many a bloody nose and bruised knuckles—my nose, and other kids' knuckles. And my mother wore off several pairs of shoe soles upon the rear of my trousers."

Like many of today's stars, Eddie started young in the entertainment racket. Born in El Paso, Texas, he traveled at the age of seven throughout Texas and Mexico with his uncle, who had a marionette show. It makes you think of the old times of barter trade to hear Eddie tell how his uncle sometimes received livestock and farm crops as payment for his performance.

As a young man, Eddie "rode the rails," lived in the "jungle camps" of the old hoboes, and did the usual odd jobs in between hops.

A couple of hitches followed next in his career. First, the U. S. Army (Air Service) during World War I; of many film stars appearing in Spanish-speaking roles.

To top off Edward Le Veque's varied career, he informed us that a manufacturing company will soon produce a "Sole Saver" invention of his.

"It's a special liquid applied to the soles of shoes. My liquid makes the sole of the shoe flexible, like rubber, and the top and the insides of the shoe will wear out before the sole does."

As Eddie told us this in his usual exuberant and demonstrative manner, we recalled his childhood experiences how his mother "wore off several pairs of shoe soles upon the rear of my trousers." And we speculated silently that it was a good thing Eddie was the first to come up with this "Sole Saver" idea—or else his mother might be still swinging away.

Monday-Saturday, 6:00 p.m.
KECA-TV, Channel 7

A TRIP into stellar space may be nearer at hand than you surmise. "Space Patrol's" Mike Mosher firmly believes this, and science-fiction enthusiasts are his staunch supporters. Present experiments are being conducted along these lines and experts, in the know, predict that successful results are imminent.

Mosher

"Space Patrol" made its television debut in March of 1950. It was strictly a gamble. Writer-producer Mosher, his staff and cast worked for less than the proverbial "peanuts." The program caught on, in less than six months the show had a sponsor, and within a year it became a regular network feature. Currently, there are seven presentations a week; six on TV and one on radio.

Mosher, a free-lance writer, conceived the idea of a science-fiction series while he was a radar instructor with the Navy. His imagination coupled with his writing talents and knowledge of electronics gave birth to "Space Patrol." During the show's sustaining days, Mike authored 82,000 words each week; in addition he also produced. Today, however, the show is adequately staffed and Mike devotes his energies to supervision and merchandising.

Merchandising

Mercantile establishments pushed their corral department aside last July to make room for the Space Era. The May Company had more than 40,000 children swamp their initial showing of space suits, hats and ray guns. If the small fry in your neighborhood take off in their imaginary rocket ship for the moon, attired as miniature Buzz Corrys, don't be surprised. Undoubtedly they have succumbed to the fantasy of interplanetary travel. After all, little imagination is required to play cowboy and Indians. The "Western" format is timeless; it rarely changes. The appeal of "Space Patrol" isn't exclusively to youngsters, since the grown-ups, too, like to speculate on space travel.

Much of the activity on the show takes place on Terra, a man-made planet composed of land taken from each of the other planets. There are no such things as clashing armies and threats of war in the interplanetary scheme of things. Although an unusual variety of villains are present, no one is ever killed and neither death penalties nor death weapons play a part in the show. All trouble makers are eventually rehabilitated by the patrol and live to become decent and useful citizens. Tonga, a former villainess, who is now the trusted assistant to the security chief of the United Planets, is an example of successful rehabilitation.

Cast

Mike patiently screened hundreds of applicants for the roles in "Space Patrol." So successful was his selection that the popularity of two—Commander Buzz Corry and Co-pilot Cadet Happy—was demonstrated when they remained, by popular demand, on KECA-TV's "City of Hope" marathon program for sixteen hours. Mike insists that his cast show no temperament and get along with one another. The proximity of performing in seven shows a week requires amiable relationships. Because the show has such a strong attraction for the younger set, a morals clause is stipulated in each player's contract.

With daring Commander Corry at the controls, a preview trip into space is yours with the mere flip of your dial.
