Two Pence.

My Friend the Microphone.

By Professor C. J. PATTEN.

"I SEE you are down to broadcast," remarked a colleague.

"Nonsense," I replied, "you are romancing." But he wasn't, for I learned on reading the newspaper that the Sheffield Wireless Educational Advisory Committee, as an experiment, had nominated me to deliver a pioneer lecture on an educational subject. The surprise thus sprung on me acted as a stimulus to undertake the task all the more eagerly. The date was fixed for October 3rd, 1924.

At that time the B.B.C.'s Sheffield studio was a weird makeshift, situated in Corporation Street, a smoky, low-lying part of the city. Rain, begrimed with soot, poured heavily out of the dense gloomy pall o'erhead. A decidedly depressing picture!

According to rule, I arrived at the studio ten minutes before the time fixed for my performance to begin. That ten minutes seemed interminably long: an unpleasant sensation encompassed my mind, something akin to what one feels when awaiting one's turn to take the dentist's chair. At the appointed time I was conducted to the microphone.

"But where is it?" I inquired. "Right in front of you," replied my conductor.

I stood for a moment in blank amazement. That rectangular box-like thing covered in thin fabric! Surely not: yes, that was the microphone. I had expected that I should at least speak down into a great horn! I had a vision of putting my head into a ventilating cowl! Such an apparatus would have aroused inspiration and would have convinced me that my voice

"Heavens! am I to speak to that box?" I asked.

"Oh, no," replied the Station Director wisely; "you must try to visualize and speak to your audience. The box is just your standby, your medium, your ever-ready messenger. Call it Mr. Microphone and make friends with him at the start: you will find him a simple character, very easy to get on with, and his friendship is the first essential to success in broadcasting."

The red lamp over the door of the studio was not switched on, which meant that the microphone was not yet "alive." General conversation in the studio was, therefore, still permissible.

"Read out the first few paragraphs of your lecture, please," said the Director. I did as requested. I was placed a little nearer to the "messenger." My voice was again tested, after which, I was asked to retreat a pace. Then I was given a seat, which was carefully shunted backwards and forwards by an assistant with the assiduity of a microscopist adjusting his tube in trying to get his object into focus.

At last my position was accurately gauged, but I felt that I had been so finely adjusted that if I now attempted to move the least bit, my voice might go out of focus. One's voice out of focus! A novel idea.

PROFESSOR PATTEN MEETS "MR. MIKE."

would be wafted well into space by getting a good start down a great resonating tube!

One's voice out of focus! A novel idea.

My Friend the Microphone.

Certainly very dreadful! I therefore deemed it prudent to remain as still as a statue, or as one being photographed in a studio.

At the psychological moment of beginning my Talk, two ideas entered my mind which to me were unshakably convincing: one that I should speak exceedingly clearly (this, of course, turned out to be right), the other that I should speak loudly, of course without shouting (this turned out to be wrong). I could not persuade myself that the pitch of ordinary conversation was all that was required. I had the greatest horror of not being heard, and firmly believed that to make my remarks audible, even to a Sheffield audience, I must pitch my voice higher than when I delivered a lecture to a large gathering in a hall.

Clearly Heard.

Despite my enthusiasm—for I was immensely keen on the subject of my address—my voice soon grew tired and I became painfully aware that my delivery was strained; moreover, I felt conscious of faulty consonation.

My lecture occupied thirty-five minutes, and I found that, apart from the nervous strain under which I worked in this new rôle of vocal exposition, and amid such strange surroundings, my voice grew much more tired when reading from manuscript than it would have done had I spoken extemporarily for a period thrice as long. I attribute this to the fact that I have never trained myself to read a lecture or to use notes; consequently, thinking my thoughts on the platform as I went along had seemed a much lighter task. I learnt, however, from a few frank critics that I had come out successfully in my diction and inflexion; moreover, my faulty consonation was less than I had expected. In short, all I said had been clearly heard. But I was told that my voice, in tone and pitch, was unnatural and strained, conveying the idea that I was ill at ease.

Six months passed without further ado, and I surmised that my association with the B.B.C. had terminated. But no; in April, 1925, I was informed by the Director of the Sheffield Station that my October lecture had interested a large number of people and, as a result, I was invited to return to the microphone. Furthermore, to my surprise and gratification, I was asked to submit material for a series of addresses that were to be simultaneously broadcast from other stations.

A Golden Opportunity.

In July I learned that my manuscript was accepted, but that I should not be called upon to broadcast it until after Christmas. In the meantime I was invited to give a series of weekly transmissions to schools, extending from September to December, 1925. Here, then, was a golden opportunity to try to amend my shortcomings in this new medium of communication, requiring new and special vocal technique. At the very outset I paid most particular attention to the printed suggestions framed by the B.B.C. It was incumbent that I should read my manuscript, albeit my addresses must not sound as merely read essays.

They should be individual utterances, spoken into the ears of individual listeners, and every effort should be made to establish personal contact with the listeners from the very start.

And now, what a charming audience I was being privileged to address! Children! Keen, eager, and full of curiosity; sharp but honest little critics, with bright and retentive memories. "Do your part well," I said to myself, "and your juvenile audience will bestow upon you unstintedly that delightfully full appreciation which flows freely from their warm little hearts."

Now, on entering the broadcasting studio, mirabile dictu, all fear had fled; nevertheless, my mind was deeply steeped in anxiety, not about myself and how I should vocally succeed, but in regard to how I should impart knowledge pleurably to my youthful hearers. The right spirit encompassed me: I thanked my stars that the embarrassment of self-consciousness had disappeared. I was out to enjoy myself thoroughly with the children; and this gave me confidence that the enjoyment would be reciprocated.

Professor C. J. PATTEN.

THOSE listeners who heard Professor Patten's talks on "Triumphs of Bird Life" will remember not only how interesting he made his subjects, but also his style of exposition, which imparted an added charm to his remarks. In the article which we are glad to publish this week, Professor Patten (who, by the way, is Professor of Anatomy at Sheffield University) tells how he learned to master the art of broadcasting and gives some valuable hints to beginners.

I allowed free scope to my imagination, fanning it until it glowed and burst into such flames that I vividly beheld all my dear youngsters here, there, and everywhere.

Mr. Microphone had now ceased to exercise his awe-inspiring influence; in fact, I should have quite forgotten about his existence in the studio were it not that I was obliged to speak in his presence. In addressing my audience I abandoned a stiff, sitting pose, and regarding Mr. Microphone as one of my children, I stood up beside him and chatted to him in a free and friendly manner.

As I was now at my ease and happy, the proper pitch and tone of my voice naturally became established. My words went forth without effort; inflexion, appropriately introduced, prevented monotony. Making still greater friends with the "messenger," I felt that I could safely indulge in gestures à propos of mental pictures which I endeavoured to paint in vivid impressive colours.

I offer these remarks for what they are worth. Perhaps they may prove useful to beginners. I cannot conclude without adding that the great friendship which sprang up between Mr. Microphone and myself was greatly facilitated by the extremely courteous manner in which I was introduced to "him" by the officials in the studio.

The proceedings, which will begin at noon, will be broadcast from Dundee.

From Kelvingrove Park.

The last broadcast of the present season from Kelvingrove Park, Glasgow, through the local station, will take place on Sunday afternoon, August 29th, when the Band of H.M. Institute of Journalists' Dinner.

The principal speeches at the annual dinner of the Institute of Journalists are to be broadcast from the Glasgow Station on Monday, August 30th. The proceedings, which will be held in the Grosvenor Restaurant, will be presided over by Sir Robert Bruce, President of the Institute, while a distinguished visitor, whose name will be duly announced, will be the guest of the evening. The speeches will be relayed from 8.45 to 9.30 p.m.

Besses o' th' Barn Band at Glasgow.

Several new numbers, in addition to popular favourites, will be included in a programme of music to be broadcast from Glasgow by the Besses o' th' Barn Band on Wednesday, September 1st. A visit of this band to Glasgow invariably entails additional work on the part of the staff—work of a pleasurable nature, for many listeners get into telephonic communication with the Station asking for their favourite items to be given.

Portraits from History.

A programme entitled "Portraits," which will take the form of short radio sketches of well-known figures in history, such as Cromwell and Claverhouse, will be broadcast from Glasgow on Tuesday, August 31st. This transmission will include music, performed by well-known local artists.

Edinburgh's Studio Service.

The Studio Service from the Edinburgh Station on Sunday, August 29th, will be conducted by the Rev. George Christie, of St. Andrew's Parish Church, Edinburgh, assisted by the Choir, under the direction of Mr. J. S. Anderson.

"Glimpses of Foreign Lands."

A programme of music, songs and recitations illustrative of Japan, India, Spain, and Sweden, and entitled "Glimpses of Foreign Lands," will be broadcast from Edinburgh Station on Wednesday, September 1st.

The Grandholm Choir.

Following the Studio service from the Aberdeen Station on Sunday, August 22nd, which is to be taken by the Rev. Neville Davidson, of Old Aberdeen U.F. Church, the Grandholm Choir, under the conductorship of Mr. Alex Leitch, is to take part in a choral and orchestral programme.

Negro Spirituals at Aberdeen.

A short recital of Negro spirituals and plantation songs by Miss Helen Whitelaw will be included in the programme from Aberdeen on Wednesday, August 25th. This will be followed, at 8.35, by a play entitled What He Won, by the London Radio Players.

Musical Comedy at Aberdeen.

There is always a big demand for musical comedy from Aberdeen listeners, so that a programme on Thursday, August 26th, when Miss Dorothy Forrest and Mr. A. E. Cruickshank will be heard in musical comedy duets and solo numbers, is sure to be popular. The programme will be completed by the Station Orchestra playing such well-known selections as Chu Chin Chow and Lilac Time.

Official News and Radio Gossip.

The Hague String Quartet.

DAVENTRY listeners will remember the concert relayed from Hilversum in the early spring, the reception of which in this country was, unfortunately, interrupted by atmospheric and other interferences. A feature of that concert was the beautiful playing of the Hague String Quartet. It is hoped to secure the services of this Quartet for the weekly Chamber Music Programme from the London Station between 10 and 11 p.m. on Monday, September 6th.

Old Gaiety Burlesques.

It is hoped to include some typical instances of the old Gaiety Theatre burlesques—the forerunners of musical comedy as we know it to-day—in a programme from London on Wednesday evening, September 1st. On this occasion, a Dickens operetta, entitled The Marchioness, will also be broadcast.

Adventures In Manchuria.

Professor Harold E. Palmer, adviser on Educational matters to the Japanese Government, who recently journeyed from Japan, via China, Siberia, and European Russia to England, will give a talk from the London Station on Thursday, August 26th, at 7.10 p.m. Professor Palmer will relate his adventures in Manchuria.

The Three Choirs Festival.

Arrangements have been made to relay a part of the Three Choirs Festival, which takes place this year at Worcester, through London and other Stations. It will not be possible to give as much on this occasion as was done last year from Gloucester; the Festival takes place this year during a week when several transmissions will be relayed from the National Wireless Exhibition at Olympia. Listeners will look forward to one evening transmission between 8 and 9.30 p.m. on Wednesday, September 8th, and it may be possible to arrange to take a part of the morning and afternoon performances on other days.

Sir Hamilton Harty at "2LO."

The weekly symphony concert from the London Station on Friday, September 3rd, will be conducted by Sir Hamilton Harty, the famous conductor of the Hallé Concerts. His programme will probably include one of the lighter Beethoven symphonies.

De Groot to Broadcast Again.

The ever-popular De Groot and the Piccadilly Hotel Orchestra will provide the programme from the London Station between 9.15 and 10.30 p.m. on Sunday, September 5th, when Mr. Dale Smith (baritone) will be the vocalist.

A Day In a Hospital.

A day's routine in the work of a large general hospital is a subject which will interest all listeners, so that it is appropriate that a talk on Saturday, August 28th, at 7.10 p.m., by Mr. Philip Inman of the Charing Cross Hospital, London, should be S.B. from all stations. Incidentally, the Week's Good Cause on Sunday, August 29th, will be on behalf of the Hospital Saturday Fund, Hospital Saturday being on the following Saturday, September 4th.

A Pinero Play by Radio.

The main feature of the London programme on Thursday, September 9th, will be a Radio Performance of Pinero's famous play, Trelawney of the Wells. For those listeners who do not like long plays, Daventry on this night will provide a special Irish programme, relayed from the Belfast Station.

Was Columbus a Spaniard?

That Christopher Columbus was a Spaniard and not, as is generally believed, a Genoese, is the subject of an interesting talk to be given by Mrs. Charlotte Mansfield from the London Station at 7.10 p.m. on Tuesday, August 24th. Mrs. Mansfield and her husband, Lieut.-Colonel W. R. Mansfield, spent a whole year in North-western Spain, where they made some very curious finds in connection with the man who discovered America, following them up with a good deal of research and investigation. The result is that they have to-day produced what they claim to be conclusive evidence that Columbus hailed from Portosanto, a small fishing hamlet near Pontevedra in Galicia, the North-western corner of which has been entirely redecorated, and hung with new movable tapestries to increase the degree of resonance and to allow a greater variety of sound effects to be obtained.

Spain. Lectures concerning these discoveries have been given by Colonel Mansfield at Cambridge and Leeds Universities, as well as at other seats of learning.

On the same evening, at 7.40, the second part of the narrative of the foundering of the British sailing ship, Falconhurst, while on a voyage from Barry Dock to Madagascar, will be told to London listeners by Mr. F. G. Landin-Cruce, M.A., F.R.G.S., R.N. (Ret.). Mr. Landin-Cruce will continue the adventures of the crew after landing in a little bay on the North-east coast of Madagascar, about 150 miles south of Cape Amber.

"House Hunting in Movie-land."

The domestic problem in England must be a small matter in comparison with the fantastic experience of house-hunting in the land of the cinema stars. Evidence of this will be shown in a talk on the subject from the Plymouth Studio by Miss M. Gilchrist on Thursday, August 26th, entitled "House Hunting in Movie-land."

Examples of Great Composers.

A programme entitled "Typical Examples of Great Composers" will be broadcast from Birmingham on Wednesday, August 25th, embracing works by Wagner, Mozart, Tchaikovsky, Rossini, Sibelius, Bantock, Weber, and Elgar. Miss Astra Desmond (contralto) will sing arias by Mozart and Rossini.

Symphony Concert at Birmingham.

A Symphony Concert, conducted by Mr. G. O'Connor Morris, will be given from the Birmingham Station on Sunday afternoon, August 22nd, when the programme will contain a performance of the Violin Concerto No. 2 in A Minor by the conductor, the solo part being played by Mr. William Primrose. On the same evening, listeners will also hear Stanford's Songs of the Fleet, with chorus and orchestra, Mr. E. Gordon Cleather (baritone), a newcomer to the Birmingham Station, taking the solo parts.

A Welsh Programme.

A special Welsh programme is to be broadcast from the Birmingham and Daventry Stations on Tuesday, August 24th, consisting of a Suite for Orchestra by W. S. Gwynn Williams, who is a well-known Welsh musician and editor of the Welsh Musical Magazine. Two short pieces for orchestra by Maldwy Price will also be heard and the singer will be the well-known coloratura soprano, Miss Gwladys Naish. This programme will be given from the Birmingham Studio.

Music in the Park.

The last of the summer series of Park Concerts relayed from the Bandstand, Cannon Hill Park, and broadcast from Birmingham, will be given on Saturday, August 28th. These outside broadcasts have proved so popular with Birmingham listeners that it is hoped to give a series of concerts during the winter from the Town Hall.

"The Silent Fellowship."

Listeners to "The Silent Fellowship," the Cardiff Station Sunday night closing feature, which is now relayed to Daventry on the second Sunday in each month, will be interested to hear of a proposal to extend the scope of this feature. The new arrangement will come into operation in the autumn when Daventry will relay "The Silent Fellowship" in its present form, and on the other Sunday evenings (when the transmission is given through Cardiff and Swansea only), the approach to the subject of "The Silent Fellowship" talk will be made through different channels of thought. "The Inner Shrine" is the title of one of the new series, which will include poetry and readings from the mystics. On other occasions, the theme of the talk will be approached through the romance of the Crafts, and so on. In this way, "The Silent Fellowship" can cover a much wider and more varied field. Already thousands of letters written in appreciation of "The Silent Fellowship" have been received, and the Cardiff Station will welcome any suggestions or comments from listeners interested in the new proposals or "The Silent Fellowship" in its present form.

"Birds of a Feather."

Mr. J. O. Francis is unquestionably in the front rank of modern Welsh playwrights, and listeners will, therefore, be interested to hear that one of his plays, Birds of a Feather, will be included in a Welsh programme from Cardiff on Tuesday, August 31st. Another interesting item in the same Listeners' Letters.

Will Modern Music "Live"?

[Listeners are reminded that we do not consider anonymous letters for publication. Preference is given to letters which combine interest with brevity. The Editorial address is Savoy Hill, Strand, London, W.C.2.]

I READ with great interest Miss Clayton's article in The Radio Times entitled "In Defence of Melody," but I do not agree that modern music will not become immortal. When Bach, Handel, Mozart, and Beethoven were writing their music they were unpopular. The people of those days regarded them as ultra-modern, and it was left to later generations to appreciate the true quality of their music. I contend that in another hundred or a hundred and fifty years Strauss, Elgar, Holst, Vaughan Williams and other leading composers of to-day will be just as popular and just as fully appreciated as are Beethoven and Mozart to-day. As for melody, one has only to listen to some of the late Sir Hubert Parry's songs to find melodies equal to any Schubert ever wrote. But a composer is never fully appreciated whilst he is living!—ERIC R. KNOWLES, Wellington Terrace, Weaste, Manchester.

Jazz v. Classics.

AFTER having listened to the debate on "Jazz v. Classics," may I be allowed to express my appreciation of an interesting and enjoyable hour? I think that the debate, so ably handled by representative authorities, will go a long way towards settling in listeners' minds exactly to what extent syncopated music and classical music are related, or can be compared. The illustrations used by Sir Landon Ronald have helpfully set out both sides of the question. Each side has its adherents, and I think that all who are at all interested in music of either type will be grateful to the B.B.C., Sir Landon Ronald and Mr. Hylton for the debate.—LYNN E. SOUTHWOOD, Spencer Street, Cathays, Cardiff.

I THINK syncopated music would be heard to better advantage if the instruments were improved. Of course, one can say nothing against the violin and saxophone, but little can be said of the others. Apart from this, I entirely disagree with Sir Landon Ronald in his preference for the old dance tunes, as I like modern syncopated music much better.—FRED WARING, Spring Road, Riddings, Alfreton, Derbyshire.

I THINK that Mr. Jack Hylton's transcription of Sir Landon Ronald's "Down in the Forest" was the only piece played by his band that had any real music in it. As for my toes "itching" to dance on hearing the fox-trot, they "itched" far more, in fact every nerve and muscle in my body seemed to respond to the strains of that beautiful waltz "The Blue Danube." Mr. Hylton speaks of jazz or syncopated music having a cheerful and bright effect on people; I consider it creates a state of excitement and unrest which no classical music ever does.—MRS. E. A. BURGESS, Princess Road, Fallowfield, Manchester.

I AM not a jazz-hater; I appreciate the cheerful light-heartedness of this music, and for this it is undoubtedly valuable, but that there is depth and soul in it, I have yet to discern.—F. HARRISON, Brooks' Bar, Manchester.

ONE moral for true musicians who are really worried about the increase of jazz is "do not despise melody." For jazz experts, "tread warily and respect genuine musical prejudices."—FRANK HERDSMAN, Wilton Mansions, Kelvinside.

One London Listener's Plea.

WHY, oh! why, has it been thought necessary to adopt the thoroughly inconvenient time of 9.30 p.m. for the second general news bulletin? Personally I am unable to start listening before 8.30 at the earliest, and as I have to work for my living, I do not care to make a habit of remaining up after 10 o'clock. My main, almost my only, interest in listening is to hear good music, and I cannot imagine how it can be to the benefit of any listener to have the musical programme cut in halves in the middle, or early, evening. And may I protest against country listeners demanding (and getting) the Daventry Station turned into a relay of "2LO"? It seems unfair that London listeners should be denied any alternative programme, and this because country listeners demand, not merely an alternative programme to their local station, but a particular alternative programme, viz., London. The position is further aggravated for Londoners by the high power of "2LO," making it impossible to cut it out, with any ordinary valve set, at a distance of many miles from the station. This, of course, confers still another advantage on country listeners, as London is, in consequence, the easiest of all the main B.B.C. Stations to pick up at a distance.—DAVID T. KING, Richmond Hill, Surrey.

A Nonagenarian Sings Our Hymns.

I READ with great interest about the old lady of eighty who enjoys the wireless so much, and should like to tell you about my patient who is approaching her ninety-fourth birthday. She is interested in the news and addresses, but the Sunday evening services are her special joy, and she sings all the hymns along with the choir. It is worth while having the wireless for the services alone. Sir Harry Lauder's last programme gave her great pleasure also, and when he asked all his listeners to join in one of his choruses, she immediately responded, although the song was entirely new to her.—K. M. RAMSAY, Eastwood, Stalybridge.

A SHAKESPEARE SOUVENIR.

THE Souvenir Book for our series of recent broadcasts of Shakespeare's Heroines is now ready for distribution. This book has a threefold purpose—first, to act as a memento of these broadcasts; secondly, as a contribution towards that excellent cause, the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre Fund, which has been promoted in order to re-build and endow the theatre recently destroyed by fire at Stratford-on-Avon, and, thirdly, as a modest contribution towards the knowledge of Shakespeare.

In the Souvenir will be found ten pencil drawings and two colour sketches by that eminent artist, Mr. Charles Ricketts, A.R.A., reproduced by his special permission. All these sketches are got up in such a way that they can be easily extracted from the book and framed.

Those who require copies of the book, price 2s. 3d. post free, should apply to the British Broadcasting Company, Ltd., Savoy Hill, W.C.2, enclosing postal order for that amount. (Please write name and address in block capitals).

An excellent way to aid the fund is to apply to the B.B.C. for an application form for a total of twenty copies of the book. Take this round to your friends, and when you have obtained orders for twenty copies, send the list with the money in the form of a cheque, money order or postal order (do not send loose money or stamps), to the Shakespeare Memorial Fund, c/o British Broadcasting Company, Ltd., Savoy Hill, W.C.2.

The names and addresses of all those who send us complete application forms for twenty copies will be mentioned in the Shakespeare Memorial Honours List which will appear periodically in The Radio Times. When we receive the complete application form from you, we will send you another one, and to the reader who obtains the greatest number of applications between now and January 1st, 1927, there will be presented a beautifully bound copy of Shakespeare's Works, valued at £10 10s.

programme is the Bliss Concerto to be performed by Mr. David Brynley (tenor) and Mr. Gordon Bryan (piano). This is an unusual work which has not yet been broadcast; it has been played only once—at one of the Promenade concerts.

A Musical Meal at Manchester.

A short orchestral programme, in which the items will represent the various courses in a dinner, beginning with hors d'oeuvres and running through a complete menu to the liqueurs, is an attractive little novelty which will be heard from Manchester on Saturday, August 28th, under the title of "A Musical Meal à l'Orchestre."

"The Pied Piper."

An interesting feature in the Manchester programme on Tuesday, August 24th, is a performance by the Station Chorus and Augmented Orchestra of the late Sir Hubert Parry's humorous cantata, The Pied Piper of Hamelin. This delightful work, in which the music fits the humorous parts of Browning's poem no less than the picturesque narrative passages, was first performed at the Norwich Music Festival in 1905; it tells the famous story of the "Pied Piper" with a whimsical charm characteristic of the composer.

A Novel Experiment.

A new development in radio drama takes place on Monday, August 30th, when the Manchester Station will give a broadcast version of the well-known cinema play, The Greater Glory. It becomes increasingly obvious that the wireless medium, with its appeal to the ear, will one day rival the effects which the cinema makes now, appealing, as it does, to the eye. By means of a "Master Voice" taking the place of sub-titles, skilfully-worked dialogue with the appropriate noise effects instead of the film scenes, and an emotional background formed by orchestral music, it is hoped to take listeners in imagination through a series of swiftly-moving "scenes" which will convey the whole story of The Greater Glory. Experiments on these lines have already been tried in America with considerable success, but the Manchester Station hopes to develop the idea still further in its interesting experiment. The play centres round the theme of the trials and tribulations of Vienna during the Great War, and presents a striking message on behalf of Peace versus War.

"Hullo! Whitley Bay."

Several sketches in the Tyneside dialect will be included in a radio revue entitled Hullo! Whitley Bay, which is to be broadcast from the Newcastle Station on Wednesday evening, August 25th. One sketch, called The Band Contest, will have for its setting Tynemouth on a Northumberland Miners' Gala Day, when it is customary for various colliery bands to contest for the Challenge Shield. The other sketches in the revue are Breakfast for Two, Swish, Jingling Geordie, and Snapshots.

From St. Luke's, Liverpool.

A service relayed from St. Luke's Church, Bold Street, Liverpool, will be broadcast through the local Station at 8.15 p.m. on Sunday, August 29th. The excellent acoustic properties of this church have been proved on previous occasions, and it is hoped that other services, and perhaps organ recitals, will be relayed later on. The service will be preceded at 8 o'clock by the bells of St. Luke's, rung by the ringers of St. Nicolas's Parish Church.

THE VOICE.

SHE put on the headphone
Idly, not knowing what she was to hear,
When of a sudden in her startled ear
That voice, to her once so well known,
Again rang out loud and clear—

That voice whose every tone
And accent once had been so dear:
And now he seemed to speak for all to hear
What then had been for her alone,
And murmured in her ear.

Listening, she caught no word
Of all the learned lore that he broadcast
But dreamt that he'd come back to her at last,
As once again love's very voice she heard
Speak out of the dead past.

The Mosquito Peril in England.

By A. Moore Hogarth.*

Mr. A. MOORE HOGARTH
(Hon. Director of the College of Pestology).

THE word mosquito, as most people know, is Spanish for "little fly," and I suppose that the mosquito (Culex pipiens) which most people call a gnat is an example of the little fly idea, but the bigger and more vicious insect, Theobaldia annulata, is nearly as big again, and is packed full of mischief, while the malaria mosquito, Anopheles maculipennis, is a size in between the Culex and the Theobaldia. These three are all the better for being dead.

There are far too many of these little brutes in this country, and none of them is deserving of a good word. It would be impossible in the short time at my disposal to enumerate all the seventeen mischievous varieties, but I must not leave out the Ochlerotatus detritus, which is a perfect terror to people at the seaside.

When You Are Bitten.

I have often been asked, "What is the best thing to do when one has been bitten?" It is hardly realized what a difficult question this is to answer, for so much depends on the condition of the person who has been bitten. One thing that I always advise is, "Don't scratch," for this instantly carries the poison further into the victim. It is very useful to dab cotton-wool soaked in methylated spirit and glycerine on the bitten place. Absolutely to prevent mosquitoes from biting is practically impossible. They seem to show a special partiality for some people.

There is a curious idea abroad that mosquitoes are a sort of plague which most of the population can safely ignore. This is far from being true, as mosquitoes are everywhere on the increase in England, particularly the detestable annulata and detritus. These two varieties have multiplied by leaps and bounds, the annulata being with us all the year round and the detritus from February to November inclusive.

But these are not the only mosquitoes that remain with us throughout the year, for the malaria mosquito, the Culex, and the Theobaldia are all three with us in the adult stage all the year round.

'Buses as Carriers.

There are several points of interest in connection with mosquito infestations. For instance, most records give the radius of a mosquito's flight as about a mile and a quarter, but since the coming of long-distance 'buses, this has changed. These 'buses carry mosquitoes to places remote from their place of origin, and have thus undoubtedly helped in the establishment of fresh colonies. The wind, too, carries mosquitoes fairly respectable distances. And not only do 'buses and other similar modern vehicles act as carriers, but they also act as protectors of mosquitoes against insectivorous birds.

I mention this to illustrate one example of how modern progress helps hostile insects to flourish. A whole issue of The Radio Times could be devoted to other phases of modern life which tend to depopulate our country of martins, swallows, and other insectivorous birds, and to upset pretty thoroughly what is known as the balance of nature.

The mosquito question is essentially a question for the public. It is most emphatically not altogether in the laboratory that the mosquito must be fought. It must be fought by the public generally and individually. The Government of New South Wales has already recognized this important fact by imposing a fine of £50 upon people whose carelessness conduces to the breeding of mosquitoes.

* In a Talk from London.

The function of the research laboratory is primarily to establish the part the mosquito plays in the causation of disease, and this the laboratory has done and is doing splendidly.

We know that the maculipennis is definitely a carrier of malaria when it gets the chance, we know that the nursery life and upbringing of the annulata predestine it as a blood-poisoner, and we know that the so-called gnat and other species of mosquito are all competent to play havoc with us when they bite us. And it is quite logical to speculate that these biting insects can inject into our blood other forms of disease, but, owing to the lack of financial support for research work, we in England are still in the elementary stage of our mosquito and insect knowledge.

We know, however, that, apart from any inconvenience, illness, and even death which these insects have inflicted generally, cases reviewed by the College of Pestology during the past year showed a loss of 157 working days as a direct cause of mosquito bites; in other words, the loss is not only personal to the person bitten, but also to the employer of labour and, incidentally, to the State.

In experimental work carried out with a view to the destruction of the mosquito, laboratory tests are not always conclusive. Insects which are laboratory-bred seem to have less resistance to disease and to mosquito-destroying agents than those we encounter in their natural surroundings. This may be due to the lack of hardening in their protective coats, or chitinous make-up. But, whatever the cause may be, laboratory work has to be reinforced by what is known as field-work; although, strictly speaking, in the case of some mosquitoes this field work becomes housework, for during the hibernating season much useful destructive work can be carried out by spraying in cellars and places where mosquitoes are wintering. This spraying ought to be done, and done thoroughly, whenever mosquitoes are present.

"CYNTHIA."

This is a picture of "Cynthia," Theobaldia annulata, the mosquito who was taken to London Studio by Mr. Moore Hogarth with the idea of getting her to broadcast; but, alas! she died on the microphone—during rehearsal!

Thus it is that the public can do a lot to help those of us who are fighting the mosquito pest, each lending a hand in his or her own walk of life, and if national work does not appeal—and it is truly national work—there should be the appeal consequent upon financial loss, time loss, and health loss.

It is impossible in the course of a short article to describe in detail the measures which should be taken to deal with the pest; but, as a general idea, it should be noted that old gutters, crocks, hollow broken ware, tins, etc., should be scrupulously destroyed, dustbins should be kept covered, ditches should be drained. Stagnant waters, which are fruitful breeding-places, should be treated with chemically-impregnated dust; while even modified paraffin oil is useful under informed direction.

Fish that eat the larvae of insects should be stocked in ornamental waters, and insect-destroying birds should be encouraged to multiply and be happy by the establishment of bird sanctuaries wherever practicable; sparrows should be most emphatically discouraged as, although they are bright little fellows, usually regarded with affection, there seems to be no doubt whatever that they do displace birds of greater value. It is curious, but nevertheless a fact, that in woodlands which have been opened up to the public, picnic-makers who leave about on the ground the débris of their meals are undoubtedly responsible for the enormous increase of the sparrow population and a corresponding decrease of more useful birds.

A National Problem.

Undoubtedly the public is hard put to it to deal with all the urgent problems which attend the provision of a livelihood for themselves, their wives and children, and, therefore, one cannot blame the citizen for his apathy in regard to some of these insect problems, which he regards as minor affairs. But the mosquito problem is not a minor problem; it is an important national problem, and in a book that I have written (which an important Authority has been good enough to commend for public reading) I have endeavoured to turn the mosquito problem into an interesting study, in the hope that by so doing, I shall be giving an impetus to the acquisition of useful knowledge.

Who can fail to be arrested by the wonderful demonstration of the desperate resources of nature that the mosquito provides by the struggle that it makes to survive? The conversion of an insect capable of feeding on dainty leaves, and such fruit as the strawberry, into a bloodthirsty virago who insists upon a meal of blood as a concomitant in the completion of her egg-fertilization is an extraordinary demonstration of the wonder of nature.

We cannot, however, dwell upon the wonderment of the mosquito, for civilization and all that it means hastens us onwards, and modern sanitation, modern life, and modern health cannot tolerate mosquitoes. Therefore, the College of Pestology, at 52, Bedford Square, London, whose Gold Medal for Mosquito Research was awarded to Sir Ronald Ross last year, is definitely antagonistic to the mosquito and in its task of trying to eliminate a dangerous foe the College invites the assistance of the public.

The Children's Corner

Fun at a Picnic.

THE picnic to Romilly on August 25th is being eagerly looked forward to by Manchester children and also by the Aunties and Uncles of the Manchester Station. There will be sports and games, an exciting Treasure Hunt, and a scrumptious tea, and afterwards a number of balloons (which are going to be filled with hydrogen on the spot, so that the kiddies can see how it is done) will be sent up, each with a postcard attached with an invitation to the finder to become a member of the Radio Circle. The Aunties and Uncles hope that the finders of these balloons will write and tell them where they were found.

Plymouth's Successful Concert.

The concert contributed by members of the Plymouth Radio Circle in the Children's Corner was so successful that the Aunts and Uncles are busy finding more young talent, so that another concert can be given at an early date.

Happy Snaps.

One of the Competitions in connection with Dupdee's Happy Radio Picnic was one for the happiest snap taken in the grounds at Monikie. A perfect photograph was not required, but only something that showed joy in some form.

There were many attempts, and after long and careful judging, the "happiness" prizes go to Beatrice Paterson, 26, Maryfield Terrace, Dundee; Mary Edwards, Burnside Cottage, Errol; Phyllis Payne, 54, Bell Street, Dundee; Mary Ogilvie, Ellengowan, Ferry Road, Dundee—all nieces.

The Youngest Member.

There was a unique event in the Dundee Studio on a recent Monday. Uncle Eric described how, in the early afternoon, while he was working at his desk, three fairies suddenly appeared with news of a new member of "2DE's" Happy Radio Circle. This little youngster was not a day old when his Radio Circle Badge was sent to him. Later, it was discovered that during this episode from the Studio, this "youngest member" yelled lustily as he heard the talk about him from the loud speaker.

A Holiday Competition.

Some of you will have seen in the Edinburgh Children's Radio Magazine a fascinating competition for the summer holidays for which many members are sure to enter. Children are asked to send in accounts of their holidays, illustrating them with snapshots and sketches. Three prizes will be given, and the best of the entries will probably appear in due course in the magazine. Auntie Molly is getting thrilled with excitement as time draws on for the entries to start pouring in.

The Wanderer's Return.

Recently, a strange event occurred at the Edinburgh Station. Auntie Molly and Uncle Dick were busy reading the children's letters and posting off magazines and badges when someone rushed into the office. "Have you seen the sunrise this morning?" he asked. We stared at him in amazement, and then Uncle Dick said: "It's all right, old chap, we know all about that; just sit down and I'll get you a cup of tea and you'll feel better." He snorted at us, "I'm not mad—look!" Just then a crimson and amber glow began to spread over the staircase and we peered over the banister like young birds in a nest. The glow increased in intensity and, at last, it appeared. Can you guess? It was Uncle Jim's face, so transformed with fresh air and sunshine that it dazzled us. However, when we had got used to the glare, he told us all about his holidays, which had been wonderful, with one exception. One day he was out bug-hunting with a large butterfly-net and a killing bottle when he met an earwig of huge proportions. Well, in the argument the earwig (or was it a wasp?) lifted its third off foot and gave him such a "oner" that he is lucky to have escaped with his life. However, he is recovering now.

Pieces in the Programmes.

A Weekly Feature Conducted by Percy A. Scholes.

SOME SHAKESPEARE-SULLIVAN MUSIC.

SULLIVAN'S stage music is not confined to the Gilbert-and-Sullivan Light Operas which everyone knows. He tried his hand at more serious opera, though without great success. And he also wrote incidental music to several of Shakespeare's plays, and into this he put much fine work.

His incidental music to THE TEMPEST (GLASGOW, MONDAY; CARDIFF, WEDNESDAY) is very attractive in its fresh vitality, and he has well caught the imaginative spirit of the play. It was his first work, and, as such, made a very great impression when first performed.

Twelve separate pieces make up the Tempest Music. There are lengthy orchestral Introductions to each Act; there is the Dance to "solemn and strange music" of the "several strange shapes" who provide the King's banquet; there is the Dance of Nymphs and Reapers, and Ariel, at almost every entry, sings a song, or is accompanied by mysterious music.

In THE MERCHANT OF VENICE, a Masque is held outside the house of Shylock, the Jew. The dancing of the Masquers reaches a great pitch of excitement, and when the revelry is at its highest, Shylock's daughter, Jessica, escapes with her lover.

The two pieces from Sullivan's music to the Masque which are included in Bournemouth's programme for Tuesday are a brilliant WALTZ and the dashing FINALE.

Sullivan's Music to HENRY VIII. (GLASGOW, MONDAY) consists of a MARCH, the KING'S SONG (Youth will needs have dalliance), a GRACEFUL DANCE, and "WATER MUSIC." This last was presumably intended to be played when the King and his courtiers came by barge to the ball given by Cardinal Wolsey.

SULLIVAN'S "OVERTURE TO THE BALL."

(GLASGOW, ABERDEEN, EDINBURGH AND DUNDEE, THURSDAY.)

This work was written for the Birmingham Festival of 1870. It is scored for Full Orchestra, is long and elaborate, and is amongst Sullivan's most spirited music.

After a short Introduction, there begins a very rhythmical leaping dance-tune (started by the First Violins—chief accompaniment, Horns). This tune holds sway for some time, being given to most instruments in turn, including Flute and Piccolo. Later, there follow several waltz-tunes. Towards the end, the dancers break into a Galop.

RIMSKY-KORSAKOF'S "ANTAR."

(GLASGOW, ABERDEEN, EDINBURGH AND DUNDEE, THURSDAY.)

The title "Second Symphony" applied to Antar is apt to mislead. In his Memoirs Rimsky-Korsakof insists that Antar is not a symphony. He says that he first called it his Second Symphony, because the term "suite" was at the time practically unknown "to our circle." "Still," he says, "I was wrong in calling Antar a symphony. My Antar was a poem, suite, fairy-tale, story, or anything you like, but not a symphony." It is interesting to know his view that some works which are illustrative of plots or scenes (in other words, have "programmes") are "incontestable symphonies," but that Antar is not so, since "it has no thematic development whatever; only variations and paraphrases."

Antar is a big-scale work, in four separate Movements. It is one of Rimsky-Korsakof's earliest works, but it is typical in its highly-coloured, always effective, use of the orchestra. The composer tells us that, with the exception of the Antar Theme, he took nearly all his tunes from a French collection of Arab melodies of Algiers.

The story of Antar, as illustrated by the four

Movements, and the general outlines of the music, are given below.

I.—Antar has taken refuge in the solitude of the desert, swearing unending hatred to his fellow-creatures, who have always rewarded him evil for good. We find him among the grandiose ruins of Palmyra. Slow, sombre, descending Wood-Wind chords are followed by a short phrase ascending through Strings and Wood-Wind up to the Flute. This little section is repeated. Then we hear the Theme on which the whole work is built, the Theme which represents Antar himself—a smooth, curving, melodic phrase, here given to Violas.

The music of the rest of this Movement is self-sufficient when one knows the story.

A graceful gazelle appears; Antar rescues it from the pursuit of a monstrous bird. Gazelle and bird both vanish. Antar falls asleep, and in a dream the Fairy Queen of Palmyra, Gul-Nazar, appears to him. The gazelle was none other than Gul-Nazar, in disguise, and in gratitude she now promises Antar life's greatest joys.

Antar awakens. (Musically, the recurrence of the sombre opening, and the closing with Antar's Theme, give unity to the Movement.)

II.—Antar is granted the Joy of Vengeance on his fellow-men.

This Movement is entirely made out of the threatening figure muttered at the opening, the loud Brass chords which follow a ferocious version of Antar's Theme, and an equally ferocious rising phrase, which itself ends with a few notes of the Antar Theme.

III.—The Third Movement, Quick, resolute, in the manner of a March, interprets the Joy of Power. The music explains itself. Antar's Theme is towards the end thundered out by the Brass.

IV.—Antar has come back to Palmyra. He is finally to taste the Joy of Love, in the arms of Gul-Nazar herself. At the opening the musical reference to the beginning of his dream (in the First Movement) will be recognized.

Rimsky-Korsakof tells us that the tune out of which, together with Antar's Theme, this Movement is made, is an Arab melody, given him by the composer, Dargomijsky.

In the end, Antar, intoxicated with love, dies in the Fairy's embrace.

BEETHOVEN'S FOURTH PIANO TRIO.

(LONDON, DAVENTRY, ETC., WEDNESDAY.)

The Fourth of Beethoven's Trios for Piano, Violin and Cello was written in the country, the same summer (1808) in which were finished the great Fifth Symphony, the Pastoral Symphony, and the Choral Fantasia.

The FIRST MOVEMENT is a vigorous piece, marked Quick, lively, with spirit. The First Main Tune is played at the outset by all three instruments. The appearance of the Second Main Tune is easily recognizable, for in it the Violin and Cello play something very like a pianist's "five-finger exercise," while the Piano has a short tune, made up of little detached fragments. Quickly rôles are exchanged, then Beethoven proceeds to develop, and, finally, to recapitulate these Tunes.

THE SECOND MOVEMENT is a very slow, expressive, and rather elaborate piece. Its mysterious opening has in Germany earned for the whole work the name of "Das Geister Trio" (The Spirit Trio).

The THIRD MOVEMENT is gay and playful. [N.B.—Mozart's Fifth Violin Concerto (Birmingham, Sunday) was described in The Radio Times of July 16th; MacCunn's Land of the Mountain and the Flood (Glasgow, Sunday) in the issue for June 11th.]

LONDON NEWS.

Royal Tank Corps Band.

ON Sunday afternoon, listeners will hear a programme of music by the Royal Tank Corps Band, which gave such an excellent performance from the London Studio on June 21st. The solo artists will be Miss Kate Winter, whose charming quality of voice has made her one of the most successful broadcasting sopranos, and Mr. Percy Heming (baritone). The group of songs which Mr. Heming is to sing are given the generic title of "Songs My Father Sang," and will be announced by himself. His intention is to broadcast a few of the songs sung by the amateur with a love of singing thirty or forty years ago, and there can be little doubt that he will find a large audience who will appreciate the revival of some of their old favourites.

Allan Aynesworth.

At 5 o'clock, Mr. Allan Aynesworth will read a translation of the story of "The Monster Cannon," by Victor Hugo. Mr. Aynesworth recently acted with great success with Miss Irene Vanbrugh at the Globe Theatre in All the King's Horses.

The evening programme, relayed from the Grand Hotel, Eastbourne, will be given by Sandler and his Orchestra, with Mr. Spencer Thomas (tenor).

"The White Chateau."

At 8 o'clock, on Monday, will be given a revival of The White Chateau, one of the most successful plays that have been broadcast. It was written by Mr. Reginald Berkeley, the author of French Leave and Mr. Abdullah, which is now touring the Provinces. The cast, so far as is possible, will be the one which originally played it on Armistice Day last year.

A Dance Evening.

Tuesday evening will be a full dance evening for those who can hear London and Daventry. With the exception of the period from 9.30 to 10 p.m., dance music will be available on one or other of these stations from 8 o'clock until midnight. From 8.0 to 8.45 onwards, Daventry, and from 8.45 to 9.30 onwards, London will transmit a light programme by Stanley Holt's Octet, Miss Vivien Lambelet, and a new-comer to broadcasting, Mr. E. Cuthbert-Smith (baritone).

Chamber Music.

The chamber music programme on Wednesday will be given by The Modern Trio, Mr. William Primrose, Manucci, and Mr. Serge Krish. Mr. Primrose has already achieved a reputation among distinguished players of the violin; Manucci is a clever cellist with a wide experience in chamber music, and Mr. Serge Krish has been known for years as a brilliant accompanist and player of chamber music, as well as an able soloist.

Included in the same programme are songs by Signor Lenghi Cellini, the Italian tenor, who will sing some of the best of contemporary Italian Ari songs, and a reading of poems from the works of Burns.

Variety.

The programme of variety from 10 to 11 p.m. includes solos on the marimbaphone and spielophone by Miss Gabriel Hope, and stories by Mr. Tex McLeod, who has been recently appearing at the Coliseum and other music-halls, spinning ropes and yarns.

London Lads.

On Thursday night, a programme will be given devoted to the honour of London's Territorials. This has been arranged by Amyas Young. The artists, in addition to the London Radio Players, the "2LO" Military Band and the Wireless Chorus, will include various past and present members of the London Territorials, who are intimately connected with some of the incidents dealt with in this programme.

Theatre Feature.

At 10 o'clock, an excerpt from Act II. of Yvonne will be relayed from Daly's Theatre, Leicester Square, including duets by Mr. Gene Gerrard and Mr. Hal Sherman, and Miss Ivy Tresmand and Mr. Arthur Pusey.

More Variety.

The short programme of variety at 8 o'clock on Friday includes the Two Bobs, who have become almost as well known over the microphone as they are on the music-halls; Miss Ray Wallace in some of her brilliant impersonations of famous music-hall stars, and Mr. Zachary Tan, who plays on a number of peculiar instruments, notably a rubber balloon.

"Rigoletto."

The rest of the programme from 8.30 to 9.30 p.m., and from 10 to 11 p.m., will be occupied by a second broadcast of Rigoletto (the famous tragic opera by Verdi, which was given from the Chenil Galleries on July 7th), during which listeners will have the advantage of being able to use the libretti already circulated. The cast will be practically the same as that which was so much appreciated in its earlier performance.

Pouishnoff.

At 10.5 p.m., on Saturday, Mr. Leff Pouishnoff, one of the most popular pianists on the wireless, will give a short piano recital. His playing has the clarity which is so essential to good broadcasting, and the programmes he chooses are always attractive from the point of view of the average listener.

Weber.

The 7.25 p.m. recitals this week will be devoted to the music of Weber, which will be played by Miss Edith Barnett. She will play the fourth of the piano sonatas (listeners will remember that Mr. Charles Kelly played the first three in the week of March 15th) and, among other works, will be the popular "Invitation to the Waltz," the Variations on a Russian Tune, and the Variations on a Gypsy Tune.

BIRMINGHAM NEWS.

Paul Belinfante.

MOZART'S Violin Concerto in A, which Mr. Paul Belinfante is to play with the Orchestra in the symphony concert on Sunday, is one of the six which Mozart composed during 1775 and 1776. He was at that time working hard at the violin, to please his father. No more severe test can be found for a violinist than these concertos; they require the finest technique, coupled with real musical expression. The soloist on Sunday has had much valuable experience, having been the first violin in the Queen's Hall Orchestra and in the Worthing Municipal Orchestra. He is now conductor of the West Pier Orchestra at Brighton.

"Varying Moods."

Another concert of interest is one on Tuesday, devoted to "Varying Moods." In this programme listeners will hear Miss Constance Willis (contralto) and Mr. Kingsley Lark (baritone). Both these artists are well known in the operatic world. Mr.
Kingsley Lark having also sung in musical comedy. Miss Constance Willis was a product of the Old Vic, that training ground of a great number of operatic stars. After singing with the Carl Rosa Opera Company, she joined the British National Opera Company and is now one of their most successful contraltos. Her Carmen is recognized as being really great, not only on account of her voice, but also on account of her abilities as an actress.
In this programme Miss Willis will be heard in Elgar's Sea Pictures. This beautiful suite of songs brings to our minds the varying moods of the sea.
Another interesting work in this programme is the Sinfonia for strings and flute only, by Bach.

A Lady Tenor.

The "Light Music" programme on Wednesday chiefly consists of the new publications of a well-known firm.

The vocalist is described as a "lady tenor." Listeners will have the opportunity of hearing one of the most notable examples which result from this station's auditions. This artist had been singing to her friends with her remarkable voice, and one of them suggested that she should apply to the Birmingham Station for an audition.
It was then found that she had a voice of an extraordinary character, with a wide range. After her first appearance, many congratulatory letters were received with requests that this artist should broadcast again.
On this occasion she will sing that ever-green favourite—Come Into the Garden, Maud.

A Varied Evening.

At 7.45, on Thursday, the programme will be "Popular and Varied." The Station Orchestra will contribute with the overture Poet and Peasant. Mr.
Sydney Nesbitt will play selected items on his ukulele, and Mr. Arthur Brander will entertain at the piano. At 8.10, the Birmingham Radio Players, under the direction of Mr. Sydney Russell, will present a drama in one act entitled The Golden Buddha. The scene is laid in Tibet, and in the distance can be seen the secret Monastery of Dayul, lofty and remote. The characters of this drama are Yen Ho, High Priest of the Dayul Monastery, played by Mr. Joseph Lewis, Miles Deneby, a shady English adventurer, played by Mr. Sydney Russell, and Lin Lim, the beggar guide of Denaby's, acted by Miss Mary Brotherton.

On Friday, Mr. Dan Carroll and his Decameron Band, and Mr. Will Shenkman and his Buffalo Band, will be relayed from the Palais de Danse.

Another Park Concert.

On Saturday evening, the concert
by the City of Birmingham Police Band, conducted by Mr. Richard Wassell, will be relayed from Cannon
Hill Park.

- CARDIFF NEWS.
"5WA" Radio Carnival.
TWO years ago, Cardiff Station instituted the Station Garden Party, and the event has become a highly popular annual "fixture." At Weston-super-Mare last year, the Garden Party raised over £1,200 for the Weston Hospital, and the event was talked of for months afterwards.
This year's Carnival is again being given at Weston-super-Mare on Thursday, and there are indications that Weston will receive a big influx of visitors. As part of the Carnival, the entire Cardiff programme for the day, both afternoon and evening, will be given in Clarence Park, and, with a seemingly endless array of side shows as an added attraction, a record attendance is expected, with consequent financial benefit to the hospital.
Weston is within easy reach by road and rail from all parts of the West of England, and for South Wales listeners there is an excellent cross-Channel boat service. A special late boat will leave Weston for Cardiff after 11 p.m.

NEWCASTLE NEWS.

Sunday's Programme.

MISS SIDONIE GOOSSENS, the harpist, will be heard in the Newcastle programme for Sunday, with Mr. Lambert Flaek (flautist) and the Station Orchestra in a rendering of Mozart's Concerto in G. Mr. George Bainbridge, who will also be heard on Sunday, is a local baritone who distinguished himself in musical circles by winning the Silver Medal for Bach Open Aria and Bronze Medal in the Baritone Open Song Class at the North of England Musical Tournament.

A Concert Party.

"The Electric Sparks" Concert Party, which will entertain listeners again on Wednesday night, was formed as far back as 1907 by Mr. G. Coutts (entertainer), and has, as far as possible since that period, made the North its performing ground. Many of their songs and sketches are written and composed by themselves, and their speciality is humorous and topical programmes of a refined character.

Opera and a Revue.

Following a programme of some operatic numbers between 8 and 10 p.m., on Thursday, when the artists are Miss Gladys Parr (contralto), and Mr. Alexander McCredie (tenor), listeners will be given a radio revue entitled All Sport. This revue is by E. A. Bryan, a local author, who is also responsible for some sketches which were broadcast from the Newcastle Station a few weeks ago. All Sport will be produced by the popular "Novos" Concert Party.

8.0. "ROUND THE CAMP-FIRE."

Many of our listeners have requested that we should again visit the bonnie banks of Loch Lomond, and you must picture us assembled round the campfire in the Glasgow Corporation Park at Balloch. The air is calm and pure and the water like a sheet of glass, reflecting the rays of the setting sun. Up the loch, and beyond the wooded islets, towers Ben Lomond, while reddening in the sunset, while overhead an eagle and his mate are soaring in wide circles before returning to their eyrie for the night. Round the campfire are gathered a happy company of youths and maidens in happy mood, making the rocks and woods reverberate with their laughter and song.

The following will take part:—

LAWRENCE ANDERSON
(Compère),

SYDNEY NESBITT
and his Ukulele,

GLASGOW NEWS.

THE anniversary of the birthday of two famous men falls on August 15th, namely, Napoleon Bonaparte and Sir Walter Scott. A special programme devoted to Scott will be broadcast from the Glasgow Station on Sunday afternoon, at 3.30 p.m., Miss Margaret Stewart, the well-known Scottish soprano, and Mr. Ninian MacWhannell taking the chief parts in the programme.

A Napoleonic programme will also be broadcast at 5.30 the same day, when an attempt will be made to put before listeners an impression of Napoleon's meteoric career.

A representative work of Rimsky-Korsakov, the Russian composer, will be broadcast on Thursday, namely, his Second Symphony, Op. 9, called Antar, which was afterwards revised by the composer and published as Oriental Suite.

ABERDEEN NEWS.

MR. JOSEPH FARRINGTON, who is to be heard from Aberdeen and Dundee in a short concert at 10 o'clock on Monday night, belongs to a county which has produced many famous male singers, having been born at Preston, Lancashire, where he began his musical career as a boy chorister. At an early age his voice showed itself to be of true bass quality and, after studying under a Manchester teacher, Mr. Farrington was appointed Solo Bass at St. Paul's, London. After the war, he left St. Paul's to tour America as "Captain Macheath" in The Beggar's Opera. On his return to this country, he sang a great deal in oratorio, both in London and in the Provinces. His first appearance at Covent Garden was in the difficult rôle of The Wanderer in Siegfried during the 1923 season, and he followed this with the part of "Death" in the first performance at Covent Garden of Holst's Savitri. A British National Opera Company singer, Mr. Farrington soon established himself as a favourite among broadcast listeners, and his visit North will be eagerly anticipated.

The earlier part of Tuesday evening's programme will be devoted to a song recital by Miss Rispah Goodacre, and light orchestral numbers by the Station Orchestra. Miss Goodacre on her first visit to the Aberdeen Station made a favourable impression by her singing of the part of Orpheus in Gluck's opera of that name. Her recital on Tuesday night will begin with three Coleridge-Taylor songs, and finish with a well-known contralto number from Gounod's Faust.

The Opinion of Experts

The Marconiphone Company have written us the following:—

"Will you please accept our best thanks for your kindness in pressing forward to us yesterday delivery of 70 of your WH type H.T. batteries, which were urgently required for important Public Address work which we have on hand?"

May we take this opportunity of complimenting you upon having produced so satisfactory an article? We think it is undoubtedly a great advance, not only on anything which you have yourself produced, but on any battery which we know of by other makers.

It may be of interest to you to know that we are using it exclusively in all our Public Address and large installation work, and are recommending it to users of our domestic sets."

A Filament

that is tough enough to support four valves without breaking

Every feature of the wonderful P.M. Filament has a superiority all its own.

In this case you can judge the high mechanical strength of the P.M. Filament, particularly when you realise that an ordinary filament will barely support a single valve compared to the four possible with the P.M. filament.

This great difference in the strength is due to the special core of rare metal in the P.M. Filament, which is so tough that it can be tied in knots after 1,000 hours' life, and cannot be broken except by the very roughest handling. The P.M. Filament is set around 5 strong resilient hooks in such a way that it is free from tension or sag and cannot become displaced during the long life of the valve.

The multi-coating on the P.M. Filament core is prepared from an alloy of precious metals that secures a copious and powerful stream of electrons at a temperature so low that no sign of glow can be discerned.

The low current consumption of the P.M. Filament, only one-tenth ampere, will make your accumulator charges last seven times as long, reducing your recharging costs and journeys to one-seventh. The emission of the P.M. Filament is completely within the field of the grid and anode, despite the fact that this emission is up to 5½ times greater than that of an ordinary filament.

Finally, this vastly increased emission gives a wide range of power free from microphonic disturbances, and the P.M. Filament is so conservatively rated that it will stand a reasonable overload without fear of damage.

You will never really be satisfied until you have secured the valves with the P.M. Filament. There are many attempts to imitate its individual features, but all the advantages of the P.M. Filament can only be found in P.M. Valves.

ASK YOUR DEALER FOR P.M. VALVES. HE SELLS THEM BECAUSE THEY SATISFY.

WEBER

INTERPRETED BY
EDITH BARNETT

Karl Maria von Weber is said to be the father of German Opera. Most of his work was on an orchestral scale. Weber's compositions for the piano are of striking brilliance and their performance calls for a very highly developed technique. Miss Barnett's masterly interpretations of Weber are best appreciated when reproduced on the

TREASURE TROVE!

It is one of the conventions of high romance that the discovery of hidden treasure should always be preceded, accompanied and followed by hazards and hard labour, punctuated by bloodshed and violent death. There never has been, and probably never will be, any easy way to the acquisition of material wealth.

Broadcasting, however, has opened up the treasure caves of the ether to all who have ears to hear. It has not, of course, smoothed the path of the seeker after Spanish doubloons or Inca gold; but it has made available to all the vastly greater treasures of good music. It has ransacked the world for your pleasure and entertainment. Armed with a wireless receiver you can bring into your home, hour after hour, night after night, those grand and incorruptible treasures which give joy and solace to the mind.

You can obtain these treasures easily and without physical hardship, but you cannot get them without good valves.

Louden Valves

"I am very interested in the facilities you have extended me of purchasing your excellent goods at such low prices."

Mr. Crutchley, in his letter reproduced below, has put his finger on a very real problem. In selling direct we have had to overcome a good deal of doubt and prejudice in many people's minds.

Mr. Crutchley, however, is now just typical of thousands of satisfied customers in every part of the kingdom. Here is his letter:—

12, Secretan Road, Albany Road, Cumberwell, S.E.3.

Messrs. Fellows Magneto Co., Ltd.

Dear Sirs,—Received your card acknowledging my order for two dull emitter Louden Valves, for which I thank you. No doubt you will meet with a lot of opposition in your great work, but I must wish you every success. I have made several sets up, and I am now running a two-tube and crystal set, and I consider, after months of test, that Louden Valves, both bright and dull emitters, are the finest in all round performance on the market. I have been using Louden Valves for a long time now, and I find, particularly in the case of the dull emitter, that the disadvantages usually met with in ordinary dull emitters, such as microphonic noises, fragility of filament, etc., are absolutely non-existent in the Louden D.E. I was very interested and pleased in the facilities you have extended me of purchasing your excellent goods at such low prices, and you may rest assured that I shall take full advantage of this privilege. Again wishing you every success,—I remain, Yours sincerely, E. B. CRUTCHLEY.

Louden Valves are made by British labour in a British factory with British capital, and can be depended upon for the finest volume, range and silver clearness. They can only be offered at such low prices because of our well-known policy of selling direct to the public and cutting out the middleman's profit.

The list below gives prices and full particulars. Order your Louden Valves from us by post. Cash or C.O.D.

Fellows H.T. Batteries are the best in the World

Only the finest zinc and carbon are used in the manufacture of Fellows H.T. Batteries. That is why they are free from "parasitic" noises.

(Parasitic noises are caused by impurities in the materials setting up local electro chemical actions inside the cell.)

Again, to ensure long life, there is no skimping of the elements; for example, the zinc cylinders are generously thick.

In fact, scrupulous choice of materials, coupled with the best design, make the Fellows H.T. Batteries the finest in the world. They can only be sold at the following prices because of our well-known policy of dealing direct with you, thus cutting out the middleman's profits.

Delight for the Deaf

This is no "catch phrase." It is solemn truth! More PERFECT HEARING than has ever been possible before is now being enjoyed by thousands who are using the NEW Acousticon. This tiny little aid—recognized as the most amazing Aural Discovery of the age—is the outcome of 30 years' work of Scientists, Electrical Experts and well-known Inventors. It robs deafness of its terrors, wipes out all earlier achievements, throws into the background past trials, troubles and disappointments.

In a way which your friends can hardly detect, it will give you back PERMANENT GOOD HEARING. The longer you wear it the more your ears will become "loosened up." It is ideal for those who are irritable about, or self-conscious of, their deafness; who "cannot be bothered" with tiresome and complicated instruments that sometimes go wrong and are nearly always "tinny." It is SIMPLICITY ITSELF, as reliable and accurate as a chronometer and less conspicuous than eye-glasses.

Acousticons are recognized by the Medical Profession; used exclusively in the LARGEST HOSPITALS; praised by leading scientific journals and have been awarded a signal honour by British Royalty. Call for a free test. Try the NEW Acousticon in any way you wish. Bring your friends or your Doctor. Try it in any room you like. There are NO RESTRICTIONS; there is NO obligation.—ACOUSTICON, General Acoustics, Ltd., 77, Wigmore St., London, W.1.

MARCONIPHONE

Type 41 (Four Valve) RECEIVING EQUIPMENT

This scientifically developed model has been designed by the Marconi Company's engineers, to reproduce everything that is broadcast—speech, song and symphony—with a degree of clarity and naturalness hitherto unattainable. Constructed of the highest grade components with painstaking precision, Marconiphone Type 41 Receiver bears the signature of G. Marconi, a guarantee of the utmost efficiency in radio.

The circuit consists of a high frequency valve, a detector, and two low frequency valves, giving extra range and abundant volume on a large loud speaker, without the least degree of distortion.

Radio.

An ingenious rejector device, to dampen out interference from stations on close wave lengths, is incorporated in the instrument, thus making it highly selective. A volume regulator to control the strength of loud speaker reproduction for indoor or outdoor purposes, and a switch for controlling the valves—three or four as may be required—are included in the set, which embodies every modern improvement. Simple to manipulate and thoroughly reliable in operation. The cabinet is of mahogany with folding doors and base for holding high tension batteries. All parts are readily accessible from the top of the instrument.

Supplied with coils for broadcast wave lengths (300-500 metres). Coils for higher wave lengths also supplied.

Each instrument supplied with calibration chart and book of instructions for operation and maintenance.

Deferred Payment terms for Type 41 Receiving Set, complete with Accessories and Loud Speaker, may be arranged. Full particulars on application to Head Office.
