What is Popular Art?

By AUGUSTUS JOHN, A.R.A.

I DO not propose on this occasion to speak so much of painting as of Art in the wider sense of the word. I should like to say something of the relation that Art has to the public, of the influence that it brings to bear in the lives of all of us. For that it has an influence—and a very considerable one—will hardly be denied. Even in our own time and in our own country we have seen thinkers like Ruskin, William Morris and Walter Pater going to Art for the basis of whole systems of philosophy, morality, and even politics; while abroad, the problem of Art as a social force has pre-occupied critics and interpreters of Life from Tolstoy onwards.

* * * *

In spite of this, the opinion is still held by a great many people that Art is only a luxury, that the artist produces work which is not necessary to the community in general, but is, together with such expensive hobbies as racehorses and high-grade motor-cars, the peculiar perquisite of the wealthy. That such an idea should exist is not only unjust, it is one of the chief obstacles that stand in the way of the artist's doing what really is his proper work.

For once an artist even thinks of accommodating his inspiration to suit the tastes of wealthy patrons, the chances are that his art will deteriorate. With the best will in the world, the industrious rich can scarcely be expected to devote the time and thought which the serious cultivation of such a subject as art entails, and only in rare instances do we find that money is accompanied by enlightenment, or even education.

It is, then, the business of the artist to be on his guard against the blandishments of the prosperous amateur, while at the same time he must, of course, never be taken in by that rather insidious air of injured innocence so prevalent among the poor. There is no monopoly in fine perceptions. It is to the mass of the people in general, and not to any particular class, that a man must turn if he wants freedom for his inspiration and understanding of it.

Unfortunately, it is to be feared that at the present time the general level of appreciation is declining. It cannot be said from an actual survey of this country that during the last hundred years we have gained in grace and distinction. On the contrary, we have now often to go out of our way to discover the vestiges of a finer, a more harmonious civilization than we can boast of to-day. Since, I suppose, the introduction of steam-power and its consequence, cheap labour, our country has been devastated by the ignoble building-contractor. In spite of the many excellent architects we have, the masses of the people now are forced to dwell in houses which their forefathers would have scorned to inhabit.

As regards interior decoration, where, some time ago, there would have been no pictures at all, or simply wood-cuts from ballads and chap-books or the naïf efforts of local portraitists, we are now confronted with a plethora of ornament which, for the most part, is pretentious and unmeaning, and often consists in machine-made reproductions of what are considered popular masterpieces.

Even when the process of reproduction is done well, the originals are too often chosen either because they have been reproduced before, or because their subjects make an appeal to a comfortable sentimentality, point a banal moral, or merely titillate the sensual instinct. Even really interesting pictures like the "Monna Lisa," or "The Laughing Cavalier," are multiplied ad nauseam until they become meaningless as pictures and superfluous as pieces of furniture.

Then we find the modern home littered with works of a still lower category. I am speaking now of those multitudinous and transient productions which we may group under the mysterious heading of "Stationery." Finally, there are the usual illustrations to the Life of Christ, the landscapes with the lovers down the lane, and the sporting scenes, all, usually, of a most remarkable imbecility. Well, this state of affairs is bound to tend to the crowding out of the original artist, for with years to spend in the study of his craft, with the concentration that each new work demands, he cannot hope to compete with the rough and ready processes of a machine, unless, throwing up the sponge, he makes himself into a machine, and, at a slower rate, sets himself to copy the works of other men, or even his own.

Pictures from the Factory.

But when a house of the present day is decorated, not with machine-made reproductions, but with original works, I am afraid these original works are frequently not original enough.

Side by side with the great furniture emporiums, you will find shops where pictures are offered you to harmonize with the furniture you are invited—nay, almost compelled—to buy next door, on some incredibly advantageous hire-purchase system. There you will find your Scotch cattle emerging from the immemorial drizzle; Napoleon rebuking his staff at the spectacle of the faithful red-setter licking his dying master's wounds; Dante suppressing his heart-beats as Beatrice glances at him from the brink of the Arno; the attentive doctor conscientiously trying to conceal his ignorance of what ails the afflicted child; the infatuated lovers vowing eternal fidelity under the rhododendrons, and the dear little girl filling grandpa's pipe. These, all these, and more, may you buy ready-made, hand-painted, too, in oils, some of them, and framed complete at a very moderate outlay.

Vulgar, but not Popular.

If this sort of thing is to be taken as popular art, it argues ill for the mentality of the nation. It is too oleaginous, and too cheap for a virile and dominant race. Personally, I don't think it is really popular art, since it is merely imposed on the people from the factory, and does not grow from below upwards. It is vulgar, if you like, but not really popular in the grand sense of the word.

If it were possible to go through an average dwelling from basement to attic, and eliminate the furniture and decorations, the gain in beauty, repose, and hygiene would be considerable. The frills that are distributed over most houses do not usually make them more beautiful. Good frills, it is true, can enrich a building, but first of all the building should be good in itself. It is not realized that once Art is divorced from purpose, once it is degraded to mere ornament without an organic relation to its surroundings, it degenerates and eventually ceases to exist. In order to have a reason for its being, it must tend to the simplification, instead of the complication, of life. After all and above all, Art is just the supreme way we have of expressing our respect for, and our sympathy with, Nature.

It is written that "without vision, the people perisheth." This is true. But with vision, which is Art, a people can survive mortality. What should we know of the past without its monuments? The scientist may measure the skull, but can he measure the brain which drew on rock the bison in full charge or the reindeer hesitating at the brook, ten thousand years ago?

What of the Future?

The English, though a comparatively young people, have nothing to be ashamed of in their artistic past; they need only blush for the betrayal of their admirable traditions which has taken place within the memory of our fathers, and has degraded English industry to the level of a sixpenny bazaar. Still, thank God, there is nothing permanent in our present conditions. Our slums are not going to last for ever, any more than the new mushroom villas. Probably, the community of the future will grow its houses much as a motor-car industry grows its cars. But for the elaboration of the details of the house of the future will not the artist still be employed?

No doubt there will be masons and carvers of one sort and another—"painters and decorators" who elaborate on the simple box that any human dwelling essentially is. Will there be painters like Rembrandt and Titian, who will produce easel-pictures to be hung on the walls inside the houses? Probably, if such people exist, they will be used only for the most public or ceremonious buildings. Possibly, some process like lithography, that will enable thousands of replicas of a work of art to be made and sold for a few pence a print, will provide all that is required by way of pictures in the dwelling houses of our successors, and these dwellings may take the shape of large communal phalansteries on the Fourier pattern.

We are justly proud of our House of Commons, but it is only for the Elect; when the Common People have their own houses, with a common laundry, a common kitchen, a common playground, and a rather uncommon architect, I fancy they might gain economically, while losing nothing of the freedom and dignity which is their birthright, and which they enjoy already.

In connection with the series of talks on "Six Great Artists and What They Stand For," by Mr. C. Lewis Hind, which we are giving in the autumn, we have made arrangements with the National Gallery to supply packets of postcards illustrating some of the pictures with which Mr. Hind will deal. These can be supplied in complete sets of eighteen at 3s. post free, or half sets of nine at 1s. 6d. post free. As, however, only a limited edition is being prepared, application must be made for these immediately, although the cards will not be supplied until just before the beginning of the series. Any listener wishing to have a set or half set should send a postal order for 3s. or 1s. 6d. to the B.B.C., Savoy Hill, marking the envelope "Art Series."

North of the Tweed.

Recitations at Edinburgh.

THE programme selected by Mr. Augustus Beddie, the well-known Scottish reciter, which he is to broadcast from Edinburgh on Wednesday, September 8th, will include an incident in the life of the inimitable Robbie Doo, by Joseph Laing Waugh, and Sir Walter Scott's dramatic account of Flodden. On the same evening, a number of Scottish songs will be sung by Mr. George Cunningham (baritone), and listeners will also hear some pipes selections.

The Edinburgh Sermon.

The preacher at the monthly broadcast service in St. Cuthbert's Parish Church, Edinburgh, on Sunday, September 12th, will be the Rev. E. G. Houston, B.D., of St. Serf's Parish Church, Chaplain to the Lord High Commissioner.

The Solan Geese.

Mr. H. Mortimer Batten, F.Z.S., whose books and broadcast talks both to children and adults enjoy great popularity, is paying a special visit to the Bass Rock to study the Solan Geese. He will visit the Edinburgh Studio at 7.40 p.m. on Monday, September 13th, to tell listeners what he has seen.

Diseases of Bees.

Bee-keepers and all who are associated with the preparation of honey will be interested in a talk to be given from Aberdeen (S.B. from all Stations) on Monday, September 6th, by Dr. John Rennie, of Aberdeen University. The title of the talk is "Ungathered Harvests—a Tragedy of the Bees," and it will deal mainly with the Acarine disease of bees, formerly known as Isle of Wight disease.

In Memory of Dvorak.

On September 8th, 1841, Antonin Dvorak was born at Mühlhausen, near Kroup, in Bohemia. His first music teacher was the village schoolmaster, and he began his career by singing in church and playing the violin on holidays. Such were the musical beginnings of the man who gave us the New World Symphony, the work which has had a large share in making him the popular composer he is. Aberdeen will commemorate his birthday on Wednesday, September 8th, by an orchestral feature which will include this well-known symphony.

Talks from Dundee.

The afternoon talks from Dundee during the week beginning Monday, September 6th are very attractive. If Mr. John Allan's third talk on "Scottish Wit and Humour" is as diverting as the previous two, then listeners are sure of a delightful fifteen minutes. Another popular speaker, Miss Gertrude East, will speak again on Tuesday, her subject being "The Chateaux of the Loire." Wednesday finds Mr. Garnet D. Wilson discussing the vexed question "What's In a Name?" while on Friday Mrs. W. C. F. Stewart will speak on "Camaraderie in Industry." Mr. John L. Peters winds up an interesting week with the fourth of his talks on "The Curious in the Commonplace."

A CORRECTION.

In our issue of August 13th we regret that an error appeared in the Bournemouth Programmes for August 18th. The Talk at 4.45 should have read "Miss Mary Elphinstone on Giving Presents."

Broadcasting a New Charlot Revue.

MR. ANDRE CHARLOT, the famous producer, who has given London and New York some of the most successful revues of the last ten years, is arranging a special revue transmission to be broadcast from the London Station on Saturday, September 11th. The star cast will include Mr. Herbert Mundin and Miss Jessie Matthews, the prominent and popular artists who were so successful in Mr. Charlot's last production, and who are to appear in his next revue in the autumn.

Where the News Comes From.

All listeners are aware that Reuter's is one of the agencies that supplies the news broadcast by the B.B.C., so that everybody will anticipate with pleasure a talk by Mr. H. Jeans, the Chief Editor of this news agency, from the London Station on Thursday, September 16th, at 7.10 p.m. Mr. Jeans will describe exactly how the news is gathered for the broadcast service. At 9.40 on the same evening, Mr. J. Reid Moir, whose recent talks on "Man Before History" were a special feature, will give an amusing talk on "The Housing Problem in Prehistoric Times."

Sir Frank Benson's Memories.

Sir Frank Benson, the eminent actor, is to talk in the London Studio on Tuesday, September 7th, on some of his experiences during his long career on the stage. His title is "All the World's a Stage."

Esperanto From Daventry.

Esperanto enthusiasts will look forward to an Esperanto broadcast from Daventry on Monday, September 6th, at 7.40 p.m. Full details will be published in due course.

Pinero By Radio.

On Thursday, September 9th, Sir A. W. Pinero's play, Trelawney of the Wells, will be given from the London Station. This play, which was first produced at the Court Theatre, in 1898, has been several times revived, and has remained popular on account of the charm of its writing and its picturesque setting in the sixties of the last century.

A Protean Play.

Mr. R. A. Roberts, the popular actor, will again appear at the London Studio on Saturday, September 11th, in a scene entitled, "Ringing the Changes," written and acted entirely by himself. The music for this item was specially composed by Mr. Herman Finck.

The Signalman Talks.

The sound of express trains passing through a station, and other noises incidental to the working of a signal-box at a busy railway centre, will be heard by listeners throughout the country on Wednesday, September 15th, when Mr. J. Eggleston, a signalman from Bishop Auckland on the L.N.E. Railway, will give a talk on his day's duties in a signal-box. The talk, which will be given at 7.10 p.m., is one of a series during the coming winter, in which, it is hoped, similar effects will be arranged.

Talks From London.

A new programme of talks, which has been arranged for the Autumn Session, will be described to listeners by Mr. J. C. Stobart, Talks Director of the B.B.C., at 9.40 p.m. on Thursday, September 9th. Earlier on the same evening, Captain C. J. P. Grant will describe some incidents on a visit to East Africa, and Miss Eleanor Sinclair Rohde will give a talk on the Elizabethan Garden. Miss Rohde has published many books and concert conducted by Mr. Joseph Lewis. The soloists are Mr. Benno Schönberger (pianoforte) and Mr. James Howell (baritone).

Manchester's Symphony Programme.

On Tuesday, September 7th, the Manchester Station Augmented Orchestra, conducted by Mr. T. H. Morrison, will give a symphony programme, the chief orchestral work being the Irish Rhapsody No. 1, by Stanford. Miss Constance Holt Finney will play Liszt's Hungarian Fantaisie in E Flat, and Mr. Harry Hopewell, the popular tenor, will sing items chosen from the works of Wagner and Hugo Wolf. Owing to repeated requests, Beethoven's Symphony No. 1 in C will conclude this programme.

A Famous Band.

A feature of present-day broadcasting is the continuous demand for the cheerful music of military bands. The famous band of St. Hilda's Colliery, supported by Miss Alice Lilley, will broadcast on Sunday, September 5th, from the Manchester Station. Listeners in all parts of the country should note this appearance, as both band and vocalist are noted for their finished performances in this type of musical programme.

Frank Gomez Again.

Another broadcast from the Spa, Whitby, will be given by the Newcastle Station on Sunday, September 5th, by Mr. Frank Gomez and his Whitby Municipal Orchestra. Cello solos by Miss May Bartlett and items by Mr. Howard Fry (baritone) will also be included.

Newcastle Scouts' Programme.

A Camp Fire Song by boy scouts will be broadcast from the Newcastle Station at 6 p.m. on Thursday, September 9th. The scouts will visit the Studio for the purpose and at the present time twenty troops in the Newcastle district are taking part in a competition, the prize being the honour of providing this particular programme, which will last about fifty minutes.

Old Favourites.

Previous programmes of "Pre-War Reminiscences" broadcast from Cardiff and relayed through Daventry have brought in shoals of letters of appreciation from listeners, not only in this country, but as far distant as Switzerland and Holland. Another of these programmes will be given from Cardiff (and also from Daventry) on Tuesday, September 14th, when two artists, who have made past performances so successful, will take part—namely, Miss Grace Daniels and Mr. John Rorke, who, with the Station Orchestra, will

SACHEVERELL, EDITH AND OSBERT SITWELL, THE GIFTED FAMILY OF MODERNIST POETS, IN THE LONDON STUDIO.

On September 3rd, at 11.15 p.m., there will be broadcast from the London Station a short programme which the producers have entitled "The Wheel of Time." It has been designed to illustrate the idea that though time passes, to-day holds always an echo of yesterday and a note of to-morrow. And so in this programme Miss Elsa Lanchester and Mr. Harold Scott will represent the voice of Yesterday; Miss Helen Wilson Barrett and her brother—To-day; and Miss Edith Sitwell and her brothers, Osbert and Sacheverell, To-morrow. Since in no medium are the characteristics of any period so clearly portrayed as in music, these artists will illustrate in their songs and recitations the difference between what was, what is and what will—or may—be.

articles on mediæval gardens and listeners will recall her charming talks on this subject last year.

An Architect on Regent Street.

A talk on Modern Architecture, with particular reference to Regent Street, is to be given from the London Station on Monday, September 13th, by Professor C. H. Reilly, Roscoe Professor of Architecture at Liverpool University.

"The Open Gate."

A drama in one act entitled The Open Gate, by C. Haddon Chambers, will be broadcast from the Birmingham Station on Wednesday, September 8th, by the Station Radio Players.

Symphony Concert at Birmingham.

The programme from the Birmingham Station on Sunday, September 5th, will consist of a symphony

"The Reason Why."

By Norman Edwards, F.R.G.S., M.Inst.R.E. (Editor of "Popular Wireless and Wireless Review").

"THIS 'ere progress—it goes on."

Was it Mr. Kipps who made that trite remark, or was it Mr. Polly? Certainly it was one of Mr. Wells's happy creations—and broadcasting would have moved Mr. Kipps (or Mr. Polly) very profoundly. It would have moved him so much that it is doubtful whether he would have been able to express himself within any greater degree of explicitness than "This 'ere progress—it goes on." You see, he was a simple man, and it is only really simple people who can fully appreciate mystery.

To-day some of us, like Mr. Kipps, accept progress as inevitable, and with rather a smug complacency. Some of us take it for granted, for instance, that wireless has reached its present stage of development because "progress was inevitable"; and some of us who have no knowledge of technicalities think that wireless television will be as common as the telephone some day—simply because "progress is inevitable."

The Two Errors.

How many people stop to reason why progress is made, especially broadcasting progress; or attempt to determine the extent and the nature of the debt we owe to those who make the word "progress" a living force and not a mere catchword?

There is a reason; how many see it? Pascal said there are two errors: "To ignore reason; to attend to reason only." The first error is a fairly common one these days. In the case of broadcasting, many of its wonders, many of its milestones on the road to progress, are accepted as part of that truism: "This 'ere progress; it goes on." Is that all? Just that bare fact! A statement expressive of dumbfounded, but passive, acceptance. No curiosity? No desire to probe the reason for that progress, just a shrug of the shoulders and an acceptance of that banal rule, "This 'ere progress . . ."

You would probably refrain from mislaying the aspirate—but you would be guilty of one of Pascal's "errors" all the same.

Plato said: "Reason, looking upwards, and carried to the true above, realizes a delight unknown to the other parts of our nature." If you seek a reason, you will realize how right he was.

The Key to Progress.

It is the search for the reason of—things—which makes progress inevitable. Yet compared with the population of this earth, only a mere handful of men in each generation has been endowed with that burning desire to know the "reason why." It is to them, at any rate, that we owe part of a debt of gratitude immeasurable. It is such men who, combining an insatiable curiosity with a suitable mental equipment, are responsible for the inevitability of progress.

It was the overpowering desire to know "why" that led Archimedes to sit too long in a bath one day, pondering about the displacement of water and other elementary things connected with hydrostatics. It was the desire to know "why" which led Pythagoras to ponder over a geometrical theorem and to ignore the challenge of the Roman soldiers invading his city and surprising him at his work; a desire so profound, a curiosity so deep that, ignoring the challenge, he paid for his instinct for progress with his life.

It was—to skip a few centuries—the same desire to know "why" which made young Watt burn his fingers on a hot kettle when the steam forced up the lid; but he found out why the lid was forced up. Sir Isaac Newton, strolling in an orchard after a pleasant dinner, pondered on the reason behind an apple falling to the ground. Always a reason . . . Nothing irrelevant or irresponsible; behind all, a reason.

And so in wireless broadcasting.

The easy-going philosophy of Mr. Kipps is far too prevalent these days. When some good citizen buys a wireless set, installs it, and hears for the first time a wireless concert, he does, very likely, say to himself: "Why?" and "What's the reason for it?" and perhaps that evening, in the garden, he will lean over the fence and speak to Jones about it.

"Look here, old man—this wireless—'straordinary thing—why?"

Jones, vaguely flicking green flies off his roses—how often does he reply: "Oh! this 'ere progress, it goes on!" or words to that effect?

And the owner of the new set? Perhaps he is not satisfied with the vague and lazy philosophy of Jones; he may feel a craving for a more comprehensive answer. Perhaps he buys a wireless paper, or a wireless book, or perhaps he listens one evening to a scientific talk, and then he begins to appreciate the reason why.

Inspired to Question.

Over a quarter of a million people who have installed wireless sets have felt that craving to know "why." Over a quarter of a million wireless amateurs buy technical or semi-technical wireless periodicals. They want to know why; and it is no small part of the achievement of the B.B.C. that it has been the means of inspiring more than a quarter of a million people to go more or less deeply into a difficult scientific subject, seeking the "reason why."

Wireless is full of marks of interrogation. The new amateur learns that wireless waves are, unlike sound waves, electro-magnetic, and travel at 186,000 miles a second, and there are hundreds and hundreds of such questions for which he develops a craving for answers. He finds many—but not all. And very early in his studies he discovers that many of the original radio pioneers, men who have spent their lives asking "why," and sometimes succeeding in finding an answer, are still alive to-day. Lodge, Fleming, the Englishmen; Marconi, the Italian; Edison, Lee de Forest, the Americans.

All these men have asked "why"; it has been their great ideal, and, like a noble work of nature, it has repaid their years of labour, research, and tireless industry, and they have realized—or partly realized—what Carlyle meant when he wrote, "To know the divine laws and inner harmonies of this Universe must always be the higher glory for a man; and not to know them, always the highest disgrace for a man, however common it may be."

To such men we owe part of that immeasurable debt. They sought the reason, and because no man is infallible, and although they never achieved a full answer, they travelled along the path towards the Final Answer—a little way, perhaps—but in travelling they have confirmed Mr. Kipps's truism, "This 'ere progress—it goes on."

give a programme of old favourites just old enough to be nearly new again.

The Royal Welsh Gleemen.

The Welsh programme to be broadcast from Cardiff, and relayed to Daventry, on Tuesday, September 7th, will include a performance by the Royal Welsh Gleemen, who are to visit Cardiff Station immediately after their return from a tour of the United States. The Royal Welsh Gleemen are, of course, already well known, but their reputation has been greatly enhanced by the extraordinary success of their American tour, which has lasted since October of last year. This Welsh programme includes also a play by Mr. J. O. Francis, one of the best known of Welsh playwrights. Mr. Francis is no stranger to the microphone, for he broadcast from Cardiff on St. David's Day in 1924, when one of his plays, The Poacher, was produced at the Cardiff Studio.

Flute and Pianoforte Recital.

Lovers of chamber music will be interested to hear that a short flute and pianoforte recital is included in the Bournemouth programme for Tuesday, September 7th, at 9 p.m., when Mr. William Alwyn and Miss Olive Pull will play the Bach Sonata in B Minor. Mr. Alwyn, the flautist, is also a composer and has written a charming Peter Pan Suite.

Song Recital at Bournemouth.

An interesting song recital is to be given by Miss Esther Coleman (contralto) from the Bournemouth Station at 9 p.m. on Friday, September 10th. Miss Coleman has divided her programme into three sections: Old English songs, a group of Schumann songs, including the Frühlingsnacht, and finally "Songs of To-day" by Elgar, Coleridge-Taylor, Roger Quilter and other modern British composers. Later in the evening, Mr. Robert Pitt and Mr. Langton Marks, the well-known wireless entertainers, will be heard in "Duets Topical and Tropical."

Belfast's "Irish Night."

An interesting programme has been arranged by Belfast Station for Thursday, September 9th—an "Irish Night" which will be relayed to Daventry. Miss Florence Marks will be heard in ballads, stories and poetry, and there will be songs by Mr. Fred Hughes. The orchestral programme, conducted by Mr. E. Godfrey Brown, is representative mainly of Stanford, who, besides being a great song-writer, has exercised a remarkable influence on present-day British music. His Fourth Rhapsody, which is included in this programme, is founded on Irish folk tunes. It is described in the title as "The Fisherman of Lough Neagh and what he saw," and is a dramatic, highly-coloured interpretation of Moore's poem, "Let Erin remember the days of old."

Mr. Foden Williams at Plymouth.

The well-known character entertainer, Mr. Foden Williams, will pay his first visit to the West Country in a programme from the Plymouth Station on Wednesday, September 8th.

Humours of Tiger Shooting.

Few people, perhaps, realize that big tiger shoots in India have a humorous side. Those who do not should listen to a talk by Captain McDermott from the Plymouth Studio at 7.40 p.m. on Tuesday, September 7th.

Variety From Hull.

The local programme from Hull on Wednesday, September 8th, will take the form of a variety entertainment, the items being given by Mr. Bert Copley, entertainer, Mr. Pat Richards, syncopated numbers at the piano, and Miss Constance Hall and Mr. Fred Todd, vocal items.

PEOPLE YOU WILL HEAR THIS WEEK.

[Faughan & Freeman.
Mr. LAWRENCE ANDERSON, who will broadcast in a programme entitled, "Some Original Fare," from Manchester, on Monday, August 30th.

[Maurice Beek and Macgregor.
Miss NELLIE WALKER (Contralto) will be heard by Birmingham listeners on Thursday, September 2nd, and by Newcastle listeners on Saturday, September 4th.

[Norman Moss.
Mr. RAE ROBERTSON will contribute the 7.25 p.m. week's classical feature by playing selections from the Fitzwilliam Virginal Book.

[Girvine.
Mr. ALEXANDER McCREDIE (Tenor), will sing at London, on Monday, August 30th (S.B. from other stations), and at Aberdeen on Tuesday, August 31st.

The Rev. Dr. G. CAMPBELL MORGAN, whose address at Westminster Congregational Church on Sunday, August 29th, will be S.B. from London and other stations.

Mr. THORPE BATES, the Actor-Vocalist, will be heard in the "Blackpool Night" Programme on Thursday, September 2nd (S.B. from Manchester and Daventry).

[Nicholl.
Miss ELSIE BLACK (Contralto) will broadcast from Aberdeen on Tuesday, August 31st.

Mr. LESLIE BENNETT (Bari-tone), who will sing at Birmingham, on Monday, August 30th.

Mr. JAN HURST (Musical Direc-tor, Blackpool Corporation) will contribute to the "Blackpool Night" Programme on Thursday, September 2nd.

[Maurice Beek and Macgregor.
Miss DAISY KENNEDY, the famous Violinist, will play in a popular classical and operatic programme at Bournemouth on Thursday, September 2nd.

News from the Aunts and Uncles.

The Children's Corner.

London and Daventry News.

ON Monday, August 30th, we are starting the first of the stories of King Arthur. The tale will be called "The Coming of Arthur"; it is being specially adapted to our needs by Mr. C. E. Hodges.

On Tuesday, Uncle Peter, having returned from holiday, will tell another story of "Hepzibah Hen." These tales are written by Miss Olwen Bowen, and are very popular. This particular one is entitled "Fashions in the Farmyard." On the same day Uncle Bret (Mr. E. Le Breton Martin) will be telling another story about "Sandy Strong-in-the-Arm."

On Wednesday there will be another Nature Talk by Mr. William Jewell.

On Thursday, we have a story entitled "Pickled Mackerel," by Christine Chaundler. This is another adventure of the gnome, Winkie Wee, who is a very popular Children's Corner character.

That very popular singer, Mr. Dale Smith, will be singing again on Friday, and "The Wicked Uncle is Going to Make a Day of It." What he intends to do has not yet been disclosed, but he is sure to get into trouble, as he always does.

On Saturday, the programme will be given from Olympia, where the great Wireless Exhibition is to be held. The programme will consist of selections by the Kettering Mixed Choir, which won the Grand Challenge Shield at the Nottingham Festival. The story on that day will be one of the "Winnie-the-Pooh" tales by A. A. Milne, and it is called "Eeyore Has a Birthday."

Another Channel Failure.

The "White Knight" is still paying visits to the Liverpool Station, and the last time he came he announced his intention of making a second attempt to swim the Channel, and sang a song for the Uncles, Aunts and Kiddies about his first attempt. Here is the song, which he informed us went to the tune of "The Vicar of Bray."

In seventeen hundred and sixty-three
I heard a false alarm, sir,
So I finished up my cup of tea
(By that I meant no harm, sir).
I dived straight into the sea, you know (My costume was red flannel),
And through the rain and fog and snow
I swam the English Channel.

And this is law that I'll maintain Until my dying day, sir,
That I should have reached the Coast of Spain,
But I didn't know the way, sir.

They gave me food at half-past nine,
At one and two, and four, sir.
(The food, by the way, was raspberry wine,
I drank it from a sau-cer).
At half-past eight, I had a sleep
Right in the briny ocean
So where I was when I woke up
I really haven't a notion.

M. A. L.

A Back Garden Bazaar.

Here is a little story that should interest Kiddies. Auntie Mariel of Liverpool is collecting silver paper, which she hopes to sell and devote the proceeds to the hospitals. Three enterprising little Liverpool girls arrived at the B.B.C. offices the other day with a huge box of silver-paper and five shillings. It seems they had held a bazaar in their back garden, the entrance to this delightful show—consisting of bagatelle, hoop-la, work-stalls, mock art-galleries, fortune-telling, etc.—being either four pieces of silver paper or one halfpenny. They held two performances, and the result was extremely gratifying. Now, there's a chance for other kiddies!

The Newcastle Fairy League.

During the summer, an appeal was made to the members of the Newcastle Fairy League for flowers for the Children's Hospitals of the district. There has been a really splendid response. In answer to a second appeal made only a few weeks ago, toys and books have also been received; these include two beautiful baby dolls, who were welcomed with much joy.

Auntie Una has been telling us how to make stuffed animals, games of draughts, nigger dolls out of black stockings, and many ingenious toys, and we expect we shall have lots of these to distribute in the autumn and winter, when they have been made by the clever fingers of our Fairy League members.

A Feast of Good Things.

Girls and boys who are interested in sport are to be catered for at Glasgow's Children's Hour during the autumn. Miss Jean Rankine, Hockey Internationalist, will give a series of talks for girls, and a very well-known sportsman, James Crawford, is to let budding footballers have some useful hints.

In preparation for these talks, Auntie and the Uncles are spending all their spare time wandering

HALF A TON OF MUSIC!

The B.B.C. Festival Competition.

A NUMBER of competitors have already asked when the announcement of the awards in the several classes will be made. It is not yet possible to give a definite date. The works sent in were both numerous and, in many cases, bulky—in fact, the MSS. reached a total weight of, approximately, half a ton. It will thus be appreciated that in sheer volume alone the task of the judges is a big one. In addition, the high standard which many of the competitors attained makes adjudication a really difficult task, one which calls not only for experience, but for patience and a generous expenditure of time. There are comparatively few works among the music sent in that can be easily dismissed as not being up to the required standard.

As soon as a date can be arranged on which it will be possible to make known the awards in all the classes simultaneously, the date will be announced in The Radio Times.

through the town, looking anxiously for the very finest hockey sticks and footballs that can be purchased.

In fact, the shape of Uncle Alex's nose has been altered entirely, since he has been spending about an hour daily with his face squashed against a shop window in which reposes a great big brown football. The reason of Uncle Alex's interest in this particular football is the fact that a ticket is affixed thereon explaining that each day, until it is sold, the price of the ball is to be reduced by one shilling, and optimistic Uncle Alex fondly imagines that finally the ball will be given to him as a present.

Dundee's Scots Corner.

The Scots corner at Dundee with Uncle Arthur's competition, which was a recent feature, has taken the boys and girls by storm. Everything flavoured of Scottish air very strongly and even the "good-nights" were given in a brave Scots tongue, which stirred the feelings of "grown ups" and children alike.

The weekly request day is also meeting with more than the usual amount of favour, and requests are pouring in from all quarters.

Programme Pieces.

A Weekly Feature Conducted by Percy A. Scholes.

BEETHOVEN'S FIRST STRING QUARTET.
(LONDON, TUESDAY.)

IN his early years Beethoven almost idolized Mozart (who, with Haydn, had settled the general formal build of large-scale works). It is not surprising, then, that Beethoven reminds us of Mozart every now and then, in his first works; but there is always a powerful, original individuality at work, moulding the old forms afresh, or filling them with new ideas and unexpected treatments.

The Quartet in F (actually the second he composed, though issued as "Op. 18, No. 1") is in four Movements.

I.—The little opening theme of six notes, on which is built the First Main Tune, is characteristic of Beethoven—crisp, and easy to remember, because it has a clear-cut, individual shape.

The coming of the Second Main Tune is announced with a flourish of scales, in the old-fashioned way of Beethoven's predecessors. This tune, in several little sections, trips downstairs very delicately at the start.

In the middle of the Movement the composer occupies himself with the opening six-note theme, and then, in its last section, he brings back the two chief tunes, the first of them persisting right to the end of the Movement.

II.—Beethoven once remarked that the end of Romeo and Juliet inspired this Slow Movement. It is a deeply felt, long-drawn piece, of lofty elegiac feeling. Its minor opening melody is as beautiful as any Beethoven ever wrote. In contrast, the second chief theme, in a major key, is restful and reassuring. Spaciously the composer treats these ideas, weaving them into a rich and satisfying whole.

III.—The Scherzo is just a gay interlude containing some charming bits of repartee for the four performers. It is made in the usual form of such Movements—the first part (in three little sections); a middle part ("Trio") formed on two short phrases, one of which leaps and the other runs; then a repetition of the first part.

IV.—A sportive First Main Tune leads off. This is heard three times during the Movement, with varied episodes between its appearances. The whole of this Rondo (as it is called) springs along in the most spontaneous fashion, giving us a vivid impression of the composer's ardour and vital freshness of fancy in early manhood, that never flagged during his whole life.

NICOLAI'S OVERTURE TO "THE MERRY WIVES OF WINDSOR."
(NEWCASTLE, TUESDAY.)

It is a little curious that almost all composers of opera have ignored the gayest of Shakespeare's comedies, The Merry Wives of Windsor. Two, however, the Italian Verdi and the German Nicolai, both nineteenth-century composers, have treated the subject with conspicuous success.

Nicolai's Comic Opera was produced in 1849, only a couple of months before his death at the age of thirty-nine.

He had lived in Italy, and we can hear in this work how well he assimilated and infused into his music the southern vivacity and lightness.

The Overture, which brings in a good many of the Opera's chief tunes, begins with a slowish Introduction, wherein the Bass Strings give out a melody that is soon taken up by the Violins.

Then we dash into the quicker part of the Overture, where the Strings have the First Main Tune, as nimble as Falstaff's wits.

After a burst of Full Orchestra, the Second Main Tune appears. It is in three parts—first, a melody for Violins in octaves, then a daintily dancing theme, also for Violins, and lastly, a passage for Full Orchestra.

Programme Pieces.

All this material is deftly worked up into a brilliant Overture that delightfully reproduces the gay, mischievous spirit of the play.

BACH'S "GIANT" FUGUE.

(BELFAST, WEDNESDAY.)

Bach seems to have had a great enthusiasm for the Chorales, the dignified, noble hymns of his Lutheran Church. He treated them in almost every conceivable way for voices, and with nearly as much variety for Organ.

There is a fine Chorale, "Wir glauben all an einen Gott, Schöpfer" ("We all believe in one God, the Creator"). On the first line of this, Bach based a splendid bold Fugue for Organ, which has been arranged for Orchestra by Dr. Vaughan Williams. It is in this form that the work is being given at Belfast.

Now, while we hear one "voice" (or part) after another giving out repeatedly the opening phrase of the Chorale, varying it with passages of flowing tune, the Bass never declaims it. Instead, every now and then, there is repeated, on the pedals of the Organ, a heavy striding phrase that never varies except in pitch. It is this that caused the Fugue to be called "the Giant," though that name was not given to it by Bach. But, considering that first line on which the Fugue is based—"We all believe in one God"—it seems better to take this bass phrase as symbolical of the firmness and unchangeability of religious faith.

At the end of the Fugue, Bach quotes (in the Tenor) the last line of the Chorale-tune, which goes to the words: "All things are governed by His power"—a means of clinching the idea underlying the work.

TCHAIKOVSKY'S "ITALIAN CAPRICE."

(LEEDS-BRADFORD, WEDNESDAY.)

In 1880, Tchaikovsky paid a visit (his second) to Italy. He was pleased with the folk-songs, old and new, that he heard, and built this "Fantasia" (as he called it) upon them.

It was well received when first produced, though some critics declared it to be vulgar.

The piece opens with a Trumpet call—a reminiscence of the military music he heard when he stayed near a barracks in Rome.

The Strings introduce the first of the folk-songs used in the work. After it has been worked up a little, the Trumpet call, repeated, brings in a pastoral tune, on the Oboes, that is piquantly picked out by several orchestral groups.

A new section, Moderately quick, begins with a Violin theme, Horns having a contrasting melody at the same time.

This is worked for a while, and the opening folk-song re-enters.

The last section of the work consists of a Tarantella, the extremely lively Italian dance that in superstitious days was esteemed a cure for the bite of the tarantula spider. The pastoral tune looks in for a moment on the Full Orchestra, and then the Tarantella is resumed, and the piece sweeps on to its riotous conclusion.

[NOTE.—Other items in the programmes have recently been annotated in The Radio Times as follows: Elgar's Dream Children (Belfast, Tuesday), July 16th; Mozart's Figaro Overture (Bournemouth, Monday), July 30th; Weber's Abu Hassan Overture (Aberdeen, Friday), June 25th; and Rossini's William Tell Overture (Glasgow, Thursday), August 20th.]

Listeners' Letters.

Sermons in the Village Inn.

[Listeners are reminded that we do not consider anonymous letters for publication. Preference is given to letters which combine interest with brevity. The Editorial address is Savoy Hill, Strand, London, W.C.2.]

YOU may like to know that our small village inn has a three-valve set, and on Sunday nearly all the labourers go down to the service and are very delighted with it. On Monday I hear the most quaint opinions on the sermon, always in praise, and as the average Cambridgeshire agricultural labourer never attends church after arriving at working age, I feel sure that this is a very good work you are doing.—Mrs. E. H. LIVING, Brookfield House, Longstanton, Cambridgeshire.

"Thou Thy Snowflake." What about "What ho! Jolly Jenkin"? As a matter of fact, the opera was a great success. If my memory serves me, what happened was this: the English Opera House ran "Ivanhoe" daily for something like two months, and what grand opera will stand that? I saw it twice, and on both occasions the house was crammed and wildly enthusiastic. To me, the wonder is that this glorious opera has never been revived. It has suffered the fate of several beautiful operas produced by the Carl Rosa Company and enthusiastically received, whose only fault was that they were by Englishmen. We are very unpatriotic. I should like to hear Mr. Scholes on this.—EDWARD M. HADOW, Uffington Vicarage, Berks.

The Radio Rest Cure.

I HOPE that your contributor, Mr. Robert Magill, will discover—as I have done—that one of the most delightful things about broadcasting and a good loud speaker is that one can do two things at once—carry on real work with a background of melodious sound. In fact, one can nowadays take a "rest cure" in the midst of absorbing occupations!—Miss E. E. BRAZIER, Nacton Road, Ipswich.

Wireless in the Bradford Royal Infirmary.

YOUR readers may be interested to know that after a thorough test and some months' experience, the wireless installation at the Bradford Royal Infirmary has proved eminently satisfactory. The official doctors, nurses and patients all give it unqualified praise. There is a pair of 'phones for every bed—about 215—and as the occupants get accustomed to them, they give the nurses very little call for attention. Other local hospitals have installations, but this is believed to be the largest and the most complete in the county.—J. PATTERSON, Cunliffe Villas, Manningham, Bradford.

Two Views on Programmes.

I HOPE that no reduction will be made in the amount of dance music that we get, as I think that lively programmes are what is wanted. The alternative for those who don't like it is to get a more powerful set and so have their choice of what you offer. Whatever you do, don't take away the workmen's "tea-time music," i.e., the 6 o'clock dance music.—F. WALLIS, 14, Bamford Avenue, Derby.

In the programme item, "The Wheel of Time," broadcast from London and other Stations on September 3rd, at 11.15, Miss Elsa Lanchester and Mr. Harold Scott (above), who are famous for the revivals of the good old songs of the Victorian music-hall, will represent the voice of Yesterday (by kind permission of Mr. Nigel Playfair); and Miss Helen and Mr. Frank Wilson Barrett (below) will represent the voice of To-day (by kind permission of Mr. Archibald de Bear).

London Calls to Normandy.

ON August Bank Holiday I walked from Veules-les-Roses (in Normandy) to the old-world village of Blossville. I heard in the distance what at first I thought to be a gramophone, but on getting nearer to a café called "Au Petit Repos" I was delighted to hear a voice I knew so well—that of the London Announcer. He was introducing a lady who sang a series of songs under the title, "Songs My Mother Used to Sing." A wireless enthusiast myself, I naturally listened to them, and was amazed at the faithful reproduction on the loud speaker.—A. J. BENNETT, Walton Road, Chesterfield.

Sr Arthur Sullivan's "Ivanhoe."

I WAS much surprised to hear your Liverpool Announcer state that Sullivan's "Ivanhoe" was a failure and that only one song survived—"Woo

I quite agree with the views of your correspondent P. A. Sanders. Whenever there is a good programme on at "2LO," it seems to be arranged for the night when Daventry broadcasts its own programme, and usually on these occasions it is a Welsh programme, though not always broadcast from Wales.—MARGARET I. PATTERSON, Tower House Infirmary, Ely.

"The Mosquito Peril"—a Correction.

MAY I correct a slight error that crept into my Talk on "The Mosquito Peril in England" as it was published in The Radio Times of August 13th? I said there that the Gold Medal for Mosquito Research was awarded last year by the College of Pestology to Sir Ronald Ross. In reality, Sir Ronald Ross presented the Medal awarded by the College to Mr. P. G. Shute.—A. MOORE HOGARTS.

BIRMINGHAM NEWS.

Special Features of the Week's Music.

A SYMPHONY Concert begins the week's programme on Sunday, when the first item will be the overture Carnaval Romain, by Berlioz. This composer, by birth a Frenchman and son of a country doctor, paid four visits to England between 1848 and 1855. Another item is a song by Mr. Joseph Farrington (bass), who will be heard in the scene "The Term is Past," from Wagner's romantic opera, The Flying Dutchman. This opera as originally designed was a dramatic ballad in one act, and on its subsequent division into three acts, it came into greater prominence. Included in the same programme is Rhapsody No. 1 for Clarinet and Orchestra, by Debussy, in which the soloist is Mr. S. C. Cotterell.

On Monday, the Station Orchestra, in a light orchestral programme, will include the well-known Peer Gynt Suite, by Grieg. So cleverly has Grieg illustrated Peer Gynt's life, that the musical version of the story is becoming more widely known than its dramatic form by Ibsen. The second movement describes the death of Peer Gynt's mother Ase, and the third describes the dancing of Anitra, an Eastern dancing girl, whom he met on his travels. The favourite Minuet, by Boccherini, will also be heard.

Selections from Well-known Operas.

Some scenes from popular operas, played by members of the Three Counties School of Opera, under the direction of Mr. Sydney Russell, will be broadcast on Tuesday. The first selection is from Act IV. of Il Trovatore, Scenes 1 and 2 being chosen. Then will follow Act V. of Gounod's Faust—the last Act of the opera, including the famous Duet, Trio and Finale, "Ah! I Love thee Only" and "Holy Angels," and Act II. of Figaro. Orchestral accompaniments will be conducted by Mr. Joseph Lewis.

BOURNEMOUTH NEWS.

Favourite Overtures from the Winter Garden.

THE concert to be broadcast from the Winter Gardens on Monday will give listeners an opportunity of hearing several of their favourite overtures. The list includes such well-known works as Zampa, and Poet and Peasant. Nicolai's tuneful overture to The Merry Wives of Windsor; Mozart's opening to The Marriage of Figaro, and Wagner's Flying Dutchman overture. The vocalist at this concert is Mr. Tom Kinniburgh (bass-baritone), who will sing Elgar's Pipes of Pan. Mr. Wallace Cunningham will also entertain.

Another programme which is certain to appeal to a large number of listeners is the concert by the Bournemouth Municipal Military Band from Bournemouth Pier on Tuesday evening. In addition to the overture to William Tell, the programme includes Elgar's Pomp and Circumstance, Thurban's Americana Suite and Ketelbey's In a Persian Market.

An Experienced "Broadcaster."

Miss Daisy Kennedy, who is to take part in the Symphony Concert on Thursday evening, is an artist whose early promise as a violinist won for her the coveted distinction of being admitted as a member of the famous Meister-Schule, the Master-Class for violinists, in Vienna. She has appeared over sixty times before the microphone, and was the first Queen's Hall soloist to broadcast in London.

On Thursday, Miss Kennedy will play the Saint-Saëns Violin Concerto in B Minor with Orchestra and a group of solo pieces from the Unaccompanied Suites by Bach.

Another notable artist in the Thursday evening programme is Signor Silvio Sideli, the Italian basso, whose items will include excerpts from Verdi's Simon Boccanegra and Giordano's

Andrea Chenier. Included also in this programme is the overture to Weber's opera, Der Freischütz.

Weber's Wonderful Gift.

The story of Der Freischütz is based on an old forest legend of an evil spirit who, in exchange for a man's soul, will give him magic bullets which cannot miss their mark, and the story centres round a contest of marksmanship. The overture is a fine example of Weber's compositions in the romantic style; it illustrates well his peculiar gift for suggesting in his music the forces of Nature and of the supernatural, a gift which, perhaps, reaches its most perfect development in the Oberon overture. In the overture to Der Freischütz, there is in contrast to the main joyous tunes an undercurrent of foreboding that is vividly suggestive of the supernatural influences which surround the lives of the people in the story.

Gounod's opera, La Reine de Saba, better known in this country as Irene, is seldom performed now as a whole, but the well-known aria, "She Alone Charmeth my Sadness," and the graceful and picturesque ballet music, are frequently heard at concerts. The ballet music, which is included in the programme on Thursday evening, contains some of Gounod's best music.

History and People of North-east Dorset.

Mr. Risdon Bennett's fifth talk on Dorset—The Tarrants and Cranborne Chase—to be given on Tuesday evening, deals with the north-eastern portion of the county. It is a custom, specially prevalent in Dorset, to call a whole number of villages by one generic name. The seven Tarrant villages are named after the little River Tarrant. Cranborne Chase is now sadly reduced in size, but it is, as Mr. Hardy says, "One of the few remaining woodlands in England of undoubted primeval date."

CARDIFF NEWS.

Military Band Concerts from Bath.
OUTSIDE broadcasts from the Victoria Gardens and the Pump Room, Bath, invariably furnish popular entertainment. This week, the Band of the 1st Batt. the Middlesex Regiment is appearing at Bath and,
on Monday, performances will be relayed for both the afternoon and the evening programmes. Returning to the Studio between 10 and 11 p.m., listeners will hear a number of favourite pieces played during a short request orchestral programme. Request programmes are given at fairly frequent intervals from Cardiff, and listeners are invited to forward suggestions to the station.
The play on Tuesday night, Gwen, by Mr. Tydfil Richards, is one of the results of Cardiff's search for new microphone playwrights, and particularly for Welsh plays suitable for broadcasting.

A Broadcast Version of the Film Play.
This film-play was adapted by June Mathis from Edith O'Shaughnessy's novel, "The Viennese Medley." The plot centres round the city of Vienna and shows the terrible changes wrought in its life by the Great European War. It has been said that the Cinema provides a novel in picture form. It is hoped that this innovation in radio will enable you to follow
a novel in the form of sound.
The descriptions of the storyteller will take the place of the sub-titles, dialogue and sound effects will supply the scenes, and a background of orchestral music, similar to that played for the film, will lend a suitable emotional atmosphere to the unfolding of the story.
The broadcast version of the film-play has been specially written by Alan Griff.
Presented by VICTOR SMYTHE.

MANCHESTER NEWS.

Blackpool Amusements on Thursday Night.

MISS UNA TRUMAN and Miss Irene Brooks, who have been known for some years as exponents of music for two pianos, take part, with the Chester Cathedral Quartet, in the Studio concert on Sunday evening. Included in their items on Sunday is a Choral Prelude composed by Miss Irene Brooks, and a group of compositions by Arensky.

Following the presentation of a broadcast version of the film play, The Greater Glory, on Monday, there will be some original fare provided by four popular cabaret artists, Miss Florence Oldham, Mr. Tommy Handley, Mr. Philip Buchel, and Mr. Lawrence Anderson, who will be making their first appearance in the Manchester Studio.

Tuesday's Symphony Concert.

The distinguished violinist, Dr. Adolph Brodsky, will play Mendelssohn's Concerto for Violin and Orchestra in the Symphony Concert on Tuesday evening. Dr. Brodsky is, of course, the Principal of the Royal Manchester College of Music. He played this famous concerto sixty years ago, at his examination in the Vienna Conservatoire.

On Thursday night the whole of the programme is being supplied by Lancashire's great seaside playground, and listeners will be able to enjoy a host of good things, including the Wylie-Tate Super Pierrots at the Blackpool Central Pier; "On With the Show" at the North Pier; music by Jan Hurst's Orchestra on the Victoria Pier, and Will Hurst's Syncopated Dance Orchestra at the Palace.

NEWCASTLE NEWS.

Special Artists for Sunday Evening.

NEWCASTLE listeners will hear two distinguished artists on Sunday when Miss Astra Desmond (contralto) and Mr. Arthur Catterall (violin) are to perform with the Station Orchestra in the evening. Mr. Catterall, who has proved himself a fine microphone artist, was for many years leader of the Hallé Orchestra.

On this occasion Miss Desmond will sing, among other things, "Armez-vous d'un noble courage," from the opera, Iphigenie en Aulide, by Gluck, which was the first of that composer's works produced in Paris. This was in 1774 when, after weary months of intrigue and disappointment, it was produced at the Academie Royale de Musique. From that time, Gluck wrote all his greatest works for the French stage, and became so completely identified with the country of his adoption, that nowadays we are apt to think of him as a French composer.

Mr. Parry Jones's Career.

Mr. Parry Jones (tenor), who features in the evening programme on Tuesday, is a British National Opera Company artist who has quickly come to the front as a broadcaster. Born in 1891 at Blaina, Monmouthshire, the son of a well-known Welsh amateur tenor, he studied at the Royal College of Music, and with Signor Ernesto Colli at Milan. After touring America, he was with the D'Oyly Carte Opera Company for one tour and with the Carl Rosa for four years before he joined the B.N.O.C.

GLASGOW NEWS.

"Diehards" of the World of Music.
PEOPLE who are accustomed to the formulae of the classical composers and express astonishment at the vagaries of the moderns, sometimes lose sight of the fact that a century ago musical critics threw up their arms in horror at the innovations perpetrated by composers like Mozart and Beethoven. A certain type of critic evidently has the feeling that anything in music which strikes out into new paths must, of necessity, be thoroughly bad.

History Repeats Itself.

At the present time, there are many who consider Schonberg to be fit only for a mad-house, and Strauss occasionally only a little better, quite forgetting that in the year 1899 many musicians of otherwise normal mentality resorted to stupid calumnies against Beethoven when he composed his first symphony—and all because he labelled it in the key of C and started off in the key of F, and, to make matters worse, passed into the key of G in the next bar. The truth is that Beethoven's first symphony was far from being a surprising innovation in its day, and although it bears the composer's originality quite clearly, there is plenty of Haydn and Mozart revealed in it.

The Minuet is, of course, very "Beethovenish," but the Finale relapses into the older form, with that jovial beginning which Professor Tovey says is "like letting a cat out of a bag." Beethoven's First Symphony will be broadcast from the Glasgow Station, under the baton of Mr. Herbert A. Carruthers, on Thursday.

Brahms in Festive Mood.

Brahms received the honorary degree of Doctor of Philosophy at the University of Breslau in 1879, and, in honour of the occasion, composed an overture which he called Academic Festival, which is made up of several well-known German students' songs, the last of these being the popular Gaudeamus. This work will be broadcast from Glasgow also on Thursday, and listeners will be able to judge whether the popular estimation of Brahms as being heavy, dull and ultra-classical is true, although perhaps the work in question is not in all respects a typical example.

An Original Spanish Composer.

An important work by Manuel de Falla, the Spanish composer, namely,
The Three-Cornered Hat, will be broadcast from Glasgow on the same evening.
In recent years this musician has aroused a great deal of interest and discussion, and there is no doubt that he is one of the most progressive writers of the present day. Although learning the rudiments of music in Spain, he came under the influence of Debussy and Ravel in Paris, and certainly owes a great deal to them.
He has composed a number of Ballets,
of which the afore-mentioned composition is one, and his best-known concerto piece is Nights In the Gardens of Spain. De Falla has displayed thoroughly original ideas in regard to the development of music.

An Opera by Purcell.
Synopsis: After a short overture, Belinda, a Lady-in-Waiting to Dido, Queen of Carthage, is heard urging the Queen to throw off her sadness and enjoy the pleasures befitting the Ruler of a great Empire. Dido, however, informs her lady that she is disturbed in mind, and after a hint from Belinda confesses that she is in love with Aeneas, a Trojan Prince.
Aeneas appears and declares his love, and the company move to a pleasant grove, so pleasant, indeed, that "Diana's self might to these moods resort."
Dido, however, has incurred the jealousy of Zauberin, the Sorceress, who arranges with her witch to appear as Mercury, the messenger of the Gods, and orders Aeneas to sail for Troy.

While Dido and Aeneas, with their courtiers, are enjoying the beauties of the grove, a storm rises and the company hastens to the city. Aeneas is stopped by the spirit in the form of Mercury and ordered to set sail. When Aeneas tells the Queen of his impending departure, she threatens to destroy herself. On hearing this Aeneas swears he will not leave her, but she, incensed at his conduct, commands him to leave her. After his departure, the unhappy Queen seeks solace in death.

ABERDEEN NEWS.

Lyric Choir in Purcell's Fine Opera.
THE outstanding programme of the week is that of Monday night, when the Lyric Choir, under the con-ductorship of Mr. Irvine S. Cooper, will give a performance of Purcell's
Dido and Æneas. Purcell, while con-servating the solid traditions of the Elizabethan contrapuntists, proved himself no slave to any particular school, and we find in his works the best characteristics of contemporary art, allied to a striking and independent individuality. Dido and Æneas, which is supposed to have been composed between 1688 and 1691, is a fine example of his creative and dramatic genius.

An Epic from the Ænead.

For the plot he went to Virgil's Ænead, and his treatment of it is marked by dramatic truth and great sincerity of feeling. A simple story is told by effective recitatives. Dido, the Queen of mighty Carthage, has fallen in love with Æneas, a Trojan prince, who, in no hesitating fashion, has declared his love for the Queen.
Their happiness rouses the ire of Zauberin, the sorceress, who separates the lovers by appearing in the form of "Mercury," the messenger of the gods, and bidding Æneas sail for Troy. The Queen is overwhelmed by the apparent faithlessness of her lover, and despite his protestations of fidelity and promise to defy the gods, she seeks "the only refuge for the wretched left."

Later on the same evening, listeners will be entertained by Mr. William Meston, who has for a long time been a popular and respected figure in the musical and entertainment party life of Aberdeen.

BELFAST NEWS.

Music and Drama.

BELFAST programmes this week offer considerable variety. Musical people will enjoy the orchestral programme on Tuesday, and on the same evening the playing of Mr. Arnold Trowell, the distinguished cellist. Those who like humour should listen to the child impersonations of Mr. Albert Daniels on Monday, and on Thursday to the inimitable Mr. Sterndale Bennett.

Dramatic fare is arranged for Wednesday, when the London Radio Repertory Players present Grey Ash, and on Thursday, when the Belfast Radio Players will be heard in The Land of Heart's Desire, by W. B. Yeats. The latter will be given with the beautiful incidental music, written by E. Norman Hay, for its first radio production two years ago.

Returning the Compliment.

Listeners who demand novelty are recommended to Saturday night, when they will hear "Scotland Calling Ulster" from 8 to 8.45 p.m., and from 8.45 to 9.30 "Ulster Calling Scotland." Scotland will call Ulster with an Irish programme made in Glasgow, and Ulster will retort with a Scottish programme made in Belfast.

THE DI-KAST CONDENSER

The famous Cleartron 'Di-Kast' Condenser from which, as both Rotor and Stator are die-cast in one piece, hitherto unobtainable results are obtained. .0002, .0005, .0005 10/6 each.

Both rotor and stator are die-cast in one piece. This means positive connexion, perfectly matched characteristics, and overcomes the contact resistance losses inseparable from all other assembled condensers. Specially designed vanes provide straight line reading, greater range, easy short-wave tuning and very low minimum capacity.

The Micro Station Selector—a newly designed dial precision movement—is so completely free from play or back-lash that more than ten different adjustments are possible between each degree.

SAXON GUIDE TO WIRELESS

THIS BOOK ENABLES ANY BEGINNER TO CONSTRUCT WIRELESS SETS WHICH ARE UNEQUALLED IN PRICE, QUALITY OR EFFICIENCY, AND THE COST IS ONLY ONE-FOURTH THE PRICE CHARGED FOR A READY-MADE INSTRUMENT NOT HALF SO GOOD. THE EXACT COST OF EACH SET IS CLEARLY STATED.

FULL INSTRUCTIONS WITH CLEAR WIRING DIAGRAMS are given for making SUPER EFFICIENT CRYSTAL SETS, DUAL AMPLIFICATION RECEIVERS, SINGLE VALVE SETS, ONE AND TWO VALVE AMPLIFIERS; TWO, THREE AND FOUR-VALVE TUNED ANODE ALL-WAVE RECEIVERS, AND THE VERY LATEST TYPE OF FIVE-VALVE RESISTANCE CAPACITY RECEIVER. NO SOLDERING, NO SPECIAL TOOLS, NO KNOWLEDGE REQUIRED. 176 PAGES

The chapter on testing wireless components is alone worth the price charged. Price 1/3 post free.

SPECIAL OFFER.

This book will be sent on approval on receipt of your promise to return same post paid or to remit 1/3 within seven days.

SAXON RADIO CO. (DEPT. 20), SOUTH SHORE, BLACKPOOL.

One of the most interesting features of the great Radio Exhibition, which opens at Olympia on September the 4th, will be, without doubt, the reproduction of the 2LO Studio. During the run of the Exhibition broadcasting will be done by the B.B.C. from this studio, so that you may actually see your favourite artists before the microphone.

For the first time in the history of British Radio it has been possible to arrange an exhibition that will be complete. No British manufacturer of standing but will be represented, so that within the New Hall, Olympia, will be found everything that is worth while in Radio.

All lovers of wireless should set aside at least one day for a visit. Each exhibit will have something of interest for them—something new, distinctive or novel. The great strike demonstrated the fact quite plainly that wireless—simplified as it is—is still the eighth wonder of the world. You cannot afford to be absent from its first really complete manifestation.

Judge a valve by its filament

If you have ever been disappointed by a valve that has expired with premature old age or been cheated by the weakening results due to lost emission from a valve or cursed by a valve's insatiable appetite for current that made your accumulator recharging an incessant annoyance,

You will agree that when it comes to purchasing radio valves all the anodes, grids and features in the world cannot alter the trenchant fact that

It is the filament that counts Whether you have learnt by sad experience or not you will eventually make a point of finding out all about the filament of a valve before you buy it.

STANDS
136 & 138,
OLYMPIA,
Sept. 4th—18th.

Look at the P.M. Filament
Its core of a special rare metal is so thick and tough that it can be tied in knots after 1,000 hours' life and its length is up to 3 times greater than any other filament on the market. This greatly increased length is set around 5 strong resilient hooks by an ingenious device that completely eliminates all tension and possibility of displacement, thereby ensuring consistent characteristics throughout its life. Its emission as a result of these larger dimensions and the multi-layers of high emitting alloy of precious metals, is up to 5½ times greater than that of any ordinary filament, and this emission continues for a proportionally increased life. The operating temperature is so low that no sign of glow can be discerned and the current consumption being only one-tenth ampere, your accumulator charges will last seven times as long. In other words, you will reduce your accumulator recharging journeys and costs to one-seventh. The P.M. filament is completely within the field of the grid and anode, and is so tough and well designed that it cannot be broken except by the very roughest handling.

You can be sure that the manufacturers of a masterpiece like the P.M. filament will supply it with fitting grid and anode of equally masterly design. The sectional illustration will tell you all their best features.

You will only find the P.M. Filament in P.M. Valves.

THEY all come through perfectly via a B.T.H. Transformer. String, wind or percussion, loud or soft, high or low, the B.T.H. Transformer gives to every note of every instrument the same degree of amplification.

B.T.H. Transformers will give you the authentic music of the concert room or studio, just as it is played or sung, and with none of the distortion commonly associated with broadcast reception.

Don't allow yourself to become accustomed to imperfect reception. Buy one or more B.T.H. Transformers to day and get the best out of broadcasting.

B.T.H. Transformers are made in two ratios 2:1 and 4:1. Everything about them is perfectly designed and constructed for the purpose of ensuring uniform amplification over practically the whole range of audible frequencies. The windings are perfectly insulated. It is impossible to buy a better transformer.

A READER of Popular Wireless living at Melbourne, Australia, has a one-valve set that reaches out and picks up Rugby every morning He writes:—

(From Popular Wireless, August 7th, 1926.)

"I use home-made coils, and I can tune in Rugby any morning at all at 6 a.m. It certainly is great to have the Test scores laid on, and all the official British news, without having to wait for the papers hours afterwards,

"My valve is an Edison Swan A.R.06, and the two 1½v. dry cells that have already had six months still survive. The aerial is a standard 100-ft. single wire, of 7-22 enamelled wire."

Figures to Remember

The Night Watchman.

"Past eleven o'clock, and a star-light night. All's well." The cry of the night watchman giving that assurance of safety and well being. The old order changeth. Yesterday it was the individual, to-day it is the creative genius of man which bears the burden, but success is measured by the same standard, reliability.

Take the case of Broadcasting. The real pleasure of Radio depends on the degree of reliance you can place in your wireless, or more particularly in your valves. Now Six-Sixty Valves ensure the maximum degree of reliance. They never let you down. They assure a wonderful purity of reception, and in addition to being remarkably economical, there are no valves on the market to-day that can boast of a longer life, because there are no valves that operate at a lower temperature.

Six-Sixty Valves are recommended by all the leading Wireless Journals of to-day. FOR PERFECTION OF QUALITY insist on SIX-SIXTY VALVES.

The Outstanding Feature of the National Radio Exhibition.

LEADERSHIP — no matter in what field—means a continuous striving after something better. Thus; after months of experiment and research the new Brown Disc Loud Speaker has been evolved. Although embodying the essential principles which have been responsible for Brown success, it is of entirely unconventional design. It is this which is responsible for the even reproduction of the whole harmonic scale—a feature in which the Disc is unrivalled. The advance in Loud Speaker reproduction shown in the new Brown model can, however, only be appreciated by hearing it for yourself. Your Dealer will very soon have stocks of the Disc. In the meantime, make sure to see it on the Brown Stand at the National Radio Exhibition, September 4th to 18th.

2-VOLT USERS

2-Volt Valves with a 6-Volt Result

SEVERE practical tests have proved that it is possible to get the same volume and tone from the new 2-volt D.E.2 OSRAM VALVES as from many valves requiring 4 or 6 volt accumulators. The use of D.E.2 OSRAM VALVES means that accumulator expenses are halved or reduced by one-third for the same if not better results. Use an OSRAM D.E.6 in the last stage.

Come and See the best Coil Holders!

At Stand No. 84 at the National Radio Exhibition you are invited to inspect for yourself the Coil Holders that are used in fully half the sets that are made—the "Lotus" Coil Holders. Their popularity with constructors everywhere is due to their unvarying good performance and the following unique features:—

Moving Block cannot fall

Moves in same direction as knob, thus preventing confusion. Holds heaviest coil securely in any position.

Dead accurate tuning possible because encased precision cut gears reduce speed by 8 to 1.

Louden Valves

"I have given it a thorough test . . . it is away ahead in sensitiveness and clearness of tone."

Louden Valves have always been famous for their Silver Clear reception, and Mr. Paterson's valve evidently proves the rule without being an exception. People do not write letters like the following unless they have something to write about. This is what Mr. Paterson says:—

Messrs. Fellows Magsulo Co., Ltd.

50, Stock Street,
Paisley, N.B.

"Dear Sirs,

"Just a note to thank you for the 4-volt low frequency and detector Dull
"Emitter Valve which I received safely. I have given it a thorough test "and proved it out to be the best Wireless investment I have made yet.
"It is a little gem of a valve, and comparing it with one of the Bright
"Valves by the best known British Makers, which I was using, it is way
"ahead in sensitiveness and clearness of tone, and I can sit at ease now
"and listen in, knowing that my battery will run me for a couple of months.
"I never could get more than 20 hours with a charge before out of the 0.7
"valve. When I add more valves to my set, which I will do shortly, they "will be Louden Valves.

"I am, yours sincerely,

"WILLIAM PATERSON."

Louden Valves are made by British labour in a British factory with British capital and can be depended upon for the finest volume, range and silver clearness. They can only be offered at such low prices because of our well-known policy of selling direct to the public and cutting out the middleman's profit.

MARCONI

VALVES

The name MARCONI on a valve is a guarantee of sound design, faithful performance and extreme durability. Marconi valves are used by the best known experimenters and by the principal Broadcasting stations throughout the world.

There are various types of Marconi Valves, each designed for a special purpose, and when used in correct combination, radio reception has a perfection unattainable any other way.

Marconiphone 'Ideal' Transformers.

Purer reproduction with greater volume through the whole range of audio frequencies. Larger and heavier than any other transformer on account of the great amount of highest-grade material used in its construction. Rigorously tested at every stage of manufacture.

The best (not the cheapest) intervalve transformers that human skill and ingenuity have yet devised. Full details in Publication No. 364F, sent on application.

Ratios: 2.7-1, 4-1, 6-1, and 8-1.
