When Radio Comes to the Village.

By FRED M. WHITE.

THE future of this land of ours is bound up with the future of the countryside, and the steady migration of the countryman to the towns is a question that calls imperatively for solution. That the problem will ever be solved by another variant of the "three acres and a cow" slogan is more than doubtful, especially in view of the absence of cottages and roads and modern sanitation, all of which represent many years of labour and expenditure of money which is not available in the present state of the national exchequer.

The hard economic fact is that the land must work out its own salvation, and no Act of Parliament will ever restore its fallen fortunes so long as the present drain of the human implement continues. The cure for the present ills, whatever it may be, will come too late if the drain of man-power from the fields is not stemmed.

The cause of this steady drift towards the towns can be summed up in one word—monotony. This exodus from the villages has been going on now for over forty years. It seemed first to dawn upon the politician somewhere about the year 1885, and with all the zeal of one utterly ignorant of his subject, he rushed in to stop it. He might just as well have tried to turn back Niagara with a broom.

For in those comparatively opulent days the agricultural hind, with a wage averaging some fourteen shillings per week, knew that better for the change. Living in the growing industrial towns was cheap, a cottage was to be had at a weekly rent of about five shillings, and amusements were plenty. He was no longer a mere clod slaving on the land from morn to dewy eve, ready for bed after his frugal supper, worn out in body and mind. He rarely, if ever, saw a newspaper, and his one sight of life in the year was the local fair.

He was not so much discontented as atrophied. He had heard of the theatres and music-halls, and, in these latter years, "the pictures" in the towns, and sometimes he had tasted of these delights when on rare occasions a cheap excursion landed him in some big city where an old mate or, mayhap, a relation had gone to live. And when the time came and a "job o' work" presented itself, he took his courage in both hands and followed.

Then, when the bad times came, as come they must, and most of the big works closed down or the employees were on short time, Hodge and his family starved. He helped to burden the rates, he filled the workhouses, he created slums where no slums existed before. But the tragic trade was good in the towns and that the casual labourer was scarce and necessary. So the great trek began, and as long as trade and industry flourished, our countryman was

To Our Readers.

An Important Announcement.

WITH the present issue, The Radio Times completes its twelfth volume and its third year of publication. In this short period the paper has achieved one of the most remarkable successes of modern journalism. Its circulation has grown by leaps and bounds until it has touched a peak near the million mark, a fact which places The Radio Times of to-day at the head of all publications connected with wireless throughout the world. This notable success has, we feel, not only fully justified the British Broadcasting Company in undertaking the publication of a weekly journal of this kind, but it has revealed the need that exists among listeners everywhere for a programme service such as we have endeavoured to supply.

With the increase in the number of broadcasting stations from six, when The Radio Times began, to twenty-one to-day, and the remarkable development in scope and interest of the B.B.C. programmes, the task of adequately presenting all the great wealth of programme material within the narrow limits of the space available has become increasingly difficult. Every week we have been faced with the problem of getting a quart into a pint pot. It has been decided, therefore, to make certain changes in the form and contents of the paper, which it is hoped will enable us to gain sufficient space in which to develop and improve our programme service.

In next week's issue, therefore, The Radio Times will be published in two editions, one designed particularly for readers throughout England and Wales, south of the Newcastle area, and the other for listeners in Scotland, Northern Ireland, and in the area around Newcastle. Complete programmes of all B.B.C. stations will be contained in both editions. But in the Northern Edition the programmes of the South, except those of London, Daventry and Newcastle, will be given in smaller type; whereas, in the Southern Edition, the programmes of Newcastle, Belfast and the Scottish stations will appear in the small type. Thus, considerably more space will be provided in which to emphasize the points of interest in the programmes of those stations that are within reach of the majority of listeners.

A further change in the make-up of our journal will be the arrangement of programmes by days and not, as is now the case, by stations. Here, again, space has been the determining consideration, although, judging from the correspondence that has reached us on the subject, there would appear to be a considerable proportion of listeners in favour of the day by day scheme of programme presentation.

The effect of these changes will be to gain enough space in which to carry out an important new development in our programme service. Beginning next week, we shall publish with the programmes in both editions interesting and informing notes concerning as many as possible of the principal items occurring in each day's programmes—musical, literary and dramatic. Furthermore, the programme pages will be illustrated with portraits of the artists and speakers, as well as with other appropriate pictures.

The fact that The Radio Times is the only paper publishing complete and authoritative advance information concerning the programmes of the B.B.C., has already made it almost an essential accessory to every wireless receiving set. The new features to be introduced next week will, we hope, still further increase the value of the paper to its readers everywhere.

There will, of course, be no change in the price of The Radio Times; it will remain at twopence, and publishing day will continue to be Friday. As there is sure to be a heavy demand for next week's issue, we strongly advise our readers to make sure of securing their copies by giving in advance an order to their newsagents for regular delivery.

Broadcasting "The Mikado."

EVER since, fifty-one years ago, the first joint opera of W. S. Gilbert and Arthur Sullivan was produced on a London stage, "Gilbert and Sullivan" has been a name to conjure with amongst theatre-goers of all ages wherever the English language is spoken. There has sprung up a literature and a legend of the Savoy and "D'Oyly Carte"; each succeeding generation has taken up the cult with all the enthusiasm of its predecessors.

Now, as yet another demonstration of their perpetual youth, the Savoy Operas are to appeal to an even wider public, for portions of the first performance of The Mikado, which opens their new London season at the Prince's Theatre, are to be broadcast on Monday night, September 20th.

The two half-hours of which the broadcast will consist—from 8.15 to 8.45, and from 10.30 to the final curtain—will include "A Wandering Minstrel I," "The Flowers that Bloom in the Spring, Tra La!" "Tit Willow," the Mikado's Song, and that marvellous quartet, "The Criminal Cried as He Dropped Him Down," as well as, it is hoped, "Three Little Maids from School." And they will be sung by a cast that it would be hard to rival amongst all the galaxy of stars that these operas have produced. Mr. Henry A. Lytton, without whom The Mikado would hardly seem itself, will play Koko, the Lord High Executioner, which is perhaps his most popular part. Mr. Leo Sheffield, Miss Bertha Lewis, and Mr. Darrell Fancourt will again play the parts of Pooh-Bah (the Lord High Everything Else), Katisha, and the celebrated Mikado himself, the author of that now famous phrase—"Something lingering, with boiling oil in it"; whilst Miss Elsie Griffin will once more portray that most fascinating of heroines, Yum-Yum.

It is interesting to speculate as to the size of the audience who will be listening to Mr. Henry Lytton when he steps on to the stage of the Prince's Theatre to sing his first song. The Postmaster-General has reported lately that the number of wireless licence holders in the British Isles now exceeds by several thousands a total of two million. Probably most of them will be listening on Monday night.

When Radio Comes to the Village.

lesson was lost on the migrating stream ever swelling behind him. The monotony of life on the land was a driving force that there was no resisting.

And so the invasion goes on.

But will it continue? For in the English countryside to-day a miracle is at work, the marvel of radio. A greater invention, perhaps, than the steam engine or the telegraph or the aeroplane: A mighty link binding the world together within the span of a second and coupling up continents in the twinkling of an eye. Something that only four years ago was spoken of as a dream of the future. And yet to-day there are whole villages remote from the great centres of population with a wireless set in every house. And not the extravagant hobby of the rich, but in most cases within the reach of anybody who can scrape a few shillings together.

There must be over a million radio sets in rural areas giving enjoyment and education to five times as many listeners! The day's news in remote valleys where news never penetrated before. Items fresh from the great news agencies, conveyed to farm and cot as swiftly as they come to dwellers in the great cities. The finest music by the finest bands, laughter and gaiety, education, inspiring thoughts from our famous divines—there is no end to the list. And all for the outlay of a few shillings.

In a word, radio has changed the whole outlook of the countryside.

We who live out in the lonely wilds are no longer restless and discontented. The time is coming, indeed it has come now, when most village institutes possess wireless sets and attract nightly crowds. Above all, something to look forward to after a hard day in the fields or behind the plough. A bright and cheery cottage sitting-room with the set turned on after supper and some of the best musicians in the world to charm the ear and soothe the senses. At once an education and a sheer delight.

And this is what is going on day by day along the whole countryside from Land's End to John o' Groat's. The fairy wand of radio has abolished for ever the drab monotony that once hung over the land like a blight. It is going to check the flow of restless humanity to the towns, it is going to keep us jolly and happy and cheerful. We are going to wait for better times patiently because we are no longer bored with a life monotonous to tears. Radio is seeing to that.

Radio has done more for rural life than all the reformers put together.

MANY listeners will be glad to know that the sermon by Dr. Campbell Morgan, "The Call of Christ," relayed from Westminster Congregational Church on Sunday evening, August 29th, has been printed and may be obtained from the Bookroom, Westminster Congregational Church, Buckingham Gate, London, S.W.1. Six copies, 1s. 2d.; twelve copies, 2s. 3d., including postage.

Symphony v. Fox-trot.

A GENUINE attempt to try to clear up some of the difficulties respecting the undoubted merits of both "straight" and "jazz" music will be made on Monday, October 11th, in a Symphony versus Fox-trot programme, to be given between 10.15 and 11 p.m. on that evening. The programme will be carried out from London by Mr. Sebastian Brown, Lecturer in Music at the Chelsea Polytechnic and elsewhere, who has made a particular study of the psychology of the popular and classical music question. Mr. Brown will approach the subject from a different angle from that adopted in a recent programme of a similar nature and he will discuss the way in which listeners treat their music. He bases his arguments on the principle that there are three different types of listeners, and he will explain with musical illustrations from the orchestra and the London Radio Dance Band differences in the way people listen to music. It will be left to listeners themselves to make up their minds whether they are in class 1, 2 or 3. From this method of approaching what has hitherto been a contentious topic, further interesting programmes might be arranged in due course.

"My Programme."

What is your idea of a good Radio programme? The B.B.C. has decided to invite a number of well-known public men, not necessarily connected with the entertainment world, to give in a series of programmes their conception of what a broadcast programme should be like. The B.B.C. will provide an orchestra, and those responsible for arranging a programme will be given a free choice of artists, within, of course, certain limitations. The first of these programmes will be given from London between 8 and 9.30 on Tuesday, October 12th, and it is hoped on one night weekly for some time to come.

Sir John Martin Harvey in Well-Known Scenes.

An attractive feature will be broadcast from London and other Stations on Sunday, October 10th, by Sir John Martin Harvey and Lady Martin Harvey, whose stage name is Miss N. de Silva. The feature, which will be given at 5.30 p.m., will consist of (1) a scene between Vjera and Count Skariatine from Charles Hannan's dramatization of Marion Crawford's novel, A Cigarette Maker's Romance; (2) The story of Rat Reresby as told by him in Act II. of The Breed of the Treshams, by Evelyn Greenland Sutherland and Beulah Marie Dix; (3) The scene between the Lady Anne and Richard III. from Shakespeare's Tragedy of Richard III.

Services Tournament.

In response to numerous requests, it has been decided to give another Radio version of the Services Tournament on similar lines to that given last year. This will take place on Saturday, October 9th, when the event will consist of a grand march and figure march of the Highland Regiment, Field Gun Display, musical drive by Military, and items introducing armoured cars and tanks and a guard and a grand display. Spectators (in this case listeners) are supposed to be seated opposite a band in the centre of the arena, and a few seats above it. Just in front are a man and a girl whose conversation as they witness the display gives the clue to what is happening. The Wireless Military Band and Chorus and Regimental Pipes and Fife Bands will take part.

In Memory of St. Francis.

Another of his architectural Talks on "The Grey Friars in London" will be given at 7.40 p.m., on Friday, October 1st, by Mr. Allan S. Walker. This year is the seventh centenary of the death of St. Francis of Assisi, and in the following week it is hoped to have a special programme to commemorate this. In this preliminary Talk, Mr. Walker will deal with the only church in London which is connected with the Grey Friars—Christ Church, Newgate Street, where there can still be seen the grooves in the pavement worn by the feet of the Franciscan monks.

"Augustus in Search of a Father."

A short play, entitled Augustus in Search of a Father, by the brilliant young dramatist, Harold Chapin, who was killed during the War, will be included in the London programme on Wednesday, October 6th. This will be preceded by a programme of popular orchestral music and followed (after News and late night Talk) by the Variety Concert.

Royal Meteorological Society Talk.

The Royal Meteorological Society Talk on Wednesday, September 29th, will be given by Dr. H. R. Mill, D.Sc., LL.D. Dr. Mill has been a Fellow of the R.M.S. since 1893, and was formerly Librarian of the Royal Geographical Society from 1892 to 1900. He is the author of "The Romance of Nature," and other valuable works on Polar Exploration. At 9.30 on the same evening, Mr. Edward Cressy will give the second of two Talks on "The Engineer in Adventure," entitled "Colorado in Revolt."

A Birmingham Wireless Exhibition.

An important exhibition of great interest to Birmingham listeners will be held at Thorpe Street Barracks from Tuesday, October 5th, to Saturday, October 16th inclusive (with, of course, the exception of the intervening Sunday, October 10th). Similar Exhibitions have already been organized in London, Manchester and Sheffield, and it is with the object of facilitating the success of the venture that the Birmingham Station has made arrangements to relay a number of concerts from a special studio now in the course of construction. In due course, microphones will be installed and connected to the Birmingham Station in Broad Street. Midland listeners will then have an opportunity of seeing what broadcasting is like under actual conditions, a limited number of the public being admitted during the special transmissions, according to the capacity of the studio and having regard to the number of performers.

O. B. Concerts at Birmingham.

Midland listeners will be interested in four important Outside Broadcast Concerts which will be performed by the Station Repertory Chorus and Orchestra at the Midland Institute, Birmingham, during the Autumn. Hitherto, Outside Broadcast Concerts have been given by various music societies, and it is gratifying that the Station Repertory Chorus has now attained a sufficiently high standard to perform great works without outside societies. The first of the series will be given on October 6th, with the performance of Handel's secular oratorio Semele. All four concerts will be conducted by Mr. Joseph Lewis.

Light Operas at Manchester.

Four light English Operas are to be broadcast from Manchester during the Autumn and Winter. The first, Maritana, will be produced on Friday, October 1st. The others in all probability will be Dorothy, The S Van of Mocha, and The Lily of Killarney. To enable listeners to follow the programme, illustrated booklets are being produced containing the dialogue, and where it has been necessary to abridge the original version, explanatory notes will be included. It is hoped to reproduce in these booklets illustrations of famous artists, in addition to the present casts.

A Famous Tenor's Favourite Songs.

"My Favourite Songs," the popular weekly feature instituted some time ago by the Cardiff Station, will be given on Sunday, September 26th, by Mr. John Coates, the famous tenor.

FOUR FAMOUS SAVOYARDS.

Pieces in the Programmes.

A Weekly Feature Conducted by Percy A. Scholes.

LISZT'S SECOND HUNGARIAN RHAPSODY.

(ALL STATIONS, SUNDAY.)

IN his Hungarian Rhapsodies (originally written as Pianoforte Solos) Liszt paid proud homage to the national melodies of his native Hungary.

The music of the ancient inhabitants of the country, the Magyars, was taken as raw material by the gypsies who came to Hungary from the East early in the fifteenth century. Melodic decoration and strong rhythmic stresses characterize the gypsy songs and dance-tunes.

Liszt was extremely interested in their ballads and melodies, and wrote a capital book about these musicians.

Of his score of Pianoforte Rhapsodies, he arranged some for Pianoforte Duet, and, in conjunction with another musician named Doppler, orchestrated a number.

In these works he adopted roughly the gypsy plan of placing together a slow Movement (called a Lassan) and a quick one (Friszta).

This Rhapsody begins with a short "call to attention"—a Prelude for the Trumpet, punctuated by chords for the Full Orchestra. Then the leading Tune of the Lassan is pompously announced by Violin and Clarinet. The Clarinet "cadenza" that follows represents one of the elements in the free improvisatory style of the native musicians.

After Flute and Oboe have continued the opening theme for a moment, the Oboe has the next Tune, quiet, but capricious, the Flute reiterating one note the while above it.

One other melodic idea is given out by Clarinet and Strings, and with some varied repetition of the foregoing matter, the Lassan portion of the piece comes to an end.

The Friszta, that follows after a pause, is heralded by the Woodwind, which gives out in a minor key a livelier version of the Oboe tune already heard in the Lassan.

Soon we change to the major key, and a new Violin theme enters in phrases of four notes, with a special stress on the usually weak middle part of the bar. A syncopated accompaniment adds to the sprightliness of this. The next tune, in wide "arpeggio" steps, is heard on the Flutes, softly.

One or two other themes, full of zest and point, are brought in, and every kind of orchestral sauce is added to make the Rhapsody a piquant dish indeed.

MENDELSSOHN'S OVERTURE TO "SON AND STRANGER."

(BELFAST, MONDAY.)

This is the Overture to an unpretentious Operetta, The Return from Abroad, which Mendelssohn composed to celebrate his parents' silver wedding anniversary.

After his death, the Operetta was published under the title Son and Stranger, and by this name the overture is generally known.

Mendelssohn was not satisfied that one work merely should celebrate the happy occasion. He planned to have performed also an earlier little work of his own, and another, written by his sister Fanny, who also was a clever musician.

The Return from Abroad was never produced in public during his lifetime, for he felt that this little token of his overflowing affection for his parents ought not to be made common property; besides, it was full of allusions to homely events, the pleasant intimate jokes that circulate and are enjoyed in all good-humoured family circles, but that cannot fully be appreciated by outsiders.

The Overture is a quite independent piece, containing no themes from the Operetta.

It opens with a slow section, after which comes a swift, sunny Movement, the First Main Tune bounding off in a moment in the cheeriest style.

The Second Tune, in contrast, trips lightly along, beginning on Strings and continuing on Flutes.

These two melodies are treated quite simply, with all Mendelssohn's native gaiety and charm, and so the Overture runs to its close.

GLINKA'S OVERTURE TO "RUSSLAN AND LUDMILA."

(LIVERPOOL, WEDNESDAY.)

Glinka (1804-57) was the founder of the national Russian School. His parents were wealthy, and after he had spent some time in the Civil Service, he was able to give this up and devote himself to the serious study of composition. He spent some years in Italy and then worked with a well-known teacher of composition in Berlin, Siegfried Wilhelm Dehn, who at last, when he felt his pupil had all the knowledge and technique he needed, told him to "go home and write Russian music."

Before this time, Russia's only art music (as distinguished from her wealth of simple peasant song) had been imported Italian Opera. It is not to be wondered at that Glinka, with his Italian training, shows here and there in his Operas traces of the all-powerful influence of the time.

In his first work, A Life for the Czar, the story is drawn from Russian history, and the tunes are founded on popular Russian song.

Ruslan and Ludmila followed (1842). It was founded on a fairy tale by the celebrated Russian poet Pushkin, but the author was killed in a duel before he could revise it for Glinka's use, and various other people had a hand in the libretto.

The plot tells how the Princess Ludmila is wooed by three lovers, and on the eve of her wedding with one of them, the Knight Ruslan, is carried off by a wicked magician. The adventures of the three rivals in search of the Princess provide all sorts of exciting adventures.

The Overture, a stirring piece of quick music, is built on themes from the Opera. One of them, that represents the wicked magician, is a descending "whole-tone scale" (on the piano, that in which there intervenes one key, black or white, between each pair of successive keys in the scale). This is one of the first instances of the use of this peculiar scale, which was much used later by other composers, notably by Debussy.

The First Main Tune is given out, after a few bars of Introduction, by the Full Orchestra, with great energy. This is worked up a little, one part "imitating" another, and then the broad, swinging, Second Main Tune (based on one of Ruslan's songs) comes on the Bassoons and lower Strings.

These tunes are developed in a contrapuntal fashion that shows the effect of the teaching of Dehn, who was a great Bach student.

It is just before the Coda, or winding-up section, that we hear the "whole tone scale," blared out by the heaviest bass instruments. After it, the Overture rattles on to a rollicking conclusion.

Cardiff's Irish Programme.

Irish programmes are always popular with Welsh listeners, and that arranged by the Cardiff Station for Friday, October 1st, will be no less attractive than its many predecessors. Among the artists will be Mr. Denis O'Neill, and Miss Mary O'Farrell, who will give anecdotes and recitations. Miss O'Farrell will be remembered in Cardiff for her performances during the first tour of Peg of My Heart.

A Rapid Mental Calendar.

Listeners to the Cardiff Station on Tuesday, September 28th, should provide themselves with pencil and paper and calendars for the year if they wish to get the full value from a Talk to be given by Mr. J. F. Wilkinson on a "Rapid Mental Calendar for 1926 and 1927." Mr. Wilkinson was formerly a schoolmaster in the East, but became blind, and, being unable to follow his profession, turned his attention to unusual mathematical problems of a popular nature. In his Talk he will explain how his calendar works. It is noteworthy that Mr. Wilkinson has been asked to explain his system to the staffs of banks and business houses, but this fact need not frighten the leisure-hour listener, as the working of it is exceedingly easy.

"Autumn" at Newcastle.

A seasonable programme under the title of "Autumn" has been arranged by the Newcastle Station for Monday, September 27th, when Miss Mary Ferrier (soprano) and Mr. Sinclair Logan (baritone) will be the artists. The programme will include Grieg's Overture In Autumn (played by the Station Orchestra), a work which is an impression of scenes and moods at the fall of the year in Norway, the composer's native country. During the same evening, the Station Repertory Company will produce the farce A Collection Will Be Made, by Arthur Eckersley.

THE NATIONAL CONCERTS.

WE are now able to give some further details concerning the important series of National Concerts which are to be held under the auspices of the B.B.C. in the Royal Albert Hall, London, during the coming winter. A preliminary announcement appeared in last week's issue of The Radio Times. These remarkable concerts, it will be remembered, are to be given by the National Orchestra, consisting of upwards of 150 performers, and by a specially organized Chorus of 250 voices.

The Conductors will include some of the most distinguished living musicians. Of our native Conductors, Sir Hamilton Harty will open the first concert on the 30th of this month. Sir Edward Elgar will give a concert of his own works on November 25th, including his Violin Concerto, which will be played by Mr. Albert Sammons. Mr. Albert Coates, who directed the concert performance of Kitesh at Covent Garden for the B.B.C., will give a general programme on October 21st, the artist on that evening being the famous pianist Harold Bauer. Sir Landon Ronald will take the baton at one of the later concerts in the series.

Among the "guest" conductors will be Dr. Richard Strauss, on November 9th, who will be in charge of a programme of his own works, including the unfamiliar Alpine Symphony; Bernardino Molinari, Director at the Augusteo, Rome; Otto Klemperer, one of the outstanding conductors of Germany, and now General Musical Director of the Opera at Wiesbaden; Erich Kleiber, who holds a similar post at the Berlin Opera; Hermann Scherchen, conductor of the Frankfurt Museum Concerts, and one of the rising young conductors of Germany.

The National Concerts will, of course, be broadcast from all stations. Tickets of admission to the Albert Hall will range from 1s. to 4s., the 3s. and 4s. seats being bookable. Tickets may be obtained from the Hall and the usual agents.

PEOPLE YOU WILL HEAR THIS WEEK.

Miss NELLIE VANCOURT, who will take part in the Variety Programme at London on Monday, September 20th. (S.B. from other Stations.)

(Claude Sturris.)

Miss JOYCE ANSELL will contribute the 9.45 Musical Feature by playing works by Bach.

Miss FAY COURTNEY, who will sing character songs at London on Wednesday, September 22nd. (S.B. from other Stations.)

Mr. ASHTON PEARSE will be heard in "The Rhesus" of Euripides, to be broadcast from London and other Stations on Wednesday, September 22nd.

(Sita Martin.)

Miss SARI PETRASS, the popular soprano and actress, who will sing in the Hungarian Programme to be given from London through all Stations on Sunday, September 19th.

(Leicester City.)

Mr. EDWARD WILLARD will take the part of Hector in "The Rhesus" of Euripides on Wednesday, September 22nd (London and other Stations.)

(London.)

Mr. GEORGE STEADMAN, who will conduct an Orchestral Concert at Aberdeen on Sunday, September 19th.

(London.)

Mr. C. H. S. QUENNEL will talk on "Everyday Life in Wessex in Ancient Times" at Bournemouth on Thursday, September 23rd.

Mr. COLIN STRATTON-HALLET, who will talk on "Austria—Yesterday" will be broadcast from Plymouth on Wednesday, September 22nd.

Mr. ALBERT DANIELS will be heard in Guild Impersonations by Birmingham listeners on Tuesday, September 21st.

Listeners' Letters.

A "Second National Anthem."

[Listeners are reminded that we do not consider anonymous letters for publication. Preference is given to letters which combine interest with brevity. The Editorial address is Savoy Hill, Strand, London W.C.2.]

I WOULD suggest that as a "second National Anthem," in preference to William Blake's "Jerusalem," as suggested by Mr. Percy Scholes, we should use Ebenezer Elliott's:—

"When wilt thou save the people, Lord?
Not kings nor crowns, but men."

In my boyhood, this was frequently used in the Birmingham district, and in the old Corn Law times, and also in the time of the Chartists, it was one of the poems that stirred men to action. Blake's poem is beautiful, but it is more for the study than the crowd, and Parry's music fits it well, but will require trained singers to get the best out of it. Both are too fragile for use by the crowd. From Lullibulero and 1699, down to "Tipperary" and 1914, there is an interesting chapter in the history of music that has never been properly written. Most historians seem to ignore the fact that action is more often swayed by impulse than by reason.—GEORGE N. POTTER, Birmingham.

Churchgoing in Cambridgeshire.

WHILE agreeing with your correspondent, Mrs. E. H. Liveing, of Longstanton, that the B.B.C. is doing a very great work with its broadcast Sunday services, I cannot let pass without comment her statement that "the average Cambridgeshire agricultural labourer never attends church after arriving at working age." This village is about two miles from Longstanton; I have lived here all my life, and although I cannot speak with certainty about the agricultural labourers' attendance at church, I do know that they attend the two chapels.—MRS. E. ASPLIN, Over, Cambridgeshire.

Cheering the Sick.

WE have had wireless installed here in the King's Lynn Union Poor Law Institution. Our set has been made by a local tradesman, and the transmission is perfectly clear, and strong enough to be heard in all the wards. If the artists who sang the old songs last night could have seen the joyous delight of the patients (especially the old ladies, several of whom began to sing with them), their hearts would have quickened with sympathy, and they would have felt amply rewarded.—JAS. BARNETT (Master), King's Lynn, Norfolk.

Programmes in Welsh.

A CIRCLE drawn one hundred miles round Daventry covers two-thirds of England. Why should the immense number of English people who live inside that circle be compelled to listen to Welsh programmes that they don't understand?—J. L. MORAN, Crowfield, Brackley, Northants.

THERE is a population of about 500,000 Welsh-speaking people living on both sides of the River Mersey, and we never get a Welsh religious service broadcast on a Sunday. We have to be satisfied with the religious service in the English language. Why should we be denied the pleasure of listening to a service in our own native tongue? An English service does not appeal to us as a Welsh hymnal and the whole service in Welsh do. It is time that we as a Welsh nation in this part of the globe had more consideration.—GWYLYM HUWS, Rock Ferry, Birkenhead.

News for the Meteorological Office.

Two elderly farmers were talking about the weather. One said: "Rain, rain, it's always raining, nowadays! It's this here wireless, as they call it, with long wires up as high as they can get 'em, is the cause of it.

"And then there are these flying machines cutting the clouds asunder; that is how it is we get so much wet weather."—J. NEVE MASTERS, Cannon House, Rye.

Some Suggestions.

I VENTURE to suggest that a series of Talks—perhaps in the form of debates—on the care and

"The Policeman's Serenade."

One of the most popular revues in London is Riverside Nights, now being played at the Lyric Theatre, Hammer-smith. On September 23rd an excerpt from this revue, including "The Policeman's Serenade," will be broadcast from London and other stations. Among the artists who will be heard on that occasion are Mr. Dennis Arundell and Miss Florence McHugh (above) and Mr. James Topping and Mr. George Baker (below).

operation of receiving sets would be greatly appreciated. As a beginning, what about a lecture or two on methods of obtaining better loud-speaker reproduction—with, perhaps, a special school where proprietors of radio stores might attend as a body? I think listeners should let the B.B.C. know if they want talks of this nature.—W. R. COLLIS, Hon. Sec. Hounslow and District Wireless Society, Algar Road, Isleworth.

THE B.B.C. could render a great service to the public in general, and to housewives in particular, if they could broadcast regularly, say, twice weekly, the current average market prices of ordinary commodities and foodstuffs for domestic use. Could this be done in collaboration with the Food Control Commission?—W. M. HARRIS, Murley Hill, Kendal.

The Children's Corner.

Birmingham's Children's Concerts.

ALL Birmingham's Radio Circle will be glad to hear that the Children's Concerts will soon start again, and if any members of the Circle would like to play or sing, they have only to write to Auntie Lil and then, if they are able to pass the test, they will be able to sing in the beautiful new studio just like a real artist. This series of concerts will take place on the first Saturday of each month, as they did last year, and the first one is arranged for Saturday, October 2nd.

Most of our applicants last year came forward to sing or recite, and the soloists played the violin or cello for the most part, but if there are experts on the flute or any other instrument, they have only to let us have their names and addresses to receive a hearty welcome and a fair trial in competition with their equals.

If success does not attend a first attempt, don't forget that "if you don't succeed at first, try, try again."

"Snooky" Again.

Those who were listening to Birmingham Children's Corner a Saturday or two ago were delighted with a special outburst from Snooky, who has come back from his holiday. This time he burst into poetry, and such poetry! All about the Aunts and Uncles, not forgetting Uncle Bonzo, who was away and could not answer back.

One had really supposed that his good behaviour after his holiday had been due to the careful guidance of Auntie Phil, but he proved too much even for her to handle this time. It is whispered that some of his friskiness is due to a change in diet from p-ck-l-d r-ta to something more appropriate to the new Studio, but it is doubtful when such a taste has once been acquired.

"Broadcast Moonshine."

An interesting experiment is to take place in the Glasgow Studio on October 2nd, when an attempt will be made to broadcast moonshine from Fairyland at the Children's Hour. This is a very ambitious thing for mere mortals to attempt, and unless conditions are suitable (for instance, unless all the children who are listening believe in fairies), there will be no moonshine.

The engineering staff is busily engaged in reading up the old favourite fairy-tales, so that a faerie-like atmosphere may prevail in the control-room. Auntie and the Uncles are practising elfin dances for hours on end, and they drink dew daily from harebells, or, at any rate, they try to do so. Uncle Leslie, unfortunately, swallowed his fairy cup and the Nameless One poured hot tea into his, so Auntie is just a little bit afraid that the Uncles, unless they mend their ways, will not make a very successful début in the realms of Fairyland.

Competitions at Newcastle.

The Newcastle Uncles and Aunts announce that there is to be a Competition nearly every week in connection with the Children's Corner. The dates will be published in the local papers, and, at the end of each competition, the date of the following one will be broadcast, with the names of the winners of the last.

The Aunties and Uncles at "5NO" are already preparing for the winter. Auntie Una has come back from her holidays with what she says is a fur coat, but the other Aunties declare it is the fur rug that Uncle Nick used to bring with Leo, his pet lion. Uncle George is very busy sharpening his skates in preparation for the coming frosts.

Gossip From Our Scottish Stations.

Scottish Searchlight Tattoo.

THE principal feature in the programme from Edinburgh during the week beginning Monday, September 27th, will be the Scottish Military Searchlight Tattoo, which is to be held in the grounds of Droghorn Castle on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, September 29th to October 2nd. On the Friday evening, the entire performance will be relayed, not only through Edinburgh, but also through other Scottish stations and, consequently, the reading of the second News Bulletin will take place at, approximately, 10.35 p.m., instead of the usual time.

Varied Fare.

The Edinburgh local programme on Wednesday, September 29th, will be provided by Miss Mavis Bennett, the popular soprano, Mr. Ronald Gourley, entertainer at the piano, and Mr. Bryden C. Monteith, the promising young Scottish pianist.

Miss Bessie Spence.

Glasgow listeners will be glad to welcome Miss Bessie Spence (violinist), who will be heard in a programme from the local station on Sunday, September 28th. Miss Spence is playing with the orchestra the Concerto in E Major, by Bach.

Glasgow's Orchestral Concert.

A light orchestral concert, in which Miss Amy Murdoch (soprano) and Miss Anna Marsh (piano-forte) will be supported by the Station Orchestra, will constitute the main part of the Glasgow programme from 8 o'clock onwards on Monday, September 27th. Miss Marsh has selected some short French pieces, while the Orchestra will play a suite from Lalme, by Delibes.

A Scots Programme.

A Scots programme, carried out by Mr. Dufton Scott, the well-known entertainer, supported by the Station Choir and Orchestra, will be broadcast from Glasgow on Saturday, October 2nd. Mr. Scott is giving some sketches in the Aberdeenshire dialect, and among the pieces to be played by the Orchestra are a selection from "The Songs of the Hebrides," by Kennedy Fraser, and "Coronach," by Edgar Barratt.

Dundee's French Programme.

A programme of French Music and Drama has been arranged by the Dundee Station for Wednesday, September 29th. Among the artists are Miss Marie Horswell (contralto), who will sing a number of items in French, Yvette, the quaint comedienne, whose burlesques are so diverting, and the Station Trio, under Mary S. Lesslie, in selections from the works of French composers. The Radio Players will present a little drama in verse, by Louis N. Parker, entitled A Minuet. The action of this episode takes place during the French Revolution.

Musical Comedy at Aberdeen.

A Musical Comedy Programme is being arranged by the Aberdeen Station on Wednesday, October 6th, when Miss Tina McIntyre and Mr. Herbert Thorpe will be the soloists. The weekly Scottish programme on the following day will be given by Mr. James Anderson (baritone) and Miss Norah Atkins (soprano), who will be assisted by the orchestra in a typical programme of Scottish music and song. The programme will also include the first of a new series of the competition, "What Is It?" which listeners will remember was successfully carried out by the Aberdeen Station last winter. The series, which will be given weekly, is being specially written by Mr. Arthur Black.

Callender's Band.

Aberdeen listeners are to hear a programme by Callender's Cable Works Band on Tuesday, October 5th, when its performance will be under the direction of Mr. Tom Morgan. There will also be vocal interludes by Miss Marion Richardson, the well-known Edinburgh soprano.

Listening in the Train.

By a Railway Officer.

EVER since the early days of wireless, British railways have followed very closely the growth of radio. As far back as 1916, experiments were carried through by which railway operations could be assisted by Morse wireless messages between outlying areas of the then railway headquarters at Westminster in the event of an enemy invasion of the east and north-east coasts, but, fortunately, the actual need for this never arose.

With the inception of the British Broadcasting Company and its daily service, the London and North-Eastern Railway Company, by co-operation with several leading manufacturers of wireless apparatus, carried out a series of instructive tests which set beyond all doubt the practicability of wireless communication between a moving train and fixed stations. This was a feat which up to the date of the experiments—July 4th, 1924—had not been thoroughly tried out in this country under the varying conditions of travelling at a mile a minute, passing over ore-bearing districts, through tunnels, and over steel bridges.

Two-way telephony was not on this occasion established. The passenger brake-van equipped with an indoor aerial and earthed to the steel under frame was given a temporary licence by the Postmaster-General with a wavelength of 185 metres and a call sign 6XX. Morse communication was obtained in both directions with varying results. Broadcast speech and music from both the London and Birmingham Stations were picked up well on headphones and loud-speaker. Daventry had not then started. The journey made on this occasion was from King's Cross to Newcastle by the 8.25 p.m. night mail express.

Since then, several British railways, notably the Great Western, have tested out broadcast reception on their passenger services, and many wireless amateurs have travelled with portable reception sets of their own construction.

Although a two-way telephony wireless service has been established by the German State railways on certain trains between Hamburg and Berlin, the distinction of first successfully operating two-way wireless speech on a rapidly moving train belongs to the British Broadcasting Company.

This experiment was carried out on June 30th, 1925, when Mr. R. H. Eckersley, of the B.B.C., travelled on the footplate of a Pacific type locomotive and spoke to the listeners of the B.B.C. of his experiences. This was made possible by an improved type of carbon microphone fixed close to the engine-driver's seat in the cab of the engine and connected to a van next to the tender which had been fitted with a portable transmitter worked from batteries. Three outside aerial wires were erected on the roof, and two of the lineside telephone wires between Stevenage and Potters Bar, a distance of twenty miles, were cut and insulated for the transmission. Lead-in wires to a receiving station were established between these points at Hatfield, where the speech was passed to land-lines to Savoy Hill and put out S.B. to all stations.

The results of this experiment proved beyond doubt that in this country broadcast reception and two-way telephony are physically possible on railway trains, and that, apart from interferences at certain places and complete fading in tunnels, regular services of two distinct kinds can be provided by British railways for the travelling public.

First, the reception of B.B.C. programmes for the entertainment of travellers, and second, the transmission and reception of wireless telephone calls.

In the actual operation of the railways, two ways in which wireless may be of assistance have emerged. A system of wireless broadcast and reception whereby outlying railway agents can be kept in personal touch with railway headquarters has been evolved. Such a wireless organization has already been adopted by the Canadian National Railways with great success.

A WAY THEY HAVE IN CANADA.

Trans-continental trains of the Canadian National Railways are now equipped with radio receiving sets. In addition to loud speakers, these sets each have twelve pairs of 'phones. The sets are operated while the trains are in motion, and passengers are able to receive concerts, news, etc., en route. The service has been successful beyond expectations.

But what of the future? So far as the reception of broadcast programmes in trains for the benefit of the travellers is concerned, it does not seem likely that loud-speaker reception will ever become popular on ordinary railway trains, but on trains of the Pullman type receiving stations might be provided which would enable travellers who bring their own headphones, or are provided with headphones by the attendants, to enjoy broadcast programmes at a small additional charge during their journeys.

The provision of two-way telephony on British railways is a different problem, for in this country our trains do not make non-stop journeys of greater duration than four to six hours, and more or less satisfactory telegraph and telephone facilities are provided at most of the larger stations. It is doubtful, therefore, whether a service such as this, if installed on the British railways, would be commercially successful.

It may be that the future will reveal many ways in which wireless can help in railway working, but it must be many years before such trains as the Flying Scotsman are operated from King's Cross to Edinburgh with merely the controlling hand of an engineer at headquarters to guide them on their way.

Normal or Abnormal?

Which most concerns you—the performance of normal motor engines like your own, under normal conditions, or the performance under abnormal conditions, of abnormal engines, unusable on the roads? Such performances are of interest in the same sense as the performance of a giant is interesting, but they indicate nothing to you comparable with the road performance of your own car.

The magnificent victories of Pratts Spirit in the International Reliability Road Tests, when 72 Gold Medals out of 74 and both International Trophies were captured, prove once more that Pratts is "best in all road tests."

LONDON NEWS.

Hungary's Gift to the Stage.

THE singer in the Sunday afternoon programme is an actress and violinist of great repute—Miss Sari Petrass. She was born in Budapest, where she made her first appearance on the stage of the People's Theatre in 1906, and quickly gained a reputation for her light operatic singing. In 1912, she first appeared in London, at Daly's, as Ilona in Gipsy Love, when she scored an immediate success, which was continued in the following year in The Marriage Market, after which she had various appearances in America.

The evening programme includes two groups of songs by the Holme Valley Male Voice Choir (the first broadcast of this Choir from the London Station), piano solos by Mr. Edward Isaacs, and songs by Miss Gwen Firangon-Davies, who sang at the London Studio on Tuesday, August 24th. The programme will be brought to a close by the Holme Valley Male Voice Choir singing Duckworth's "Abide With Me."

"Ballet of the Golden Goose."

Gustav Holst, who stands high in the ranks of British composers, is to conduct the programme of his own works on his birthday. This programme will include ballet music from his opera, The Perfect Fool, three of the Choral Hymns from the Rig Veda, the Fugal Concerto for Flute and Oboe, with accompaniment for String Orchestra, and the Beni Mora Suite. Of outstanding interest will be the first performance of the complete Ballet of the Golden Goose, which illustrates the story of the Princess who could not laugh. And she did not laugh until she saw Jack and his Golden Goose leading in a helpless string all the populace adhering by force of the magic glue! The Ballet was performed for the first time not long ago on the lawns of the James Allen School, Dulwich. The music has been described as "Holst in holiday mood"—"Holst writing for the young." It is full of jolly rhythms, bold counterpoint, and tunes which send the audience away humming. The Ballet contains some novel episodes—for instance, the music enacting the nursery song about the Pig who wouldn't jump over the stile; and a "human organ," a glee party, disguised as Organ Pipes, chanting an Organ Prelude. To wireless listeners the music will, of course, have to speak for itself.

The Rhesus.

On Wednesday will be given another of the long plays which have found so much favour with many listeners. On this occasion a distinguished cast will broadcast The Rhesus of Euripides, translated into English rhymed verse by Professor Gilbert Murray. The production will be in the hands of Mr. Henry Oscar, who is well known to listeners for the excellent work he has done in connection with radio drama, and included in the cast are Miss Irene Rooke, Mr. Edmund Willard, Mr. Gordon McLeod, Mr. Frank Vosper, Mr. Gordon Bailey, and Mr. Grosvenor North. It is hoped to obtain the services of that brilliant actress, Miss Haidée Wright, as the Muse.

Any performance in English of a Greek play must necessarily rely to a large extent upon the imagination of the audience to whom it is performed. It will be of interest to see what success this performance of The Rhesus has with the wireless audience, which is more accustomed than the average theatre-goer to use its imagination in the interpretation of plays, and which, by the very limitation of the medium of broadcasting, has greater opportunity for doing so.

In the variety programme at 10.15, two of the latest arrivals from America who have been appearing in West-end cabarets will give their first broadcast performance to the English audience. Miss Courtenay sings modern songs in a manner similar to that of Miss Sophie Tucker, and as a foil to her, Miss Randolph sings quietly with a charming little lisp; she also accompanies Miss Courtenay at the piano.

Covent Garden Septet.

The outstanding feature of the Chamber Music Hour on Thursday will be Beethoven's Septet, Op. 20, for Violin, Viola, Cello, Bass, Clarinet, Bassoon, and Horn, which will be given by the Covent Garden Septet, led by Mr. Wynn Reeves, leader of the Covent Garden Orchestra. It is one of those standard works which find a regular place in musical programmes. In the early days of broadcasting it was so much appreciated when given at the Manchester Station that two repeat performances were given within six months.

This will be followed, at 9 o'clock, by the relay of an excerpt from Riverside Nights, the popular and unusual revue which is being presented by Mr. Nigel Playfair at the Lyric Theatre, Hammersmith.

BIRMINGHAM NEWS.

Sunday Evening.

AT 8.15, the address at the Studio Service will be given by the Rev. Glynn Edwards, and it will be followed, at 9.30, by a Symphony Concert. The soloists will be Miss Edith Penville (solo flautist), and Mr. Parry Jones (tenor). This concert begins with the overture Patrie, by Bizet, which is said to have been his first great success. The overture is followed by Mr. Parry Jones, who will sing, with orchestral accompaniment, the aria, "Then Shall the Righteous Shine" from Mendelssohn's Elijah, one of the most popular oratorios ever written, which received its first performance in Birmingham at the Town Hall when it was conducted by the composer. The Finale from Symphony No. 13 in G, by Haydn, will be played by the orchestra.

Variety.
The programme on Tuesday evening is one of Popular Variety and includes Miss Mabel Fitzgerald, entertainer at the piano, Mr. Leslie Marsh, who plays the one-string fiddle, and Mr. Albert Daniels in child impersonations.

Orchestral and Vocal.

Bizet's name appears again in the programme on Wednesday, when an orchestral and vocal evening begins with the suite, L'Arlesienne. This suite is founded upon the incidental music originally composed for Daudet's play. At 8.55, Mr. Thomas Jones will be heard with the orchestra in the Concerto in G Minor for violin and orchestra, by Max Bruch, one of the most eminent of contemporary German composers. Mr. Jones is deputy leader and soloist of the Birmingham Orchestra and was also the leader of the Welsh Orchestra which played under Sir Walford Davies at Wembley.

"Ladies' Night."

On Thursday the evening programme at 8.0, under the heading of "Ladies' Night," includes three local artists—Miss Winifred Davis, Miss Alice Couchman, and "Aunt Maria." All the soloists on this programme are ladies, the items are by women composers, and Miss Mabel France will herself announce throughout the evening. The orchestral items include the overture, The Wreckers, by Dame Ethel Smyth, and the African Suite, by Dorothea Barcroft. The Wreckers is the most important composition of Dame Ethel Smyth and was produced in Leipzig in 1906. It met with greater success as the result of a more careful performance in Prague, and was afterwards performed in Vienna in 1908. The African Suite, by Dorothea Barcroft, is of special interest in view of the fact that she is a native of Wolverhampton. The first performance of this suite was given in Birmingham under the baton of Mr. Joseph Lewis, and it has since been conducted by Sir Dan Godfrey. The intermezzo, Armino, is also by the same composer.

BOURNEMOUTH NEWS.

Vocal and Instrumental.

A PROGRAMME of particular interest will be given on Sunday evening when Miss Rachel MacAndrew
(pianist) and Miss Mavis Stoddard (mezzo-soprano) are the artists. Pre-ludes and Inventions by Bach, a number of pieces by Handel, Beethoven's
Minuet and Trio from Sonata in E Flat, Rachmaninov's Humoresque, and short pieces by Rameau and Daquin, make up a varied repertoire of pianoforte music. Miss Mavis Stoddard will sing, in addition to a group of old English and Scottish songs, Dvorak's "Songs
My Mother Taught Me" and "Turn Thee to Me," a setting of the 15th verse of Psalm xxv., by the same composer.

In the programme on Thursday evening
Miss Kate Winter (soprano) and Mr.
Dale Smith (baritone) will sing a number of songs which listeners have from time to time indicated as their particular favourites.

A Varied Evening.

On Friday evening there is a programme in three parts which is sure to please the tastes of all listeners; half-an-hour of laughter, encouraged by The Three Aces, leads up to a play of a striking nature, with a strong touch of the weird, entitled Grey Ash.
This is followed by a Scottish Half-Hour, when Miss Gretta Don will sing a number of Lowland Scottish songs, and Mr. Illingworth (cello) will play
"The Lament" from Foulds's *Keltic
Suite*.

Operatic Airs.

Operatic airs will be sung on Saturday evening by Miss Gwladys Naish (coloratura soprano) and Mr. Parry Jones (tenor), and these artists will be heard in the Garden Scene duet from Gounod's
Faust. The Bournemouth Wireless
Orchestra will add descriptive music to this programme.

Talks You Will Hear.

An interesting series of afternoon
Talks on "Tramps in Tuscany" by Mrs. Marian Mackay Sharpe, begins this week with "The Little Hill Cities," on Monday afternoon. The series of talks on "Hampshire Holidays" will be continued on Tuesday by Mr. John
A. Peart who, at 7.40 p.m., will deal with "Romsey." On Monday evening
Mr. H. J. Matthews will give the third of his series of talks on "The Cinque Ports"; and on Thursday "An Elizabethan Voyage to the Spice Islands" will be described by Mr. H. G. Dalway Turnbull.

Since Kate Chalico was called to the Bar, two years ago, she has concentrated her energies upon her profession, neglecting her knitting and her husband. Tonight she is seated in her study at her desk, on which there are many papers, law books, and manuscripts tied with red tape, and a tin wig-box. She has just received her sixth brief, the contents of which place her upon the horns of a dilemma that butts her back to dull domesticity.

LIVERPOOL NEWS.

From Crane Hall.

ANOTHER Orchestral Concert in the popular series which the Liverpool Station is broadcasting from Crane Hall has been arranged for Wednesday evening, at 7.45. Tickets (price 2s. 4d. and 1s. 2d.) may be obtained from Messrs. Crane and Sons, Ltd., and from the offices of the Liverpool Station. The central feature of the programme will be the Beethoven Violin Concerto, played by Mr. Arthur Catterall (solo violin) and the Station Symphony Orchestra. Mr. Catterall is, of course, well known in Liverpool, as he was for many years leader of the Liverpool Philharmonic Orchestra. The other solo artist, Mr. Walton Pritchard, who is in his early thirties, began his musical training at Chester Cathedral under Mr. J. T. Hughes and, later, was under the direction of Mr. Lewys James, the operatic baritone. He has already laid the foundations of a distinguished musical career, and has done much important work in Lancashire and the Midlands, particularly in the sphere of opera and oratorio.

NEWCASTLE NEWS.

An Entertainer.
THE entertainment on Monday evening will be contributed by Mr. Wallace Cunningham, who will be heard at 8.45 p.m. in an original musical burlesque, "Jack and Jill Up to Date." Mr. Cunningham will be remembered by Newcastle listeners as an artist who can display his versatility in songs, stories and ventriloquial sketches.

Maurice Cole.
Mr. Maurice Cole, one of the most popular of wireless pianists, will give a recital at Newcastle on Tuesday night, beginning at 10.15 p.m. It was in 1923 that Mr. Cole gave his first series of four London Recitals at the Wigmore Hall, and shortly afterwards he took up broadcasting.

Vivienne Chatterton.
A varied programme is arranged for Saturday night this week. Miss Vivienne Chatterton (soprano) and Miss Constance Willis (contralto) will be heard in duets from Mozart's famous opera Figaro. Miss Chatterton is descended from famous forbears, including Chatterton, the poet, and John Baba Chatterton, the great harpist. She showed a marked musical aptitude from an early age, and when only five she was singing songs and playing her own accompaniments.

Constance Willis.
Miss Constance Willis is a Londoner by birth, having been born within ten minutes of the B.B.C. Headquarters on Savoy Hill. She played at the Old Vic for two years in opera and Shakespeare, and from there passed on to the Carl Rosa Opera Company, and thence to the B.N.O.C.

Figaro.
Figaro was first performed in Vienna in 1786, and at the final rehearsal all present were roused to enthusiasm, and when Bonucci came to the fine passage, "Cherubino, alla vittoria, alla gloria militar," which he gave with stentorian lungs, the effect was electric.

The popular entertainers, Frank Charlton and Ted Batey, will also contribute to this programme, and as a contrast to the operatic numbers, Robert Walker (mouth-organ) will play such popular items as Valencia, Barcelona, etc. In fact, there is something in this programme to suit all tastes.

GLASGOW NEWS.
Great Beethoven Overture.
BEETHOVEN wrote only one opera, Fidelio or Wedded Love, produced at Vienna in November, 1805. The overture then played is now known as Leonora No. 2. Before the revival of the opera, Beethoven wrote the new overture, Leonora No. 3, which is being broadcast from the Glasgow Station, with Mr. Herbert A. Carruthers conducting on Thursday. Later, Beethoven wrote also Leonora No. 1 and a fourth, Overture to Fidelio, but Leonora No. 3 is undoubtedly the finest of the four overtures. In it, Beethoven, by a process of refining, elimination and compression, has brought Leonora No. 2 nearer to perfection.

Folk Song Melodies.
Humperdinck, in Hansel and Gretel, made of the story best known to German children a fairy opera which is the most popular of all his works. A post-Wagnerian, and with a wealth of technique in composition, he succeeded not merely through the reaction from the realistic Italian operas of the time, for Hansel and Gretel is still popular. The many beautiful tunes are largely formed on homely folk-song melodies. The Witches' Ride will be broadcast from the Glasgow Station on Thursday. On the same evening Mr. Robert Burnett will sing with the orchestra "The Credo" from Othello, and "Wotan's Farewell" and "Fire Music" from the Valkyrie.

Dedicated to a Patron.
On Monday, Mr. Maurice Cole will give a pianoforte recital, in which he will include Beethoven's Waldstein sonata, so called from its dedication to Count Waldstein, an amateur musician who gave Beethoven much practical encouragement and help.

ABERDEEN NEWS.

Special Events on Sunday.

ON Sunday evening, the Church Service will be of unusual interest. It will be relayed from the West U.F. Church, under the auspices of the Scottish Sunday School Union for the Promotion of Christian Education. The Address will be given by the Rev. E. Hopkins, A.T.S., of Crown Terrace Baptist Church.

The evening concert on Sunday will be a special orchestral one, when Steadman's Symphony Orchestra and the Station Orchestra will join forces under the conductorship of Mr. George Steadman. They have included in their programme the selection from the Coppelia Ballet, by Delibes.

The vocalist this evening is Mr. F. Elliot Dobie, the well-known bass-baritone, who is an established favourite with Aberdeen listeners.

PLYMOUTH NEWS.

Talks You Will Hear.

THE talks this week include another in Miss Phyllis Vivian's series on Spain, this time entitled "Autumn in Andalusia." There are also the first talks in two new series. Miss Lilian Brenton will speak on "Holidays Abroad—Paris," on Tuesday, at 7.40, and on Thursday M. A. Briaïs will begin a new French series, told by way of anecdote, with "Le Sourd à l'Auberge." On Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Colin Stratton-Hallett will talk on "Austria—Yesterday."

A Pianoforte Recital.

Dr. Harold Rhodes, who recently played a Grieg Concerto with the Band of H.M. Royal Marines from the Plymouth Studio, will give a pianoforte recital on Thursday, at 6.0 p.m., and at the same hour on Saturday, the Non-Stop Concert Party will entertain.

"Uncle Tom Cobleigh."

On Wednesday, the programme will be opened by "Uncle Tom Cobleigh," who will discuss "Sport" with his contemporaries in Muddlecombe. Uncle Tom Cobleigh is none other than Mr. George Scantlebury, the author and producer of this sketch. The cast will be supported by the Station Chorus and the Station Orchestra.

Solos and Duets.

The concluding half-hour of the programme will consist of a song recital of solos and duets by Miss Olive Sturgess (soprano) and Mr. Topliiss Green (baritone). Miss Sturgess will sing with the orchestra "Vissi d'Arte," from Tosca; and an old English song, "Whither Runneth My Sweetheart?" (1606), as well as the Waltz Song from Tom Jones (German). Mr. Topliiss Green will include the "Prologue" from I Pagliacci (Leoncavallo), with Orchestra, "Ethiopia Saluting the Colours" (Chas. Wood), and "Sigh No More" (Aiken). The duets will include Ciel Mio Padre from Aida (Verdi), sung with orchestra, and "Trot Here and There," from Véronique (Messenger).

ART and Science go hand in hand in the Brown Cabinet Loud Speaker. Beautifully finished in rich Mahogany or Oak, it will harmonise with the setting of any room, while in purity of tone and adequacy of volume it stands alone among Loud Speakers of this type. In resistances of 2,000 or 4,000 ohms. £6.6.0

Conscientiously made—for you

The careful, conscientious workmanship—the almost loving care with which Brown workers tend the instruments they make is almost akin to the pride with which the Craftsmen of old fashioned their work. This pride of work is distinctly reflected in the finished product—it will be obvious to you the moment you see a Brown Loud Speaker or Headphone.

Each Brown Instrument is conscientiously made; we, its sponsors, know that in it we have designed a Loud Speaker which will give the most faithful rendering of the Broadcast it is possible to imagine; one that, in purity of tone and adequacy of volume, sets a standard in reproduction unequalled throughout the World. Because we want to pass this on to you, we are determined that not by the slightest deviation from the high standard of workmanship, nor by a moment's relaxing in the discernment with which only the finest quality materials are chosen, shall the astounding fidelity of Brown reproduction be prejudiced.

Consistently perfect reception

Duo-triangular filament suspension

A comparison between the principles applied in different branches of engineering science is always interesting. Here, for instance, on the one hand, we have the Warren Girder—typical of some of the world's big engineering feats—built up triangle after triangle, each adding stability to the structure as a whole, and on the other, intriguingly similar, the Six-Sixty method of filament suspension in which a corresponding degree of stability is ensured by a dual system of triangles.

But in addition to the inherent stability of the Duo-Triangular system of suspension, this construction renders it unnecessary to assemble the filament in tension, and enables equal and relatively short supports to be employed, with the result, that the filament is in perfect alignment, and all possibility of displacement in any direction is eliminated. In the usual type of valve with one long and two short supports, the same degree of stability is not possible owing to the greater tendency to bend on the part of the longer support.

We have, then, a perfectly designed construction in which the relative positions of filament, grid, and anode are absolutely fixed, thereby ensuring uniformity of results, and consistently perfect reception.

And remember, Duo-Triangular Filament Suspension means increased electronic emission, since the length of filament is almost twice that in the usual type—and what a filament!—absolutely no sign of "glow" when operating at the rated voltage, and a current consumption of only .1 amp.

After exacting and exhaustive tests Messrs. A. J. Stevens (1914) Ltd., have decided to standardise SIX-SIXTY Valves in their famous "Symphony" Range of Receivers.

IT is difficult to believe one's ears. Every tone and subtle variation in the singer's voice is repeated with uncanny accuracy. The very individuality which has made her a great artiste is minutely reproduced. With the introduction of the amazing Cossor Point One, broadcast reception enters a new phase. Co-axial Mounting—a new method of construction evolved by Cossor and employed for the first time in these valves—at last permits a standard of reproduction comparable only to the flesh-and-blood artistes themselves. Don't be satisfied any longer with mediocrity. Let the new Cossor Point One Valve bring you music—rich colourful music you can enjoy—untrammelled by yesterday's mechanical limitations.

The Wireless Constructor

WITH every copy of the October issue—now on sale, price 6d.—is presented a Free Gift Booklet, "How to build your own Wireless Set"—containing 20 pages of absorbing interest to every home constructor.

This is a special number in every sense of the word. Beside containing a comprehensive review of the Radio Exhibition at Olympia, full constructional details are given of two Radio Press Star Receivers.

THIRTY-ONE STATIONS ON LOUD-SPEAKER. "The Night Hawk," Mr. Percy W. Harris's latest design, is selective, sensitive and compact; it can be built with the simplest tool kit. The very low sum of £20 will purchase all the apparatus complete with loud-speaker, batteries and valves.

TWENTY STATIONS ON LOUD-SPEAKER. The Elstree Laboratories describe the "Distaflex Two," a really astonishing reflex instrument, giving remarkable volume on the local and distant stations with two valves and a permanent crystal detector.

Mr. JOHN SCOTT-TAGGART,
F.Inst.P., A.M.I.E.E.,

The well-known expert on Valves, who discloses for the first time in this week's issue of WIRELESS the eagerly awaited details of the Elstreflex Receiver.

This set will convert tens of thousands of crystal users into valve enthusiasts. It is economical and there is no fiddling. The reflexing is carried out without detriment to the H.F. Stage.

Do not miss reading his article on this wonderful reflex receiver.

WIRELESS

INCORPORATING 2D WIRELESS WEEKLY

EVERY reader of this week's WIRELESS (2d. per week) is presented free with a magnificent 20-page sixpenny booklet—The WIRELESS RAPID TUNING and OPERATING GUIDE—the only complete gift book of reference ever produced on this fascinating subject.

This issue describes The Elstreflex Receiver—the first reflex receiver to give selectivity and range—a wonderful two valve set giving alternative programmes on the loud-speaker.

Excellent for long-range loud-speaker work. Straight line frequency Condenser tuning. Reaction and grid-bias. Fixed coils and "throw-over" switch for long and short waves.

THE BRANDESET III The same ingenious characteristics as the 2-valve receiver. Employs an extra stage of audio frequency. All battery connections plaited into one lead.

THE ELLIPTICON. Driving unit of special design. No diaphragm but a small armature which reacts to the faintest impulse. Special sound producing cabinet.

THE TABLE CONE. Attractive Cabinet. Circular diaphragm with sensitive driving unit and large magnet. Superior to any similar loud-speaker at the price.

EXPERTS IN RADIO ACOUSTICS SINCE 1908

The illustration shows a man in a dark suit and tie, viewed from the side, focused on his work. He is seated at a desk or workbench, surrounded by several glass vacuum tubes (valves) of various sizes. One large valve is prominently featured in the foreground on the left, angled towards the center. The man's hands are positioned as if he is adjusting or examining a component. The background is dark, making the man and the valves stand out. The entire scene is enclosed in a simple rectangular border.

See the Local Display

Take advantage of the special displays of Exide Batteries at the premises of all Exide Service Agents and reputable dealers. Every facility is offered for the examination of Exide Batteries for every wireless purpose. Information and advice on the selection, use and care of any type of battery will gladly be given without obligation to purchase.

Type CZG
LOW TENSION.

CZG cells are designed for use when glass containers are preferred to celluloid. They are exactly similar in price, capacity and construction of plates and separators to the well-known Exide CZ cells, only the material of the container and the design of terminals being new.

They are supplied as 2, 4 or 6-volt batteries in capacities ranging from 30 to 60 ampere hours.

A standard popular type at a reasonable price for multi-valve sets is the 3CZG6, six volts, 60 a.h. at £3/11/0, in crate.

Write for Catalogue W, which gives full particulars of the above Batteries and many other Exide types.

Type WH (Regd. Design 716,039).
HIGH TENSION.

Exide H.T. Batteries are infinitely superior to dry batteries which deteriorate rapidly, give an uneven and noisy discharge and then need complete renewal.

Sealed-in intercell connectors in Exide H.T. Batteries eliminate surface leakage. Discharge is absolutely free from fluctuations of voltage and internal resistance. Valve adjustments once made remain constant.

Exide plates will hold their charge when not in use for months on end without injury.

Exide WH Battery, capacity 5,000 milli-amp. hours, price 30/- per 24-volt unit.

Exide L.T. Batteries, for filament heating are designed to meet the requirements of every valve user, and their capacities range from 6 to 120 amp. hrs. Many of the types are available in glass or celluloid.

Exide H.T. Batteries are acknowledged by authorities to be the most satisfactory source of H.T. in existence and any desired voltage can be obtained.

work of four!

FELLOWS WIRELESS

The Fellophone Grand Three

Mounted in a well-finished cabinet with folding doors and supplied either in Jacobean or Sheraton styles, the Fellophone Grand Three is the most handsome receiving set at present on the market.

The receiving circuit of this set is ingeniously arranged to provide both the volume and the range of a four-valve set, but with the first cost and upkeep of three valves only.

The effect of a four-valve circuit is obtained by dual amplification on one valve, so that great range and selectivity are obtained and at the same time the two stages of L.F. Amplification afford ample volume for Loud Speaker work.

Several thousands of these sets have been sold and we have many highly enthusiastic letters from their delighted owners.

You can inspect and hear these sets working at any of our branch addresses given below.

A CAREFUL choice of the valves for use in the various positions of a receiving set will often make a wonderful improvement, and the time spent in making the choice is well worth while.

Brief particulars of the well known "Cosmos" Valves for working off one-cell accumulators are given here. Similar details of "Cosmos" 3-cell Valves will be given in next week's issue of this journal.

Particular attention is drawn to the "Cosmos" S.P.18/B (Blue Spot) Valve which is specially effective when used with the modern method of Resistance Capacity coupling, equalling the amplification obtained with L.F. Transformers and general purpose valves, with all the recognized advantages of resistance coupling.

To assist you in making a careful and satisfactory choice of a valve for each position in your set, the booklet illustrated below has been produced. It includes an easily understood table showing the best types of valves for use in various kinds of circuits.

Your dealer would be very pleased to give you a copy of the booklet and also of other "Cosmos" folders describing the well-known "Cosmos" Receiving Sets and components.

If by any chance you should have any difficulty in obtaining, write to:—

A COSMOS VALVE FOR EVERY POSITION

Louden Valves

Ashmolean Museum and Taylor's Buildings, Oxford.

"The call of San Sebastian on my Fellows Junior Loud Speaker."

This is the experience of Mr. Vincent Amos, of Oxford. His letter speaks for itself. If you are a valve user, you will agree.

"4, Oatlands Road, Oxford."

"Dear Sir,

"I received the F.E.R.I. Valve safely, and immediately put it into use on my 2-Valve Reflex. I am very pleased with the results—the distant stations come in with vigour and clarity. The Spanish ones are especially good—last Friday night I was able to hear clear music and the call of San Sebastian on my Fellows Junior Loud Speaker. Hamburg, 2 L.O., 6 B.M. and 5 T.T. all come in at comfortable Loud Speaker strength, which I think extraordinarily good for a 2-Valve set. Reception from Darenting, of course, is deafening, and I have to "throttle down." I still have your 6 Volt Valve working, and it is in use at present with the F.E.R.I. just received.

"In all my dealings with your firm, I have received every satisfaction, and feel you are doing a great service, to valve set users by producing such efficient Valves, Loud Speakers and Sets, etc., at such very reasonable prices.

"W. VINCENT AMOS."

Louden Valves are made by British labour in a British factory with British capital and can be depended upon for the finest volume, range and silver clearness. They can only be offered at such low prices because of our well-known policy of selling direct to the public and cutting out the middleman's profit.

Wool in the Microphone

"Pretty clear, eh . . .? What? Sounds like Mr. Godfrey is stuffing cotton-wool down his band's instruments . . .? Can't hear . . .? Oh, it's that rotten accumulator. Didn't know it was so low. Here, Johnnie. Run round to Mr. Jones. Ask him to lend me a spot of low tension . . ."

How often does that happen to you? Where the set boasts a P. & R. Gravity Float accumulator it can't happen. The Gravity Float asks for a re-charge. Its indicating floats say how far off discharge it is.

There are many technical reasons why the P. & R. Gravity Float is the kind of battery you've often hoped for. Better working reasons, like larger plate area, a stated capacity which is the true capacity, a burliness which resists buckling on accidental short-circuits; preventive reasons, like anti-creep terminals, rigid plate supports, and "sludge" collecting ducts—they're all in the P. & R.

We have written a book all about the technics of all kinds of accumulators, a copy of which we shall be happy to send you in exchange for a 'p.c. to Peto & Radford, 50 Grosvenor Gardens, S.W.1.

A Genuine Spare-Time Business

PATENT-PROTECTED ARTICLE YOU CAN MAKE AT HOME

Good Profits Guaranteed!

A REMARKABLE development in the production of indispensable Wireless and Electrical goods offers a splendid opportunity of substantial profits for those who have spare-time at home, or who are seeking a really interesting and money-making hobby.

No previous experience or mechanical skill is needed. Every detail of the work is fully explained in the simplest language, and Licenses are granted whereby every article you make is protected under Royal Letters Patent. NO RISK. PROFITS GUARANTEED.

There is no risk whatever, as the well-established and reputable firm who make this offer positively guarantee you profits. Many private individuals who have taken up this work are now making more in their leisure hours at home than from their regular well-paid situations in business or industry! It is facts like these which demand your immediate investigation. The preliminary outlay on tools, etc., is negligible; a day or two's experiment will make the average person fully efficient; the market for your products is shown to you in black and white, and you are not "tied" to any particular source of supply for raw materials. Further, your market can never be "flooded" since only one person per 50,000 inhabitants of the British Isles is eligible for a License. Apply NOW before it is too late!

Your kitchen table can be turned into a flourishing little "spare-time factory," adding many pounds a week to the family income. Write for full details TO-DAY.

A spare-room, a shed in the yard, an attic—even a kitchen table, can be turned into a flourishing little factory. Why not write NOW for full details? Simply send 2d. stamp for postage of booklet, documentary evidence, etc.

400 P.M. filaments will lift a man!

CONSIDER THE FACTS

The life of a valve is not one minute longer than the life of its filament.

Therefore, for real value, see that your valves have STRONG FILAMENTS.

The wonderful P.M. Filament offers you three times more for your money. It is so tough that even after 1,000 hours' life it can be tied in knots and cannot be broken except by the very roughest handling—result, safety against accidents.

There is more than strength in the P.M. Filament. It has up to 3 times greater length and up to 5½ times greater emission than an ordinary filament. This is where the P.M. Filament gives you real value.

Another big point, the P.M. Filament requires only one-tenth ampere giving 7 times the life to each of your accumulator charges.

For great economy, great life and great results secure the valves with
