The Quaker Who Saved Ten Million Lives.

Lord Lister was Mankind's Greatest Benefactor, says Sir Berkeley Moynihan.

DURING the week of April 5 was celebrated the centenary of the birth of Joseph Lister, and scientists and medical men from the whole civilized world met together in London to do homage to his memory. Who was Lister? What exactly did he accomplish? What place in history will posterity assign to him?

It may sound a little startling to many who have rarely heard his name, or have only vaguely connected it with some method of surgical treatment, to learn, what is undeniably true, that Lister is the greatest material benefactor of mankind the world has ever known. How is it possible to justify a claim that may seem extravagant?

Joseph Lister was born on April 5, 1827, of Quaker parents, was the son of Joseph Jackson Lister, who did much to improve the design and power of the microscope, and so put into our hands an instrument by which we are able to study the minute structure of animals, plants, metals, and so forth.

Lister from his childhood desired to be a surgeon, and at the age of seventeen joined University College, London; a non-sectarian school, one of the few from which, as a Quaker, he was not debarred. At the age of twenty-one, after taking an Arts degree, he began the study of Medicine. After nine years of study he graduated at the London University and at the Royal College of Surgeons, and was appointed House Physician and then House Surgeon at University College Hospital, and afterwards left for Edinburgh to become private assistant and house surgeon to James Syme, Professor of Surgery in the University and the 'safest surgeon of his day.'

In those days the word 'safety' was singularly inapplicable to the practice of insupportable burden of suffering and of terror. The great majority of operations now practised had not then been conceived, and some of those which are now performed daily and are almost or entirely free from risk or anxiety, were then so dangerous that only fifty years ago the managers of hospitals refused to allow the surgeons on their staffs to perform them. The opinion of the leaders of the Medical Profession of those days was voiced by our leading professional journal, which spoke of such operations as 'murderous,' and of the surgeons who practised them as guilty of offences which should be classed as manslaughter. When one reads the biographies of surgeons of a century or more ago, one is struck by the apprehension they showed when any operation had to be performed, and by the anguish of mind which possessed them for days before and afterwards. Let me recall an instance:—

When in the year 1821 Astley Cooper operated upon George IV for a small sebaceous cyst on the head, so tortured was he by anxiety lest erysipelas or blood-poisoning might develop that he sought to put upon others the responsibility of the operation. He speaks of the operation in terms which to us now appear absurd, fearing that 'it might by possibility be followed by fatal consequences.' He says: 'I saw that the operation, if it were followed by erysipelas, would destroy all my happiness and blast my reputation,' and 'I felt giddy at the idea of my fate hanging upon such an event.'

surgery. It is, I think, impossible for us to realize how great were the horrors of surgery a century ago. The number of operations practised was then very few, because of their very heavy mortality, and their almost operation, if it were followed by erysipelas, would destroy all my happiness and blast my reputation,' and 'I felt giddy at the idea of my fate hanging upon such an event.'

'Lister has saved more Lives than all the Wars of all the Ages have thrown away.'

It is hard to believe that a surgeon eminent enough to be chosen for service to the King should be so deeply moved at the prospect of what was to him, as it is to us, technically, the simplest of operations. The exercise of the art of surgery then brought terror where it now brings joy, to surgeon no less than to patient.

The hospitals of those days were the breeding-grounds of mortal pestilence, which struck down whole wards full of patients, and made of them a place of dread. A distinguished Edinburgh surgeon in the middle of last century spoke of a hospital as a 'house of death.' Lister himself said that hospitals were little short of pest houses, and over and over again the wards of hospitals, or even the whole hospital, at home and abroad, had to be closed until the plague abated.

In those days the infection of a wound made by the surgeon caused the gravest apprehension because infection, blood poisoning, in greater or less degree, was almost certain to follow. A case of compound fracture of any bone—a fracture, that is, with a wound leading from the surface to the point of the fracture—had a terrible mortality. All such wounds, whether caused by accident or made by design, became inflamed, became, as we say, septic, and discharged matter freely.

The suffering and the sorrow inseparable from the surgery of that time are exquisitely described in a book that all should read: 'Rab and His Friends,' by John Brown.

This condition of inflammation and putrefaction in wounds had received the closest attention of surgeons from time immemorial. All sought to discover how it arose and by what means it could be prevented. The generally-accepted belief was, that the decomposition of wound discharges, resulting from infection, was due to the presence of oxygen in the air; and since air could not be prevented from having access to wounds, the disastrous events were unavoidable.

A FRENCH investigator, the immortal Louis Pasteur, who was then at work in Lille, the centre of many distilleries, was led in the year 1857 to study the process of fermentation. By a series of remarkable experiments he was able most clearly to demonstrate that the activity of living particles, their growth and propagation, was the cause, and the only cause, of this process. Lister, who had spent many years in the study of inflammation and of suppuration in wounds, was quick to see that this new discovery, ridiculed and denied by others, had a cardinal importance in connection with wound infection.

The problem which at once presented itself to Lister's mind was clear. If wound infection, with all its attendant horrors and dangers, was indeed due to living particles propagating on the wound surfaces and in the wound discharges, then the destruction of these microbes, as Lister called them, within the wound would prevent the terrifying and often lethal series of events which were regarded as inevitable. Lister accordingly sought for some 'antiseptic,' as it was called, for some chemical agent which would kill the germs. The problem, however, was not so simple as it seemed. An antiseptic which would kill a germ, or at least prevent its growth, was found to lose a great part of its power when applied to a wound which was freely discharging matter. The wound discharges reduced or even abolished the power of the antiseptic; and the antiseptic itself, if applied in strong solution, caused actual corrosion of the wound surface.

LISTER was made the object of bitter criticism and scorn; ridicule and £6,000 FROM A TALK.

On Friday, April 8, this article by Sir Berkeley Moynihan was broadcast from Leeds, S.B. from all Stations, in the form of a talk in celebration of the Lister Centenary. Sir Charles Hyde, the newspaper proprietor, hearing the talk from Birmingham, was so impressed by the romance of Lord Lister's great achievement that he telephoned on the following day to the B.B.C., announcing that he had decided to endow a bed in each of five Birmingham hospitals in memory of Lord Lister. This gift—amounting to £6,000—is the largest by-product of a broadcast talk yet recorded.

contempt were poured upon his methods of treatment. Like most of the great discoverers, he met with open hostility and the most ignorant and remorseless opposition. But, quite undismayed and serenely indifferent, he worked unceasingly at his task. He now sought not to destroy the germs in the height of their malignant activities in the wound, but to destroy them before they entered the wound.

The killing of germs in or upon dead material, sponges, ligatures, instruments, presented no such difficulty as was encountered with their attempted destruction within the wound. When, therefore, a wound could be deliberately inflicted and the living germs denied access, the whole practice of surgery was revolutionized at once. Wounds were found to heal by what is called 'first intention'; infection disappeared or was greatly reduced, hospital gangrene, blood poisoning, erysipelas vanished from the surgical wards. The cavities of the body, the abdomen, the chest, the skull, which before no man dare enter, could now be laid open by the surgeon, and the disease which affected them made subject to his skill. The change in outlook and in accomplishment were incredible. Diseases from which there was no release save by death were eradicated, and life and health restored to the sufferer. New knowledge grew apace. For, in the days before Lister, the only knowledge we possessed of many diseases was gleaned from study of them after they had brought life to an end. Now it became possible to see them, handle them, study them during the lifetime of the patient; to discover their earliest manifestations, to eliminate them, even to prevent them.

MANY, perhaps, who read this article, bear upon their bodies the scar made by a surgeon, who has operated upon them for appendicitis, for a tumour, for a deformity, for any one of a hundred ailments. That scar is the caress of Lister's hand. It is he who gave your surgeon the power to heal you and to save you. You are a living memorial to the genius of Joseph Lister and a witness to his triumph over human misery and disease.

Every country in the world is carrying out the work which Lister made possible. I said of him many years ago that he had been the means of saving more lives than all the wars of all the ages had thrown away, and that still remains true. Lister has been the means of relieving more pain than all the drugs that ever were known. He has placed in our hands a power for good greater than has ever existed in the world before. He has enlisted under his banner an army whose willing recruits come from every civilized country on the globe. He created a League of all the Nations which will endure for ever. Hour by hour, day by day, we fight under his leadership, and till the end of time we shall continue to conquer in our fight against the perils, the suffering, the misery, caused by injury and disease.

How Much Does the Voice Reveal?

Professor Pear Gives Some Results of His Recent Experiment from Manchester.

[Last January three particularly interesting broadcasts of a quite original character took place from the Manchester Studio. Nine people, whose identities were unknown to listeners, in turn read the same short passage from 'The Pickwick Papers,' and listeners were invited to estimate from their voices their age, sex, occupation and upbringing. (These, by the way, were subsequently revealed in an article by the Manchester Station Director, which was published in our issue of Feb. 4.) Over 4,000 reports were sent in, and Professor Pear, who organized the tests, has been occupied all this time in analysing them. His final conclusions will be given in two articles, of which the first, dealing with the replies received from users of crystal sets, is printed below.]

RESPONSES to our request to listeners to co-operate in these interesting tests were gratifying, if embarrassingly numerous. Many listeners must have taken the greatest trouble, not only in sending specific answers to the questions set, but in supplementing these answers by letters and impressions, which will be of the greatest interest when classified. A total of well over four thousand listeners replied.

An essential preliminary to any analysis of these answers was to divide the coupons according to the type of receiver used. For obvious reasons, the divisions chosen were: I, crystal sets; II, loud-speakers; and III, valves with head-phones; for it cannot be assumed that the fidelity of transmission of these three types of receiver was equal. The results so far obtained, and with which the article deals, concern only the crystal sets, the answers from which were sorted first. They furnish approximately 50,000 individual facts, one quarter of the total.

It is important to remember that we who were carrying out the experiment were completely ignorant (as indeed everyone else was) of the type of results to be expected, since, so far as we know, this experiment was a pioneer one. At no time was an attempt made to demonstrate any preconceived ideas about the relations between voice and personality. The speakers were chosen primarily on account of their recorded achievements, not because of their voices. Seven out of the nine were chosen because they had achieved definite and admitted success in their own calling.

We therefore began with the definite knowledge that the personalities of seven of the speakers would be clearly enough marked for their voices to be affected, if indeed voice is an invariable indication of personality.

It should be explained that none of the speakers was chosen for his or her voice alone. No voice stereotyped by the convention of the theatre was consciously chosen. Speaker 9, Mr. George Grossmith, is no exception, for the reason that a modern actor may alter his voice to suit his different roles. Speaker 3, Canon Dams, has not the type of voice which, rightly or wrongly, has been stereotyped on the stage as typical of his calling. There is an important fact to note about Speaker 5. On hearing his voice in the studio it seemed to approximate very nearly to a stage stereotype of an Army officer's voice, and yet it does not seem to have produced this impression on the listening public.

Let us now consider some of the headings under which the answers have been classified.

SEX. Some listeners in their notes have criticized us for including a question concerning the sex of the speakers. Yet the results have clearly shown that this criticism is unjustified. For all speakers except No. 6, the error, it is true, was negligible, but in this case a significant number—eight per cent.—judged her to be a boy.

The mystery-voices of the second day: 4. Miss A. L. Robinson. 5. Captain Humfrey. 6. Miss Marjorie Pear.

AGE. Some details are perhaps necessary here concerning the ways in which we dealt with the enormous mass of figures that poured in upon us in answer to this question. The average age was not taken. This is because an average is trustworthy only where the factors tending towards over-estimation and under-estimation respectively are equal.

The third and last day: 7. Judge McCleary. 8. Mr. H. Cobden-Turner. 9. Mr. George Grossmith.

That these factors were unequal in this experiment appeared clearly when the results were plotted in curves. The graphical recording of age was very simple. Along the base of a large sheet of paper divided into small squares the possible estimated ages of any speaker (say, twenty to fifty) were plotted. A judgment of any particular age was recorded by making a dot in the square above its appropriate division on the base line. In this way lines of dots were erected vertically above the appropriate ages, indicating graphically the distribution of answers concerning the age of each speaker.

From such a frequency curve many significant facts can be obtained (see diagram on page 196). The first point to be noted is the common tendency to estimate age at multiples of ten, and a distinctly lesser tendency of five. The second point is the considerable over-estimation of certain ages and under-estimation of others. The representative value selected from these curves we called the 'median.' It is the middlemost value of a series. If one takes, let us say, seven estimations of age and arranges them in order of magnitude, the median value is the age assigned to the fourth answer. The actual ages of the nine speakers are as follows. The medians of their various ages as judged by listeners are given in brackets:—

Speaker No. 1	...	38	(44½)
"	"	22	(29½)
"	"	35	(39½)
"	"	39	(39½)
"	"	31	(29½)
"	"	11	(19½)
"	"	57	(47½)
"	"	35	(29½)
"	"	52	(44½)

It will be seen, then, that the greatest error occurred in the judgments concerning the two young speakers 2 and 6, both women. Their ages, especially that of speaker 6, were greatly over-estimated. The age of speaker 6 (which is eleven) was over-estimated by every listener except one, who in fact called her a boy. Speaker 2's graph, on the other hand, showed very clearly that the vast majority of listeners judged her definitely to be thirty years of age. The age of speaker 4 was correctly estimated by the majority, and it is interesting to note that in numerous other ways her personality definitely 'got across.' Speakers 7 and 9 were judged to be distinctly younger than they are. In this connection it may be noted that both are unusually active, physically and mentally, and this may well be the reason for the under-estimation.

OCCUPATION. Listeners we observed were inclined to divide their answers according to four main categories, viz.:—Manual occupation, trade, profession, and commerce.

In analyzing the replies to this question, a definite procedure was adopted with those answers which, though not absolutely correct, were very nearly so. A definite decision was made about occupations which could be counted as correct. A second calculation was made of those answers implying an occupation nearly allied to the right one. Thus, for example, Mr. George Grossmith, himself an actor-manager, was considered to be correctly described by such terms as actor, comedian, play-producer, entertainer, elocutionist, 'drama,' 'histrionic' or 'stage.' 'Nearly right' descriptions of him were announcer, amateur actor, or teacher of elocution. Fifty-eight per cent. of listeners judged his profession correctly, and a further six per cent. were 'nearly right.'

The next greatest number of correct answers concerned speaker 3. Thirty-eight per cent. judged him to be a minister of religion, a schoolmaster, teacher, a tutor, a choirmaster, or an ex-Army officer; while a further eleven per cent. replied that he was a professor, a lecturer, University don, public speaker, announcer, elocutionist, lay reader, actor, or theologian.

The consistency of errors in the replies concerning occupation was as interesting as the consistency of correct judgments. Fifty per cent. of the answers concerning speaker 1 described him as following some out-of-door occupation, such as farmer, tram or bus driver, rancher, or gardener. Speaker 8, who is in fact an electrical engineer, was usually judged as having some manual trade of a technical or semi-technical character.

The one voice that was believed beforehand to be most typical of its calling (that of speaker 5, the Army officer) was guessed correctly in only two per cent. of cases. The very widely distributed answers included almost every trade and profession, and such distantly connected occupations as 'a good housewife' and 'Salvation Army.'

In a later article, to be published in the near future in The Radio Times, I hope to be able to give some further facts based on listeners' replies, and then to sum up my conclusions as to the results of this unique experiment.

The above graph shows the distribution of listeners' opinions as to the ages of speakers 1, 2 and 3 in the 'Voice and Personality' experiment. The highest consensus of opinion was in regard to speaker number 2, whose age more than two hundred and fifty listeners judged to be 30.

Coming to the Microphone.

A Glance at Future Programmes.

THE wonderful and priceless art treasures which belong to the Nation are probably known to most people by their mere existence rather than from any real appreciation of their historic and artistic significance. Even those people who do not claim to possess a trained sense of artistic appreciation will agree that a talk by an expert on the Nation's various collections of art treasures should be of absorbing interest. The appearance of Sir Robert Witt before the microphone at LONDON on Thursday, May 12, will be keenly anticipated. No one is better able to talk about the Nation's art treasures than Sir Robert, who, besides being one of the trustees of the National Gallery and the Tate Gallery, is also the founder and chairman of the National Art Collections Fund. He has written several books on art. The same evening Professor George Gordon is giving a talk on companionable books, his choice being The Pilgrim's Progress.

A programme of music by Irving Berlin, famous for his dance songs since the days of 'Alexander's Ragtime Band,' will be given by the London Radio Dance Band, with a vocalist, from London and other Stations, between 7.45 and 8.30 p.m. on Wednesday, May 18.

A SPECIAL broadcast description of the arrival of the President of the French Republic (M. Gaston Doumergue) on a State visit to this country, will be broadcast from LONDON at 11 a.m. on Monday, May 16. It will include a description of the reception by the King at Victoria Station, as witnessed from a window above the platform, as well as a broadcast of military band music, an inspection of the Guard of Honour and other matters attendant on such an important occasion.

It is hoped to broadcast speeches by H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught, Lord Derby and Lord Creve, from the annual luncheon of the United Associations of Great Britain and France, which takes place at the Hotel Victoria, London, on Friday, May 20.

MOST readers of Punch have a particular affection for those poems of seafaring life which have for some time appeared in its pages under the initials 'C.F.S.'

Miss C. FOX SMITH.

Miss C. Fox Smith, the authoress of these delightfully vivid pictures of the sea and of sailors, has recently been engaged in writing a 'Sea Programme' which will be broadcast from BOURNEMOUTH on Wednesday, May 11, and relayed to London and other stations. This programme on Channel Yesterdays, which will include scenes in Old Portsmouth and Southampton, talk between some of Nelson's sailors on board the Agamemnon, a scene in the fo'c'sle of a 'wind-jammer' in the '70s, and a smuggling episode, should be a unique entertainment. The musical part of the programme will be provided by Dale Smith and the Station Octet.

INTIMATION has already been given in these columns of the probability of the Derby being included among those important sporting events of which narratives, or running commentaries, will be broadcast. As listeners are generally aware, a good deal of preliminary negotiation must be carried through before final details of these sporting broadcasts can be announced. That arrangements have been successfully concluded for broadcasting the greatest race of the year on the turf will be welcome news in every corner of the British Isles. There are few people who do not want to see the Derby and still fewer who do not want to hear it. The facilities placed at the disposal of the B.B.C. by the authorities are exceptionally good. A microphone will be installed in a convenient position on the roof of the Club Stand, from which an uninterrupted view of the whole course is obtained, so that the broadcast description of the race should be unique. Additional arrangements have been made by which it is hoped to broadcast sounds typical of the atmosphere of the Downs, and yet another microphone will probably be placed in the unsaddling enclosure. Further details of the programme will be published in The Radio Times in due course.

For those listeners who participated or were otherwise interested in the Telepathy experiments, carried out from London, Daventry, and other stations on Wednesday, February 16, THE RADIO TIMES will shortly publish an article by Dr. V. J. Woolley, organizer of the tests, containing the first authoritative account of the results.

MENDELSSOHN'S always popular oratorio, Elijah, which has been broadcast on several occasions, will be repeated from LONDON and other stations on Sunday afternoon, May 15. It will be done under the direction of Mr. Stanford Robinson, the B.B.C.'s chorus master, who will have as his solo artists Miss Dora Labbette (soprano), Miss Muriel Brunskill (contralto), Mr. Spencer Thomas (tenor), and Mr. Rex Palmer (baritone). The programme that evening after the news bulletin will consist of a concert of the works of Macdowell, the American composer, and will include some of his best-known music and songs. Mr. Maurice Cole will play the D Minor Piano Concerto.

MURIEL BRUNSKILL.

Mr. E. V. Lucas, well known for his charming books on London and other cities, is giving the first of a series of talks from London on the capitals of Europe on Thursday, May 12. His choice is Paris.

ONE of the most enjoyable outside broadcasts of last summer was 'Brighton Night,' when, as listeners will remember, practically the whole of one evening's programme was relayed from that South Coast resort. A similar programme will be given this year on Monday, May 23, and transmitted from LONDON, DAVENTRY and other stations. The arrangements include an introductory speech by the Mayor of Brighton, a speech by Mr. Amery on the Empire Shopping Movement, from the Dome, Military Band music, a variety programme, a performance by the Sussex Women Musicians' Club and, finally, dance music, the last three items being relayed from the Hotel Métropole. Programmes from other holiday resorts will be given during the season.

COINCIDENT with the official celebrations on Saturday, May 14, of the bi-centenary of the birth, at Sudbury in Suffolk, of Thomas Gainsborough, a talk on the life and work of the famous portrait painter will be given from LONDON and other stations by Mr. R. H. Wilenski. This will be followed by an equally interesting talk by Capt. Conor O'Brien, during which he will describe his experiences in a round-the-world voyage in the ketch-rigged yacht, Saoirse. Capt. O'Brien left Dublin on June 20, 1923, for Lyttelton, New Zealand, and after many adventures finally reached his home port again on June 20, 1925. In this period he was 280 days at sea, and covered about 31,000 miles.

Captain CONOR O'BRIEN.

An interesting talk will be given from London on Tuesday, May 10, when Mr. Sydney Moseley, well known in Fleet Street, will describe some of the journalistic 'scoops' with which he has been associated.

ONE of the best-known composers of light music is Alfred Reynolds, who, as musical director at the Lyric Theatre, Hammersmith, has been associated with many of the successful productions there. Everybody has heard and enjoyed his Policeman's Serenade, from Riverside Nights, to mention but one of his compositions. A programme of his music, conducted by himself, will be given from LONDON and other stations on Thursday, May 19.

H.R.H. PRINCESS MARY is visiting Manchester on Saturday, May 14, to lay the foundation stone of the new Nurses' Home attached to the Manchester Royal Infirmary. The local station, which recently broadcast a special appeal on behalf of the Fund for the Home, is relaying the speeches of Her Royal Highness and other personages at the function. A running commentary of the proceedings will also be broadcast.

The monthly broadcast service from St. Martin-in-the-Fields on Sunday evening, May 8, will be conducted by the new Vicar, the Rev. W. P. McCormick, D.S.O.

ADMIRAL SIR LIONEL HALSEY, G.C.M.G., G.C.V.O., K.C.I.E., is presiding at a Yorkshire Festival Dinner to be held under the auspices of the British Sailors' Society in the Town Hall, Leeds, on Wednesday, May 11, and arrangements have been made to broadcast his speech, and also that of the Lord Mayor of Leeds, from the local station. Sir Lionel, who is Comptroller and Treasurer to the Prince of Wales, and was Chief of Staff to the Prince during his Canadian, Australian and New Zealand, and India and Japan tours, has had a distinguished naval career.

Sir LIONEL HALSEY.

He was in the Heligoland Bight action in 1914, and was serving on H.M.S. Iron Duke at Jutland. The transmission on May 11 begins at 7.45 with a programme of music by R. S. Kitchen's Orchestra.

5.30-5.45 Missionary Talk by the Right Rev. U. S. AZARIAH, Bishop of Dornakel, 'India Today'

A TYPICAL member of the Tamil race, Dr. Azariah, who is the first Indian to become a Bishop, is an outstanding figure in Christian life in India. His father was an Indian clergyman working with the Church Missionary Society, and he himself has been an Indian Y.M.C.A. Secretary, Secretary of the National Missionary Society of India, and a member of the Executive of the National Christian Council of India. He was made a Bishop in 1912, and many white missionary clergy work under him. He has visited England on two occasions, when he became known as a striking speaker and preacher in English.

8.40 THE WIRELESS CHOIR

Motet, 'The Spirit also helpeth us' Bach

BACH'S half-dozen Motets are practically anthems, for double or single choir. Most of the works are shorter than the Cantatas, and contain no solo portions. The orchestral part, where there is one (as in the work now to be heard), is less independent than in the Cantatas. Generally the Motets can be effectively performed unaccompanied.

The Spirit also helpeth us was written in 1729 for the funeral service of the Rector of the Leipzig Church at which Bach was organist; it was employed later for general church use.

The words are taken from Romans viii, 26 and 27, with the addition of a verse of a Chorale, or hymn.

8.55 THE WEEK'S GOOD CAUSE: The Rev. Dr. WILLIAM C. POOLE, appeal on behalf of the Homeless Children's Aid Adoption Society girl-mother and her ill-fated child, by sheltering them, bringing home to the father a sense of his responsibility, and giving the child a fair start in life, free from the shadow that hangs over its birth. It has arranged for the adoption of over 300 homeless children into childless homes, and as it keeps in touch with the children, in all these cases, until they are at least sixteen years old, it is able to guarantee that these adoptions have been successful.

Contributions should be sent to Mr. Robert Caldwell, Hon. Treasurer, 93, Westminster Bridge Road, S.E.1.

9.20 THE 'TROUT' QUINTET
SCHUBERT

Played by MARJORIE HAYWARD (Violin); RAYMOND JEREMY (Viola); CEDRIC SHARPE (Violoncello); CLAUDE HOBDAY (Double Bass); GORDON BRYAN (Pianoforte)

Relayed from the Rudolf Steiner Hall, London

THIS work takes its title from its last Movement but one, which is founded on the Composer's own song, The Trout. The Quintet employs an unusual combination of instruments—Violin, Viola, 'Cello, Double-Bass and Piano. There are five separate Movements, as follows:

FIRST MOVEMENT (Quick, lively). At first, the First Main Tune is only hinted at. Then, after a little climax, the Violin plays the complete Tune (which is like a short verse of a song), accompanied lightly by the other Strings, and punctuated by little upward flights on the Piano. The Piano repeats this Tune, decorating it.

After a good deal of running up and downstairs in all instruments, the Second Main Tune appears in the form of a Duet for Violin and 'Cello.

There is a wealth of material in this piece, but these two Tunes are all that can or need be noted here.

SECOND MOVEMENT (At a steady pace). The Piano starts an easy-going Tune, and is answered by the Strings. After this has been treated at leisure, another Tune is heard in Viola and 'Cello. These are the two chief Tunes of a florid, but expressive Movement.

THIRD MOVEMENT, Scherzo (Very fast). The word 'Scherzo' (or 'jest') could hardly be better applied than to this playful Movement.

Even the 'Trio,' or Second Main Section, only differs from the First Main Section in being, perhaps, a little gentler. After the Second Main Section the first is repeated.

FOURTH MOVEMENT. This is a set of Variations on the song, The Trout. The Melody is given out by Strings alone; it is in two halves, each of which is repeated.

There follow Six Variations, all very complex, but easy to follow.

FIFTH MOVEMENT (Moderately quick). This is an intricate Finale to follow in detail, but it is all exhilarating music, with some inspiring moments. Notice the delightful dance-tune with which it opens.

DELIOUS' Pianoforte Concerto was first written in 1897 (when the Composer was forty) during a trip to Florida, where Delius once had an orange plantation. The work was re-written some ten years later, the original three Movements being condensed into one. Its construction is simple. The first section contains several themes, the treatment of which is very clear. A slow section is linked to this, and after it the themes of the opening section are re-presented with new harmonies and different orchestration. The Concerto ends with a short, brilliant coda.

DER ROSENKAVALIER (described as 'A Comedy for Music') is, as most people consider, the most likeable work that Strauss has yet given us.

The Princess von Werdenberg (Soprano), wife of Field-Marshal Prince von Werdenberg, is advancing in years, but has retained her beauty. She has won the affections of the youthful Octavian (Mezzo-Soprano), a young gentleman of noble family. In the First Act, Octavian is visiting her, when there arrives one Baron Ochs (Bass), who calls to ask his cousin the Princess to recommend a Rose Cavalier (i.e., an envoy who, according to the customs of old time, carried a silver rose as emblem from a suitor to his beloved).

Octavian, to avoid discovery, disguises himself as a maid-servant. The Baron is immediately attracted by the pretty chambermaid, with whom he surreptitiously makes an appointment. Meanwhile, the Princess shows to the Baron Octavian's photograph (the likeness to her maid being explained as a relationship), and suggests that he should be the desired Rose Cavalier—to which the Baron readily agrees.

Then we see and hear the doings at the Princess's morning levée, to which comes a motley crowd—people with petitions or things to sell, a milliner, a hairdresser, a tenor singer, and so on. Towards the end of the Act the crowd goes out, and there is a beautiful monologue for the Princess, in which she laments 'the snows of yesterday,' but realizes she is growing old, and must soon give place to others. Octavian tries to reassure her, but the Princess sees the truth only too clearly.

EDWARD MACDOWELL, born in 1861, was the first American to achieve distinction as a Composer. After a period of study and teaching in Germany, he returned to America (when he was twenty-seven), and in 1896 became Professor of Music at Columbia University. After eight years of work there, he retired. Brain weakness developed, and he died at the age of forty-seven.

He wrote several Sonatas and some large-scale Orchestral works, but he was essentially a miniaturist, with something of the pictorial and suggestive power of Grieg. His harmonic scheme is always finely coloured, and his sense of the poetic in music gives keen pleasure.

The fragile beauty of To a Water-Lily has something almost wistful in its tenderness.

From Uncle Remus is a depiction of one of Joel Chandler Harris's delightful tales of animal life. The indication at the head of the piece—'humorously, joyously,' gives us the cue, and we have only to think of any of the impudent adventures of Brer Rabbit to enjoy this piece, written, we may be sure, with a twinkle in the eye.

Before To the Sea MacDowell has written: 'Ocean, thou mighty monster.' 'With dignity and breadth' is the indication, and in this short piece, of about thirty bars, he arouses the mood that comes over us when we gaze upon the great, silent expanse of the sea, shimmering and gently undulating.

From a Wandering Iceberg has this stanza prefixed:—

An errant princess of the North,
A virgin snowy white,
Sails adown the summer seas
To realms of burning light.

The Song is prefaced by the words:—

A merry song, a chorus brave,
And yet a sigh regret
For roses sweet, in woodland lanes—
Ah, love can ne'er forget!

This, and the indication 'in changing moods,' are all we need to catch the half-jaunty, half-tender spirit of the piece.

9.20 DEBATE

Mr. BEVERLEY NICHOLS

and

Mr. HAMILTON FYFE

on the question

'WHAT IS THE BEST AGE?'

SIR GEOFFREY BUTLER, M.P.,

in the Chair

Relayed from The Fyvie Hall, The Polytechnic, Regent Street

WHICH of the Seven Ages—or any other number of divisions into which the life of man can be divided—is the best? There are as many answers as you like to think of, and it is a subject that will be debated as long as man endures; but seldom, probably, more amusingly than tonight.

Mr. Hamilton Fyfe is an editor and journalist of wide and varied experience. He has been on the staff of The Times, war correspondent of The Daily Mail, and in charge of British war propaganda in Germany; and amongst the papers that he has edited are The Daily Mirror and The Daily Herald.

Mr. Beverley Nichols—who so far as age goes, might easily be Mr. Fyfe's son—is a typically brilliant young writer of the post-War epoch.

Sir Geoffrey Butler, who will preside over their discussion, had a brilliant career at Cambridge, where he was President of the Union a decade before Mr. Beverley Nichols held the similar post at Oxford. He has represented his University in Parliament since 1923, and is now Parliamentary Secretary to the Secretary of State for Air.

Shadow Dance (Op. 39, No. 1)
'Keltic Sonata'—First Movement (Op. 59)

TO A WILD ROSE is the first of the Woodland Sketches. This tribute is as delicate and fragrant as the flower it celebrates.

The Shadow Dance comes from a set of twelve Studies, each intended as practice for the acquirement or strengthening of some particular point of technique. This piece, as its name suggests, is for lightness and fluency.

MacDowell's last Piano Sonata bears the title 'Keltic,' and is dedicated to Grieg. The Composer prefaces it with a verse of his own:—

'Who minds now Keltic tales of yore,
Dark Druid rhymes that thrall,
Deirdre's song and wizard lore,
Of great Cuchullin's fall.'

The atmosphere of the story of Deirdre and that of the life and death of Cuchullin, the great Irish hero who fought the Danes, are woven into the substance of the Sonata.

THE FIRST MOVEMENT, marked to be played 'with great power and dignity,' is worked out upon two Main Tunes, the one in the minor key, which begins the work, and the other in the major key, which, with a slight increase of

7.0 MINISTRY OF HEALTH TALK: Dr. J. A. GLOVER, 'How to Keep Fit at Fifty'

THE athletic world has seen several instances of freaks who seemed to retain their physical youth long after the normal span—followers of boxing will remember that ageless phenomenon, the Dixie Kid. All of us cannot expect to be able to fight twenty rounds or row a full course at the age of fifty, but anybody with average health can keep his ordinary, practical fitness till even after that age. In his talk today, Dr. Glover will sketch out the lines on which this can be done.

Prince Arthur of Connaught (left) is Hon. President of the Boys' Brigade, and Sir William Joynson-Hicks, the Home Secretary, is its London President. Both their speeches at the Annual Demonstration in the Albert Hall will be relayed by London Station tonight.

7.15 MACDOWELL.
Played by ETHEL WALKER

The 'Keltic' Sonata—Second and Third Movements

IN the SECOND MOVEMENT of the 'Keltic' Sonata MacDowell dwells upon the lovely Deirdre. He puts at the head of the Movement the direction 'with naive tenderness.' It opens with a slow melody, whose sweeping supporting chords remind us of the harpers of old who sang their ballads to their own accompaniment. The theme is somewhat developed, with rapidly-increasing emotion, until the entry of the Second Main Tune. Ever broader and more dignified becomes the music until, 'stately and sonorous,' the First Tune returns, to die away extremely softly at the end.

In the LAST MOVEMENT, 'very swift and fierce,' MacDowell suggests the scene of Cuchullin's death after being wounded in battle.

7.25 Prof. F. E. WEISS, F.R.S., 'Plant Communities—I, In Woodlands.' S.B. from Manchester

THIS is the first of a series of talks in which Professor Weiss will let listeners into some of the secrets of plant life—a subject on which he is an acknowledged expert. He has occupied the Chair of Botany in the University of Manchester since 1892, and is a past Vice-President of the University; and his name is well known to readers of the botanical periodicals.

7.45 THE RAMBLERS

FOUR RUGBY POETS

These are the four writers, all educated at Rugby School, from whose poems Mr. J. C. Stobart (himself an Old Rugbeian) will read tonight. Above are Matthew Arnold and Rupert Brooke, and below, Walter Savage Landor and Arthur Hugh Clough.

8.15 VICTOR HELY-HUTCHINSON (Pianoforte) Variations on 'Mary had a Little Lamb' in the styles of Ten Composers .. Edward Ballantine

Mozart: Agnelletto in C

Beethoven: Adagio (der Gräfin von Lämmlein-Plutschsky (dedicated to the Countess Lämmlein-Plutschsky)

Schubert: Demi moment musical

Chopin: Nocturne (Posthumous)

Wagner: Sacrificial Scene and Festival from the Tenth Act of Lammfell

Tchaikovsky: Valse Funèbre (Funeral Waltz)

Grieg: Mruks Klønh Lmbj

MacDowell: 'At a Lamb'

'Far off awchere the Keltic sun

Doth fold its fading feet,

A lassie croons a pedal point,

A lamb suspends a bleat.'

Debussy: The Evening of a Lamb

Liszt: Grand Concert Study 'for the two hands, the arms, the shoulders and the hair'

MR. BALLANTINE, the Composer of these parodies, is an American Composer, a member of the musical staff at the University of Harvard.

Parody in music is not very common. It is more difficult here than in a literary parody to avoid mere imitation of a composer's mannerisms, and to give instead a synthesis of his style, as we get it in J. C. Squire's or Owen Seaman's parodies. The slightly broader manner of Bret Harte's Condensed Novels is perhaps more fitting. The effects must, almost necessarily, be clear-cut and the points quickly made.

In most of the imitations in this piece (which is published by Hawkes) the music and the titles speak for themselves.

(1819-1861), MATTHEW ARNOLD (1822-1888),

RUPERT BROOKE (1887-1915)

ALL the four poets from whose works Mr. Stobart—who is Director of Education of the B.B.C., and himself an old Rugbeian—is to read tonight were Rugby men, and it is possible to trace a common quality in their style. All of them possess a certain precision of phrase that may or may not be due to that rigorous training in classical verse-writing which was the foundation of education at Rugby School

Wednesday's Programmes continued (May 4)

Sonatina—Indian Canzonetta and Finale

IN several of Dvorak's works written after his stay in America we find the influence of the native tunes (chiefly those of the Negroes) that he heard there. His 'Nigger' Quartet (Op. 96) and New World Symphony are perhaps the best-known examples.

This Sonatina, which is Op. 100, has a Movement generally known as the 'Indian Canzonetta,' in which a serious, rather plaintive tune is used, that probably came from one of those native American sources from which the Composer drew other inspirations about this time. It is not, however, certain that the Movement's title was given to it by Dvorak himself.

IN this is portrayed the dream of an English girl, spending a holiday in Venice. She is taken back to the ancient days of the city's glory, and views the sights as they then were. The action is laid on a stone terrace outside one of the large houses on the Venice Lagoon in summer time. The tide is high, and the lapping of the water is faintly heard. The calls of the gondoliers and their music is occasionally wafted across by the light Italian breeze.

MANCHESTER'S LIFE-BOAT PROGRAMME TONIGHT.

Two of the most interesting features of this programme will be the playing of the Blackpool Lifeboat Band and the performance of Tang o' the Sea. Here is the Band, the only one of its kind in the world; it is composed entirely of the local fishermen who man the life-boat (nearly all of them related to each other), and their playing is as dashing as their rescues. On the right and left are Mr. P. Hoole Jackson and Mr. James L. Hodson, the author and adapter of the story on which Tang o' the Sea is based.

AS the Eisteddfod is a festival of Welsh origin, it is not surprising that Wales went to the Bristol Eisteddfod in March and carried away some of the laurels. Thus, this Bristol Winners' Night will be a joint festival of songs of the West of England and Wales. Successful competitors in early days gained ready admittance into the castles of princes and nobles; these winners will be heard in castle and cottage-tonight.

THE POTTERIES CHORAL SOCIETY, conducted by CARL OLIVER

The Revenge

THE REVENGE is one of the best examples of a type of music in which Stanford excelled—the sea song. Many readers will have the libretto in their homes, for this work is a setting for Chorus and Orchestra of Tennyson's well-known ballad of the same name, which tells how Sir Richard Grenville with the Revenge, 'At Flores in the Azores,' fought against a host of Spanish galleons.

'ON TOUR' THIS WEEK.

NELSON KEYS.

There is no more popular figure in the world of musical comedy and revue than Nelson Keys, whose most recent appearance in London was in the part of Hard-Boiled Herman in the record-breaking Drury Lane success 'Ros-Marie.' 'Bunch' Keys, as he is always called, made his London debut in 'The Arcadians' in 1909, since when his genius for comedy has been confined to the musical side of the theatre—except when in 1911 he played

- 7.0 The Rt. Hon. NOEL BUXTON, M.P., 'The Joy of a Garden'

LIKE most politicians, Mr. Noel Buxton has a softer side. In the case of this particular Front-Bencher—he was Minister of Agriculture in the Labour Government—one aspect of his softer side is his interest in the London Gardens Guild, which exists to brighten London by growing flowers on everything short of a rubbish dump. It is of the activities of the Guild, and in particular of the competitions that it promotes, that he will talk tonight.

7.15 MACDOWELL

Played by ETHEL WALKER
'A Haunted House' and 'Of Brer Rabbit' from 'Fireside Tales' (Op. 81)
'A.D. 1620' from 'Sea Pieces' (Op. 55); 'March Wind' (Op. 46, No. 10)

A HAUNTED HOUSE is a capital bit of work, as nearly hair-raising as music can be. From the beginning, 'mysteriously,' played with 'very dark and sombre' colour, through the passage in the middle, 'smooth and lithe,' that surely depicts a ghostly visitor, to the end, which leaves the listener breathless and awed, the piece comes off extraordinarily well.

Of Brer Rabbit is a waggish piece.

A.D. 1620 suggests the indomitable spirit of the Pilgrim Fathers as they undertook their perilous journey to a new land. Some may find, too, a hint of the dangers they had to face on arriving there.

March Wind comes from a set of Virtuoso Studies, and is as gusty and exhilarating as can be desired. At the end we reach shelter and enjoy the sudden calm.

7.25 Prof. GEORGE GORDON, 'More Companionable Books—1, Don Quixote'

TO start his new series of talks, the Merton Professor of English Literature in the University of Oxford has chosen one of the most companionable of all the classics. 'Don Quixote,' although it relates to a mode of life as far removed from us as the Eighteenth Dynasty, and satirizes an institution that is as dead as Tutankhamen—formal Chivalry—is pre-eminent among the books that one closes with the feeling that one has parted company with friends. The mad knight of La Mancha and his homely squire pass through the most fantastic adventures, but the stranger their surroundings, the more real and intimate do they become.

7.45 JIMMY, the Quare Feller

THIS is a second opportunity to overhear the philosophical reflections of that racy character, Jimmy, who was more fully described on the occasion of his first introduction to the microphone on Monday of this week.

Sir LANDON RONALD

The 'Pathetic Symphony'

TCHAIKOVSKY'S Sixth Symphony, called by him 'The Pathetic,' has become the most popular of his larger orchestral works. It was its Composer's favourite, but he hardly anticipated for it the general approval it has received.

The separate Movements of the Symphony are as follows:—

FIRST MOVEMENT. Slow Introduction. Then Pretty quick—Rather slow—Quick and lively—Rather slow. That is to say, this is a Movement with many changes of speed. With the 'Pretty quick' section the Movement proper opens. It is made out of two chief tunes, one agitated and broken in character, and the other gracious and flowing.

SECOND MOVEMENT. (Quickly and gracefully.) This is the favourite Movement, with five beats to a bar, instead of the two, three, four, or six usual at the time this work was written. (Considered in another way, it consists of alternate bars of two beats and three beats.)

THIRD MOVEMENT. (Rapid and lively.) This has a good deal of the Military March style about it.

FOURTH MOVEMENT. (Slow and lamenting, then Somewhat quicker.) The moods here pass through pathos and pity to final despair—as though the Composer saw approaching the death which overtook him within three months of the completion of the work.

9.0 WEATHER FORECAST, SECOND GENERAL NEWS BULLETIN; Local Announcements

9.20 Prof. WALTER GARSTANG: 'The Songs of Birds'

BESIDES being Professor of Zoology at Leeds University, and an expert on some of the most abstruse aspects of Marine Biology and Deep Sea Fisheries, Professor Garstang is the author of a charming book on 'The Songs of the Birds.' In the two talks of which this is the first, he will illustrate his remarks with imitations of the various bird-calls of which he speaks—notably the Tree Pipit and the Willow Warbler.

THE WIRELESS SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

Chanson sans paroles (Song without Words)

Concerto in D for Violin and Orchestra
(Soloist, ARTHUR CATTERALL)

THE Concerto was written in 1878. It consists of three Movements, but the end of the Second leads straight into the Third.

The FIRST MOVEMENT begins with a short Introduction (moderately quick) in which the Solo Violin is silent, but the First Main Tune is hinted at in the Strings.

When the Soloist enters he is left alone for a moment or two; when he starts the First Main Tune (at a very moderate pace) he is very quietly accompanied by the other Strings (chiefly plucked). The Soloist repeats the First Main Tune an octave higher, with great elaboration. He continues with more and more brilliance, the whole Orchestra gradually entering and building up something of a climax.

Again the Solo Violin is left alone for a moment, and then introduces the Second Main Tune.

This lasts some time, and with the First Main Tune forms the basis of a lengthy, elaborate Movement.

SECOND MOVEMENT. (Moving Steadily.) This

FLOWERS IN THE HEART OF LONDON.

is a 'Canzonetta,' or 'little song.' It opens with a piece of interesting (though unaggressive) orchestral tone-painting. First Clarinet plays a short melody, accompanied by the other Clarinet, the Bassoons, Horns and (very slightly, at the opening) Oboes.

Presently the Solo Violin plays the quiet, expressive, song-like Main Tune.

After Flute and Clarinet have in turn echoed the bird-like trills of the Tune, the Solo Violin continues his song rather more vehemently.

THIRD MOVEMENT. (Quick, and very lively.) The Full Orchestra utters a cry, and Strings loudly continue this reiteration of the two notes, anticipating the First Main Tune of this Finale. Now the Solo Violin enters and has a Cadenza in the same strain.

At last the First Main Tune is fairly launched by the Soloist and starts its wild career.

When much distance has been covered, there comes a lull, and the Solo Violin ushers in the Second Main Tune (rather slower).

At last the First Main Tune returns. So this dashing Finale runs its course.

of fronts and sleeve ends; a coat so simple in design that even the most amateur dressmaker need not hesitate to attempt it. The collar which can be worn up or down, bears a trimming which is also carried out in an original way in the lining at the bottom of the coat.

The choice of materials and colour will, of course, rest with each particular listener. Miss Hardy, however, suggests that one of the new soft woolly materials would be suitable, or a repp, or a silk and wool marocain. A figure of medium size will require 3 yards for the dress, and 3½ yards for the coat, of 40-inch material; 1½ yards of crêpe-de-Chine for the front and sleeve-ends, 3 yards of crêpe-de-Chine (or other suitable material) as lining for the coat; and trimmings of various kinds—such as a light design carried out in coloured stitching, a fancy silk braid, or an arrangement of vo lea z made from crossway strips of the same material as the coat lining.

A cut-out paper pattern of the suit, together with full directions for making-up, can be obtained by sending 4d. in stamps to the B.B.C., together with the coupon on page 223 of this issue.

A Two-Piece Suit—

SPRING-CLEANING is over, the days are lengthening, the thoughts of women, with those of the B.B.C., are turning towards summer clothes. The B.B.C. has planned a series of six talks on Home Dressmaking, the first of which will be given at 3.45 p.m. today, Thursday, May 5, when Miss Pauline Hardy will describe the cutting-out and making-up of one of the two-piece suits now so fashionable.

The suit which Miss Hardy has chosen as the subject for her talks is shown in the illustration above. A smart little frock, complete in itself, yet providing scope for variety in the matter directions as to the simplest and easiest way of carrying out the making of the suit. The introductory talk—on May 5—will deal with the choice of materials, the use of the paper pattern, simple adjustments to certain types of figure, directions for cutting out the coat, pinning together and tacking. Details of the second talk will be found in the Thursday programme pages of next week's Radio Times.

Listeners should provide themselves with a note-book, pencil, pins, scissors, and tape measure, and have their pattern spread out on a table before them, together with the material for the suit or any odd piece of material for trying the effect of the grain. Those who possess a cutting-out board will find it very useful, with a few drawing pins, for holding the pattern in position whilst making the necessary alterations for adapting the pattern to various sizes and figures.

May is in some respects one of the most important months of the year. We are warned of its deceptiveness in the old Scotch saying:—

'Cast not a clout
Till May's out.'

Another saying—from Scotland, too, by the way—and dating from the time of Mary Queen of Scots is:—

'Marry in May,
Rue ay!'

From which cautious utterances we might learn, had we not known it by annual experience, that the month of the Hawthorn-nessom, Maypoles and May-Queens lures us, sometimes to our peril, to:—

'Fill the cup and in the fire of Spring
The Winter garment of repentance fling!'

A Private Income —not a Salary £400 a Year For Life for You!

Think of it! Not a salary demanding daily work at the office, but a private income to be paid to you every year as long as you live.

And while you are qualifying for it—it begins at age 55—there's full protection for your family; £3,200 plus half of every deposit you have made to date will be paid to them in the event of your death. Should that be the result of an accident £6,400 plus half the deposits will be paid.

Should illness or accident permanently prevent you earning any kind of living, £32 a month will be paid to you until you are 55, when the £400 a year becomes due.

Every year you will save a very substantial amount of Income Tax—a big consideration in itself.

This can all be accomplished by means of a plan devised by the Sun Life of Canada—the great Annuity Company with Government-supervised assets exceeding £70,000,000.

It's a wonderful plan, adaptable to any age and for any amount. It brings independence within the reach of tens of thousands of men who, otherwise, would be compelled to go on working till the end of their days.

THIS ENQUIRY FORM SENT NOW WILL BRING YOU DETAILED PARTICULARS OF A PLAN WHICH WILL MAKE YOU A HAPPIER AND RICHER MAN. POST IT TO-DAY... NO OBLIGATION IS INCURRED

 3.0 Sir ERNEST GRAY, 'How English Laws are Made—I. The word "Law" explained and applied'

Sir ERNEST GRAY.

SIR ERNEST GRAY is a prominent figure in educational circles, and in social movements of all sorts in London. He has been President of the National Union of Teachers, a member of the Consultative Committee of the Board of Education, and Vice-Chairman of the L.C.C. In this series of talks he will explain the rather complicated mechanism—typical of the historical character of the British Constitution—by which our laws are made.

- 3.30 Mr. CLIFFORD W. COLLINSON, F.R.G.S.—I, 'Let's Go Round the World'

GEOGRAPHY has long ceased to be the dreary pound of memorizing lists of capes and headlands that it was in the schooldays of the last generation. It is now generally recognized as being one of the most interesting subjects, and not least so when a talker so interesting as Mr. Clifford Collinson takes his class on a trip round the world.

 From 'Forgotten Fairy Tales':
 Sung outside the Prince's Door; Of a Tailor and a Bear
 From 'New England Idyls' (Op. 62): In Deep Woods; The Joy of Autumn

THE Forgotten Fairy Tales were published under the name of 'Edgar Thorn.' It is understood that the copyright was made over to a nurse, as an acknowledgment of some services she had given.

At the opening of the first of the two pieces from this set we have MacDowell's direction (in English, according to his custom) 'softly, wistfully,' and later 'pleadingly.' From these we can make our own mind-picture.

Of a Tailor and a Bear (after Grimm's tale) begins 'Gaily, pertly,' and before long the bear makes his entrance, 'growlingly' in the bass. We hear the cheerful notes of the fiddle, and the bear dances 'clumsily.'

MacDowell used to compose in a log cabin in the woods of New Hampshire. In Deep Woods has this verse prefixed

Above, long slender shafts of opal flame,
 Below, the dim cathedral aisles;
 The silent mystery of immortal things
 Broods o'er the woods at eve.

The Joy of Autumn well conveys the crisp-tingling freshness of the American 'fall' that stimulates and invigorates.

- 7.25 Mr. D. A. ROSS, 'A Hundred Years of Working-Class Progress'

IN this series of talks Mr. Ross will describe the improvement that has taken place in the condition of the working classes in the last hundred years; particularly by means of social progress, factory legislation, provident associations and trade unions.

The result was the foundation of that famous quarterly The Round Table, to express the views on the development of the British Commonwealth that he had formed. In 1925 he succeeded Sir Edward Grigg as Secretary of the Rhodes Trust. In this talk he will describe some of the most interesting things in South Africa, and discuss its present day problems, which he has been studying on the spot during a visit from which he has just returned.

10.22 NORMAN CARRELL
Tenor Viol Solo, Slow Movement and Minuet from Second Sonata, for Viola d'Amore
Ariosti (1715), with bass by L. Van Waefelghem

THE old Viols, the family of stringed instruments that preceded the Violin, Viola, Cello and Double Bass of today, had a somewhat smaller tone than these, and were both shaped and played rather differently. They had five, six, or seven strings, against the four of their modern counterparts. Their names were the Treble (or Discant), the Tenor, Bass and Double Bass Viols. The charmingly named Viola d'Amore was a Tenor Viol which had sympathetic strings; that is, seven (usually) strings of gut, with seven, or fourteen, others of fine metal stretched beneath. These vibrate in sympathy with those above, and produce an uncommon and beautiful tone.

GRACE ARNEY
Two Spinnet Solos:
Divertimentino Hook, arr. Rowley
Tambourin Dornel, arr. Groves

THE Spinnet was our early Piano, but instead of its strings, being at a high tension on an iron frame, struck by hammers, they were at but a low tension and were plucked by quills, or spines (hence 'Spinnet'), that stuck out from projections on the back ends of the keys. The names Spinnet and Virginals mean practically the same instrument. The difference was merely that of shape. The Virginal was oblong. The Spinnet, harp-shaped, was sometimes known as the 'couched harp.'

ERNST SLANEY
Viola da Gamba
Chanson Louis XIII and Pavane
Couperin, arr. Kreisler

THE Viola da Gamba ('leg viol'), the predecessor of the Cello, was very popular until about the middle of the eighteenth century. It had at first six, later seven strings. In Twelfth Night we are told that Sir Andrew Aguecheek could 'play o' the viol-de-gamboys.'

- From an Indian Lodge (from Op.
51); Hungarian (from Op. 35);
From a Log Cabin (from Op.
62); Polonaise (Op. 46, No. 12)

THE first piece is one of the Wood-land Sketches. MacDowell was interested in the music of the American Indians, and in this piece we may find a suggestion of one of their songs, punctuated by drum beats.

The Hungarian piece is one of twelve Studies from which we heard another example on Tuesday (the Shadow Dance). Tonight's study is for dash, speed, and 'virtuoso playing.'

In the lines prefixed to the third piece MacDowell describes the log cabin in the woods where he loved to compose:—

A house of dreams untold,
It looks out over the whispering tree-tops
And faces the setting sun.

The Polonaise, the last of Twelve Virtuoso Studies, is a stirring piece of good salon music, obviously influenced by Chopin.

7.25 THE START OF CRICKET

The first day's play in the SURREY versus HAMPSHIRE Match at the Oval, described by Mr. P. F. WARNER

THE first cricket match of the season began at the Oval to-day, when Surrey met Hampshire in the County Championship. The opening of the season at the Oval is always an event for Surrey's supporters, whose number is legion and whose enthusiasm is unbounded, and for London's cricket fans generally. This evening all of them who could not enjoy the match from under the shadow of the historic gas-works will be able to hear it described by one of the most famous of living cricketers, who is also one of the most expert critics of the game. Mr. P. F. Warner's playing career ended only a few years ago, and in the course of it he won a world-wide reputation as a batsman and captain. Besides captaining Middlesex for many years, he led M.C.C. teams in South Africa and in Australia, where his teams won the Ashes in 1903-4 and 1911-12.

Wireless for Hospitals.

MR. KEBLE HOWARD, who is the pioneer of the movement for the installation of wireless apparatus in hospitals—the movement carried forward with such vigour and success for London hospitals by the Daily News—is now endeavouring to obtain a full and accurate record of the present position of the movement throughout the country. Secretaries of hospitals, and secretaries of societies engaged in the enterprise of providing hospitals with wireless apparatus, are invited to communicate as soon as possible with Mr. Keble Howard, at 2, Brunswick Place, Hove, giving him information on the following points: (1) Date when the local Wireless for Hospitals Fund was inaugurated; (2) Amount raised. (3) The number of beds equipped.

Mr. Keble Howard will broadcast a talk on this subject from the London Station on a date to be arranged, after which, The Radio Times will publish an article by Mr. Howard giving an account of the progress of the movement.

RAOUL PUGNO (1852-1914) was far better known to us in this country as a Pianist than as a Composer. After appearing as a child-player, he became in turn an Organist and Professor at the Paris Conservatoire. It was comparatively late (when he was over forty) that he became really well known as a Pianist.

His compositions include an Oratorio, a number of Comic Operas and Ballets, a Pianoforte Sonata, and various other pieces, besides the Orchestral Suite we are now to hear in an arrangement for Military Band. Its three pieces are entitled respectively Slow Waltz, Punchinello and Farandole (the last being the name of a Provençal festal dance).

9.20 Writers of Today: Mr. E. M. FORSTER reading a Short Story

IN Mr. E. M. Forster, the list of notable writers who have broadcast from the London Studio gains a distinguished accession. One of those self-critical writers who publish very little, he is the author of one of the finest novels of recent years—'A Passage to India,' which won the James Tait Black Prize in 1925; of some remarkable stories of the supernatural, in 'The Celestial Omnibus'; and of a most penetrating essay on 'Anonymity,' recently published in the Hogarth Press series. He also edited that interesting book of eighteenth-century correspondence, 'The Letters of Mrs. Eliza Fay.'

THE annual Empire Shopping Week is an institution that does much to make the British housewife realize how vast are the resources of the Empire and how many of her needs can be supplied from within its bounds. Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, whose picture this is, is President of the Board of Trade and so is in a position to know better than anyone else how much of our money goes abroad without need.

A Policy pledged to Progress

IT is fitting that the Kalenised filament should be a Cossor invention—for no other manufacturer has done more to advance the prestige of British valves.

* * *

Always closely identified with improvements in valve design, Cossor—with the Kalenised filament and the revolutionary system of Co-axial Mounting—proves again how earnestly is its policy pledged to Progress.

* * *

The Kalenised filament strikes at the very root of premature filament fracture. Because it functions without visible glow Heat is practically eliminated. As everyone knows, it is Heat which causes a filament to become brittle and fall a victim to the slightest shock.

* * *

But Cossor users obtain something even more important than a robust filament. They get a quality of reproduction far in advance of present-day standards. The music of the studio is re-created in the home with astonishing realism. Due to the gigantic emission from its Kalenised filament, the Cossor Valve gives greater volume with a rare and pleasing sweetness of tone. Microphonic noises—the old bug-bear of wireless—are completely eliminated.

* * *

With Cossor Valves the music is re-created upon a background of dead silence. From end to end of the scale every note is heard at its true value. None is emphasized at the expense of others—even the elusive low chords boom forth with impressive grandeur. And this emission is long-lasting—it never falls off in intensity. When other valves have long ceased to function, Cossor valves continue to create broadcast music with a freshness and vitality which satisfies the most critical.

Louden Valves

WHEN you have carefully weighed all the claims set forth on behalf of filaments with queer sounding names, filaments that can be tied in a bow, the vacuum which is so hard that there is nothing in it, and so on, just look at the table shown below. Then write to us, or to the nearest Fellows Branch and order the valves which give you strong, silver-clear reception, long service, and great economy of current. The valves which should, if performance alone decided the price, cost two or three times the figure we ask—Louden Valves.

BRIM-FULL OF NEW ENERGY

You want to know that the Battery you buy is fresh before you pay for it—you are certain of that if you ask for a LISSEN New Process Battery. Here is a Battery with more energy in it than any other battery its size, because more energy has been put into it by means of a process with a chemical combination known only to LISSEN.

Not only more energy, but a better kind of energy than anything known before, and the success of the new process is now a definitely established fact. Clean, clear energy, noiseless, smooth in its flow, definite energy which puts real power into your loud speaker and a clear tone which is sustained throughout the longest programme.

Not only the finest battery, but the finest battery at an irresistibly low price. Intended first for sale at 13s. but put on the market at 10s. 6d. by means of the new LISSEN Policy of direct-to-dealer distribution which cut out big Wholesalers' profits. Then on Monday, January 24th, 1927, reduced from 10s. 6d. to 7s. 11d. by the bold step of cutting our own profits and asking the Trade to make a sacrifice as well.

Battery buyers were quick to see the finest value for money for them, and so flooded were we with orders that we had to curtail all advertisements. All arrears of orders have now been overcome and this fine battery is available to all. Any good dealer can supply. Ask for a LISSEN New Process—take nothing else. If any difficulty, send direct to the factory, no postage charged, or can be sent C.O.D.

'STEEP SLOPE'

DEH 410

"It is astonishing how popular Resistance Capacity coupling has become of late," said 'TONE' to 'POWER.' "Mind you," replied 'POWER,' "if the best results are to be obtained from this type of circuit you must use a valve with characteristics specially designed for it. Now, the new D.E.H.410 'Steep Slope' OSRAM VALVE has the high amplification factor of 40, which means that great volume is secured. At the same time waste resistance in the valve is avoided, so that a very high H.T. voltage is not required." "True enough," said 'TONE.' "And users of the OSRAM D.E.H.410 get all the sweetness for which resistance capacity coupling is noted."

Got Company?

WE do get surprises nowadays! We visit the Smiths, for instance, whom we know to be the most unmusical of families . . . none of them could even play a mouth-organ! The moment the door is opened we hear the strains of a violin. "Hullo! Got Company?" we ask. Smith smiles, and passing into the room we see . . . a BROWN Loud Speaker.

You do not know to what heights of reality radio reproduction has risen until you hear the BROWN. No other Loud Speaker gives such a life-like rendering of the broadcast. Even the BROWN instruments of a year ago—undoubtedly good as they were—have been left far behind. Particularly in this new BROWN Sphinx Loud Speaker is this advance noticeable. Its reproduction is as faithful as the reflection your mirror casts. An almost uncanny reality which seems to bring the living artiste to your room. "Got company?" your friends may well ask when they first hear the strains of BROWN reproduction. Ten models from 30/- to £15 15s. Sphinx Loud Speaker, £12 10s.

Free!

FILL in the coupon below and get your copy of the "Resistor" Book. From it you will be able easily to construct, in a few hours, a "Resistor" receiver which will cost less and give much better results than the ordinary valve set.

There are no transformers in "Resistor" sets; hence their remarkable purity of tone and low cost. The wonderful B 8 valve with its tremendous amplification factor gives all the volume of transformer coupling without any of the disadvantages of that method. The diagram below is taken from the "Resistor" book and is of a 3-valve receiver. Its extreme simplicity is obvious. This set requires very few components and can be built for approximately £2 15 0. The "Resistor" book contains all necessary details for constructing this receiver. Full details are also given for building 2, 4 and 5 valve "Resistor" receivers and a 2-valve "Resistor" amplifier.

When you construct a "Resistor" or any resistance-coupled receiver use a B8 valve and get maximum volume and purity. The characteristics of the B 8 guarantee this, and remember its H.T. current consumption is only 1/60 as much as that of an ordinary valve.

HON. BETTY: What fox-trot is this, Ivor? "Take me to my lovelorn-coloured mamma."
IVOR: Might be a smack from daddy, for all I know.
H.B.: Really, Ivor, you're the most hopeless thing in creation.
IVOR: Well, you see, my musical education has been sadly neglected—hardly heard a note for about 10 years!
H.B.: You can't make deafness the excuse now.
IVOR: No, thanks to you, Betty, since you put me on to the Acousticon. I'm always ready for anything, from The Royal Tournament to Ascot, from a tea party in Mayfair to the changing of the Guard.
H.B.: Marvellous what the latest hearing aid in the world will do, eh?
IVOR: In the words of Uncle Sam, Betty, "it leaves you guessing."

TO THE DEAF

No one knows how much pleasure is spoiled by deafness. Many people who are deaf don't realize it till they come here and learn how the Acousticon brings back sounds that they hadn't heard for years. It's almost unbelievable that so small an instrument and one that's so free from extraneous noises can have such power and transmit the voice so clearly. An immediate invitation is extended to all who are deaf to call and try this little instrument. There's no fee, and particulars will be willingly sent if it is impossible to come personally.

STANDARD WET H.T. BATTERIES

(Sac Leclanche Type)

IDEAL FOR SUMMER AND WINTER USE—NO CHARGING—ECONOMICAL—PERMANENT—SILENT

An example of the many letters received:—

E.J.R. Southsea. Apl. 17th.

All wireless experts will agree that if an H.T. battery will stand up day after day for weeks to work efficiently on seven valves Super-Het set, then it will work any set.

Previous to trying your Wet Batteries I had tried various well advertised Dry Batteries, and two different makes of H.T. accumulators, neither gave me anything like the results I have got from your Wet Batteries.

Any ordinary valve set not fitted with your Wet H.T. Batteries is incomplete, and as the expense is no more than the cost of a cheap Dry Battery I cannot conceive any wireless without them.

The Wonderful P.M. Filament

serves you a thousand times round the clock and continues its high performance long afterwards the same as when new

Even a year's broadcasting service will not impair the original perfect results given by Mullard P.M. Valves with the wonderful P.M. Filament. This fact was convincingly proved by the test report of the National Physical Laboratory. After 1,000 hours' rigorous life test the operating characteristics of P.M. Valves with the unique P.M. Filament were the same as before the test.

This unequalled performance is due, without question, to the gigantic emission of the P.M. Filament. Vastly increased emission from the P.M. Filament means more than long useful valve life, it secures greater sensitivity, greater volume and purer reproduction.

Enjoy the fullest possibilities of your radio receiver.

Bring in stations you have never heard before, and obtain really pure, musical reception by asking for valves that have an official Government Laboratory Test Report—
