

THE BROADCAST PROGRAMMES FOR JULY 14—JULY 20.

THE RADIO TIMES

THE JOURNAL OF THE BRITISH BROADCASTING CORPORATION

Vol. 24. No. 392.

[Registered at the G.P.O. as a Newspaper.]

JULY 12, 1929.

Every Friday. TWO PENCE.

A FEATURE PROGRAMME
ENSHRINING THE STORY
BEHIND THE FAMOUS
PALACE OF LOUIS XIV.

'OLD VERSAILLES'

THIS NOVEL PROGRAMME IS TO BE BROADCAST FROM ALL STATIONS ON
THE EVENING OF JULY 15.

At 8.15 p.m. on Wednesday, July 17,

'ELECTRA'

Euripides' Play, in Gilbert Murray's English verse translation, will be heard from London on Wednesday, and from Daventry on Tuesday. This is the eleventh in the 'Great Plays' broadcast series.

At 9.35 p.m. on Friday, July 19,

BARBIROLLI

The Symphony Concert from London, in which a symphony by Haydn and works by Rimsky-Korsakov and William Walton will be played, is to be conducted by John Barbirolli, the brilliant young conductor.

At 9.35 p.m. on Thursday, July 18,

ALHAMBRA

A Programme of Ballet Music from the Alhambra of the 'Eighties,' conducted by Maurice Jacobi (son of the ballet composer who wrote a hundred ballets for the Alhambra), will be broadcast from London.

At 8.20 p.m. on Saturday, July 20,

'LOVE LIES'

An extract from this successful musical play, now running at the Gaiety, London, will be relayed from the theatre and broadcast to all stations. Laddie Cliff and Stanley Lupino are among those in the cast.

Among the Contributors to this week's issue are:

J. C. SQUIRE

'Shall we Sell the Air?'

FRANK KENDON

'Traveller's Joy'

W. ROOKE LEY

'The Palace of Versailles'

PERCY A. SCHOLES

'God Save the Queens of Song!'

W. A. DARLINGTON

'The "Electra" of Euripides'

R. M. FREEMAN

'Samuel Pepys, Listener'

Greater H.F. amplification... with stability and ease of control

Marconi S.215 Screen Grid Valve

| | |
|----------------------------|---------------|
| Filament volts | 2.0 max. |
| Filament current | 0.15 amp. |
| Anode volts | 100 to 150 |
| Screen grid volts | .60 to .90 |
| Amplification factor | 170 |
| Impedance | 200,000 ohms. |

Discriminating wireless owners insist on these modern valves

NOW—you can get the maximum effect from each of your H.F. stages, without the bother of a neutrodyne circuit, and with greater freedom from oscillation.

These specially-designed valves, with their screening grid, prevent any feed-back from the plate. However much reaction you use, you can be certain that your set is causing no annoyance to your neighbours.

You can search for distant stations with greater freedom. These Marconi screen grid valves give astonishing volume and render Continental reception certain and enjoyable, bringing in programmes you have never heard before.

Designed by Marconi experts, made by Marconi craftsmen, every Marconi screen grid valve is perfectly dependable in use. Ask for S.215 at any wireless shop — it costs 22/6.

Write for catalogue No. 520 to The Marconiphone Company Ltd., 210-212 Tottenham Court Road, London, W.1, mentioning "Radio Times."

M A R C O N I
SCREEN GRID VALVES

Showrooms: 210-212 Tottenham Court Road, W.1, and Marconi House, Strand, W.C. 2.

THE RADIO TIMES

Vol. 24. No. 302.

[Registered at the
G.P.O. as a Newspaper.]

JULY 12, 1929.

Every Friday. Two Pence.

SHALL WE SELL THE AIR?

IN The Radio Times for June 21 there was an article entitled 'Financial Broadcasting: "Realism" and Reality.' As one who has recently been listening, in America, to American broadcasts, I should like to add a footnote to that article. Nothing that I say will, I hope, be construed as being inspired by the silly anti-Americanism which is prevalent in some quarters here. America, in Europe, tends to be judged by her worst exports: America, if one visits it, is in a thousand ways inspiring. I have been there twice. I was there this year. I propose next year to breathe that exhilarating air again. The clean slate of that continent is being written upon with enormous rapidity. The glittering, great buildings are rising in their hundreds. The great democratic educational experiment, in spite of all foreign criticism, advances by leaps and bounds. Literature develops; native fine arts tentatively advance; painters come into prominence; there is a tremendous public for the opera and the theatre; there is a general air of optimism, of readiness to welcome new ideas, youth is given its head. America may be attacked on some grounds, and applauded on some. But American broadcasting! That ever a man should have had the face to suggest in a serious English review that the American wireless services were ideal and should be made a model for our own! I can hear my American friends laughing!

The article appeared in the May number of a new monthly review, The Realist, and was written by a Mr. N. Bantock Reynolds, at whose nationality I cannot even guess. Mr. Reynolds' frankly commercial outlook (I may say in parenthesis) appears very oddly in the pages of this very solid and 'progressive' review. I notice that on the editorial board of this review are numerous persons whom I respect, including Messrs. Arnold Bennett, Aldous Huxley, Julian Huxley and H. G. Wells, Miss Eileen Power and Miss Rebecca West. I may not always agree with these ladies and gentlemen as to what 'realism' is, as to whither humanity is or should be tending, or as to the means which should be adopted to promote whatever aims we may have in common. But the one thing I can swear they do not believe in is that man lives by bread alone, and that all the arts and activities of man can best be promoted on a competitive commercial basis. A grosser outlook than this of Mr. Reynolds I have seldom encountered; and I have seldom come across a man more palpably inaccurate in his important facts. The Realist (and some of its articles live up to its title) describes itself as 'A Journal of Scientific Humanism.' When the editorial board, so numerous and so eminent, let this article pass they must have been asleep, or buying yokes of oxen. The one thing certain is that they cannot have been listening to the American wireless.

America is a continent; this is a small island. America is still developing its crude resources and filling up its empty spaces. America is a new and loose federation in which the powers of the central government are limited and uncertainly exercised. America is inhabited by a very independent and democratic people, or congeries of peoples, not easily to be persuaded that anything for their good can be done 'from

J. C. SQUIRE,
who has recently returned from a visit to America, deals trenchantly with the American methods of selling the air to advertisers.

above.' America is a country which seizes new things rapidly. We are older, slower, less enthusiastic, more docile, less delighted by the sight (so naturally attractive in a pioneering country) of somebody (no matter who) making immense profits. These, and scores of other reasons, may be advanced to account for the difference between the way in which broadcasting has been developed in America and that in which it has been developed in this country. But how on earth any sane man can prefer the American way, or how on earth any sane man could decide that it had led to better results than ours, beats my imagination. And a Realist, too!

We decided here to create a monopoly of the ether. We fixed a licence-duty (part of which the State arbitrarily abducts) and set out, with an organization which is a semi-department of State to provide the various publics both with the entertainment which they demanded and the entertainment which they might learn to demand if they got used to it. It has always been the object of the B.B.C. to give the listener what he liked already, and to afford him a chance of something else, and in the course of its operations it has put upon the ether almost every transmissible piece of classical and modern music and a vast variety of talks, of which each may have been one man's meat and another man's poison. All this the listener has received for ten shillings a year. In America the system has been different. Private companies have owned the broadcasting stations, which are very numerous. They have no licence duties to finance them. The only source of revenue is advertisers who naturally 'put out' what they want to 'put out.' What should we expect from that system? We should expect that the advertisers would cater all the time for the largest public and that they would insinuate the merits of their products between the 'items.' We should not be surprised if cigarette manufacturers should get athletes to come to the microphone (and this has happened) to suggest that cigarettes (I am not saying a word against them in any other connection) are good for training; and we should be surprised if we got an evening of good music without any intrusion of advertising. That is precisely what has happened in America, in spite of Mr. Reynolds' assertion that the competition of advertisers must produce 'the finest programmes.'

The American programmes are precisely what we should expect them to be. 'First-class,' says our author, and 'subjected to the closest scrutiny.' Al Jolson gets £1,000 for a quarter of an hour's work. The 'Lucky Strike' cigarette manufacturers found that broadcasting paid them:

The Blank Company, which manufactures, say, coffee, wishes to take advantage of wireless broadcasting as an advertising medium. It books one hour a week on the National Broadcasting Company network. Each week, at the commencement of what becomes known as 'The Blank Hour,' the announcer makes a statement something like this: 'And now we introduce to the radio audience the Blank Quartet, which will entertain you for an hour by courtesy of the Blank Company, manufacturers of Blank coffee. The first item will be—' That is all. For an hour the announcements relate to items on the programme only. At the end of the hour, the announcement which concludes it runs something like this: 'That, ladies and gentlemen, concludes the programme of the Blank Quartet, which comes to you by courtesy of the Blank Company, manufacturers of Blank Coffee.'

The listener has enjoyed, entirely free of charge, a very excellent hour's entertainment. The name of Blank Coffee becomes associated in his mind with this enjoyable hour, and his or her next grocery order will probably include a tin of Blank Coffee.

This is the inducement which is being held out to us to adopt the American system: programmes aimed at possible purchasers of coffee, and coffee intrigued into the notice of the enjoyers of the music. Even in theory it is disgusting that we should not be able to listen to a Beethoven Symphony without a quiet hint that we should buy coffee. In practice we should not, and the Americans do not, get very much Beethoven. All the

(Continued on page 64.)

The Broadcasters' Notes on Coming Events:

BOTH SIDES OF
THE MICROPHONE

Our Great Favourite.

A FEW evenings since we could scarcely believe our ears. Did we or did we not hear Sir Walford Davies singing Ol' Man River? But, yes, it was he. How Alec must have thrilled in his lighthouse! Sir Walford's talks are one of the 'Seven Wonders of Broadcasting.' Flying from piano to harpsichord, scattering sheaves of notes as he goes, he achieves in impressing his delightful personality with sheer accuracy. Talk, piano, harpsichord, and Ol' Man River—that quarter of an hour is a whole evening's programme in itself. We shall not be satisfied now until Sir Walford gives us a clog dance to illustrate Handel in the Strand.

'Handel in the Strand.'

'Love Lies,' from the Gaiety.

EXCERPTS from the musical play Love Lies, now running at the Gaiety, London, are to be relayed from the Theatre on the evening of July 20. The excerpts are from Acts I and II and, with the exception of a half-hour interlude, they last from 8.20 until 10.0. In true Gaiety fashion, the play treats of that Never-Never Land of musical comedy where, though Love's path may be far from smooth, it certainly leads to a 'happy-ever-after' conclusion. Song and dance and light-hearted jocularities, however, are all that sensible people ask from musical plays, and of these Stanley Lupino and Hal Brody have certainly seen that Love Lies has its share. Laddie Cliff is there: he and Connie Emerald open the first broadcast excerpt with the popular duet, 'I'm on the crest of a wave.' The excerpt closes with Stanley Lupino's song, 'I lift up my finger.'

As Lincoln Really Was.

THERE is a phrase in one of Lincoln's inaugurals that runs: 'With malice toward none, with charity for all.' This phrase might stand as the touchstone of Lincoln's own character. Such a figure, particularly when his life's work finds its peak in a cause like the war against slavery, is apt to be sentimentalized after his death. In some degree this has been the fate of Lincoln. Plays may be written about him in which he is caricatured as a sentimental hymn-warbler; but no amount of false adulation can blur the essential memory of a man like Lincoln. There was steel in his character; and you have only to read his speeches to see the tougher, as well as the gentler, qualities of the man. Probably the best-known of all those speeches is that spoken on the occasion of the dedication of the battlefield of Gettysburg as a soldiers' cemetery: the full man shines there. Instead of having been spoken some sixty years ago, those words might well have been first heard at some similar dedication after the recent war—as listeners will surely agree when they hear the speech on Sunday, July 21, as the thirteenth in the 'English Eloquence' Series.

Collection of Islands.

COMPTON MACKENZIE is next week to broadcast a talk in the holiday series. His subject will be 'The Channel Islands.' Mr. Mackenzie owns Jethou, one of the smaller islands of the group. Sixty acres of cliff and upland with a white house set in tiers of enchanting gardens (for gardening is one of the passions of this novelist's diverse and energetic existence). Its owner is a 'nesophile,' a lover of islands. Before the War he lived on Capri. During the War he was in charge of our Intelligence in the Greek Archipelago. To-day, in addition to Jethou, he owns the Shiant Islands off the West of Scotland. Staring from the deck of the Guernsey boat you may, if you have strong eyes, see Mr. Mackenzie, lord of all he surveys, striding round Jethou in the tartan of his clan, an eagle's feather in his bonnet. The population of Jethou includes nine Siamese cats—fortunate creatures, for, unlike the timid tabby of town, they are given the run of sixty acres, and hunt rabbits and gulls. You may come upon a fawn shape flattened among the heather, as wild as nature. Too few holiday makers know the Channel Islands. Their little towns—St. Peter Port, St. Helier, and so on—have an atmosphere of half-way-to-the-Continent. Our own favourite is Sark, the isle which knows no motor-cars. But there will not be room for everyone on Sark this summer.

Which Do You Prefer?

IN addition to his talk on 'The Channel Islands' Compton Mackenzie is going to debate the respective merits of the town and the country with Beverley Nichols (London, Monday evening, July 22). The contest ought to provide a merry three-quarters-of-an-hour of agile mental sparring; for the opponents are happily chosen. Anyone who has read Compton Mackenzie's books will need no assurance that he is well-versed in rural things—his knowledge of butterflies and wild flowers alone being decidedly unusual. And anyone who has read the book by which, a few years ago, Beverley Nichols sprang astonishingly into the public gaze will, on the other hand, need no assurance that he is the right man to cry the merits of a sophisticated urban life. Beverley Nichols has, on another occasion, indulged in fisticuffs over the microphone: he debated with Hamilton Fyfe on 'What is the Best Age?' The subject is this time more promising. Personally, however, if the chairman exercises the usual privilege of the chairman and sits on the fence, we shall be inclined to join him; for in this matter of town versus country we greedily aspire to an ideal that shall somehow (we have not yet discovered how) allow us to enjoy the best of both.

Bands on the Knavesmire, York.

BEFORE the various bands which will have taken part in the Northern Command Tattoo and pageant disperse to their several stations, they will combine in a Massed Bands Concert, which will be relayed to all stations from the Knavesmire at York on Sunday afternoon, July 21. There will be over two hundred musicians taking part. The seven regiments represented are drawn from all parts of the country: they are the 2nd Bn. The East Surrey Regt., 1st Bn. The Green Howards, 1st Bn. The Middlesex Regt., 1st. Bn. The Northumberland Fusiliers, 2nd Bn. The King's Regt., 1st Bn. S. Staffordshire Regt., and 5th Inniskilling Dragoon Guards.

The Simplicity of Stravinsky.

MORE than one of our friends tuned in to London for the recent Stravinsky concert, only to exclaim, when it was ended, 'Well I never! And was that Stravinsky? I thought he was fond of discords, and difficult to understand. Why, this is almost plain sailing. And really beautiful!' Indeed, The Fairy's Kiss was as lovely a thing as we have heard these many days. Only just previously we had been listening to the Covent Garden relay of Goossens' new opera, Judith. Compared with that work, The Fairy's Kiss, with its rich orchestration, its tunefulness, its comparatively easy sequences, was (to our mind) like a green oasis after the arid glare of a desert. It is a queer day when Stravinsky seems easy. Can it be that he has come round full circle again, to the music of The Firebird and Petroushka period?—having learned much, of course, on the way. Anyhow, we hope for a very early opportunity of hearing again this latest composition.

Gramophone Records.

THE first of Mr. Christopher Stone's luncheon hour programmes of new gramophone records since the date was changed from Thursdays to Fridays—on July 5—included Avant de Mourir, Pavillon Lescaut Tango Orchestra (Parlo. R370); Fueik's Entry of the Gladiators, R.A.F. Band (Regal G9320); Die Fledermaus Overture (J. Strauss), Berlin S.O. under Bruno Walter (Col. L2311); Waltz Scene from Intermezzo (R. Strauss), Berlin S.O. under Knapperbusch (Parlo. E10860); Mary, my Mary, Derek Oldham (H.M.V. B3046); Solveig's Song, Emmy Bettendorf (Parlo. E10867); Handel's Largo, Master John Bonner (Col. 8745); Melodious Memories (Regal Cinema Orchestra) (Col. 9722); and Mean to me, Helen Morgan (H.M.V. B3058).

A Note of Sadness.

OUR little world is in dissolution, that little world below stairs from the Strand which we of the B.B.C. share with the Savoy Chapel and the Savoy Theatre, a delightful universe in miniature where pheasants come to roost among the starlings in the trees of the churchyard, old men beat carpets against tombstones, and itinerant musicians, with infinite sadness, retell the legend of the Persian Garden. Jovial men with pickaxes are gutting the Savoy Theatre. Blessed with humour, they have hung their scaffolding with notices saying 'Journey's End' (the title of the last play at the old theatre) and 'House Full.' We are filled with a sense of transience, realizing that we, too, must some day go, that already in Portland Place a space is cleared for our new home. We can see ourselves, with the wistful air of the lady and gentleman in the Holman Hunt picture, emigrating in a 'bus in 1931, our laps full of microphones.

'Filled with a sense of transience.'

With Illustrations by Arthur Watts

BOTH SIDES OF THE MICROPHONE

Cure for Our National Failing.

WE hope to have cause to be very grateful to Miss Phoebe Redington, who, at 6 p.m. on July 26, is to give us 'Suggestions for Curry-making.' The pallid inadequacy of British curry has long been a blot upon the national reputation. 'Mrs. Marchmont, of the Belle Vue Private Hotel, Winklesea, I hope you are listening!' Had we a vendetta with a retired Colonel of the Indian Army we should lure him to dine at one of the 'curry hells' of Suburbia, hoping that when the yellow paste was served, he would die of mortification.

'He would die of mortification.'

The Popularity of Brahms.

THE constantly increasing popularity of Brahms is amongst the most interesting developments in musical appreciation at the moment. It is perhaps most comparable with the awakening, during the first decade of this century, of popular appreciation of Wagner. Brahms is coming into his own. It is only thirty years since his death, but already he wears in our minds something of the look of a Titan. Even among his contemporaries he appears a little alien—as remote, on the one hand, from the romanticism of Schumann as he was from the dramatic lyricism of Wagner on the other. All his best work is in classical form—symphonies, concertos, and sonatas. To have the memory of, let us say, the First Symphony and the last, the Double Concerto, and the Piano Quintet, stored away in our mind is to be in the possession of an incalculable treasure—incalculable because, like all that is rarest in art, its meaning for us grows with our experience. Brahms' music figures prominently in the programmes for the week beginning July 21; duets of his are included in the 'Foundations' (to be played by Victor Hely-Hutchinson and Leslie Heward), his Tragic Overture occurs in a Cardiff concert relayed to London on July 22, and his familiar Quartet in A Major, Op. 26, will be played from Daventry on July 27.

We Remember a Bear.

MISS MARJORIE HARRISON is giving a talk on July 18 called 'In Western Canada Now.' Personally we never hear mention of that part of the world but our memory involuntarily throws up a picture of a certain bear with which we briefly hobnobbed in the Rockies. We had strayed a while from the camp and, trustingly unarmed, sat reading by a mountain stream. We looked up and there, dappled with the sunlight falling between the leaves, was a glossy bear, drinking, not five yards away. For a while we watched him. . . . The wind was probably blowing our scent in a contrary direction; anyway, he showed no signs of noticing us when we spoke to him. . . . Should we, though, be as keen to parley with that bear if we met him 'in Western Canada now?' For that was three years ago; and the bear was a baby bear!

Music from the Colonies.

THE comparative youthfulness of our Dominions and Colonies has prevented them from contributing in any bulk to the music of the world. Emigrating composers are rare; it is almost inevitable that 'music-makers' should cling to those lands that have already a tradition behind them, and a culture. Inspiration thrives upon such soil; whereas the 'great open spaces' seem invariably to kill it. When the Dominions and Colonies shall have built up their own tradition and culture, then it may be they will contribute gloriously to the world's art. Meanwhile, of course, there are exceptions, and the onus of serious Colonial art lies rather heavily on their shoulders. In music this is particularly true. Take, for instance, South Africa. In recent years she has produced more than one exceptional prose-writer—like Miss Pauline Smith, whose novels of the veldt are imbued with a rare combination of art and imagination. But we are not aware, though open to correction, that, with one exception, she has produced composers of equal merit. The exception is W. H. Bell, an English-born and English-trained musician now long resident in the country of his adoption. He is now Dean of the Faculty of Music in the South African College of Music in the University of Cape Town. Some of his music, including a South African Symphony, has been directly inspired by his new home-country. This symphony is the principal item in London's concert on Friday evening, July 26. Other present-day composers represented in this particular programme are V. Hely-Hutchinson, Leslie Heward, and Colin Taylor.

More Viola—and an Apology.

WE have recently been called to account, by a correspondent, because of a note we wrote in these columns concerning the viola. 'It must be possible,' we said, 'to count upon one's fingers the really important works that have been written especially for the viola.' Our correspondent therefore sends us a list of some twenty-four sonatas and suites by such composers as Hindemith, Bantock, Bax, Honegger, Bloch, and Dale. We acknowledge our error, with pleasure. With pleasure, because we have a particularly warm spot in our heart for the viola; and we would willingly acknowledge anything if by so doing we might help to lift this poor Cinderella out of her present ashes of neglect. One thing more. We regret that, through an unfortunate oversight, it should have been stated in these columns that Mr. Bernard Shore would be the soloist at the forthcoming Promenade performance of Walton's new Viola Concerto. This is unfortunately wrong; Mr. Shore will not be playing this work. We therefore tender him our apologies.

A Revival.

ASHLEY DUKES' wireless play, The Dumb Wife of Cheapside, is to be given repeat performances on July 23 (5GB) and July 24 (London). The play was originally produced last April and generally voted a great success. Mr. Dukes has taken his story, you will remember, from Rabelais, who, in common with Terence and Anatole France, made merry over the man who married a dumb wife; but he has shifted the setting of the tale to that of London in early times. The gist of the story, however, remains the same: the man who married a dumb wife wishes her cured and, when she is cured, wishes her silent again. This is Mr. Dukes' first wireless play. It should not be missed.

The Wounded Mind.

THE Appeal on Sunday, July 21, is on behalf of the Ex-Services' Welfare Society, which exists to give training and treatment to men who are mentally afflicted because of the War. Often they cannot speak for themselves or give voice to their sufferings. They only know that they are unable to contend with their responsibility, and they watch in despair the ebb of their fortunes and the ruin of their homes. It was to help such cases that this deserving Welfare Society was founded. That the work achieves much is evidenced by the many instances in which men have been spared the fate of a lunatic asylum and, by careful tending, restored to a state of mental stability. Of particular interest is the colony run by the society at Leatherhead, where, under sheltered conditions, a large number of ex-Service men are trained and employed. The suffering caused by the war is, surely, a common responsibility, and particularly is this so in such cases as these. The appeal on July 21 will be made by J. H. Hayes, Esq., M.P., Vice-Chamberlain to His Majesty's Household.

New Novels.

NOVELS reviewed by Miss V. Sackville West on June 27 were: 'The Galaxy,' by Susan Ertz (Hodder and Stoughton); 'Dewey Rides,' by L. A. G. Strong (Gollancz); 'The Sleeping Fury,' by Martin Armstrong (Gollancz); 'Grand Manner,' by Louis Kronenberger (Gollancz); 'Cote d'Or,' by H. M. Tomlinson (Criterion Miscellany); 'Two Masters,' by A. W. Wheen (Criterion Miscellany); 'Speedy Death,' by Gladys Mitchell (Gollancz).

We Phralize Ourselves.

WHEN speaking of ourselves we have used the first person plural, not in its editorial sense, but because there are now more than one of us. To remove any further doubt, we are, from this week onwards, signing ourselves in the plural. Writes a listener from Mark Lane, Liverpool: 'I have discovered who "The Broadcaster" is; he is Mr. Harvey Grace. No two persons could have the same quaint and whimsical style of humour.' We are flattered, for we have the greatest regard for Mr. Grace's graceful writings. But the fact is, we are not Mr. Grace. Listeners are for ever trying to solve the vexed question of our identity. As we sit writing our paragraphs, with the swarming life of the studios below us, we have a horrid fear that a listener may be peering at us through binoculars from the roof of Woolworth's. We are modest, and the mere thought of undesirable personal publicity sets us trembling.

'A listener may be peering at us.'

The Broadcasters.

5GB Calling!

MORE ABOUT THE BLACK ARTS, LTD.

How the Experiment, in which Sir Frank Benson is Assisting, will be carried out—A New Revue—Concerts by the Leicester Military Band and Jan Berenska's Quintet—Vaudeville and Light Music.

Our Mr. Pillicock.

THOSE readers who were intrigued by my announcement in last week's Radio Times and the reproduction of the above gentleman's visiting card as representing Black Arts, Ltd., will no doubt be glad to have some further details of our experiment, in which Sir Frank Benson is assisting. Of course, when one goes to the theatre, one does not expect to be shown what goes on behind the stage setting, nor, if we wish to enjoy the play, would we want to watch its machinery. But this much I am allowed to say—that it is practically certain that the listener will not hear the whole of the programme, and that such portions of it as he does hear will be re-transmissions.

The Stage Setting.

THE radio stage will not be, as usual, the studio, but the announcer's room at 5GB, which will receive the programme by loud-speaker and re-transmit it. Few listeners may realize that a programme originated in a studio only a few yards away from the control room may have to travel half the length of the country before it is heard in the room next door. As to the composition of the programme, it is of the simplest, as befits an experiment, but it includes some delightful examples of popular Elizabethan music as well as of modern compositions. The artists include John Armstrong (tenor) and the Olof Sextet.

Sir Frank Benson.

OF all the actors who have received the honour of knighthood there is not one who, in the opinion of the whole theatrical profession, has better merited the distinction. He has produced every one of Shakespeare's plays, and during the whole of his career as actor-manager, he has sacrificed himself to increase the glory of our great National Poet. It was in 1883 that the young actor, an old Wykehamist and a graduate of New College, Oxford, came from his novitiate under Irving to take over a Shakespearean travelling company. This was the nucleus of the Benson Company, whose renown has reached every corner of the civilized world. His genius has not only set a high ideal of culture and sincerity before Shakespearean players, but it has introduced to us many of those whose names are household words in the profession.

A Theatre Knighthood.

ANOTHER notable feature of Sir Frank Benson's character is his devotion to athletics, and his true sportsmanship. He quite recently walked fifty miles from one town to another, and played when he arrived, too. In his sixtieth year, he gained the Croix de Guerre for driving an ambulance continuously day and night, under heavy fire. His knighthood was conferred on him in 1916, on the three hundredth anniversary of Shakespeare's death, at the close of the State performance of Julius Caesar, when His Majesty sent for him to the Royal Box, and dubbed him knight with a property sword borrowed from the theatre wardrobe. Anyone who has been privileged to hear Sir Frank's lectures on Shakespearean characters will recall the quiet, cultured voice, and dignified and winning presence, by which he built up his mental portraits; with not a superfluous word, every sentence and every phrase harmoniously linked to make a perfect prose picture. It is entirely characteristic of the great actor that, in acceding to the request of the B.B.C. to appear in our experimental transmission on Saturday, July 27, from 5GB, he modestly said that 'he considered the Corporation were honouring him and his life work for Shakespeare in making the suggestion.'

'Ultra Violent Items.'

MANY listeners will remember a recent occasion when, owing to a fire which dislocated the telephone service, the London control headquarters were cut off from the remainder of the country, and within two minutes a little group of artists in Birmingham had leapt into the breach and provided an impromptu revue. Four of these were John Rorke, Colleen Clifford, Harold Clemence, and Jack Venables. I still have joyous memories of the manner in which Harold Clemence put over his old Arcadians success, 'My Motter,' complete with a French version which left the average Parisian excursionist standing. These same four, together with Edith James and Alfred Butler, appear on Wednesday, July 24, in a new revue, X-Radiants, by Dorothy Eaves. It is described as 'an unknown quantity of ultra-violent items.' Having caught a glimpse of the script, I can vouch for there being included, at any rate, three amusing skits upon modern life, and I am looking forward to hearing the complete production.

Sir FRANK BENSON.

(From a Chalk Drawing by D. Watkins-Pitchford.)

A Military Band Concert.

THE Leicestershire Military Band, which provides the evening programme on Sunday, July 21, has a large following throughout the Midlands. Formed by its present conductor, Mr. A. V. Palmer, and a few of his musical colleagues soon after the War, it has made excellent progress. Many of its players are also members of the Leicester Symphony Orchestra, which has Dr. Malcolm Sargent as its conductor. During the last few years they have ably assisted the organizers of the band to bring it to its present high status. Mr. Palmer is solo clarinet player in the Leicester Symphony Orchestra, and also in the Leicester Philharmonic Society under the bâton of Sir Henry Wood. Nottingham listeners will remember this band's broadcasts in the days of 5NG. The artists on this occasion are May Somerfield (soprano) and Barrs Partridge (violin), who at one time was sub-conductor to the Harrogate and Hastings Municipal Orchestras.

Vaudeville.

TWO vaudeville entertainments appear in 5GB's programmes from Birmingham—the first on Tuesday, July 23, and the second on Saturday, afternoon, July 27. In the first we find Marriott Edgar, Gable and Kemp (the Comedy Two), Jan Wien (banjo), and Vera Ashe and Sidney Evans, who present a sketch entitled Stung, written by L. du Garde Peach. In the second bill are Dorothy Monkman (who is as popular now with radio audiences as her Co-Optimist sister is with the followers of musical comedy), Scovell and Whelan (light duets), and Olly Oakley (banjo). The Dominoes Dance Band supports each programme.

A Well-known Birmingham Combination.

THE light music on Monday, July 22, is provided by Jan Berenska's Pianoforte Quintet. Birmingham and district know this combination as responsible for the musical programmes of one of the largest stores in the city. Mr. Berenska studied under Albert Sammons and a short time ago undertook a twenty-six weeks' Celebrity Tour with Peter Dawson. He is also known as a composer, chiefly of instrumental solos, while one of the most interesting incidents in his career was a recital given by him in the Birmingham Town Hall at the age of fifteen, when he appeared as a soloist on the pianoforte, violin, and cello. The artists on July 22 are Harry Sennett (tenor) and Cora Astle (pianoforte). The former is a Birmingham singer whose reputation is not confined to the Midlands. He has appeared at English and Scottish Concerts in both oratorio and opera, and frequently on the stage in Edward German and Gilbert and Sullivan operas. Mr. Sennett played the original Harlequin in the production of Dame Ethel Smyth's Fête Galante during its run at the Repertory Theatre, Birmingham.

With Punt and Portable.

HERE is another programme, further details of which will be given in our next issue, for an afternoon's dalliance on the river. The artists concerned are the Norris Stanley Pianoforte Sextet, Wynne Ajello (soprano), and Glyn Eastman (bass). Both these soloists are well-known radio performers—Wynne Ajello in light opera in addition to concert work, and Glyn Eastman, whose musical lectures have brought him almost as much fame as his singing. One is not surprised to find amongst his solos Elgar's Merchant Adventurers, for although born in Wales, he has lived most of his life in Bristol, the city of merchant venturers and pioneers.

High Power Short Waves.

THE studio service on Sunday, July 21, will be conducted by the Rev. R. Richmond Raymer, of Sheldon, near Birmingham.

Margaret Collier (soprano) will be heard in the relay from Lozells Picture House on Thursday, July 25.

Frederick Steger (tenor) appears in a concert of light music on Wednesday, July 24, which will be provided by the Lozells Picture House Orchestra, conducted by Mr. E. A. Parsons.

In addition to the Leicestershire Military Band concert, two further programmes of this nature are in the forthcoming arrangements—one by the City of Birmingham Police Band, on Wednesday afternoon, July 24, with Ronald Gourley (entertainer), and another by the Dunlop Works Band, which is making its second appearance in the studios on Saturday afternoon, July 27. At this concert Muriel Sotham (contralto) is the artist.

'MERCIAN.'

THE VISION OF OLD VERSAILLES.

BY W. ROOKE LEY.

TO read about French monarchy is to think oneself in fairy-tale or legend. (What a little while ago it was—not a century and a half!) A king's day passed in ritual observance that never varied from his coronation to his death. He opened his eyes every morning to the vision of courtiers waiting to dress him, and his last sight before he closed them to sleep at night was of other courtiers, who had undressed him and prayed with him, tip-toeing out of the vast bed-chamber. Never a garment might he put on himself nor remove, and never an hour was there when he was alone. He ate in public; the courtiers standing around to hand him this dish and that wine, while behind the ropes which marked off the sanctuary of kingship, passed an endless procession of his people—any one, the market-women of Paris, the very poor even. For the king was public property. As he walked with his glittering escort of nobility through the long corridors of Versailles—you might address him, kneel before him, beg a favour, seek a redress. Historic occasions come to mind. There was the evening of the espousals of Marie Antoinette: in the vast gallery was a table set for cards, and there at the close

A Feature Programme on the Theme of French July 14 is to be broadcast from London on Monday evening next.

nuptials with Spain, the French Court had been snubbed with every slight that intricate ceremonial could devise: when Louis died it was Spain that was the poor relation! Italy surrendered her century-old leadership in learning and the crafts of beauty. In war, French arms first proved their pre-eminence. The boundaries of France were fixed and secure. In every department, the victory was complete: France in that reign led Europe.

Thus modern France—the France we know, and all that we mean when we speak of French influence upon life and letters—was the creation of the 'grand siècle.' To embody it all, to be its visible and lasting monument, was built the Palace of Versailles. This, too, was the inspiration of a single mind—the King's. It was as though by some magic touch he called into being those great architects, and sculptors, and and literature, and the art of living. Thenceforward, everywhere her language imposed itself, her canons were accepted. The delicate curves of her panelling were to be found even in English drawing-rooms and government-houses of the American colonies; the glories of her painted ceilings were copied in every Hof and Residenz; and every princeling must have his 'Wilhelmslust or Ludwigsruhe or Montbijou,' with the trim alleys and bosquets, and arbours and statues, modelled on Le Notre. All this was part of the dream: Louis had foreseen it and willed it. The penetration of French dictatorship was deep and intricate: it lasts to this day in strange ramifications—even in the R.S.V.P. upon our invitations.

Louis XIV's prophecy that all the peoples of the world should come to Versailles was no rhetorical boast. History has justified it. From the ambassadors of Persia and the Grand Turk, who came in his own lifetime, to the last Czar of Russia, who stayed there in 1906, its guest-roll is a pageant of royalty. A Pope has blessed the multitude from its balconies. The Peace Conference in 1919 was a committee of the nations. Go there on a Sunday afternoon, watch the crowd, and count the languages you hear.

SOME GHOSTS OF OLD VERSAILLES

(From left to right). Marie Antoinette, Racine, Lully, Louis XIV, Molière, Lebrun, and Mansart.

of the long day of ceremony sat the boy and the girl with the old King and the Court around them, while for an hour the mob of sightseers filed past to feast their eyes upon Majesty; or another, more striking: at the birth of her first child, the crowd in the Queen's bedroom was so dense—two little urchins climbed upon the mantelpiece—that she fainted, and the King pressed his way to the window and with his elbow broke a pane of glass.

Imagine, then, a king thus hedged with divinity, all powerful, all the wealth of the nation flowing through his hands, who should be devoted body and soul to the glory of his people. One touches Eastern romance. Such a king was Louis XIV. The nation was feeling its strength. There was tremendous pride of country, intense nationalism. But it is as though the King himself had inspired this. Certainly he caught it all up into himself and directed it. He was the 'Roi Soleil,' the 'Grand Monarque'; and his age was to be known as the 'grand siècle.' He was the King of whom it would be said that 'he would give all the women in the world for Versailles': from French lips could praise be more eloquent? And Versailles, as we shall hear, was France. The nation leapt into maturity. At his painters; and Le Nôtre, greatest of gardeners. A fabulous army of masons and workpeople camp upon the site, and the immense, endless palace rises stone by stone; the intractable marsh is drained (at what labour!), is marked out into the long avenues and waterways, is tamed (at what cost!) into the stateliest garden of all time. But behind every stroke of Mansart's pencil or Le Vau's, of Lebrun's brush, of Coursevox's chisel, stands the King. The looms of the Gobelins spin their fields of tapestry at his bidding; the girandoles and candelabras, nay, the very tables and chairs—all of solid silver—are turned and chased under his approval. And when all at length is ready for the 'fête galante' it is to enshrine, there are Molière and Racine to dress the stage, and Lully to lead the great lords and ladies through nightly masquerade and ballet, to the laughter and pity of his violins.

The Palace of Versailles was the first 'Exposition Universelle' of modern times. So King Louis intended it. It drew instantly the eyes of all Europe: their gaze is not yet withdrawn. It was the symbol of French supremacy in matters of taste

I believe that each of us, even the least imaginative, approaches Versailles with a sense that he is in the presence of no mere building. He is overwhelmed, not chiefly by its vastness nor its crowded beauties. Just as whispers reach him, at every turn, of tremendous happenings, so the spirit which raised those stones calls to something in his own blood and finds answer there. He knows that he himself is a debtor to Versailles. His answer is alike an acknowledgment and an act of homage. The tragedy of fallen kingship is less poignant in the presence of this miracle of beauty which kingship raised, as an oriflamme, an inspiration to the world. There is a part of our lives that would be less ordered, less graceful, if it had never been. The expression 'good form' has fallen to base usage, but much that we venerate as form, both in art and in living, derives ultimately from the 'grand siècle.' There is thus a link between ourselves and Versailles. There is no reason why King Louis' prophecy should fail—never, perhaps, until that Macaulayesque hour strikes when the last visitor from New England, 'in the midst of a vast solitude,' shall take his stand on a broken arch of the Pont de la Concorde to sketch the ruins of the Hôtel Crillon.

The Critic from his Hearth.

GOD SAVE THE QUEENS OF SONG!

Percy A. Scholes on the public's idolatry of some famous singers. For the singing of a few songs we pay them fabulous sums. Is it to be wondered at, then, if they sometimes lose their sense of proportion?

I AM rather proud of my library, and most people who see it express a certain respect, but the other day a distinguished visitor, after a glance around it, uttered one tart criticism. 'Four long shelves of books on Beethoven, five or six of books on Wagner. Then I see Arne, Balfe, Clementi, Dittersdorf, Stephen Collins Foster, Loewe, Milhaud, Offenbach, Raff, Rousseau, and some hundreds of the other secondary, tertiary, and quaternary composers all in their due alphabetical positions in the room. But what on earth is this doing here?'

And this was 'Clara Butt: Her Life Story,' and from it the speaker's eye wandered about the shelves to the similar 'life stories' of a great many other singers.

'Surely,' said my visitor, with righteous warmth, 'the biographies and autobiographies of singers are about the least estimable class in the whole of the literature of music!'

And then, raising his voice in righteous protest, he went on to denounce prima donnas as the spoiled children of art.

They are spoiled! But who spoils them? You who read this article—you, the great Public! It is your ill-measured adulation that does the harm. For a few ringing notes of their voices you pay these people sums that make the salary of a prime minister contemptible, and then, as if they were singing to you for nothing, you express your gratitude with such heartiness that if Homer and Shakespeare were to rise from the dead and recite to you new masterpieces you would have no means remaining of expressing your approval of the miracle.

The moral effect is inevitable, and when my friend's eye alighted on that volume it alighted, as I pointed out to him, on a rather commendably mild example of this usually distressing order of authorship. Yet even our beloved Clara, who has had a sound upbringing under a British seafaring father (and quite a flock of plain-speaking British boys and girls as brothers and sisters), even she, who wears no foreign frills and comes before us with considerable platform modesty compared with some of her foreign colleagues, even she can write a commendatory Foreword to these writings of a personal friend of hers, 'breathing a fervent wish for the book's success,' after which the book itself immediately opens with nothing less than the madly extravagant statement that 'no singer within living memory and, so far as we know, none in history [my italics] has ever captured the popular imagination and affection as they have been won and held by Clara Butt.'

Alas! mad worship of singers has always existed, and, I fear, will always exist, unless at last the invisibility of broadcast performance, its absence of crowd psychology and the uselessness of crying 'bravo' in one's own back parlour may bring about the exercise of better judgment.

The tales we are told in lives of singers are startling. The book just mentioned, I have said, is relatively sober, yet I find it hard to believe that when Miss C. E. Butt competed for a scholarship at the Royal College of Music the examiners 'waved their arms, jumped to their feet, and walked about the room, talking at the top of their voices, almost shouting to one another in their excitement,' whilst 'a tear splashed down on the Principal's boot.' That might happen in Rome or Naples, but surely not in Kensington!

And having said this I shall be accused! As books on singers generally explain, critics are by nature spiteful. Madame Tetrassini, in her autobiography, forces herself to be bravely philosophical about it: 'It is too much to expect to go through life on the top of any profession without having to fight against malicious onslaughts. Even the great and good General Gordon, even Abraham Lincoln and Garibaldi did not entirely escape.'

There are many other pointed remarks beside that in Tetrassini's book. She is hurt that whilst Petrograd, Sacramento, San Francisco, and Buenos Aires have conferred on her the freedom of the city, Florence has never done so. 'Perhaps it is because Florence has been so intimately associated with such great names as Dante, Michael Angelo, Machiavelli, and others famous in the arts that it considers a prima donna to be comparatively unimportant.'

Well, perhaps it is! Frankly, if I were pressed I should have to admit that great as are Tetrassini's gifts, Dante has done a little more for the country of which he and she are natives, and, indeed, for the world. Though for that matter Florence never gave even Dante the freedom of the city, and the time came when he was glad to have freedom enough to get out of it alive.

On the whole, perhaps, the South American cities have shown most delicacy in their treatment of Tetrassini. Monte Video, for instance, where 'small boats gaily decorated with flowers came out to meet my steamer, and when I landed a carriage, richly upholstered with beautiful, sweet-smelling roses, awaited me, whilst toy bombs, noisy but harmless, heralded my arrival with a series of explosions which created an effect suggestive of artillery.'

Now what composer was ever received like that? What mere composer was, at the age of eighteen, paid £3,500 per month, as Tetrassini tells us she was, or $1,825,000 for 'talking machine contracts' as Caruso was? There was one season when Caruso manfully paid out no less than 153,933 dollars 70 cents in American income tax (roughly £38,000; his life story is full of figures and, in business-like fashion, generally gives the cents). And when, after a performance, Caruso entered a restaurant, 'everybody would rise as one man and cheer him, just as if a king had entered, only more genuinely and enthusiastically.'

Jeritza's autobiography is relatively balanced and not at all badly written. But like the rest, she lives for applause: 'For me the outstanding fact regarding a guest performance I sang in Stockholm in April, 1921, was that the King of Sweden, in the royal box, was the last man to stop applauding.' Could any of us stand that sort of thing? Ought human creatures, on the strength of a gift of God, to have their valuable immortal souls exposed to such dangers, whether by kings or commoners? What, after all, have these people done to earn it? Precious little compared with any man who daily enters a coal mine or goes to sea in a fishing cobbler!

Closing, I drop into parallel columns, and perhaps the quotations I am about to give will suggest to my friendly critic of the other day one reason (besides the wish to store up valuable human documents for the instruction of future ages) why I collect this class of literature—I have a sense of humour.

TETRAZZINI: How different was my arrival in London from that to which I had been accustomed for many years past! In the capitals and most of the other towns of the Latin republics the governors and mayors and the town bands were at the station to accord me a ceremonial welcome, as though I were a queen or a foreign representative of high rank. But chilly London!—My Life of Song, 1921.

DUKE: And now there is a little matter to which I think I am entitled to take exception. I come here in state with her Grace and her Majesty my daughter, and what do I find? Do I find, for instance, a guard of honour to receive me? No. The town illuminated? No. Refreshments provided? No. A Royal salute fired? No. Triumphant arches erected? No. The bells set ringing? Yes—one—the Visitors, and I rang it myself.—The Gondoliers, 1889.

SAMUEL PEPYS, LISTENER. By R. M. FREEMAN.

June 19.—Entertaining this day, my wife and I, a small company to Ascot, and did hire 2 fine catts to carry us. My wife wears one of those new fussy frocks, all froth and fripperies, that at back and sides dips to her ankles almost, but in front hardly hides her knees. Becomes her, methought, mighty ill, yet (poor fool) loves herself therein most preeningly beyond everything. So why should I be unhusbandly enough to spoil her happiness and (which is worse) her temper by telling her what a sketch she do look in it?

She goes in the 1st carr with Jimble and his lady, Adm^l Norker and the Fripp woman; I following in the 2nd with me Squillinger and his lady, Squillinger's lady's she-cozen, a prim but pretty piece, and rogueish little Mumps. So away, Mumps at her jinkiest, and keeps us all a-laughing, bating onelie the she-cozen that they call Hannah, who do sit looking most streightly down her nose at little madcap's innocent rogueries. Whereby did make it mine hostly duty to sweeten prim pretty Hannah by showing her a very particular attention, and presently thaws to me more than I had hoped, and when she thaws, hath a melting softness in her great hazel eyes that did me good to see. Come on the Heath, here was such a strength of vehicles as never was and no little trouble in making our allotted park over against the Grand Stand. So to eat picknick lunch with 2 magnums of champagne wine thereto and all merrie, till my wife whispers me she feels an oncoming faintness (which she lays to the heat, being a sweltering day) and fears it may end in a publick sickness. Whereby I into a pretty stew, the fool I shall be made to look by my wife's being publickly sick. However, in part by stern admonitions into her ear to contain herself, in part by feeding her sippets of ice from the champagne-bucket,

I was spared the worst (albeit still looks and feels pretty green) to me very good content.

As ill a day with the horses as ever I had, 7 betts and they all losers, which do more than ever bring it home to me what a mugg's game be this game of betting, and I believe they say true who say that Satan invented it.

In returning, Squillinger's madam goes in the carr with my wife, Jimble's potato-nosed lady coming with us. So what must Squillinger do, being now free from madam's eye, but engross prim pretty Hannah to himself in the most shameless manner possible: very base dealing, methought, in a married man and fills me with pity for his poor wife, how she would feel if she could see him. So ends for me the damndest day of my life almost and hath, moreover, stood me in above 30': which is such a sum as will not bear thinking of, to have laid it out in any one day, let alone a damned day.

TRAVELLER'S JOY

by FRANK KENDON

EVEN villains love flowers. Before we have time to think, we fall to flowers: 'Oh, look!' we cry, and death is beaten. Except for two fenced-in pieces of grass on the top of the hill by White Stone Pond, there are no wild flowers on Hampstead Heath now. We love them so dearly that they are dying of it.

For much less than the cost of a battleship, and to how much greater effect, the London parks are kept full of flowers nearly all the year. If those forgotten City churches must still be pulled down, on account of an empty City on Sundays, I would have them pulled down without more ado, and replaced by gardens, which, for a trifling cost, conduct services all the week through. Flowers call to the spirit of man, if only for an instant as he passes. They do not shut up in horror of his horrible sins; no man thinks, as he passes the irises in St. James's Park: 'How much money I could make by selling those things!' He goes on past them to his desk, hardly knowing that the sight has repaired a feather in his wing.

The Field Cowslip

Farmers are cutting their hay in the country now, and haytime means innumerable flowers—even their names in a list seem to have a summer smell—woodsage, centaury, mint, tansy, avens, loosestrife, pimpernel. Dogroses are out all over the hedges, honeysuckle is beginning, you can smell it in the lanes at night; meadow-sweet will soon be out in the corners near streams; there are still some buttercups left, and where the mower has not yet been, red sorrels stand high among thousands of white ox-eyes and yellow-rattles. Water-lilies are proudly out on the hidden ponds, the gold broom is beginning to burn brown, all the rusty hawthorn petals have blown away. By the banks you can already pick wild strawberries and find their flowers too. Cow-wheat is out, toadflax is budding, silver weed and tormentil and cinquefoil are creeping about and in yellow flower, and all the vetches and the bird's-foot. In the woods there are fox-gloves, addersmeat, enchanter's nightshade, ragged robin, sanicle, moschatel, yellow pimpernel and creeping jenny. On the downs and wastelands there are thistles, thyme, ragwort, tansy, gentian (in bud at least), rock-rose, yarrow, rest-harrow, milkwort, self-heal, and Canterbury bells.

The appeal of wildflowers is unique—they delight all men—and therefore the names men have given to them seem to have a universal freshness, quaintness and fragrance, not found in other words. Sometimes townsmen have spoken scornfully of knowing the names of flowers. 'I like to see the wild flowers,' they say, 'although I don't know their names. And what should I gain but a list, if I spent time and trouble in learning them?'

I think of the innumerable associations connected with flower names, sometimes so old as to be inherited and almost symbolic. If you will read the following short list, and let the names lie on your mind in turn, you cannot fail to see how wide and deep these associations go. They are like chords which, being struck once, go on resounding and dying:—Apple, rose, lily, hawthorn, poppy, daisy. The associations with these names are so universal, and they go so deep into our nature, that they not only raise images of delight due to the flowers, but complete moods.

For suffering and for death, when mortality can do nothing but stand by in dumb sympathy, we bring flowers. It is not a sentimental decoration of an idea, but sober fact, that the appeal which flowers make (themselves so ephemeral) is directly to the spirit. The hurt mind leaps to receive their indefinable proof of God; they are perfectly organized, lovely only in their obedience, and simple evidence, in the face of overwhelming human doubts, that the power which shapes our ends is a divinity.

At each new encounter of the flower whose name we know, new associations are added. If the labour were arduous the delight would be worth it; as it is, the very labour is itself no labour but a delight. We do not collect flower-names, but pastoral scenes, such as

The wild clematis has two local names: old man's beard and traveller's joy. If you see it in autumn, dragging its white whiskers over hedges, you will understand the first name at once; but traveller's joy remains a mystery.

In our large family, when we were children, we did what, I suppose, all country children have done for ages—we invented names for those less widely distributed flowers which were common to our own neighbourhood. Roses and daisies, hawthorn and buttercups, of course, we knew already; but we called the knapweed, with its brown, round, hairy buds, the bee-flower, the wild geranium soldier's button, speedwell was cats'-eyes, arum was lords and ladies, white campion was thunder flower, ladysmocks were milkmaids, and a certain kind of hedgerow grass, whose real name I do not know yet, was always toddling grass to us. Docks we called doctors, because they healed nettle stings, and hairy willow herb (because of its sweet, faint smell) we called the tea-flower.

Many accepted flower names—go-to-bed-at-noon, jack-by-the-hedge, lady's-shoes-and-stockings, buttercup, honeysuckle, and so on—must have had a similar fanciful origin. Other names are relics of the old nomenclature given by herbalists—eyesalve, self-heal, woundwort, heartsease; and remind us still of the credit which flowers long received for curing sickness. Others—sainfoin, milfoil, cinquefoil—tell us of our French relations, or of our old religious preferences—St. John's wort, veronica, marigold, ladysmock. Daffodil is classical asphodel still surviving. Taraxacum, the botanical name for dandelion, means the trouble healer.

The wild flowers on Hampstead Heath have

Purple Flower-Gentle

On Friday next, July 19, the Rt. Hon. Viscount Ullswater, G.C.B., will broadcast a talk, on behalf of the Society for the Promotion of Nature Reserves, entitled 'Vandals of the Countryside.'

The two illustrations on this page are reproduced, by the courtesy of Gerald Howe, Ltd., from Marcus Woodward's abridgement of Gerard's famous 'Herball.'

Wordsworth has set down in 'The Daffodils.'

The truth is that we think in words, in names. You cannot remember a river bank just now, by remembering the red and yellow, and white and pink, and purple flowers there. But if you know their names, you know them to speak to; they are your friends and you are theirs.

How were these names given to them?

been picked to death, and now that townsmen are luckily able to get out farther into the country by car wild flowers are beginning to show signs of defeat in the more popular places. Truly it is unnatural not to pick flowers, and unnatural, perhaps, to live (as we must) in such a thickly populated world; but some restraint on picking flowers is

(Continued on page 62.)

FROM THEIR FAVOURITE LETTERS

From SIR WALFORD DAVIES.

I THINK the communication from a listener that moved me most was an anonymous letter from the wife of an old man who was dying—telling me that her husband would never take morphia before 9.30 on Tuesday so that his mind might be clear for the talks.

But I think the communication that interested me most ran as follows:—

'A Quiet Kentish Village,
20th Feb. 1925,
5 p.m.

'A very old lady and gentleman had settled down before a cosy fire and with a wireless loud-speaker given them by a devoted son to cheer the evening of their lives.

'Outside workmen were busy painting. Suddenly a cry went up, "Jack! Jack! Why, I thought I could hear that old chap that taught us singing in France." Both men listened intently, and their faces lighted up with pleasure as if pleased to meet an old friend. When invited to listen, they did so with wrapt attention, singing when they were told to sing, and in perfect tune, and while packing up their tools the tune was being hummed quite correctly. Both men had been sadly distressed by the Great War, and it was very touching to notice the real respect they had for you and their keen enjoyment of your delightful talk.'

From COMPTON MACKENZIE.

HERE is a charming letter I received from an anonymous admirer:—

'Look at all your gramophone articles. People ridicule all you say about records because you are generally wrong. Some call you mad, but I say you are cranky and ignorant on the subject. People have not forgotten your sloppy sentimentality when broadcasting Carnival and so keeping us out of our beds till nearly twelve. No, you study Siamese cats and leave the gramophone and radio to people that know what they are talking about.'

From VERNON BARTLETT.

THE letter which most amused me is one from a gentleman who declared that my voice recalled to him the last time he met me, when I was lecturing on the subject of Colonization in 1896. I was then two years of age, so that he might have heard my voice, but hardly in a lecture of so serious a subject. He was, of course, confusing me with my distinguished namesake, Dr. Vernon Bartlett, of Oxford. Of the letters that have appealed to me most came as a result of a talk I gave last year about the Armistice. But it would be unfair to quote from the more pathetic ones—from blind people, from parents who had lost children in the War, or from disabled ex-soldiers, one of whom wrote (and here I do quote after all): 'Life is a very uphill fight at times, but it gives one a fresh determination to fight it out when one realizes that old comrades have not forgotten all about us.'

From TOMMY HANDLEY.

I HEREWITH enclose my latest effort which I think will suit you. You can have the full performing and mechanical rights of same, and if you think it's worth £100, send me a cheque per return; if not, I will accept anything from £5 to £1

'Yours truly,

'I've a little wireless-set
With knobs on;
It's the sort of set
That you can get Fender and Hobbs on.'

From PERCY A. SCHOLES.

THE letter that has 'appealed to me most' is that which one week came to me nearly 12,000-fold—and called for replies to the same terrifying number.

After the announcement, one never-to-be-forgotten evening, of the end of the General Strike, there was sung Parry's stirring setting of some of Blake's words ('Till I have made Jerusalem in England's green and pleasant land'). Like everybody else who heard it, I was greatly stirred, and next night when I went to Savoy Hill to broadcast my musical criticism, I offered to send a copy of words and music to any listener who would send me the postage.

Two days later came a call on the telephone from Savoy Hill. 'Mr. Scholes, there are some letters for you here. What shall we do with them?' 'How many?' said I. 'About three sackfuls!'

Parry's executors and publishers kindly relinquished royalties and profits, and the B.B.C. staff, with splendid spirit, relieved me of the clerical work, and so I escaped ruin!

If I forget everything else connected with my association with the B.B.C., I shall never forget this evidence of the moving power of a piece of fine poetry finely set to music when sung at the appropriate moment.

SOME TIME AGO WE ASKED A NUMBER OF
WELL-KNOWN BROAD-CASTERS TO LET US
PEEP INTO THEIR POST-
BAG. HERE ARE EIGHT LETTERS RECEIVED BY THEM FROM ADMIRERS
—AND OTHERS!

From A. J. ALAN.

YOU are probably one of the most convincing liars who ever lived, and you may take that as a compliment, but you are a fraud all the same.

'It isn't that I don't believe every word you say, when you say it, because I do.

'It isn't that all your "adventures" (forgive the inverted commas) couldn't have happened to one person, because they could—but they couldn't all have happened to you, my friend, and that is the point I wish to make.

'You give yourself away from time to time by the obviously truthful expression of your own personal opinions.

'You frequently say, "Of course I couldn't do this, or that," without a word of explanation, thereby showing quite clearly that you still adhere to the narrow ideas of "good form" which doubtless obtained at your public school in (say) 1900, and which are rather out of date in this year of grace.

'You also sometimes imply that, to you at any rate, women who make up their faces and wear short skirts don't look respectable—where have you been all these years?

'I am convinced that no one with your mentality would ever go within a mile of a night club or any other of the haunts which you seem so constantly to frequent.

'I picture you, rather, as anchored to your comfortable fireside with your tongue in your cheek, devising schemes for pulling the legs of us misguided women whom you so sweepingly condemn.

'That is why I call you a fraud, unless, perhaps, you are only an idealist.

'Please forgive me for remaining only
"A Sceptic."

From OSBERT SITWELL.

I HAVE just listened to one of the most insolent talks, delivered by one of the rudest persons it has ever been my misfortune to hear. Who is this Sitwell person? I have never heard of him and I certainly do not wish to hear him again. I am English, and as such I must protest against such people as this Sitwell person dictating to me in my own country that we should "feel highly honoured" by a foreigner coming here. Sitwell has yet to learn good manners, and the foreign Epstein how to sculpture.

'Yours faithfully,

'If you persist in having any more like this Sitwell tribe, I shall give up my license. You have shown extremely bad taste in allowing it to speak.'

From MABEL CONSTANDUROS.

CALLING upon a friend who is in King's College Hospital, I found her quite a different being, and when I asked her the cause, she said: "Mabel Constanduros." They pull down the blinds at 7.30 and tuck them up for the night, and it's too dark to read, and they just think of their ailments and get morose until they snooze off. On Thursday two women on the other side of the ward began to laugh, then one or two more joined in and set—wondering what the joke was. She put on the headphones and began to chuckle, and soon the whole wardful of sick women, some twenty of them, were all laughing. The Sister, who was writing, looked up, and although she didn't know what it was about, began to laugh too. The girl in the bed next to—rolled about until a nurse threatened to take away the headphones unless she kept still. And this went on until "Grandma" had finished. Five minutes after, — was asleep. And that was one ward in a big hospital—and one hospital out of hundreds. May you have done all the patients as much good as you did this poor old lady!

TRAVELLER'S JOY

(Continued from page 61)

asked for; though more, not less, enjoyment of them. One or two flowers will suffice for specimens till the name is found, and after that they will greet you in their wild homes like old friends glad to see you.

There will be no need to pick many to bring a great harvest home; perhaps, when the names are known, there is no need to pick any at all. Many plants would not die for yielding up their delight, if flowers were cut instead of being picked—bluebells and orchids especially should always be cut with a sharp knife, and the smaller periwinkle, I have found, though it fades in water very soon if picked, will live and flourish for days when cut.

Cut your flowers, then—this is one easy precaution. Leave the rare flowers to grow; they are the prizes that you must not win—or at least not more than once. Never pick all the flowers of any group; and do not bring roots home. Do not keep a Hortus siccus in your library, but a rare county or two in your winter heart. Look out for traveller's joy; there is no need to pick that flower—if you know its name it is everlasting.

FRANK KENDON.

'I AM AN ODD DOG'

SAID HANDEL.

In this article is told the story of one of the titanic figures in the history of music and a man of superb individuality. Handel's 'Overtures' have been the subject of Sir Walford Davies' series of talks, 'Handel at the Harpsichord,' which, commencing last April, come to an end on July 16.

EDWARD FITZGERALD once described Handel's wig as 'a fugue in itself.' It was very large and white. There is no doubt the initiated regarded it as a barometer. They watched it as a sailor watches the glass, with anxious eye. In calm—when a rehearsal was going nicely—it had a gentle swaying motion as of a summer sea; but if it began to move jerkily, violently, you knew that you were in for thunder. A rehearsal by Handel must have been an experience much coveted by those who were not being rehearsed. Then indeed you saw the celebrated Mr. Handel in action; and you were probably curious to know whether all the stories you heard of him were true: his ill-manners, his arrogance. This is what they called it in the drawing-rooms; but his friends, if you were lucky enough to be of their circle, put it otherwise. 'Handel showing his great bear' is Dr. Burney's vivid, kindly phrase. At rehearsal Handel showed his great bear on the slightest provocation. If the Prince of Wales came in a moment late (for rehearsals were sometimes held at Carlton House) he was rated like a belated fiddler; if a maid-of-honour whispered or shuffled her feet, she was called to order like a doorkeeper; and if a singer sang false...! But the Prince had humour enough to apologize; the maid-of-honour shuffled no more; the singer took pains to do better next time; and the enormous white wig resumed its regular rhythm. Once, and once only, a personage mightier than any Prince, a reigning diva, the Cuzzoni and none other, deliberately declared that she would neither practise nor perform a certain aria. In a second Handel's huge arms were around her waist, and she was moving towards the open window. Truly there was no man quicker to temper, but none quicker with an apology if he found he was in the wrong. Once Burney himself as a boy sang false: it turned out to be an error in the score. Handel was humble in an instant: 'I beg your pardon. I am an odd dog.' And when he smiled, adds Burney, 'it was his sire the sun bursting out of a black cloud.'

It is easy to see why Handel was unpopular in the polite world. 'Odd dogs' were discouraged in the drawing-rooms of the eighteenth century, whence unfortunately his living came. Royal patronage was not enough: to fill his theatre he needed a long subscription list, and for this he must go the round of the fine houses, and by the ritual of the age he must go cap in hand. This he obstinately refused to do. One's tenderness for the eighteenth century wears thin when we remember that Handel was twice a bankrupt and twice on the edge of lunacy. It is mere history that if Vanity Fair had had its way with Handel, The Messiah would never have been written, and the Poets' Corner would lack a grave.

The story of those years must be sought largely upon the shelves of historical tittle-tattle. It was an affair of the drawing-rooms and the chocolate houses. The memoirs and correspondence of the time are full of it. Mr. Pope made verse of it, Mr. Walpole epigram. It found expression in innumerable squibs and lampoons. When Handel came first to England, fresh from Venetian triumphs, a youth of twenty-five, he found society in a fever of Italian opera.

to that there should never be a concert announced by him without some competing attraction. This was entirely successful. For the second time his health broke, and he must face his creditors.

Thus the Handel we think of—the Handel of the great oratorios, the huge following, prosperous, honoured, and beloved—is the Handel really of the last decade of his life. His was the triumph of longevity. It is again mere history that, if he had died at fifty-three—as well he might, for he was wretchedly ill—his life would have been set down a tragedy; and there is something heartening in the spectacle of a man at that age, in that pass, and penniless into the bargain, who faces a future in which his best work shall be written; or of sixty, prostrate again and bankrupt, who can still feel that life is all before him. But youth never deserted him, nor the great pagan virtues; he had the courage to wait; and there at the end of the long struggle was the now-awakened, now-articulate middle-class, which was to raise him to his place among the immortals. It was a dramatic moment of history when Handel, turning his back for ever upon the polite world—and appealing to the world at large, abandoned for ever the subscription system, opened his theatre to all comers, and found a vast public ready and eager at its doors.

We honour Handel, most of us, to the sound of a great Amen. We mention his name, and the hush of the cathedral-close enfolds us. We seem to hear the distant organ, the white-robed choir, while the shadows of tall elms fall slantwise on the forbidden, expensive lawns. So much has he become the property of the organist and choir-master. When our friends return victorious from something or other we whistle 'The Conquering Hero.' This, and a few familiar comforting airs; the first and simplest of tone-poems, which carries our dead to the grave; one or two of the massive choruses: little more of his enormous output is current. Yet Sir Thomas Beecham's ballet, 'The Gods go a-begging,' quarried from the forgotten scores of Handel, has revealed to us the immense richness of that mine. Of his life we have been satisfied with a legend: yet it would not be an unworthy subject for a noble symphonic poem. For in the most anti-romantic of centuries he stands out the great romantic; in an age of flunkeydom, the artist who declined a livery; in a world sophisticated, a child; dishonest, the man who paid his debts to the last farthing; corrupt, the great celibate. Further, he stands as the first witness to the great middle-class of England who crowded his concerts, and in their thousands on an April evening, in 1759, followed his body to Westminster.

HANDEL.

From a miniature by Platyer.

He wrote Rinaldo for them in ten days, and became the hero of the hour. For some years all went well, but society was fickle and exigent. Those choleric outbursts, not unlike Johnson's, that stout independence were premature in the first decades of that century. The rival opera, the Opera of the Nobility betrays in its absurd title the root of the grievance: Handel was a social non-conformist. This opera was intended by its founders to challenge Handel's supremacy. Naturally, it succeeded, for it held all the cards: the money, the subscribers, the singers even. It brought about the first bankruptcy, in 1737. The second, in 1745, was manœuvred otherwise. Opera itself had collapsed, and Handel, sublime opportunist as he was, had turned to oratorio. Even Vanity Fair could hardly conceive anything so ludicrous as an Oratorio of the Nobility; but a certain Lady Brown had a happy thought. This woman ran a crusade whereby all routes, all fashionable assemblies were carefully fixed for the evenings of Handel's oratorios, and, indeed, it was seen

SHALL WE SELL THE AIR?

by J. C. Squire

(Continued from page 55.)

advertisers are going for the largest public. One movement from Beethoven, for the sake of prestige, is quite enough. 'Ole Man River' is a very good song, and Mr. Paul Robeson sang it very well, but a few weeks ago, in a country house in New York State, I heard it six times from different stations on a single Sunday afternoon. I have before me a copy of the New York Times for Sunday, June 9. It is a great paper in many regards; but the radio programmes it can merely record, and from the radio programmes it can merely select the best there is. A song or a pianoforte recital which would here be merely part of the day's work would, in the U.S.A., be starred as something memorable. The Times, selecting the relatively memorable items from a week's programmes, has to mention the ceremonial dedication of a railway train, a programme in which an excerpt from Cavalleria is surrounded by rubbish, and other programmes in which the illustrious items appear to be the Ballet Music from Faust, the Overture to Oberon, 'The Lost Chord,' and 'Where my Caravan has Rested,' most of the other pieces in these programmes being of the 'I Wanna go Back to the Farm in Timbuctoo,' 'My Baby is So Blue,' and 'My Congo Sweetie' type. It is only natural, if we let the advertisers in, they would do it here, thinking only of one public instead of many publics. But to think that anyone should urge that American broadcasting should be our ideal! Our service, whatever its defects, is the best in the world, although this Mr. Reynolds calls it 'mediocre' and 'uninteresting.' Bored as any listener might be if he listened, without intermission, to our services, he would be much more bored if he listened, without intermission, to any foreign service, and of all foreign stations the American are the worst. It is a consolation to know that Mr. Reynolds is wrong even on the matter of commercial success. I take this paragraph also from the New York Times of the quoted date:—

Judge G. O. Sykes, radio commissioner, in a recent opinion regarding fees for broadcasting stations, said there is no objection to making the broadcasters pay licences, but added that as few stations are making any money now he deems it inadvisable to put any fee into effect at this time.

Herein is indicated a line of thought at present being followed in America. There are those amongst the thoughtful in America who are wondering whether it would not be better to adopt the British system, abolish the private advertising broadcasting stations, and establish a few monopoly stations financed out of licences.

Should adverse criticism of the British programmes be required, nobody could be more willing than I. I believe that I was the first person publicly to suggest, in the days of the old single programme, the need for an alternative programme, and I am now of the opinion that a third programme (which might easily be financed if the Government would cease arbitrarily confiscating part of the B.B.C. receipts) might be put out which would minister to the national pleasure and still the national criticism. There are moments when I find that both 5XX and 5GB are doing music which I do not like, or talks to which I do not want to listen, or Children's Hours from which my children are glad to be spared. I say of these, like the 'Shropshire Lad':—

You may be good for someone,
But you are not good for me, and wait patiently for the next hour which will certainly bring me something which I want to hear. 'You cannot please all the people all the time,' as Abraham Lincoln might have said had he tried to cope with this question. A third British programme (and in America they have hundreds—almost all the same) would probably enable the ingenious and hard-working officials of the B.B.C. to silence all criticism save from those crusty persons who, in any place or time, would grumble at whatever they got.

But imagine the grumbles there would have been here had nothing been on the air but the programmes devised by Moonlight Soap, Army Cut Cigarettes, and Teachem's Pills, with a view to getting their commodities sympathetically introduced to the 'greatest possible number'! What the newspapers would have said! What the newspaper correspondents would have said! What Mr. Bennett, and the Messrs. Huxley and Miss West would have said about the vulgarization of art, the missed opportunities, the prostitution of something which might have been a great criticizing medium to merely commercial ends! They have pungent pens and they all of them care for civilization. The Realist, in those circumstances, would have sung or shouted a very different tune.

But perhaps they know nothing about it. There are twenty-three members of The Realist's editorial board. It is difficult to believe that so large a number of persons as that can be privy to all the paper's proceedings. I should like to confront Miss West (I cannot bear to quote it in full) with that sentence about 'hubby.' Where did this editorial board discover Mr. N. Bantock Reynolds? Was it in a comic strip?

WHY I LISTEN

by Lady Ossulston

I AM sure that the promoters of the B.B.C. could for once sit back in their chairs and receive, instead of giving, much entertainment, if someone inaugurated a competition for finding out from each one of us our chief personal and individual reason as to why we listen in. I feel that they would be certain to get some odd answers, and not a few shoeks! Hysterical women would languishingly reveal alarmingly romantic feelings for the divinities of Oxford pronunciation who announce the weather forecast and the daily news. And the effect on these respectable gentlemen of knowing that, as they start speaking, numberless female hearts flutter faster—not at the purport of what they are saying, but on account of their own dulcet tones—might be rather upsetting at first! It is conceivable that this realization might be so embarrassing to an announcer that he might even be heard to stammer ever so slightly! This would indeed be worth listening for!

I am afraid it will be thought that, so far from being classed with these admiring females, I am of another camp, and am definitely malevolent in wishing for what, to an announcer, or 'pronouncer,' would undoubtedly be touching the depth of human degradation—but it is really only the most ordinary and impersonal instinct in the world, which everyone feels, in liking to see the exalted and great ones of the earth occasionally reveal almost human follies and foibles!

But to return to our imaginary competition. Undoubtedly it would call forth another crop of letters from certain rude people who had purposely misunderstood the rules of the competition, and would write at length explaining all the reasons why they did not 'listen in.' But the vast majority of letters from vast millions of people would express much the same reasons for their 'listening in'—in brief, that they enjoyed doing so!

A selfish and ignoble reason, the high-brows would say; one positively should hint at some other motive of—well, self-improvement, or patriotism. But no! I listen in because I find the programme entertaining, and because there is always something in the programme which fits in with the mood of the moment. Also because I consider the B.B.C. are the most consummate theatrical producers in the whole history of theatrical production! The chief attributes of a producer are: artistic, humorous, and dramatic sense, and a thorough knowledge of his public. And this last is the most important of them all, because it will lead him to the others even if they are not inherent in him. But how can the B.B.C. know its public?—as the producer does the five thousand people or so who form the regular clientele of his theatre. The wireless public numbers itself in millions. It consists of all types, ages, and tastes, and is scattered all over the country. Think of what would be the despair of the ordinary producer in trying to work out a programme which would please such a public. And a new programme every night! A theatre can keep its programme—once it has been thought out—and change its public! But things are never made easy like that for the B.B.C.

Producers are traditionally represented as bad-tempered, wild-eyed, dishevelled, and over-exhausted. They would certainly have cause to be! Think of all the types!—the blue-stockings, the Mrs. Grundys, the high-brows, the jazzy-moderns, the frivolous, the low-brows, the effete aristocracy, the strong, silent, self-made men, the bloated capitalists, the down-trodden poor, the eccentric, the conventional, the respectable, the dissipated, the idle, and the hard-working—to mention only a few of them. (The catch-phrases are not my own, and I hope no one will be insulted.) No producer has ever been faced with such an audience before.

The B.B.C. have succeeded admirably. Their principle has been, if I may make so bold as to analyze it, to cater for the ordinary average person. He who works for his living, and wants recreation and entertainment in his evenings with the least possible effort to himself; who is neither a musical, nor an intellectual snob—but just takes an ordinary intelligent interest and appreciation in everything,

An unfortunate error occurred in the issues of the Radio Times, dated June 28, and July 5 where it was stated that Alfredo and his Band were to broadcast from New Princes Restaurant on the nights of July 1, July 5 and July 10. Alfredo and his Band are no longer engaged at New Princes Restaurant, and were at Brighton on the dates mentioned. We regret any misunderstanding which may have arisen in the minds of listeners, and take this first opportunity of tendering our apologies to Alfredo and his Band.

THE ALHAMBRA OF THE PAST.

On Thursday evening next, a programme of Alhambra Ballets, called 'Music of "the Eighties,"' is to be broadcast from London. In the accompanying article some amusing stories are told of the Alhambra of that time. The ballet-music to be broadcast is by Georges Jacobi and will be conducted by his son Maurice Jacobi.

WE live, for better or worse, in an age of fantastic hyperbole. Exaggeration is the breath of our nostrils. Words, and particularly epithets, have practically lost all meaning. We qualify the things that we see and hear and criticize with catchwords of the moment like 'marvellous' or 'dreary' or 'divine' or 'nauseous,' with a superb indifference to the real connotations of the epithets in question. Standards of criticism are practically impossible to define. It is hardly too much to say that at present there is no standard of criticism, but only self-conscious personal opinions. Further, we have been so continually assailed now for several decades by the various wonders which a mechanical civilization has sprung upon us with unflinching regularity that we do no more than add 'super-' to all of them, shrug our shoulders at the monotony of it all, and pass on to the next. 'Super-cinemas,' 'super-char-à-bancs,' 'super-films'—the list is endless and largely meaningless. But the onlooker—and even in the whirlpool of modern civilization there are a few persons who, from choice and grim determination, succeed in struggling to the bank and thence looking on—gains a mistaken impression from these monstrous general exaggerations in size, speed, and the rest. Being an onlooker, he may be nice in his choice of words, and really believe that they have a special meaning of their own; and he comes to the conclusion that the present age is superior to the past in the scale of magnificence of its activities, especially the activities that take the form of amusements. He is, of course, wrong. I doubt if even the Aldershot Tattoo is absolutely such a super-production as those of the Roman Emperors when they filled arenas with water and used a real naval battle with perfectly real casualties as their form of military tournament. And I would back the thrill of the traditional bull-fight against any upstart dirt-track racing anywhere!

And so to the theatre. Most of us remember when the first large-scale revues were launched upon a startled London just before the War, and Mr. de Courville filled the Hippodrome with Hello, Ragtime! and the Alhambra presented 5064 Gerrard. Now we look to Mr. Cochran and the London Pavilion for the Ultima Thule of the luxuries of light entertainment and spectacular entertainment. And I am sure we are not disappointed. But there is nothing new under the sun, and I have not the least doubt that both Mr. Cochran and Mr. de Courville would, in their several spheres, acknowledge that something of their success is due to the fact that they have both studied the history of entertainment in the past: that they would not claim any particular originality in putting over magnificent and spectacular 'shows.'

We look upon the Alhambra today with awe and a certain sentimental affection. With awe, because I doubt if we can any of us ever really believe in the reality of this Moorish palace rising so peculiarly above the Shakespeare statue in Leicester Square. The combination is rather that of a fantastic nightmare. The Alhambra survived when the old Empire passed away, retaining within its walls something of that Edwardian era which now, after the War, we are realizing was a golden age in more senses than one.

The history of the Alhambra is worth a tribute both of affection and esteem. Its career has been chequered in the best sense of the word. It seems a far cry from the Alhambra of today, with its 'talkie' news film and its star vaudeville programme, to the original Panopticon of 1854 with its Royal Charter, which 'declared the purpose of the building to be the illustration in popular form of discoveries in science, and art, improving lectures and the general elevation of all classes of the community': a terrific ideal at which to aim! Probably all classes of the community had as much suspicion of policies of general elevation in 1854 as they have today. Anyway, within four years a showman of parts of the immortal name of E. T. Smith had bought the premises, sold the great organ to St. Paul's Cathedral, and turned the place into a circus!

In 1882 the original theatre was burnt down and the present one erected; but in the interval between 1863 and the fire, a public combine which had taken over from Messrs. Howells and Cushing and M. Franconi, who had directed the various circus activities, turned the building into a home of variety which provided its customers according to the best traditions of the period with ballet, comic singing, variety turns, a free evening paper, and a profusion of chops and steaks. It is amusing to notice that in those days the idea of international amity was hardly so prominent as it is today. In 1870 it is recorded that the musical director took pains to play the rival national anthems of France and Germany in order that the partisans of each side might smash each others' hats in with proper patriotic verve during the performance.

There is, of course, a magnificent string of names running through the Alhambra's career. There was the famous Sayers-

Heenan fight, which caused questions in Parliament and led to one of the most famous journalistic spoofs of history, when an enterprising gentleman sent a message to New York describing how Heenan had won in nine rounds, had been presented to Queen Victoria the following day, and how Queen Victoria expressed her 'astonishment at the size of his muscles and announced her intention of putting the Prince of Wales under his guardianship during his visit to America'! There was Blondin, the tight-rope walker, who not only carried volunteers across the auditorium of the Alhambra, but also across Niagara Falls. There was Leotard, the trapeze artist, who earned £100 a week in 1861 and was imitated at the Polytechnic by an automatic mechanical figure; and in the same year Adelina Patti, then little more than a child. Considering Leotard's salary, it may be interesting to realize that the average price for admission in the 'sixties was 1s. 2d. with an addition of 7d. for drinks, food, and cigars.

I suppose that the real fame of the Alhambra rests upon its reputation as the home of ballet. This was long before the days of Diaghileff and his famous Russians. In 1871 M. Georges Jacobi succeeded Riviere as conductor at the Alhambra. During his regime he composed more than 100 ballets, and thoughts of the Alhambra ballets of the past and when they should see the Alhambra ballets of the future filled the breasts of bronzed or frost-bitten upholders of the Empire in all quarters of the globe, who, over their 'biltong' or their 'pegs,' thought of Leicester Square as affectionately as did any soldier 'swearing terribly in Flanders.' Ballet, of course, though attaining an outstanding position as pièce de résistance, by no means absorbed the programmes to the exclusion of variety turns and even comic operas; for example, the famous 'savage' E. J. O'Dell appeared in a piece called The Crimson Scarf in 1871.

perhaps regret that the mere doubling of the chorus, and the bigger and better murders, are too often the only factors which constitute the 'super' part of the entertainment. We may be glad to recall the melodies of the Alhambra ballets and pay a tribute of one reluctant tear to the memory of the 'Good old, dear old days.'

BRABAZON HOWE.

THE ORGAN AND THE ORGANIST.

THE critics of cinema organs and organists forget that those who hear them in situ are using their sight to make intelligible the sound, and that the organist who is making the sound is making it intelligible to those who are using their sight. In short, the cinema organist at the console is 'saying' the picture in music. The eye is emotional to the extent that in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred patrons find the plot heightened and brightened to their senses by effects which are, to say the least, the production of 'trick' playing. For instance, let us suppose an audience to be watching a battalion of soldiers on the march. To them the effect of 'Boots—Boots—Boots—Boots—Boots,' which the organist produces by covering the lower range of his pedal mat with as much shoe leather as he can muster, heel and toe, is quite inspiring! Given and Felix in the balcony mutter, 'Whoa, I say, look at 'em; d'you hear 'em?' But some musical 'Jubal' seated at his bedside hundreds of miles away chatters things to himself that alarm his wife who overhears. We should always remember that the cinema organist is fitting music to emotions roused by 'eye-gate' whereas his audience only have 'ear-gate' to lend.—William Faudin, 'Rocknood,' Vale, Gwynedd.

A STRAVINSKY REVELATION.

WITH the cacophonies of Le Sacre du Printemps still throbbing in my ears, it was with some trepidation that I switched on the Stravinsky concert on June 27. The euphonious strains proceeding from the loud-speaker truly amazed me. What a delightful surprise to learn that Stravinsky can write melody. Will Bartok follow suit, I wonder?—F. G. Yonens, 81, Tottoridge Avenue, High Wycombe.

'BREATHLESS WITH ADORATION.'

I AM writing this letter as a sign of sincere appreciation of the two Ballets you gave on Thursday, June 27. Two friends and myself especially listened, and at the end of the performance we were 'breathless with adoration.' We are all lovers of music and we considered the two works excellent, although we realized that it is never fair to pass an opinion on first hearing any work. Surely all those who lately have written to you concerning the demerits of Stravinsky have added colour to their opinion of former times. It seems to me that it is altogether stupid to attempt yet, really and honestly, to criticize the work of a man like Stravinsky. All great men have met with hostile reception, and Stravinsky is only one more.—T. I. Little, Mansfield House, Leuchester, Durham.

THE ILLUSIVE 'AITCH.'

I THINK it rather a pity that Mr. Wagner criticizes the Announcers for their pronunciation of 'Whidden,' 'white,' 'Whig,' and 'wheel.' Many quite well-educated people, finding themselves unable to pronounce the letter 'h' between 'w' and a vowel, prefer to omit it rather than sound it before the 'w,' as the Scots and some others do. Will Mr. Wagner tell us whether he can sound the 'h' in 'White' after the 'w' and before the 'l,' or whether he says 'hwite'?—C. P., London, W.8.

MR. F. W. E. WAGNER has some curious notions on English pronunciation. Why in the name of common sense should the 'h' be aspirated in such words as 'white,' 'Whig,' 'wheel'? How is it possible to do so immediately after 'w'? Presumably Mr. Wagner aspirates the 'h' before the 'w,' as if the words were spelt 'hwite,' 'hwig,' 'hwheel.' Heaven protect our Announcers from any such absurdities!—Noel Bonavia-Hunt, 95, Broadhurst Gardens, N.W.6.

'AGEN' AND 'AGAIN.'

THE average listener can find little to complain of in the pronunciation standardized by the B.B.C., but one word seems doomed to harass even the casual listener. The Advisory Committee have ruled that 'again' shall be 'agen'; the announcers pursue it relentlessly. We know that we must frequently be told that we are 'back in the studio,' or that 'so-and-so' will sing to us, but each announcement is followed by this ugly and redundant 'agen.' I would suggest that this is intended to put listeners and performers at their ease, and the 'agen' emphasized to denote a cheery absence of boredom. But unless it is used more sparingly, or varied with the more musical 'again,' the announcers will be defeating their own ends.—R. de B. Hubert, Eecleigh, Clevedon, Somerset.

REMEMBER THE MEZZO-BROW.

THE B.B.C. has to cater for 'all sorts and conditions' of listeners. They may be divided into three classes:—(1) the vulgar and uneducated; (2) the normal and unsophisticated; (3) the people whose tastes are violated and depraved, being wholly acquired. In food they cannot tolerate anything sweet. In art they go into raptures over the ugly and grotesque. In music they have an ear for inharmonious sound. The B.B.C., as is right, makes ample provision for the first class, and still more for the last, but, in my humble opinion, the second class have less than their fair share of the programmes.—Rev. E. H. Archer-Shepherd, Assisbury Vicarage, Bromyard.

KITCHEN AND SITTING-ROOM.

IN this house we have two sets—a loudspeaker in the kitchen—and a separate aerial and set for sitting-room—Kitchen listens in lots—and sitting room with earphones is rather highbrow and so selects and both are content. We are good examples to show that the B.B.C. on the whole pleases everybody. Very good wishes to you all.—E. M. M., Bromley.

THE 'WIRELESS DEBATING SOCIETY.'

WOULD it not be possible for a 'Wireless (Postal) Debating Society' to be formed with this page as its 'happy hunting ground'? It need not be confined to fault-finding, but could be used for intelligent and amicable discussion of various programmes. Continual fault-finding hinders progress. Wireless is not peculiar to our own land. It connects us with the lands beyond the seas—it is a link with absent friends. Surely this fact should serve to unite all wireless enthusiasts in a common bond of fellowship and good will?—G. C. Daniels, 13, Midland Road, Gloucester.

A KINDLY TRIBUTE.

A WORD on behalf of those hundreds and thousands of regular listeners—of whom I was one for the whole of last winter—who are ill, bedridden, convalescent, infirm, or otherwise restricted in their activities, and to whom the mere existence of 'the wireless' is a miracle that transforms the whole of life, irrespective of the nature or the quality of the programmes. Constructive criticism is essential to anything that is to progress and develop, but the carping and often ill-natured criticism that so often appears in The Radio Times and elsewhere is infuriating to those of us who are thankful that there is any wireless at all, and who remember what life was like without it.—Regular Listener.

LISTENERS' LETTERS.

The Editor of The Radio Times is pleased to receive letters from his readers on current broadcasting topics.

But would correspondents please note that:—

1. The Editorial Address of The Radio Times is Savoy Hill, London, W.C.2.
2. Communications should be as brief as possible.
3. The name and address of the sender should be included in all letters, although not necessarily intended for publication.
4. Letters on Programme matters requiring a reply should be addressed to the Programme Department, B.B.C.
5. Letters on technical matters should be addressed to the Chief Engineer of the B.B.C. and not to The Radio Times.

SCOTSMAN'S ENGLISH.

I WAS amused at the criticism of Broadcast English by Mr. G. Dickinson, and by another Scottish critic in the previous week's issue of The Radio Times. I wonder why many Scotsmen so insistently imagine that their native brogue is English? Mr. Dickinson avers that 'a Scotsman can pronounce anything.' Yet, I have known many of them who failed to pronounce 'Bournemouth' correctly. I have been laughed at by Scotsmen for my inability to pronounce 'Auchtermuchty' to their satisfaction, and my answer has always been that I had no desire to make such uncouth noises—which may also be true of the B.B.C. announcers. Mr. Dickinson and his fellows should remember that, just as an educated Frenchman speaks French, so does an educated Englishman speak English, but a Scotsman with a brogue speaks—Scots! Let them be assured that the B.B.C. announcers speak English except when such monstrosities as 'Auchtermuchty' or 'Kirkcubright' occur and then they do their best with a language which is not their own. Incidentally, if our announcers were to give us 'golf' for 'golf' should they not also give us 'fiba' for 'football'?—Englishman, Leeds.

A WELSHMAN'S COMPLAINT.

AN Englishman would sooner die than pronounce an Italian or French name wrongly, and yet it seems to be a point of honour to pronounce every Welsh word as incorrectly as possible. I have placed the B.B.C. announcers on a linguistic pedestal, but I would like to hear them set an example in this. They glide faultlessly through the most complicated Central European names and then get floored with a Welsh word of two syllables. It may sound amazing, but the 'e' in 'Megan' is pronounced as the 'e' in Peggy and not as the 'i' in 'Piggy.'—Cymro, Caernarvon.

WITH THE EGG AND BACON.

IT is interesting and even humorous at times, to read the letters of other listeners and then follow their resultant controversies. I believe that I have a suggestion that will receive no caustic criticisms from our sophisticated schoolgirls or our bored school prefects. Here it is: Why cannot we have some breakfast music? Of course, I realise that it is very apt and fitting that the first broadcast of the day should be of a religious nature, but if there is a time of the day when we need cheering up it is during that lugubrious meal, so let me plead for an hour's music from, say, 8 a.m. to 9 a.m.—Donald Paul, 6, Warrant Officers' Quarters, Brompton Barracks, Chatham.

THE ANTI-BEETHOVEN DOG.

YEARS ago, before wireless was discovered, I had a dog—a most intelligent Bedlington—who would sit and listen appreciatively, eyes fixed on me, while I played much music (Handel, Mozart, Mendelssohn, Verdi, Waidtziel, Offenbach, Sullivan), but directly I began playing any one of Beethoven's Sonatas, that dog would begin to howl as if in acute pain. Either I had to leave off playing, or he had to be removed out of hearing. His tastes were evidently operatic. Beethoven was too introspective for him.—M. A. Roubatham, Sidcup.

A VAUDEVILLE CRITIC.

READING in this week's Radio Times of dog critics of the wireless programmes, my dog used always to howl when he heard the overture to Zampa played, but the most amusing instance of his musical taste occurred last summer. My wife and I were having supper and there was a vaudeville programme being broadcast, in which there was a turn by two ladies singing in harmony, and he kept them company during the whole time. After they had finished he came up to me and pushed his head in my hands and wagged his tail, as if in grateful thanks. I must say I was in complete agreement with him.—R. Pearson, The Brunt, Skegby, Mansfield, Notts.

NO LOVER OF THE MOUTH-ORGAN.

MR. E. C. HOWLETT, of South Hackney, said in this week's Radio Times he would be interested to know whether other people's dogs howl to the wireless. My dog takes no notice of anything on the wireless, but if we ourselves play a violin, piano, but especially a mouth-organ, he howls until we stop. Can anyone tell me is this a sign that dogs like or dislike music?—Joan M. Chitwood, 7, Mornington Road, Woodford Green.

A LITTLE CONSERVATIVE.

I WAS very interested to read what your correspondent, Mr. Richard C. Howlett, said about his dog and the radio music. I have a retriever, who especially hates the piano—also very sad violin music and high soprano singing. He does not mind a band, nor any talks. He does not hear the jazz band because I never turn it on! On the night of the Election he growled heavily at some of the results announced. He was under the bed, and I think he felt something unpleasant was happening. This meant quite seriously.—Lily G. Gardener.

BROAD-MINDED.

IN answer to Richard C. Howlett's letter, published in this week's Radio Times, I should like to say that our dog is sensible and broad-minded enough to listen quietly to all items.—P. Edwards, Station House, Johnston, Penn.

STUDIO AUDIENCES.

MAY I suggest that when 'vaudeville' programmes (or others which cause laughter, etc.) are transmitted that those present in the studio refrain from applauding so vociferously. Often the applause drowns the closing words or song of the artist, and during the turn you will often hear the laughter and comments, which certainly detracts in many ways to the listener. I have no desire to complain, but I know from many listeners who enjoy these free-from-care half-hours that the applause from the studio takes away, rather than adds to, their enjoyment.—F. J. Randall, 210, Yorkshire Street, Rochdale.

MISS EDNA THOMAS'S RECITAL.

ALL thanks to the B.B.C. for Miss Edna Thomas's charming and refreshing recital on Thursday, and it certainly was worth missing Big Ben to hear her give yet another song! Dare one hope for a return visit from Miss Thomas in the not too dim future?—P. H. S. Hutton, 46, Ashboverham Mansions, Chelsea.

THE BOURNEMOUTH CONCERT.

I SHOULD like to express my appreciation of the organ music from the Pavilion, Bournemouth, on June 30. The rendering of it was so excellent and the organ came through unusually well. I hope that we may have other opportunities of hearing both player and instrument.—Rev. A. R. T. Koles, Eltree Rectory, Herts.

[S. G. BROCKINGTON, Chesham, Surrey, and others, have also written to The Radio Times in praise of this concert.—Ed., The Radio Times.]

AN OLD HARPIS.

I WAS delighted last week to listen to the Old Folks hour of Dance Music, as I used to play the harp for such dancing, and as I am getting old now I like to sit and listen to such music, as I don't fall in with so much jazz.—Daniel Burnham.

FROM COUNTY DERRY.

MAY I tell you how much we in this small village in Northern Ireland enjoyed the nightingale's exquisite song. We thank the B.B.C. for having broadcast it and also for the many happy hours this programme in general gave us. Long life to the B.B.C. say all of us!—J. F. W., The Rectory, Dungiven, Co. Derry.

A CRYING SCANDAL.

ALTHOUGH I am only one week old, I am writing to tell you that ten out of every ten babies detest your horrible programmes. They are so blatant; composed of such loud music, etc., that we can't hear ourselves yell. Too bad! Ever since the wireless has been installed here the neighbours miss their dully treat. Again, there are too many Vaudeville shows. Much too jolly altogether. Why can't we have something to make us cry—more wicks! Uncles and a few bogymen? I am sure you will agree with me, that we are left out in the cold.—Goo, Goo.

In your Screened Grid Receiver use—

Cossor

For performance, for long life and for strength, choose a Cossor Screened Grid Valve. The wonderful new system of Interlocked Construction developed by Cossor ensures absolute rigidity of the elements inside the Valve. Every joint is electrically welded. Individual movement is impossible. No other make of Valve has such rigidity or strength.

The only Screened Grid Valve with Interlocked Construction

Made in 3 voltages for use with 2, 4 and 6 Volt Accumulators

Technical Data:

Filament Current: 2 volt type .2 amp., 4 and 6 volt types .1 amp., Max. Anode Volts: 150, Impedance 200,000, Amplification Factor 200, Grid Bias 1.5 at Max. Anode Volts.

Get full details of this wonderful new Cossor Valve—write for Leaflet L10.

A. C. Cossor, Ltd., Highbury Grove, London, N.5

SHOCK PROOF!

Because of its Interlocked Construction the Cossor Screened Grid Valve is the most dependable and the most robust Screened Grid Valve made in Great Britain. Even the heaviest shock cannot upset its wonderful performance.

NOISE PROOF!

Noises are generally due to loose elements in a valve. Because of their Interlocked Construction the elements of the Cossor Screened Grid Valve cannot become loose. They are rigidly and permanently braced together, top and bottom.

BREAK PROOF!

Even the hardest blow cannot disturb the perfect alignment of the elements. As a result, every Cossor Screened Grid Valve retains its characteristics throughout its long life. For any Screened Grid Receiver choose Cossor. There is no adequate substitute for the Cossor system of Interlocked construction.

3.30
THE AFTERNOON CONCERT

SUNDAY, JULY 14
2LO LONDON & 5XX DAVENTRY

9.5
ALBERT SANDLER
AND
ORCHESTRA

842 kc/s. (356.3 m.) 193 kc/s. (1,554.4 m.)

10.30 a.m. (Daventry only) TIME SIGNAL, GREENWICH; WEATHER FORECAST

3.30 A CONCERT

VIVIENNE CHATTERTON (Soprano)
WILLIAM MICHAEL (Baritone)
THE GERSHOM PARKINGTON QUINTET

VIVIENNE CHATTERTON

This Afternoon at 3.30

Berceuse (Cradle Song) Cui

REBIKOV spent a very active life in the cause of music, as pianist, composer, and as conductor of musical societies in parts of Russia where music had been sadly neglected before. He used to be called 'the father of Russian modernism,' no doubt because of his innovations in form and harmony. He was among the very first composers to make use of the whole tone scale (that is a scale in which the octave is divided into six equal intervals instead of the customary seven, which include two half tones). He is best known to British listeners by his melodious and picturesque 'Christmas Tree Suite.'

LIKE many of his colleagues in the Russian school of composers, Cui was an amateur. His actual job in life was soldiering, and he was for a number of years Professor of Military Engineering at one of the Army training schools. But his adoption as a member of the Russian school has this special interest that he was really a Frenchman, or at any rate half French, by descent. His father was one of Napoleon's officers who was left in Russia during the disastrous retreat from Moscow. He settled down there, and married a Lithuanian lady, adopting as his home the country which his Emperor had failed to conquer.

LEONARD GOWINGS

Tonight at 9.5

QUINTET
Scenes from an Imaginary Ballet... Coleridge-Taylor

3.45 VIVIENNE CHATTERTON
La Bergère aux champs (The Shepherdess in the fields)
French Folk Songs
Me suis mise en danse (I am caught up in the dance) arr. Arnold Baz
Si vous n'avez rien à me dire (If you have nothing to tell me)... Saint-Saëns
Notre Amour (Our love) Faure

3.53 QUINTET
Berceuse (Cradle Song) Hynski
Danse Caractéristique Rebiakov

4.42 WILLIAM MICHAEL Trees Oscar Rasbach
Gifts Thomas F. Dunhill

4.50 QUINTET
Hymn to the Sun Rimsky-Korsakov
Polonaise in A Chopin
Nazareth Gounod

RIMSKY-KORSAKOV'S fantastic opera, Coq d'Or (The Golden Cockerel) was broadcast at the end of last January, so that listeners will need only a brief reminder of the point in the action where this splendid hymn occurs. The scene is a rocky gorge, in the second Act. The dead from a battle of the day before, among them King Dodon's two sons, lie on the hillside, and in the distance can be heard the approaching army of the King. They appear two by two and after them the King arrives and finds the bodies of his sons. As he mourns over them, day begins to break, and the morning sun shows a bright tent on the mountain side, ornamented with many-coloured brocade. As the soldiers are about to fire on the tent, it is seen to move, and a beautiful maiden comes out with light, yet queenly, step. Four slaves follow her, carrying Eastern musical instruments. She herself wears a white turban with a tall feather, and a long robe of red silk with rich gold embroideries. Oblivious of those about her, she raises her hands, as though praying, and sings this Hymn to the Sun.

In an arrangement, such as this, for instruments, the music is hardly less effective than in its original operatic version.

5.0 A RECITAL

By OLGA LYNN (Soprano)

Komm süßer Tod (Come, kindly death) .. Bach
An die Musik (To Music)..... Schubert
Wohin? (Whither?) Richard Strauss
Die Nacht (Night)..... Debussy
Beau Soir (Fair Evening).....
Le Tombeau des Naiades (A Naiad's Tomb).....
Fantoche (Marionettes)
Tyndaris Hahn
Les Fontaines
Sainte Ravel
Le Martin Pêcheur
Lullaby
Dialogue between Tom Filuter and his Man (by Ned, the Dog Stealer)..... Lord Berners
The Cat Tom Doboan

5.30 ENGLISH ELOQUENCE—XII

Speech on Negotiations at Vienna

Delivered in the House of Commons on February 23, 1855, by JOHN BRIGHT, M.P.

THE peace and plenty prevailing in England during the later part of Queen Victoria's reign tend to obscure the memory of the people's misery at her accession. The fact that, by the end of her reign, the Victorian era had become a synonym for social and economic progress was largely due to the historic partnership in agitation between Richard Cobden and John Bright. They were responsible for at least two great reforms, the repeal of the Corn Laws and the extension of the Franchise.

John Bright, on being consulted about his biography, once said, 'My life is in my speeches.' They were not only his greatest political weapon, but also his one perfect form of achievement.

The speech on the negotiations at Vienna was delivered during the Crimean War, which he had, almost alone, opposed from the beginning. But when, in 1855, there was a possibility of making peace, he changed his tone of denunciation for one of conciliatory appeal. In this speech occurs one of the most famous phrases ever uttered by an English orator—the 'Angel of Death' figure). Disraeli said afterwards, 'Bright, I would give all that I ever had to have made that speech you made just now.' Bright, replied, 'Well, you might have made it if you had been honest.'

(For 5.45-8.45 Programmes see opposite page)

8.45 The Week's Good Cause:

Appeal on behalf of St. Martin's Summer Holiday Fund, by the Rev. PAT McCORMICK

LIKE the Christmas Fund, also run by St. Martin-in-the-Fields, this Summer Holiday Fund has two peculiar characteristics. There are no administrative expenses whatever, and the grants go to those who do not expect them. Centrally placed as it is, the church has every opportunity for coming into contact with deserving people up and down the country, and the Fund is administered personally by the Vicar himself.

Contributions should be addressed to the Rev. Pat McCormick, the Vicarage, St. Martin-in-the-Fields, Trafalgar Square, W.C.2.

8.50 'The News'

WEATHER FORECAST, GENERAL NEWS BULLETIN; Local Announcements; (Daventry only) Shipping Forecast

9.5 Albert Sandler

and the Park Lane Hotel Orchestra
From the Park Lane Hotel

LEONARD GOWINGS (Tenor)

ORCHESTRA
Overture, 'William Tell' Rossini

LEONARD GOWINGS
Una Furtiva Lagrime ('L'Elisir d'Amore') Donizetti Down in the Forest Landon Ronald

ORCHESTRA
Selection on Irish Melodies arr. Mulder

ALBERT SANDLER (Violin)
Introduction and Rondo Capriccioso Saint-Saëns

LEONARD GOWINGS
I love Thee Grieg
Ninetta .. A. H. Brewer

ORCHESTRA
Hungarian Rhapsody, No. 2 Liszt
Largo Handel

10.30 Epilogue

'Long Suffering'

OLGA LYNN

This Afternoon at 5.0

ALBERT SANDLER

Tonight at 9.5

7.55
ST. MARTIN-IN-THE-FIELDS

THE DAY OF REST
Sunday's Special Programmes.
From 2LO London and 5XX Daventry.

10.40
(Daventry only)
THE SILENT FELLOWSHIP

(For 3.30-5.45 Programmes see opposite page)

5.45-6.15 app. CHURCH
CANTATA (No.6) BACH
'BLEIB BEI UNS'
(Bide with us)
Relayed from the Guildhall School of Music
DORIS OWESS (Contralto)
TOM PICKERING (Tenor)
STANLEY RILEY (Bass)
THE WIRELESS CHORUS
AMBROSE GAUNTLETT
(Violoncello Piccolo)
Continuo { EDWARD J. ROBINSON
(Violoncello)
EUGENE CRUFT (Bass) LESLIE WOODGATE (Organ)
THE WIRELESS ORCHESTRA
(Oboes and Strings)
Conducted by STANFORD ROBINSON

THE most impressive part of this Cantata is the opening chorus; it is always regarded as among the most noble and poetic of all the great Bach's conceptions. It sets the words of the disciples, 'Abide with us,' with a wonderful sense of their affection, blended with their pleading. And in both the German and the English versions, an impressive effect is made by the way in which the accent falls first on the word 'bide,' next on 'with' and the third time on 'us.'

Then where the text tells of evening drawing nigh, the voices sink down as though oppressed by the coming of night, and the music of the accompaniment suggests an anxious trembling.

There is a middle section where the time changes to four-in-the-bar, and the cry is still more insistent, and at the end the opening mood of pleading returns.

The final close is in major, with a wonderful effect of gladness as though the watchers suddenly knew that their prayer was heard.

The second number is a very beautiful alto-aria with an obbligato for oboe da caccia, usually replaced now by the English Horn, and then there follows a Chorale for the treble voices with a full and expressive orchestral accompaniment. It has an obbligato for the old violoncello piccolo, now usually replaced either by the violoncello, or shared between the violoncello and viola.

The tenor aria, number five, lying very high and difficult to sing, is instinct with tenderness. It is finely accompanied by the strings and continuo alone. In the final Chorale, dignified and simple, all the instruments, two oboes, oboe da caccia, strings and continuo, reinforce the voices.

Broadcast Churches—XXI
CARRS LANE CHAPEL,
Birmingham. By the Rev. Leyton Richards.

THIS Church is one of the historic edifices of Nonconformity in England. Outwardly, its fabric is plain and unadorned, and might easily be mistaken by the passer-by for one of the many warehouses which stand in the central district of Birmingham; a glance at the notice board, however, would indicate that this drab brick building is 'Carrs Lane Meeting House,' for it is on this site that the Church has gathered since the seventeenth century. To ask why a Nonconformist congregation should have flourished for two and a half centuries in the middle of a big city is to go back to an interesting piece of history. It was Birmingham which helped to recondition Cromwell's army on its way to 'Worcester's crowning mercy' in 1654, and it is recorded by Clarendon, the Royalist historian, that Birmingham 'declared a more peremptory malice to His Majesty than any other place.' The town had long been a hotbed of Puritan feeling, and when some two thousand clergymen of the Established Church were ejected from their livings in 1662, many of them flocked to Birmingham as a refuge. Even after the Five Mile Act had been imposed, which forbade non-episcopal divines to preach within five miles of a corporate town, Birmingham still became the residence of the evicted men, since Charles II had refused to grant a municipal charter. Technically, therefore, Birmingham, though even then a considerable market town, was not a borough. The Nonconformist clergy were able to gather congregations about them, and to conduct ministries forbidden by law in most other centres of population. It is from this period that Carrs Lane dates. It began in the 1660's in what is now known as the Old Meeting House, but some thirty years later the Church divided by mutual consent, and a new centre was found in what is now known as Carrs Lane. With the passing of the Toleration Act in 1689, legal barriers to the propagation of Nonconformity were removed, and Birmingham Free Church life began at once to forge ahead with vigour. It is one of the ironies of history that it was the very attempt to stamp out Nonconformity which thus made Birmingham, and Carrs Lane Church in particular, one of the strongholds of Protestantism.

From 1689 onwards, Carrs Lane had a succession of ministers of varying capacity, several of whom made their mark upon the life of the city; but in these days it is known best as the scene of the two great ministries of John Angell James and Dr. Robert William Dale. These two between them occupied the pulpit of this historic church for almost a century, and it was Dr. Dale in particular who gave to Carrs Lane its nation-wide repute, as a centre both of vigorous preaching and of inspired scholarship. He entered forcefully into the civic life of Birmingham, and to his influence Joseph Chamberlain owed his zeal for municipal reform.

Dr. Dale was followed after his death in 1896 by the silver-tongued preacher, Dr. J. H. Jowett, who maintained the repute of Carrs Lane for a pulpit which counts. Dr. Jowett, however, was more than a preacher, and the permanent monument to his ministry stands today in the Digbeth Institute still connected with Carrs Lane. Dr. Jowett went to New York in 1910, to be followed at Carrs Lane by Dr. Sidney M. Berry; and upon his appointment in 1923 as Secretary of the Congregational Union of England and Wales, he was succeeded by the present minister, the Rev. Leyton Richards, under whose charge Carrs Lane is still seeking to emphasize those Christian values with which its name has been associated from the start.

I.—Chorus:
Bide with us, for eve is drawing onward,
and the day is now declining.

II.—Aria (Alto):
Thou, whose praises never end,
Son of God, vouchsafe to hear us:
While before Thy throne we bend,
Let Thy favour still be near us.
Grant, O grant us needful light,
Thro' the coming hours of night.

III.—Chorus (Treble):
O bide with us, Thou Saviour dear,
Forget us not when eve is near.
Thy sacred word, clear guiding light,
O grant it ne'er be quenched in night.
In this our last and weakest hour
Inspire us, Lord, with steadfast pow'r.
That undefil'd Thy faith we keep,
Until in death secure we sleep.

IV.—Recitativo (Bass):
Behold, around us, on every side,
Is darkness still increasing. And if we ask whence comes this darkness, hence it comes. 'Tis that, from the least to the greatest, scarce one in righteousness before his God is walking, and in the works the Saviour loves abounding; And thus instead of light there is but darkness.

V.—Aria (Tenor):
Lord, to us Thyself be showing
That no more we in ways of sin be going.
May the light of Thy word on men be shining
All to trust in Thee inclining.

VI.—Chorus:
Lord, Jesus Christ, Thy pow'r display;
Thou, Lord, whom other lords obey,
Thy servants with Thy grace dearest,
That so their thanks may never end.

The text is reprinted by courtesy of Messrs.
Novello and Co., Ltd.

The Cantata for Sunday, July 21, is —
No. 136 Erforsche mich Gott,
(Thou knowest me God)

7.55 ST. MARTIN-IN-THE-FIELDS
THE BELLS

8.0 THE SERVICE
Hymn, 'Praise my Soul, the King of Heaven'
Confession and Thanksgiving
Psalm 121
Lesson
Deus Misereatur Prayers
Hymn, 'The King of Love'
Address, The Rev. PAT
MACCORMICK
Hymn, 'Glory to Thee, my God, this night' Blessing

(For 8.45-10.30 Programmes see opposite page)

10.30 Epilogue
'Long Suffering'

(For details of this week's Epilogue see page 81)

10.40-11.0 (Daventry only)
The Silent Fellowship
S.B. from Swansea

KB-102

USE THE KB-102

Use the K.B.102—the new Screened-Grid Pentode 3-valve set—built to interpret every item with new realism—for best reception of the fortnightly Sunday Concerts broadcast from Hilversum, (1,071 metres) by the Kolster-Brandes Radio orchestra under the direction of Hugo de Groot.

HERE IS THE PROGRAMME FOR JULY 14 COMMENCING AT 5.40 p.m.

- 1 MARCH from the Merry Widow — "Oh! Women, Women" Fr. Lohar.
- 2 OVERTURE—"Poet & Peasant" Fr. Von Suppé.
- 3 VALSE DES BRUNES—"At Twilight" L. Ganne.
- 4 "Wedding of the Sleeping Beauty" Max. Rhode.
- 5 WALTZ INTERMEZZO—"Flirtation" Steck.
- 6 FANTASIE from the Opera "Rigoletto" Verdi.
- 7 Fin de Rêve A. Bosc.
- 8 TURKISH PATROL Michaelis.
- 9 "Mighty lak' a Rose" E. Nevin.
- 10 SELECTION from "The Belle of New York" Gustav Kerker

Kolster Brandes

RADIO PRODUCTS
CRAY WORKS - SIDCUP - KENT

SUNDAY, JULY 14

5GB DAVENTRY EXPERIMENTAL

626 kc/s. (479.2 m.)

TRANSMISSIONS FROM LONDON EXCEPT WHERE OTHERWISE STATED.

9.0
A SYMPHONY
CONCERT

3.30 A MILITARY BAND CONCERT

(From Birmingham)

THE BAND OF H.M. ROYAL MARINES (Plymouth)
Conducted by Lieut. G. W. E. GRAYSON
Relayed from the Jephson Gardens,
Leamington Spa

March, 'Tannhäuser' Wagner
Overture, 'Rosamunde' Schubert
Suite, 'The Shoe' Ansell
Xylophone Duet, 'Cassiopeia' Barsotti
Excerpts from the Works of Grieg
arr. Winterbottom

Slav Rhapsody Friedemann
Selection, 'Catherino' Tchaikovsky
Piccolo Solo, 'The Lark's Festival' Brewer
Ballet Music, 'Coppélia' Delibes

4.30-5.30 Instrumental Programme

(From Birmingham)

LUIGI GASPARINI
(Violoncello)

Original Low Rhapsody
(for unaccompanied Violoncello) .. Magrini

EDITH PENVILLE (Flute)
Variations on a Theme by Mozart arr. Hahn
Final Movement from Suite ... Boland Revell (Accompanied by the COMPOSER)

4.50 CLAUDE DE VILLE
(Pianoforte)

Grillen } (Whims) .. } Schumann Romance in } F Sharp .. }
Rhapsody in G Minor
Brahms

LUIGI GASPARINI

Air Baskyr }
(Basque Airs) } Piatti Scherzo }
Danza Moreaca }
(Moorish Dance)

5.10 EDITH PENVILLE

First Impromptu } Andersen
First Scherzino }
Rondo Capriccioso De Jong

CLAUDE DE VILLE

El Puerto (The Gate) } Albeniz
Evocation }
L'Isle Joyeuse Debussy

7.50 A RELIGIOUS SERVICE

(From Birmingham)

Arranged by THE BIRMINGHAM CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETY

Conducted by Canon GUY ROGERS
Relayed from St. Martin's Parish Church
THE BELLS

Order of Service :

Hymn, 'Sing of the glorious coming day'
(Edward Curtis) (Tune: 'Rimington')

Litany

Hymn, 'England arise! the long, long night is over' (Songs of Praise, No. 185)

Lesson, Romans xii, Verses 9-21

(Read by Mr. EDWARD CURTIS, Chairman of the Co-Operative Movement)

Anthem

Address

Hymn, 'Vow to Thee my Country' (Songs of Praise, No. 188)

Benediction

8.45 The Week's Good Cause:
(From Birmingham)

An Appeal on behalf of the Gloucester Samaritan Fund and Guild by Mr. A. J. DENNIS
Contributions should be forwarded to the Rev.
G. Milford Barnes, Harley House, Gloucester

8.50 'The News'

WEATHER FORECAST, GENERAL NEWS BULLETIN

9.0 A Symphony Concert

WILLIAM PRIMROSE (Violin)
THE WIRELESS SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
(Leader, S. KNEALE KELLEY)
Conducted by BASIL CAMERON

ORCHESTRA

A Song before Sunrise Delius

COMPLETED in 1918, and published in 1922, this piece is inscribed by the composer, 'For Philip Heseltine,' who is known to listeners also under his composer's name, Peter Warlock. Scored for only woodwinds, two horns and strings, it begins with a fresh, happy melody, given chiefly to the strings in nine parts, with little snatches of tune on the woodwinds breaking in on it. The music changes to a more flowing measure and sinks to very soft tone, and after a moment of sudden strength and energy, returns to the opening melody. At the end it dies away softly and slowly, and the whole short piece is eloquent of its subject, in Delius' picturesque way.

LUIGI GASPARINI
plays the violoncello during the Instrumental Programme from Birmingham this afternoon.

9.8 WILLIAM PRIMROSE and Orchestra

Concerto in B Flat for Violin and Orchestra
(K.207) Mozart
Allegro moderato; Adagio; Presto

9.28 ORCHESTRA

Nocturne (First Performance) .. Leslie Heward
WILLIAM PRIMROSE with Pianoforte
Three Transcriptions for Violin and Pianoforte
arr. Kreisler

Gavotte in E Bach
Songs my Mother taught me Dvorak
Molly on the Shore Grainger

ORCHESTRA

Symphony No. 4 in A Minor (Op. 63) Sibelius
Tempo molto moderato quasi adagio; Allegro molto vivace; II Tempo largo; Allegro

10.30

Epilogue
'Long Suffering'

THE RADIO TIMES.

The Journal of the British Broadcasting Corporation.

Published every Friday—Price Twopence.

Editorial address: Savoy Hill, London, W.C.2.

The reproduction of the copyright programmes contained in this issue is strictly reserved.

Sunday's Programmes continued (July 14)

5WA CARDIFF. 968 kc/s. (309.9 m.)

3.30 S.B. from Swansea

5.0-6.15 app. S.B. from London

6.30 S.B. from Swansea

7.55 S.B. from London

8.45 The Week's Good Cause
An Appeal on behalf of the Cardiff Central Boys' Club and Hostel, by the Chairman, Lady ROBINSON

8.50 S.B. from London

9.0 West Regional News

9.5 S.B. from London

10.30 Epilogue

10.40-11.0 The Silent Fellowship
S.B. from Swansea

5SX SWANSEA. 1,040 kc/s. (288.5 m.)

3.30 A CONCERT
Relayed from the Mumbles Pier Pavilion, Mumbles
THE NATIONAL ORCHESTRA OF WALES
(Cerdidforfa Genedlaethol Cymru)
Conducted by WAEWICK BRAITHWAITE
Overture, 'Fingal's Cave' Mendelssohn
WATCYN WATCYN (Bass-Baritone) and Orchestra
Droop not, young lover,Handel
ORCHESTRA
Dance of the Clowns (Christmas Tree Suite)Rebikov
Prelude and Call ('Mary Rose') O'Neill
Fantasia, 'The Three Bears' Eric Coates
WATCYN WATCYN and Orchestra
Madamina ('Don Giovanni') Mozart
ORCHESTRA
Wedding Waltz (Pierrette's Veil) Dohnanyi

ERNEST VON DOHNANYI was only twenty when he made his first appearance as a concert pianist, stepping at once into the very front rank of executants. A year later, having won laurels in all the principal music centres of Germany and Austria-Hungary, he appeared with no less success in this country, and, in 1899, in the United States. As a composer he was known at first by his fresh and attractive music for his own instrument; for a good many years, however, he has been steadily gaining wider recognition as a composer of orchestral and chamber music, and latterly of music for the stage. Although making comparatively little use of actual folk tunes, most of his music is strongly characteristic of his native Hungary; it is all distinguished not only by very able craftsmanship, but by a genuine gift of invention, flavoured with a happy sense of laughter. His 'Variations on a Nursery Tune' are already popular in the best sense, alike with pianists and with audiences.

The pantomime from which this Wedding Waltz is taken made its first appearance on the Dresden stage in 1910.

In the form of a suite, the music consists of six numbers, of which the Wedding Waltz is the fourth. After a loud chorus on the whole orchestra, the violins in unison run about in quavers, until the tune enters on flutes, clarinets, and violins, in octaves. This first tune has the chief say in the little movement, although other melodies are heard, one on violins and clarinets, and another on bassoon, violins, and violas. The movement passes through several changes of key, and before the end there is a little repetition of the violin figure from the opening, after which the first tune brings it to an end.

INTERLUDE FROM THE STUDIO
T. D. JONES (Pianoforte)

CONCERT
(Continued)

ORCHESTRA
Egyptian BalletLuigini

WATCYN WATCYN
Hell's Pavement } Frederick Keel
Trade Winds }
Port of Many Ships }

ORCHESTRA
Hungarian Rhapsody, No. 1 in F Liszt

5.0-6.15 app. S.B. from London

THE MUMBLES LIGHTHOUSE.
A fine picture typical of the rugged Glamorganshire coast. A concert by the National Orchestra of Wales is being relayed by Swansea from the Mumbles Pier Pavilion this afternoon, at 3.30. The Concert will also be broadcast from Cardiff.

6.30 A RELIGIOUS SERVICE
Relayed from St. Mary's Parish Church
Hymn, 'Jesu, where'er Thy people meet' (A. and M., No. 529; H. C., No. 386; Tune, 'Wareham')
Psalm 104 (Chants: Turle in F; Goss in B. Flat)
Anthem, 'Gloria in Excelsis'Mozart
Hymn, 'O Saviour, precious Saviour' (A. and M., No. 307; H. C., No. 561; Tune, 'Zosn')
Address by the Rev. W. T. HAVARD, M.C., M.A. (Vicar of Swansea)
Hymn, 'Praise, my soul, the King of Heaven' (A. and M., No. 298; H. C., No. 580; Tune, 'Goss')

7.55-8.45 S.B. from London

8.50 WEATHER FORECAST, NEWS

9.0 S.B. from Cardiff

9.5 S.B. from London

10.30 Epilogue

10.40-11.0 The Silent Fellowship
Relayed to Daventry

6BM BOURNEMOUTH. 1,040 kc/s. (288.5 m.)

3.30-6.15 app. S.B. from London

7.55 S.B. from London

8.45 The Week's Good Cause
Appeal on behalf of the Bournemouth Branch of T.O.C. by Brigadier-General R. F. SORSBY, C.B., C.S.I., C.I.E. (President)

8.50 S.B. from London (9.0 Local Announcements)

10.30 Epilogue

5PY PLYMOUTH. 1,040 kc/s. (288.5 m.)

3.30-6.15 app. S.B. from London

7.55-8.45 S.B. from London

8.50 S.B. from London (9.0 Local Announcements)

10.30 Epilogue

2ZY MANCHESTER. 797 kc/s. (376.4 m.)

3.30 A Ballad Concert
HARRY GREENWOOD (Pianoforte)
From Manchester

DOROTHY KITCHEN (Mezzo-Soprano)
From Hull

WALTER HATTON (Violoncello)
From Liverpool

JOHN ANDERSON (Baritone)
From Sheffield

5.0-6.15 app. S.B. from London

7.55 S.B. from London

8.45 The Week's Good Cause
An Appeal on behalf of the Stockport Musical Festival Carnival Committee in aid of Stockport Infirmary, by his Worship THE MAYOR OF STOCKPORT

Donations should be sent to the 'Carnival Wireless Appeal,' the Mayor, Town Hall, Stockport.

8.50 S.B. from London (9.0 Local Announcements)

10.30 Epilogue

Other Stations.

5NO NEWCASTLE. 1,145 kc/s. (261.3 m.)
3.30-6.15 app.:-S.B. from London. 7.55:-S.B. from London. 10.30:-Epilogue.

5SC GLASGOW. 752 kc/s. (398.9 m.)
3.0:-A Military Band Concert from the Bandstand, Kelvin-grove Park. The Band of H.M. Royal Corps of Signals (by kind permission of Brigadier H. Clement Smith, D.S.O., and the Officers, Conducted by B. R. Ricketts: March, John B. Dickson (Violoncello). 5.0-6.15:-app.:-S.B. from London. 7.55:-S.B. from London. 8.45:-The Week's Good Cause: The Queen's Institute of District Nursing (Scottish Branch). An Appeal by Lady King Stewart of Murdochston. 8.50:-Weather Forecast, News. 9.0:-Scottish News Bulletin. 9.5:-S.B. from London. 10.30:-Epilogue.

2BD ABERDEEN. 995 kc/s. (301.5 m.)
3.0:-S.B. from Glasgow. 5.0-6.15 app.:-S.B. from London. 7.55:-S.B. from London. 8.45:-S.B. from Glasgow. 8.50:-Weather Forecast, News. 9.0:-S.B. from Glasgow. 9.5:-S.B. from London. 10.30:-Epilogue.

2BE BELFAST. 1,235 kc/s. (242.5 m.)
3.30-6.15 app.:-S.B. from London. 7.55-8.45:-S.B. from London. 8.50:-S.B. from London. 10.30:-Epilogue.

Rates of Subscription to 'The Radio Times' (including postage): Twelve months (Foreign), 15s. 8d.; twelve months (British), 14s. 6d. Subscriptions should be sent to the Publisher of 'The Radio Times,' 8-11, Southampton Street, Strand, W.C.2.

9.15

SIR SEFTON
BRANCKER

TALKS ABOUT—

MONDAY, JULY 15

2LO LONDON & 5XX DAVENTRY

842 kc/s. (356.3 M.)

193 kc/s. (1,554.4 M.)

9.15

—WHAT IS GOING ON IN THE AIR.

10.15 a.m. THE DAILY SERVICE

10.30 (Daventry only) TIME SIGNAL, GREENWICH; WEATHER FORECAST

10.45 Mr. J. A. NEWRIK: 'Insurance Problems, IV: Unemployment Insurance'—II

THAT Mr. Newrik's aim—i.e., to give some simple and practical advice on the vexed problems of insurance—is being successfully achieved is shown by the considerable amount of correspondence his talks have evoked from listeners. His fourth talk deals with Unemployment Insurance.

11.0 (Daventry only)
Gramophone Records
Sonata in C Minor for Violin and Pianoforte
Grieg12.0 A Ballad Concert
MATTIE GIBSON (Soprano)
CHARLES I. RECORD
(Baritone)12.30 Organ Music Played by EDWARD O'HENRY
Relayed from Tussaud's
Cinema1.0-2.0 Leonardo Kemp and his Piccadilly Hotel
Orchestra
From the Piccadilly
Hotel4.0 DANCE MUSIC
JACK PAYNE and THE
B.B.C. DANCE
ORCHESTRA4.15 LIGHT MUSIC
ALPHONSE DU CLOS and his ORCHESTRA
From the Hotel Cecil5.15 THE CHILDREN'S HOUR

'The Woodland Tailor
(Ernest Austin) and other songs, sung by EVA NEALE; 'A Silver New Nothing'

(Eleanor Farjeon)
Gopak (Moussorgsky) and other Piano Solos, played by CECIL DIXON

'Who is King of the Animals?' from 'Outa Karel' (Sanni Meteler-kemp), told by DOROTHY BLACK

6.0 A. BONNET LAIRD: 'Summer Days'

6.15 The First News
TIME SIGNAL, GREENWICH; WEATHER FORECAST,
FIRST GENERAL NEWS BULLETIN6.30 'The Younger Generation and its Problems'
—XI, DAVID KATHARINE FURSE: 'The Uses of Parents'6.45 THE FOUNDATIONS OF MUSIC
EARLY FRENCH KEYBOARD MUSIC7.0 Mr. DESMOND MACCARTHY: 'Literary Criticism'

7.15 Musical Interlude

7.25 Signor S. BREGLIA: Topical Italian Talk

7.45 A MILITARY BAND CONCERT

PARRY JONES (Tenor)

ANTHONY PINI (Violoncello)

THE WIRELESS MILITARY BAND

Conducted by B. WALTON O'DONNELL

BAND

Overture, 'Don Giovanni'.....Mozart

7.52 PARRY JONES

Nina Pergolesi
Per la Gloria (For Glory).....Buononcini
Ombra mai fu (Largo).....Handel

8.0 BAND

Three Humoresques B. Walton O'Donnell Pride and Prejudice; Prevarication; Petu-lance and Persuasion

A HUMORESQUE is not necessarily a humorous piece. The name means rather something capricious and wayward. But in this music by the popular conductor of the Wireless Military Band there vivacious measure, clarinets and alto saxophones play the hurrying tune. It comes to an end quietly, and in slower measure the woodwinds, softly at first, have a contrasting theme. There is a horn solo in the manner of recitative, which leads to a return of the beginning, and a coda in three short sections, one quick and strenuous, one more majestic, and one in the swift measure of the opening, rounds off the movement and the suite.

8.14 ANTHONY PINI

Chant Elegiaque F. Schmitt
Goyescas Granados
Minuet Debussy

8.28 BAND

Italian Caprice
Tchaikovsky

8.44 PARRY JONES

At the mid-hour of night
CowenO that it were so
F. BridgeSigh no more, ladies
Aiken

8.52 BAND

Intermezzo, 'Manon Les-caut'; Witches' Dance,
'Le Villi' (Puccini, arr.
R. J. F. Howgill)

9.0 The Second News

WEATHER FORECAST,
SECOND GENERAL NEWS
BULLETIN9.15 Air Vice-Marshal Sir
W. SEFTON BRANCKER,
K.C.B., Director of Civil Aviation: 'A Survey of Flying Progress'

PROGRESS, in aviation, means quite a lot. When one considers how the last thirty years have seen telescoped into their span as much progress in air transport as three thousand achieved in transport by land or sea, one realises that every year that passes makes the achievement of the last seem out-of-date and stale. There is every reason, therefore, for the layman who wants to be intelligently air-minded to be periodically informed by an expert of the most recent advances that have been made. Tonight Sir Sefton Brancker, who has been Director of Civil Aviation to the Air Ministry since 1922, will give such a survey, the occasion being particularly appropriate, since the Royal Air Force Display took place last Saturday, and the Aeronautical Exhibition at Olympia opens tomorrow.

9.30 Local Announcements; (Daventry only)
Shipping Forecast and Fat Stock Prices

9.35 Versailles

(See centre of page)

11.0 DANCE MUSIC

REG BATTEN and his BAND from the
NEW PRINCES RESTAURANT

12.0-12.15

Experimental Transmission of Still Pictures
by the Fultograph Process

The entrance to the most famous palace in France.

'OLD VERSAILLES'

Tonight at 9.35

By Cecilia Hill, author of 'Versailles, its Life and History.'

A musical and dramatic attempt to present something of the story of old Versailles, built by Louis XIV (Le Roi Soleil—Grand Monarque), a monument to his own deeds and a shrine for the spirit of his beloved France.

are flashes of real humour, as is only right and proper when a composer is a genial Irishman.

Mr. O'Donnell is, of course, not merely a military bandmaster with the conventional training and traditions of such a task; he is a thoroughly equipped all-round musician, whose work for orchestra is no less distinguished than for the band.

The names of these three pieces are almost all that listeners require by way of guidance. Over a vigorous bass the first begins with a rather pompous tune for cornets and wood-winds. Clarinets answer it, a little pertly, and then there is an expressive slower section with a cornet solo. After that, the vigour of the opening returns, and the piece ends whimsically with a swift little rush.

Number two has a few bars of capricious prelude and then clarinets and flutes together play the merry, leaping tune; there is a short, more emphatic interlude which leads to a gracious waltz with a tune not unlike the first one. Again, there is an emphatic interruption and the opening melody returns.

To the third and last movement there are again a few bars of prelude, and then in the most

MONDAY, JULY 15
5GB DAVENTRY EXPERIMENTAL

626 kc/s. (479.2 m.)

TRANSMISSIONS FROM LONDON EXCEPT WHERE OTHERWISE STATED.

- 4.0 Lozells Picture House Orchestra
(From Birmingham)
Conducted by E. A. PARSONS
Overture, 'The Beautiful Helen' Offenbach
Selection, 'Veronique' Massenet
Selection, 'The Last Waltz' Oscar Straus
- 4.30 • Dance Music
JACK PAYNE and the B.B.C.
DANCE ORCHESTRA
- 5.30 The Children's Hour
(From Birmingham)
'Zeebo the Zebra,' by Mary Haras
JACKO will Entertain
'Kynge Arthur and Certeyn of his Knyghtes—
How a Kitchen Page Won Knighthood,' by Margaret M. Kennedy
DOROTHY McBLAIN (Whistling Solos)
- 6.15 The First News
TIME SIGNAL, GREENWICH; WEATHER FORE-CAST, FIRST GENERAL NEWS BULLETIN

8.0
AN HOUR
OF VAUDEVILLE

brilliant executant on whom many honours and distinctions were conferred. Many of his showy solo pieces and arrangements of gipsy airs are still popular with violinists, and this brilliant dance has always been a favourite.

DAISY NEAL
Praise Haydn Wood

ORCHESTRA
Incidental Music, 'The Merchant of Venice'
Rosse

7.52 HARRY MILLER (Violoncello)
Romance, 'Chant Sans Paroles' (Song without words) Van Goens

DAISY NEAL
A Farewell Liddle

ORCHESTRA
Fantasia, 'Mignon' Ambroise Thomas, arr. Tavan

8.0 Vaudeville
(From Birmingham)
MYLES CLIFTON (Light Comedian)

VAUDEVILLE TONIGHT.

Among the artists taking part in tonight's Vaudeville programme from Birmingham are—Dorothy McBlain (left), Myles Clifton (centre), and Alma Vane (right).

- 6.30 Light Music
(From Birmingham)
PATTISON'S SALON ORCHESTRA
Directed by NORRIS STANLEY
Relayed from the Café Restaurant, Corporation Street
Overture, 'Orpheus in the Underworld'
Offenbach
Intermezzo, 'Little Gadabout' Colin
- ONE of the most popular of Offenbach's many light operas, this one takes the most shameless liberties with the dignity of the old Olympic deities, and with the pathetic tale of Orpheus and his descent to the Underworld in search of his lost bride. The story is, of course, the same as that of Gluck's Orfeo and many other operas on the classic theme, but here it is treated in a mood of broadest comedy, bordering even on farce. In Offenbach's day, as only older listeners will now remember, burlesque was a favourite form of humour, and no subject was too sacred to be made fun of. But even those who are too young to remember the vogue of such light-hearted works have heard selections and separate airs from this as from other operas of Offenbach's, and the Overture, full of gay and sparkling melody, is bound to seem familiar.
- DAISY NEAL (Contralto)
Love is a Slave Squire
- ORCHESTRA
Mosaic on the Works of Rossini arr. Tavan
- 7.5 NORRIS STANLEY (Violin)
Spanish Dance, 'Zapateado' Sarasate
- SARASATE was an outstanding figure in the concert world of the last generation. A Spaniard by birth, he was known all over the world as a

- DOROTHY McBLAIN (Siffleuse)
MARK and ALMA VANE (Light Duets)
THE TWO HOFFMANS
MINA TAYLOR presents a Sketch
PHILIP BROWN'S 'DOMINGOS' DANCE BAND
- 9.0 A CONCERT
EVELINE STEVENSON (Soprano)
THE OLOF SEXTET
Valse, 'The Blue Danube' Johann Strauss
Liebestraum (A Dream of Love) Liszt
Minuet Paderewski
- 9.18 EVELINE STEVENSON
L'Amour de Moi (My Love) arr. Julien Tiersot
Pur Dicasti (Truly thou sayest) Lott
- 9.25 SEXTET
Star of Love (Estrellita) Manuel Ponce
Moment Musical Schubert
Hymn to the Sun Binsky-Korsakov
Tarantelle Coleridge-Taylor
- 9.38 EVELINE STEVENSON
Young Love lies Sleeping } Somervell
What comes over the Sea }
I cannot tell what you say }
- 9.46 SEXTET
Memories of Grieg arr. Urbach
- 10.0 The Second News
WEATHER FORECAST, SECOND GENERAL NEWS
BULLETIN
- 10.15 DANCE MUSIC
JACK HYLTON'S AMBASSADOR CLUB BAND, directed by RAY STARITA, from the AMBASSADOR CLUB
- 11.0-11.15 REG BATTEN and his BAND from the
NEW PRINCES RESTAURANT
(Monday's Programmes continued on page 74.)

EWARTS HOT-WATER SERVICE BUREAU

SAFETY and EFFICIENCY

Instant and constant Hot Water supplied to an "Agale" porcelain bath, made by Saunders & Connor Ltd., Barrhead, Scotland.

- There are well over half a million Ewart hot-water supply systems in daily use throughout the country—working to the complete satisfaction of their owners.
- That, in itself, proves that safety and efficiency go together. Every Ewart installation is supplied with safety devices, and every Ewart owner can make use of the maintenance service of Ewart's skilled engineers.
- The supply of instant and constant hot water in one room or in every room throughout the house is the efficient and safe service to which the Hot-Water Service Bureau will gladly introduce you.

Catalogues of the latest labour-saving appliances for instant and constant hot water free on request.

Geyzers also made to heat by oil.

EWART'S HOT-WATER SERVICE BUREAU

Established 1838
(Dept. R), 346, Euston Road, London, N.W.1.

Notes From Southern Stations.

Plymouth.

THE service on Sunday evening, July 21, will be relayed from George Street Baptist Church. It will be conducted by the Rev. T. Wilkinson Riddle, the address being given by the Rev. Edgar Calvert, Minister of King Street Wesleyan Church.

The second of his series of talks on 'Three Cornish Ceremonies' will be given in the Plymouth Studio by Mr. Charles Henderson, at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, July 23. Mr. Henderson will describe some of the incidents in connection with the Bradstone pageant, which is to take place on July 31 and August 1. Bradstone is a tiny village on the borders of Devon and Cornwall between Launceston and Tavistock.

5GB.

A PROGRAMME of light music is to be relayed from Pattison's Restaurant, Corporation Street, on Saturday, July 27. The soloists are Norr's Stanley (violin) and William Frith (baritone).

Friday, July 26, sees the appearance in the Birmingham Studio, for the light music, of the Haydn Pianoforte Sextet, with Claire Davis (soprano) and Henry Bentley (violoncello).

Dr. Harold Rhodes gives his weekly organ recital from Coventry Cathedral on Thursday, July 25.

Bournemouth.

FOR centuries the ruins of Stonehenge have inspired in every spectator the feelings of wonder and awe. The size of the great stones—the great flat plain around—the mystery as to when the building was erected, and by what race and kind of men—all these affect, almost unconsciously, the minds of those who come to view. Stonehenge is known the world over, and yet it is not the largest of the stone circles of England. Avebury, standing on the Marlborough Downs, is five times as large, and originally contained about five hundred great stones, but only thirteen are left, the others, broken up into building material, compose the farmhouses and farm buildings in the neighbourhood. Stonehenge, owing to its isolated position, has luckily escaped this fate to a large extent. Enough is left to show the ordinary observer, more or less, the plan of the structure, and to excite the curiosity of the general public. As to when and by whom it was constructed practically nothing was known down to comparatively recent times, and the most absurd theories as to the origin and use were put forward. Now, by dint of careful, diligent, and scientific research, the date of the building is agreed upon within narrow limits. Who the people were who built it are known, and their habits, customs, and ideas are fairly well established. It is to these builders that Mr. Richey, in his talk from the Bournemouth Studio on Tuesday, July 23, will more particularly direct listeners' attention.

The Listener
THE NEW B.B.C. WEEKLY

Special Features:

'A HOLIDAY IN IRELAND'

by

H. V. MORTON

NEW NOVELS

by

MISS V. SACKVILLE WEST

CARAVANING

by

MISS BETTY BARTHOLOMEW

Will appear in next week's issue.

2d.—ON SALE EVERYWHERE—2d.

Monday's Programmes continued (July 15)

5WA CARDIFF. 968 kc/s. (309.9 m.)

- 1.15-2.0 An Orchestral Concert
Relayed from the National Museum of Wales
NATIONAL ORCHESTRA OF WALES
(Cerdoria Genedlaethol Cymru)
Overture, 'Euryanthe' Weber
Legend, 'The Swan of Tuonela,' Op. 22 } Sibelius
Legend, 'Lemminkainen's Return' ... }
Song of the Volga Boatmen Glazounov
Ballet Music, 'Nell Gwyn' German
- 4.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 4.45 Mrs. HOWARD ROWLANDS: 'Down on the Farm—III, A Woman's Experience in War Time'
- 5.0 JOHN STEAN'S CARLTON CELEBRITY ORCHESTRA
From the Carlton Restaurant
- 5.15 The Children's Hour
- 6.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 6.15 S.B. from London
- 9.30 West Regional News.
- 9.35-11.0 S.B. from London

5SX SWANSEA. 1,040 kc/s. (288.5 m.)

- 1.15-2.0 S.B. from Cardiff
- 4.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 4.45 S.B. from Cardiff
- 6.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 6.15 S.B. from London
- 9.30 S.B. from Cardiff
- 9.35-11.0 S.B. from London

6BM BOURNEMOUTH. 1,040 kc/s. (288.5 m.)

- 4.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 6.15-11.0 S.B. from London (9.30 Local Announcements)

5PY PLYMOUTH. 1,040 kc/s. (288.5 m.)

- 4.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 5.15 The Children's Hour
Empire Week
The Story of 'Little Brown Tala and the Cheeses' (Wynne), followed by a dialogue, 'Stamps of the Sky-ways' (W. H. Wosencroft)
- 6.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 6.15-11.0 S.B. from London (9.30 Local Announcements)

2ZY MANCHESTER. 797 kc/s. (376.4 m.)

- 4.0 Famous Northern Resorts
Morecambe
THE BAND OF H.M. SCOTS GUARDS
Director of Music, H. E. DOWELL
(By kind permission of Col. FRANCIS ALSTON, C.M.G., D.S.O.)
Relayed from the West End Bandstand
Overture, 'Oberon' Weber
Entr'acte, 'Birthday Serenade' Lincke
Selection, 'Romeo and Juliet' Gounod

Three Dances from 'Nell Gwyn' German
Country Dance; Pastoral Dance; Merry-makers' Dance
Naval Patrol, 'Britain's First Line' .. Williams

- 5.0 JOHN E. JAMES
(The Cumberland Entertainer)
- 5.15 The Children's Hour
JOGGIN' ALONG
Songs sung by DORIS GAMBELL and HARRY HOPEWELL
- 6.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 6.15 S.B. from London
- 7.45 IVOR VINTOR
(The Little Surprise)
- 8.0 Famous Northern Resorts
Harrogate
S.B. from Leeds
THE HARROGATE MUNICIPAL ORCHESTRA
Conducted by BASIL CAMERON
Relayed from the Royal Hall
Overture, 'The Merry Wives of Windsor'
Nicolaï
Chant Elégiaque Tchaikovsky
Three English Dances Quilter
HERBERT CAVE (Tenor)
Songs
ORCHESTRA
Suite, 'L'Arlésienne' ('The Maid of Arles')
Bizet
Negro Spiritual, 'Deep River' arr. C. Taylor
Fantasia, 'Bacchanalia' Herman Finch
- 9.0-11.0 S.B. from London (9.30 Local Announcements)

Other Stations.

5NO NEWCASTLE. 1,148 kc/s. (261.3 m.)

4.0:—London Programme relayed from Daventry. 5.15:—The Children's Hour. 6.0:—London Programme relayed from Daventry. 6.15:—S.B. from London. 7.45:—Poetry Reading by Marjorie F. Sherborne: The Legend Beautiful (Longfellow); The Fighting Temeraire (Sir Henry Newbolt); Death the Leveller (James Shirley); She walks in beauty (Lord Byron); Remembrance, and To his Love (Shakespeare); Little Boy Blue (Eugene Field). 8.0:—Concert by The Municipal Orchestra. Directed by Frank Gomez. Relayed from the Spa, Whitby. Selection of Herbert Oliver's Songs; Overture, 'Mignon' (Thomas); Meditation from 'Thaïs' (Massenet) (Solo Violin, Reginald Stead); Selection, 'Wake Up and Dream' (Cole-Porter); Keltic Lament (J. Foulds) (Solo Cello, May Bartlett); Fantasy, 'Samson and Delilah' (Saint-Saëns). 9.0-11.0:—S.B. from London.

5SC GLASGOW. 752 kc/s. (398.9 m.)

4.0:—A Light Concert. The Station Trio. Mary Johnston (Soprano). 5.15:—The Children's Hour. 5.57:—Weather Forecast for Farmers. 6.0:—London Programme relayed from Daventry. 6.15:—S.B. from London. 6.30:—A Talk for Young People—Rev. T. Ratcliffe Barnett, Ph.D.: 'A Holiday on the Road.' 8.8:—Bulletin from Edinburgh. 6.40:—Bulletin of Juvenile Organizations. 6.45:—S.B. from London. 9.30:—Scottish News Bulletin. 9.35-11.0:—S.B. from London.

2BD ABERDEEN. 895 kc/s. (331.5 m.)

4.0:—Concert. The Station Octet. 5.15:—The Children's Hour. 6.0:—London Programme relayed from Daventry. 6.15:—S.B. from London. 6.30:—S.B. from Edinburgh (See Glasgow). 6.40:—Juvenile Organizations' Bulletin. 6.45:—S.B. from London. 9.30:—S.B. from Glasgow. 9.35-11.0:—S.B. from London.

2BE BELFAST. 1,238 kc/s. (242.5 m.)

12.0-1.0:—Light Music. The Radio Quartet. Both George (Soprano). 4.0:—A Concert. The Orchestra. Hylda Hemingway (Violin). 4.45:—Organ Recital by George Newell. From the Classic Cinema. 5.15:—The Children's Hour. 6.0:—'Summer Days,' by A. Bonnet Laird. 6.15:—S.B. from London. 7.45:—A Military Band Concert. Band of the 1st Bn. The West Yorkshire Regiment. Bandmaster, E. J. MacDonald. Band: March, 'Florentiner' (Fück); Three Yorkshire Dale Dances (A. Wood). 8.2:—Intermezzo and Spanish Dance from Suite, 'L'Arlésienne' (Bizet). 8.10:—The Bohemian Male Voice Quartet: Comrades in Arms (A. Adams); Allan Water (arr. H. E. Button); Down in you Summer Vale (Chas. Wood); Little Tommy went a-fishing (J. G. Macey). 8.22:—Band: Selection, 'Good News' (Henderson). 8.32:—Quartet: Dear Harp of my Country (Dr. José); The Last Rose of Summer (arr. Goodman); My faithful fond one (K. G. Finlay); Swannee River, and The Miller's Daughter (arr. H. S. Robertson). 8.44:—Band: Selection of Classical Memories (arr. Ewing); Gems from 'Virginia' (Tunbridge); Regimental Marches—God Bless the Prince of Wales; Quick Step, 'Ca Ira.' 9.0-11.0:—S.B. from London.

Both Sides of the Bristol Channel.

AN 'S.O.S.' FROM THE N.O.W.

The Prince of Wales Assists the Orchestra to Carry On—How Every Welsh Listener can Help—A 'Naval Night' from Bristol—Sixty Years a Preacher—Interesting Forthcoming Talks.

National Orchestra of Wales.

THE National Orchestra of Wales, which has already won a great reputation in the West and with distant listeners owning selective sets, will be heard through 2LO at 10.15 p.m. on Monday, July 22. This programme will reveal the wide range and capability of the orchestra and will rouse the pride of many of the exiled Cymry. I notice that the old-established Hallé Orchestra has just been placed on a sound financial footing. But can this new National orchestra be saved from that oblivion which threatened all such musical ventures? At least £2,000 is urgently needed, and if it is not forthcoming Wales may not have such another Orchestra for centuries. H.R.H. The Prince of Wales has himself sent the first donation, and if every Welsh listener to this programme would send a mite, all would be well. Address your envelope to the National Council of Music, Law Courts, Cardiff.

Aboard 'The Flying Fox.'

BRISTOL is providing a programme on Friday, July 26, at 7.45 p.m., that should awaken widespread interest, especially as it will also be broadcast through 5XX. The old port has a wonderful record of maritime enterprise both in the service of the Crown and in voyages of discovery and trading adventure. Some phases of this record have already been broadcast from Cardiff, but the programme arranged for July 26 will take the form of a 'Naval Night,' and will be relayed from the headquarters of the Bristol Division, R.N.V.R., H.M. Drill Ship Flying Fox, which is permanently moored not far from the spot where the famous old frigate, the Saucy Arethusa, was built. A most distinguished Bristolian, John Hopkins, who was Mayor of Bristol three years before the death of Queen Elizabeth, 'set forth a ship, and in person went captain to Calais action; at whose return he was with much joy met by the citizens on Durdham Downs.' The expedition in which the Mayor took part was that against Cadiz in 1595, under the Earl of Essex and Admiral Howard. Bristol history contains many examples of fine patriotism in providing ships and men in the time of national danger, and the story Captain Cogan will broadcast should be an inspiring one. The musical part of the programme will be provided by Bristol soloists, including Mr. Dennis Noble, Mr. Robert Cole, and Mr. Herbert Powell, with a chorus of 300 R.N.V.R. men, old bluejackets and Royal Marines, under the direction of Mr. Joseph Jenkins.

Welsh Melodies.

DURING the Welsh Orchestral Concert on Wednesday, July 24, in which the National Orchestra of Wales will take part, Dinah Evans and Anita Vaughan will sing three Welsh folk-songs arranged for soprano and contralto voices with harp by Herbert Bedford. The harp accompaniment to these songs will be played by a young Swansea harpist, Miss Rhiannon James, who is upholding the traditions of a famous musical family; she is the daughter of Megan Glantawe. Those unconscious humorists, 'Erb and Dai, the Cockney and Welsh characters created by Mr. C. W. Miles, will also drift into this programme.

A Veteran of the Welsh Pulpit.

TRINITY CHAPEL, Swansea, from which a Religious Service in Welsh will be broadcast through Cardiff and Daventry (5XX) on Sunday evening, July 21, at 6.30 p.m., is a notable centre of the Welsh Calvinistic Methodists—The Presbyterian Church of Wales. The chapel was opened in April, 1829, and the building has undergone but slight structural alteration in the intervening hundred years. The fame of Trinity is due in large measure to the succession of great preachers who have occupied the pulpit—men whose names were household words throughout Wales. The Rev. W. E. Prytherch, who will conduct the service on July 21, is the third in this succession. He resigned the pastorate of the church in 1919, and his length of service may be judged by the fact that he has preached with the Rev. William Evans, Tonyrefail, who delivered the sermon at the opening of Trinity in 1829. Now in his eighty-fourth year, he is one of the oldest and probably the most widely known and revered of living Welsh preachers. Ordained to the full work of the Ministry in 1870, he continues to represent the great traditions of the Welsh pulpit. For over sixty years his voice has been heard in the great open-air preaching festivals of Wales and in chapels of the remotest villages. Welsh people everywhere will welcome the opportunity, which the 'wireless' alone can give them, of hearing once more this veteran of the Welsh pulpit—William Prytherch, Abertawe.

THE REV. W. E. PRYTHERCH,

One of the oldest and most widely known of Welsh preachers, who will give an address at a service in Welsh, which Swansea, Cardiff, and Daventry (5XX) are relaying from Trinity Calvinistic Methodist Chapel, Swansea, on Sunday, July 21.

The Pier Pavilion, Penarth.

MANY Vaudeville 'stars' of today have happy recollections of the old Pier Pavilion at Penarth. Leslie Henson made his first professional appearance there in a concert party about 1912, and other artists who have performed at the old Pavilion are: Davie Burnaby, Muriel George and Ernest Butcher, Heddie Nash, Dorrie Dean, Randall Sutton, and Herbert Munden. But the old Pavilion has now been replaced by a handsome building in the modern style, and the first broadcast from it will be made by Mr. Herbert Heyner (baritone) and the National Orchestra of Wales on Sunday evening, July 21, at 9.5 p.m. Mr. Heyner has many admirers, but few of them know that he played Rugby for Blackheath and Calford Bridge, and that he is an ardent reader of everything from Lucullus to Oliver Lodge. But he has a critic. 'Tim,' his Irish terrier, can sleep peacefully through his ordinary singing practice, but when modern music comes he walks to the door and wants to be let out. When the songs of one particular composer (he shall be nameless) were sung he disappeared and fetched his lead, which he laid at Mr. Heyner's feet.

Welcome to Muli.

I AM sure that I should feel much like Alice in Wonderland if I ever dared to visit the Kingdom of Muli, for as a sign of greeting when you enter the King's throne-room, all the courtiers thrust out their tongues. Miss Esyllt Newbery, who will tell some stories about this king at 6.0 p.m. on July 26, reminds me still further of Alice when she describes the adventures of Zamo, a very pretty and clever little girl Mulisher—or rather Tibetan. 'Zamo,' she says, 'kept telling herself that she had nothing to be nervous about; she had been round all the sacred mountains within twenty miles. She had walked round Lhasa 100,000 times, she had made over 500 prayer-flags. She had given enough yak butter to light 1,000 huge lamps in the temple, and she had prayed night and day at a rate that made everybody else look lazy, yet she did feel nervous!' And you must hear how Denba, the great teacher of Muli, escaped from his 300 wives!

Stop Press.

LAST year, Mr. W. J. T. Collins, Editor of the South Wales and Monmouthshire Argus, was one of a party of fourteen journalists which visited America under the auspices of the Carnegie Endowment Fund. The party included editors, correspondents, and reporters from various parts of the British Isles and represented every phase of journalism. They all travelled from New York to San Francisco and then to New Orleans; they met the President of the United States and Mr. Kellogg. But Mr. Collins gallantly confesses that he was most interested in Hollywood. On Saturday, July 27, at 7.0 p.m. Mr. Collins will broadcast his impressions (and confessions) from the Cardiff Station.

'STEEP HOLM.'

9.40
TEDDY BROWN
in VAUDEVILLE

TUESDAY, JULY 16

2LO LONDON & 5XX DAVENTRY

842 k/cs. (356.3 m.)

193 kc/s. (1,554.4 m.)

9.40

TOMMY HANDLEY in VAUDEVILLE

- 10.15 a.m. THE DAILY SERVICE
- 10.30 (Daventry only) TIME SIGNAL, GREENWICH;
WEATHER FORECAST
- 10.45 Mrs. MARTINEK: 'Invalid Cookery'
- 11.0 (Daventry only) Gramophone Records
Miscellaneous
- 12.0 Organ Music
Played by EDGAR T. COOK
Relayed from Southwark Cathedral
- Toccata in A Purcell
Two Choral Preludes Brahms
(a) A Rose breaks into bloom
(b) My inmost heart doth yearn
- CONSTANCE READ (Soprano)
I will extol thee Costa
EDGAR T. COOK
Symphonic Poem, 'Orpheus' Liszt
CONSTANCE READ
My heart ever faithful Bach
EDGAR T. COOK
Elves Alec Rowley
Fantaisie Dialoguée Boellmann
- 1.0 LIGHT MUSIC
ALPHONSE DU CLOS and his ORCHESTRA
From the Hotel Cecil

2.0-2.25 (Daventry only)
Experimental Transmission of Still Pictures
by the Fultograph Process

- 4.0 LIGHT MUSIC
LOUIS LEVY'S ORCHESTRA
Conducted by ARNOLD EAGLE
From the Shepherd's Bush Pavilion
- 5.15 THE CHILDREN'S HOUR
'From the Canebrake' (Gardiner) and other
Violin Solos, played by DAVID WISE
'Zoo Underwater Riddles' solved by LESLIE
G. MAINLAND
The Story of 'Corrie' (H. Mortimer Batten)
- 6.0 Poems by JOHN FREEMAN
Read by ROBERT HARRIS
- 6.15 'The First News'
TIME SIGNAL, GREENWICH; WEATHER FORECAST,
FIRST GENERAL NEWS BULLETIN
- 6.30 Musical Interlude
- 6.45 THE FOUNDATIONS OF MUSIC
EARLY FRENCH KEYBOARD MUSIC
- 7.0 'Holidays at Home and Abroad'—X
Mr. H. V. MORTON: 'Ireland'
- 7.0 (Daventry only) Mr. ALED O. ROBERTS:
'The Eistedfodd' S.B. from Manchester
- 7.15 Musical Interlude
- 7.25 'Six Types of Tudor Prose
VI—Biography,' by Mr. T. S. ELIOT

For the last of his six types of Tudor prose, Mr. Eliot takes biography; and certainly no Tudor biography has such an ideal appeal as Fulke Greville's 'Life of Sir Philip Sidney.' There is no figure more attractive, from that attractive period, than Sidney, who as soldier-poet, combines in perfection the two main traits of Elizabethan character: love of physical adventure and love of mental adventure, too. As a poet he wrote some sonnets that are, Shakespeare alone excepted, the glory of that singing age; and as a soldier he typified, by his death at Zutphen, the very idea of Elizabethan chivalry. A finer subject for biography would be hard to find—if all were known about the man; but Greville wrote biography before the modern methods of particularization and exactitude had come into practice; with the result that, charming as is the renowned picture of Sidney he has given us and well-qualified as he was—by reason of his intimate friendship with Sidney, his sharing of adventures from schooldays to Sidney's death, and his agreement with Sidney's views of literature and life—to paint it, we could wish to know much more of this fine flower of Elizabethan courtiers.

7.45 A Light Orchestral Programme

WATCYN WATCYN (Baritone)
THE WIRELESS ORCHESTRA
Conducted by JOHN ANSELL

Overture, 'Vanda' Dvorak
Love Poems for Orchestra, 'Stars of the East'
Hermann Lohr
Chant at Sunset; Song of the Dancer; Song of the Birds; Eastern Night Song

THE MIGHTY WALLS OF YORK AND THE MINSTER which will be reproduced as the background of
THE NORTHERN COMMAND
SEARCHLIGHT TATTOO
relayed from Knavesmire
TO-NIGHT AT 11.30

BORN in the South of England in 1872, Hermann Lohr has for long held a foremost place in the affections of English singers and audiences. It is no exaggeration to say that some of his songs are known everywhere. As is only natural, this orchestral Suite is song-like in character, and even the names of the movements, indicating clearly what their composer would have them mean for us, all suggest that he had singing in mind as he wrote them. It is, of course, one of the best compliments one can pay to a melody to say that it would lend itself well to singing.

- 8.0 WATCYN WATCYN and Orchestra
Homeward Bound } Stanford
The Old Superb }
- 8.8 ORCHESTRA
Waltz, 'Danube Legends' Fucik
Two Short Pieces J. Ainslie Murray
Evening Peace; Morning Joy Morris Dance Tune, 'The Cuckoo's Nest' (Orchestrated by Patrick Barrow)
Selection, 'The Fortune Teller' .. Victor Herbert
- 8.30 WATCYN WATCYN with Pianoforte
In Summertime on Bredon Graham Peel
Five-and-twenty sailormen Coleridge-Taylor
- 8.38 ORCHESTRA
Dance of the Hours ('La Gioconda') .. Ponchielli
Gavotte ('Mignon') Ambroise Thomas
Pas des Fleurs (Flower Dance) ('Naila' Ballet)
Delibes
Spanish Suite, 'La Feria' Lacombe

8.0-8.30
(Daventry only)
The Foundations of Character
VI—Discipline or Freedom, by Mr. Z. F.
WILLIS

In his last talk during this present series, Mr. Willis attacks perhaps the most pertinent question of all in connection with the foundations of character. In how far is the freedom of expression and outlook and behaviour, that has more or less grown up with the present generations, beneficial or detrimental to a proper ease in the growth of character? In other words, what is the solution of the present dilemma of freedom or discipline? Mr. Willis will also attempt to define the limits of permissible and necessary intervention on the part of Society.

- 9.0 'The Second News'
WEATHER FORECAST, SECOND GENERAL NEWS
BULLETIN
- 9.15 Sir Walford Davies
'Music and the Ordinary Listener'
Series VIII, Handel at the Harpsichord'
- 9.35 Local Announcements; (Daventry only)
Shipping Forecast and Fat Stock Prices
- 9.40 Vaudeville
TOMMY HANDLEY (Comedian)
GWEN HENRY (Syncopated Songs)
TEDDY BROWN (Xylophone Solos)
JACK PAYNE and the B.B.C.
DANCE ORCHESTRA
and
A Variety Item from the LONDON COLISEUM
- 10.40 DANCE MUSIC
JAY WHIDDEN'S BAND from the CARLTON HOTEL
- 11.33-12.0 The Northern Command Searchlight Tattoo
From Knavesmire, York
S.B. from Leeds

PART II
The scene of the Tattoo shows the walls of York, and the Minster, with two gates of the city on either side.

Pageant—'Unity and Peace'

War

The long-drawn-out War of the Roses is portrayed. The rival armies approach one another, and a hand-to-hand combat takes place. Massed Bands play martial music.

Peace

As the battle ends, Organ Music and Singing is heard from the Minster, whose stained glass windows gradually light up. The Gates of the Minster open, and an ecclesiastical procession emerges. At the same time, processions of civilians in mediæval dress converge on the stage from all sides, singing. The rival armies, now at peace, line up on either side. A hymn is sung, and a song of praise, and as the great Amen is heard, all lights die out, except from the Minster windows.

Grand Finale

After a slight pause, the Massed Bands enter from the Minster Gate, followed by the Massed Drums and the various units that have taken part in the Tattoo. When all have taken their places, the first verse of 'Abide with Me' is played and sung by the Bands and Choir. The second verse is sung by an echo Choir, and the remaining verses by the Band, Choir and Audience. The Pageant concludes with the National Anthem.

TUESDAY, JULY 16
5GB DAVENTRY EXPERIMENTAL

626 kc/s. (479.2 m.)

TRANSMISSIONS FROM LONDON EXCEPT WHERE OTHERWISE STATED.

4.0 A CONCERT
(From Birmingham)
BERNARD ROSS (Baritone)
EDITH JAMES (Entertainer at the Piano)
THE NORRIS STANLEY PIANOFORTE SEXTET
Conducted by NORRIS STANLEY

SEXTET
Military March Schubert
Petite Suite Debussy, arr. Mouton

THIS, a comparatively early work of the brilliant French composer Debussy, was originally a pianoforte duet.

The first of the four movements is a Barcarolle, a boating tune, in which a solo flute plays the main tune at the beginning. There is a middle section in a more virile rhythm, after which the first tune is heard again, played now by the violin.

The second movement is called 'Procession.' Two flutes begin this, to be followed soon by the oboes and other winds until at last the whole orchestra is playing it. Here, again, there is a contrasting middle section, and when the first tune returns, on the flutes as at first, the violins play the tune of the middle section as an accompaniment to it.

A Minuet follows, dainty and graceful, the tune being shared, to begin with, by violin, flute, clarinet, oboe and English horn. The bassoon has an amusing part in the middle section, after which we hear the first part once more.

The last movement is a lively Ballet. The strings begin the tune, and then the winds take their place, after which the whole orchestra repeats it. A waltz breaks in, as middle section, and when the original tune is heard at the end, we hear the tune of the waltz along with it.

BERNARD ROSS
Elegy Massenet
When I am dead, my dearest... } Coleridge-Taylor
Unmindful of the roses..... }
Life and Death..... }

4.26 SEXTET
Fantasia on 'The Magic Flute' Mozart, arr. Tavan
EDITH JAMES
Entertainer at the Piano

SEXTET
Suite, 'Three English Dances' Quilter
WELL and honourably known not only in his own country, but a broad, too, as a composer of many really beautiful songs. Roger Quilter is no less thoroughly at home in composing for the orchestra.

These Three English Dances, a fine example of his melodious and graceful style, are scored for quite a small orchestra. A comparatively early work, it made its first appearance at a 'Prom' in 1910.

BERNARD ROSS
Love went a-riding..... } Frank Bridge
Isobel..... }
To Wine and Beauty..... } Quilter
O Mistress Mine..... }

5.5 SEXTET
A Day in Naples Byng
EDITH JAMES
Songs at the Piano

SEXTET
Fantasia on 'The Tales of Hoffmann' Offenbach

5.30 The Children's Hour
(From Birmingham)
'Rodrigo the Doubter,' by Bladon Peake
Songs by HAROLD CASEY (Baritone)
EDITH JAMES will Entertain

6.15 'The First News'
TIME SIGNAL, GREENWICH; WEATHER FORECAST, FIRST GENERAL NEWS BULLETIN

8.15
THE 'ELECTRA'
OF EURIPIDES

THE
'ELECTRA'
OF EURIPIDES,

translated into English rhyming verse by Professor Gilbert Murray, LL.D., D.Litt.,

will be broadcast from 5GB
TONIGHT AT 8.15,
and from London and Daventry
tomorrow night.

Particulars of the production will be found on page 81.

6.30 Light Music
(From Birmingham)

PATTISON'S SALON ORCHESTRA

Under the direction of NORRIS STANLEY
Relayed from the Café
Restaurant, Corporation
Street, Birmingham
Overture, 'Semiramide'
Rossini
Tartar March .. Ganne
CHARLES BADHAM
(Pianoforte)

Solos
ORCHESTRA
Suite, 'Othello'
Coleridge-Taylor

NORRIS STANLEY (Violin) and Orchestra
Andante and Finale
from Concerto in E
Minor.. Mendelssohn

ORCHESTRA
Fantasia, 'Aida'
Verdi, arr. Tavan

7.30 Dance Music
JACK PAYNE and THE B.B.C.
DANCE ORCHESTRA

8.0 Pianoforte Interlude
By EDWIN BENBOW
Sonata in E Scarlatti, arr. Tausig
Gavotte and Four Variations Rameau
Chanson du Chasseur (Song of the Hunter)
Gabriel Groulez
La Jongleuse Moszkowski
Tarantelle, Op. 43 Chopin

MAKING his name first as a brilliant concert pianist, Groulez has devoted many years of hard work to teaching and conducting. For a time chorus master and conductor at the Opéra-Comique, he was transferred to the more important Opéra itself in 1914; he has conducted Opera in the United States, too. The stage has naturally claimed a share of his own composition, but he has given us purely orchestral and chamber music as well, and his pieces for pianoforte—his own original instrument—are naturally admirably laid out to display its best qualities.

8.15 The 'Electra' of Euripides
(See centre of page.)

10.0 'The Second News'
WEATHER FORECAST, SECOND GENERAL NEWS BULLETIN

10.15-11.15 DANCE MUSIC
JAY WHIDDEN'S BAND (from THE CARLTON HOTEL)
(Tuesday's Programmes continued on page 78.)

This week's talk on IRELAND

by Mr. H. V. Morton, may prompt you to make enquiries as to WHERE TO GO AND WHERE TO STAY.

Your problems will be solved by
"SUMMER HOLIDAYS"

An illustrated programme giving a wide range of Tours and Holiday Arrangements, at home and abroad, including Ulster and the Irish Free State,

FREE ON REQUEST.

COOK'S WAGONS-LITS
WORLD TRAVEL SERVICE

BERKELEY STREET, LONDON, W.1
And over 300 Branches.

YOUR SAVINGS ARE CARE-FREE -AND TAX-FREE!

PUBLIC men to-day praise and recommend Building Societies as a medium for investment. Think of the advantages offered by the Magnet Building Society—5% Dividend free of all taxes, unquestionable safety, and facilities for immediate withdrawal without loss or fee of any kind. The Magnet Building Society dates back over 61 years. Its assets have grown from £100 to over £1,000,000.

Write for full particulars.

THE MAGNET
BUILDING SOCIETY
81-83 Harrow Road, London, W.2

Tuesday's Programmes continued (July 16)

Outstanding
Items from this week's Programme obtainable on

"His Master's Voice"
RECORDS

- OVERTURE "1812"—Royal Opera
Orch., Covent Garden—C1280—C1281,
4/6 each. London, Daventry, Saturday. 9.35
- CARO MIO BEN—D'Alvarez—
DA831, 6/6. London, Daventry, Sat. 9.50
- CAPRICE VIENNOIS—Kreisler—
DB1091, 8/6. London, Daventry, Sun. 4.32
- HYMN TO THE SUN—Menges—
E444 4/6. London & Daventry, Sunday. 4.50
- OVERTURE "MARRIAGE OF FIGARO"—State Opera Orchestra, Berlin
—D1224, 6/6. Daventry Ex., Friday. 6.30
- IL TROVATORE SEL.—Cretore's
Band—C1666, 4/6. Daventry Ex., Friday. 7.45
- MINUET—Paderewski—DB1050, 8/6.
Daventry Ex., Friday. 9.0
- FINLANDIA—Tone Poem—R.A.H.
Orchestra—D1089, 6/6. Daventry Ex.,
Wednesday. 4.20
- PIECE HÉROÏQUE—Marcel Dupré
—D1115, 6/6. Daventry Ex., Thursday. 6.30
- BOUTIQUE FANTASQUE—R.A.H.
Orchestra—D1018, 6/6. Daventry Ex.,
Thursday. 9.0
- IN SUMMERTIME ON BREDON
—Stuart Roberts—B2594, 3/6. London and Daventry, Tuesday. 8.30
- DANCE OF THE HOURS—La
Gioconda—New Light Symphony Orchestra—C1403, 4/6. London and Daventry, Tuesday. 8.38
- LOVE WENT A-RIDING—Browning
Mumery—B2756, 3/6. Daventry Ex.,
Tuesday. 4.30
- OMBRA MAI FU (Largo)—Essie
Ackland—C1599, 4/6. London, Monday. 7.52
- CAPRICCIO ITALIEN—Berlin State
Opera Orch.—D1593, 6/6. London, Mon. 8.28
- "ORPHEUS in the UNDER-WORLD" Overture—Berlin State Opera
Orch.—D1293, 6/6. Daventry Ex., Mon. 6.30
- "ZAPATEADO" Spanish Dance
Heifetz—DB1048, 8/6. Daventry Ex., Mon. 7.5
- LIEBESTRÄUME No. 3.—Schipa—
DB873, 8/6. Daventry Ex., Monday. 9.0

The Gramophone
Co., Ltd.

London,
W.1.

5WA CARDIFF. 988 kc/s. (309.9 m.)

- 4.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 5.0 Mr. J. MADDOX YORKE: 'Rural Community Councils—V, Music and Drama'
- 5.15 The Children's Hour
- 6.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 6.15 S.B. from London
- 7.0 Egwyl Gymraeg
A WELSH INTERLUDE
A Pennillion Recital
by
GUNSTONE JONES
Accompanied on the Harp by NAN DAVIES
- 7.25 S.B. from London
- 7.45 An Orchestral and Choral Concert
Relayed from the Drill Hall, Merthyr

THE CHOIR OF THE MERTHYR CHORAL
SOCIETY
Conducted by W. J.
WATKINS

NATIONAL ORCHESTRA
OF WALES
(Cerddoria Genedlaethol Cymru)

Conducted by WAR-WICK BRAITHWAITE

THE ORCHESTRA
Overture, 'Tann-häuser' . . . Wagner

THE CHOIR
'Blessed are the men';
'Thanks be to God';
'He, watching over
Israel' ('Elijah')
Mendelssohn

ORCHESTRA
Suite, 'Wand of Youth,'
No. 2 Elgar

CHOIR
'And the Glory of the Lord'; 'Hallelujah';
'Worthy is the Lamb'; 'Amen'
(The Messiah)
Handel

ORCHESTRA
Symphony No. 40, in G Minor . . . Mozart
First Movement

- 9.0 S.B. from London
- 9.35 West Regional News
- 9.40 S.B. from London
- 11.33-12.0 S.B. from Leeds (See London)

5SX SWANSEA. 1,040 kc/s. (288.5 m.)

- 4.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 5.0 S.B. from Cardiff
- 6.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 6.15 S.B. from London
- 7.0 S.B. from Cardiff
- 7.25 S.B. from London
- 7.45 S.B. from Cardiff
- 9.0 S.B. from London
- 9.35 S.B. from Cardiff
- 9.40 S.B. from London
- 11.33-12.0 S.B. from Leeds (See London)

6BM BOURNEMOUTH. 1,040 kc/s. (288.5 m.)

- 12.0-1.0 London Programme relayed from
Daventry
- 4.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 6.15 S.B. from London
- 7.0 Mr. E. GEE NASH: 'Little Lost Valleys in the New Forest'
- 7.15 S.B. from London (9.35 Local Announcements)
- 11.33-12.0 S.B. from Leeds (See London)

5PY PLYMOUTH. 1,040 kc/s. (288.5 m.)

- 12.0-1.0 London Programme relayed from
Daventry
- 4.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry

GUNSTONE JONES
gives a Pennillion Recital from Cardiff this evening at 7.0.

2ZY MANCHESTER. 797 kc/s. (376.4 m.)

- 5.15 The Children's Hour
Empire Week
We relate a true incident from East
Griqualand, South Africa, entitled 'The Fearful Eye' (Townsend), and feature
'Sons of the Men of Old' (Moreton).
- 6.0 London Programme
relayed from Daventry
- 6.15 S.B. from London
- 7.0 Mr. CHARLES HEN-DERSON: 'Three Cornish Ceremonies—
I, The Truro Diocesan
Pilgrimage to St.
Germans, July 31,
1929'
- 7.15 S.B. from London
(9.35 Local Announcements)
- 11.33-12.0 S.B. from
Leeds (See London)
- 12.0-1.0 Gramophone
Records

1.0-2.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry

- 4.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 5.15 The Children's Hour
S.B. from Leeds
Adventurers All
My Programme by BILLY
Songs by DOROTHY KITCHEN and J. WOODS
SMITH
A Sketch by JACK SAYES
- 6.0 Mr. DAVID WRAY: 'Personal Magnetism.'
S.B. from Liverpool
- 6.15 S.B. from London
- 7.0 Mr. ALED O. ROBERTS: 'The Eisteddfod.' Relayed to Daventry
- 7.15 S.B. from London

7-45 Famous Northern Resorts
Blackpool
HERMAN DAREWSKI and his BAND
Relayed from the Empress Ballroom, the Winter Gardens

Tuesday's Programmes continued (July 16)

8.0 Special Excerpts from JULIAN WYLIE'S
1929 Production
'The Show of Shows'
Relayed from the Winter Gardens Pavilion
Produced by JULIAN WYLIE
Books and Lyric by DAN LENO (JUNR.)
Music composed, selected and arranged by
E. W. EYRE and DAN LENO (JUNR.)
Dances, Ballets and Ensembles arranged by EDWARD DOLLY
MONA VIVIAN, BILLY DANVERS, MAX MILLER, DOROTHY LANGLEY, EDWARD BARRIE, SHEILA DEXTER, LARRY O'BRIEN, JOE BOGANNY and his COLLEGE BOYS
THE JULIAN WYLIE CHORUS
THE SIXTEEN FULLER DANCERS
BERTINI and his ORCHESTRA
and
A Recital on the New Wurlitzer Organ
(Organist, MAX BRUCE)
Relayed from the Tower Ballroom

9.0 S.B. from London (9.35 Local Announcements)

9.40 The Northern Command
Searchlight Tattoo
From Knavesmire, York
Relayed from Leeds
A Descriptive Commentary by The Rev. J.
CARTER, S.C.F.
The Scene of the Tattoo shows the walls of York, and the Minster, with two gates of the city on either side.

PART I
Entry of Massed Drums and Fifes
On arrival in the centre of the Arena, they left wheel, halt and cease playing. Historical Guards turn out. Buglers advance and form line in front of the Massed Drums, and sound 'Retreat.'
Buglers take post with the Massed Drums.
Guards turn in. Massed Drums beat Tattoo and give a display of marching and counter-marching.

Entry of Massed Bands
They play a March, a Slow Troop and a Quick Troop.

9.57 S.B. from London

10.41 Northern Command Tattoo
(Continued)
Relayed from Leeds
Highland Dancing

10.51 DANCE MUSIC
S.B. from London

11.33-12.0 Northern Command Tattoo
PART II
S.B. from Leeds
(See London)

Other Stations.

5NO NEWCASTLE. 1,146 kc/s.
(261.3 m.)
12.0-1.0.—Gramophone Records. 4.0.—London Programme relayed from Daventry. 4.30.—Organ Recital by Herbert Maxwell from the Havelock Picture House, Sunderland. 5.15.—
The Children's Hour. 6.0.—Lambert Flack (Flute): La Ronde des Lutins (Bazzini, arr. Réthát); Bird's Solitude (Unaccompanied) (Lambert Flack); Piccolo Solo, 'In sheltered vale' (Fourmont); Nuits d'Été (Edouard Schütz); Flight of the Bumble Bee (Rimsky-Korsakov, arr. Flack). 6.15.—S.B. from London. 7.0.—Mr. Ewart Kempson: 'The Art of Leading at Auction Bridge.' 7.15.—S.B. from London. 7.45.—Joseph
K. Wynnham (Xylophone): Dancing Shadows (Ernie Golden);
Xylophonia (Joe Green); The Whistler (G. H. Green); Der Jungleur (P. Dittlich). 8.0.—Middlesbrough Programme.
Cleveland Harmonic Male Voice Choir, Cecilian Glee Society,
Cecilian Ladies' Choir. Conducted by Gavin Kay. Choir: Men of Eric (Dr. Lyon); The Winds (E. T. Davies). A Short Address by the Mayor of Middlesbrough, Councillor George Alexander.

Choir: Lorraine, Lorraine, Lorie (P. E. Fletcher); Turtle Dove (arr. Vaughan Williams). Glee Society: Bluebird (Stanford); Clown's Courtship (E. Balnton). Ladies' Choir: Beauti-ous Morn (German); Follow me down to Carlow (Fletcher).
Glee Society: The Lee Shore (G. Taylor); Quick, we have but a second (Stanford). 9.0.—S.B. from London. 10.40.—Dance Music from the Oxford Galleries. 11.33-12.0.—S.B. from Leeds.
(See London).

55C GLASGOW. 753 kc/s.
(396.9 m.)
10.45.—Miss Lily Graham: 'Household Ways and Means—VI, Making the Best of a Joint.' 11.0-12.0.—A Recital of Gramophone Records. 4.0.—A Scottish Concert. The Station Trio. Allan Abrines (Tenor). 5.0.—Organ Music from the New Savoy Picture House. 5.15.—The Children's Hour. 5.57.—Weather Forecast for Farmers. 6.0.—Mr. George Eyre Todd, F.S.A.: 'Some Ancient and Royal Burghs of Scotland—I, Lullthgow.' 6.15.—London. 7.45.—Aberdeen.
9.0.—London. 9.35.—Scottish News Bulletin. 9.40.—London.
11.30-12.0.—Leeds (See London).

2BD ABERDEEN. 995 kc/s.
(301.5 m.)
11.0-12.0.—Programme relayed from Daventry. 4.0.—
Fishing News Bulletin. 4.5.—Studio Concert. Ronald Robb (Baritone). The Station Octet: March, 'The Red Cloak'
(Mansfield); Overture, 'Cosi Fan Tutte' (Mozart). 4.15.— Ronald Robb (Baritone): Four Indian Love Lyrics (Amy Woodforde-Finden). 4.25.—Octet: suite, 'L'Arlesienne' (Bizet). 4.45.—Ronald Robb: Friend o' Mine (Wilfred Sanderson);
The Bands o' Dee (Clay); The Trumpeter (J. Airlie Dix).
4.55.—Octet: Sullivan's Songs (arr. Henley). 5.15.—The Children's Hour. 5.55.—Fishing News Bulletin. 6.0.—London
Programme relayed from Daventry. 6.15.—S.B. from London.
7.45.—'Scots Blend,' Distilled by the Aberdeen Station.
Bottled by Rae Elrick. Distributed by W. M. Johnston (Tenor).
Alec Nicol (Violin), Pipe-Major John Reid. The Radio Players and Station Octet. 9.0.—S.B. from London. 9.35.—Glasgow.
9.40.—London. 11.33-12.0.—Leeds (See London).

2BE BELFAST. 1,238 kc/s.
(242.5 m.)
4.0.—Light Concert Music. The Orchestra: The 'Little'
Symphony in G Minor (Mozart). 4.20.—Mabel Stewart (Soprano):
Irish Songs: Down by the Sally Gardens (arr. H. Hughes);
Heligo, the morning dew (Charles Wood); The Enchanted Valley
(arr. Charles Wood); Shule Agra (arr. A. Somerville). 4.31.—
Orchestra: Norwegian Rhapsody (Lalo). 4.43.—Mabel Stewart:
Starry Woods (Montague Phillips); Songs my Mother Taught
Me (Dvorak); The Stolen Heart (Chas. Stanford); My Brown Boy (P. Korbay). 4.55.—Clifton Bellwell (Pianoforte) and Doris Batea (Violin): Sonata in C Minor, Op. 30, No. 2, for Pianoforte and Violin (Beethoven). 5.15.—The Children's Hour
6.0.—A Poetry Reading by Mr. J. Salters-Moore. 6.15.—S.B. from London. 7.45.—A String Orchestral Programme. The String Orchestra: Third Serenade in D Minor, Op. 69 (R. Volk-mann). 8.5.—Mariel Childe (Contralto): Isobel (Frank Bridge); Soft-Footed Snow (Sigurd Lie); Nocturne (Cyril Scott); I will go with my Father a-ploughing (Roger Quilter). 8.17.—Orchestra: Introduction and Allegro for String Quartet and Orchestra, Op. 47 (Elgar). 8.30.—Mariel Childe: Death and the Maiden (Schubert); Romance (Debussy); Silver (V. H.
Hutchinson); Lullaby (Cyril Scott). 8.42.—Orchestra: Variations on 'Barbara Allen' (Adam Carse); Mock Morris (Percy Grainger). 9.0.—London. 11.30-12.0.—Leeds (See London).

WORLD-RADIO

(The Official Foreign and Technical Journal of the B.B.C.)

Contains exclusive and authoritative information on Wavelengths and Programme details of all the chief European Broadcasting Stations.

Broadcasting News and Reviews of the Countries, Peoples and Events of the World.
Interesting and Trustworthy Technical Articles.

SPECIAL FEATURES:

HOLIDAY TIME IN HUNGARY—
the Pride of the Danube.

MAIN SUPPLY HINTS—Trickle Chargers.

CHOOSING VALVES.

'Via Ether'—A Commentary on next week's Foreign programme features and broadcasting topics in general.

'Which Station was That?'—Answers to listeners' queries concerning the identity of transmissions heard.

French, German, Italian, Spanish, and Esperanto articles
Appear in this week's Issue.

ON SALE ON FRIDAY EVERYWHERE
2d. World-Radio 2d.

Particular people prefer to say

Player's please

The Eleventh of the 'Great Plays' Series.

THE 'ELECTRA' OF EURIPIDES

'The Play and its Author.' By W. A. Darlington.

Euripides' great tragedy, as translated into English rhyming verse by Gilbert Murray, is to be broadcast on Tuesday (5GB) and Wednesday (London, etc.). Listeners will find the accompanying article, by the Dramatic Critic of the Daily Telegraph, an excellent introduction to the play.

OF all great drama, Greek Tragedy is at once the most impressive and the most difficult to make comprehensible to the modern public. Tragedy in ancient Greece was not merely formal, but formal in ways altogether different from anything that our own theatre has known.

Formalism in the theatre is usually due to two causes—tradition and environment. These two causes worked together in ancient Greece to make a theatre in which speech was everything and action comparatively unimportant. The theatrical tradition in Greece was a religious tradition, and the performance of a play was a religious observance. Greek dramatists did not invent their stories, but took them from that quasi-historical mythology which told of the gods and the divine-born kings and queens of the heroic age. The characters in these stories were not presented as ordinary men and women. They were given stilt-like buskins to raise their stature and masks to emphasize their superhuman quality; and they expressed themselves, not in ordinary terms, but in speeches, in verse, of great length and the highest degree of stately beauty.

So much for tradition. Environment worked to the same end. The Greek playhouse was an open-air amphitheatre, seating 20,000 people or more. In so huge an auditorium, and without artificial aids to sight or hearing, masks became almost a necessity, for any effects which the actor makes by the play of facial expression are completely lost on the spectators in the back seats. (For example, in the Passion Play Theatre at Ober-Ammergau, which accommodates no more than 5,000 people before an open-air stage, you cannot see the gnawings of conscience at work upon the face of Judas from the back seats—which are the most expensive seats—without a pair of field-glasses.) The conditions of the Greek theatre demanded masks, demanded the artificial heightening of the actor with buskins, and demanded long, stately speeches; for it was necessary that the speakers, in order to be properly heard, should remain as far as possible in one place and should indulge as little as possible in what is nowadays called 'back-chat.'

EURIPIDES.

This formalism sadly hampers a producer who stages a Greek tragedy in our theatre, but many of the difficulties disappear when broadcasting is in question. Lack of swift action, and a dependence on language only, generally fail to appeal to the modern playgoer, but are actually advantages to the listener. Practically speaking, the only difficulty which the prospective listener to the Electra has to anticipate is the highly conventional style of the poetry, which may seem to him not merely unrealistic but stilted. But if he remembers that these personages are talking, not the everyday speech of Athens but an idealized language such as the demi-gods of the heroic age might be supposed to use, he need not find the idiom disconcerting.

The story of which the Electra forms part is one of the most familiar of the old Greek legends. We have plays on the subject by all the three great tragedians—Æschylus, Sophocles, and Euripides. Agamemnon, on his return from the siege of Troy, was murdered by his wife Clytemnestra and her lover Ægisthus. By the law of the blood-feud (which is the strongest moral compulsion in primitive but civilized societies, where in the absence of an organized code an eye must be exacted for an eye and a tooth for a tooth) it became the duty of Agamemnon's exiled son, Orestes, to avenge his father's murder. This Orestes did, with the help of his sister, Electra.

Now, in order to carry out the command of the god Apollo to avenge their father, these two unfortunates had to murder their mother, which in itself was the worst possible crime that the Greek mind could conceive. The theme which this story sets before a dramatist, therefore, is to decide, not whether Electra and her brother should kill Clytemnestra or not—for there can be no tampering with the facts of the legend—but whether their action in carrying the blood-feud to this length is morally justified.

Æschylus comes to no very definite conclusion. He regards Orestes as a luckless instrument in the hands of a higher power, which compels him to carry out the blood-feud, but in so doing makes him something of an outcast. Sophocles, on the other hand, has no qualms about conscience. His Orestes and Electra might be the hero and heroine, his Ægisthus and Clytemnestra the villains of some downright Elizabethan tragedy, so clearly are the poet's sympathies with the avengers. He takes the righteousness of the blood-feud for granted.

But it is exactly in his refusal to do any such thing that Euripides differs from his two great forerunners. They accept the legend, and with it the moral necessity for revenge. Euripides, the most modern man of his own time, accepts

(Continued on the opposite page.)

THE GREAT GREEK THEATRE AT EPIDAUROS—AS IT IS TODAY.

8.15
AN IMMORTAL
GREEK TRAGEDY

WEDNESDAY, JULY 17
2LO LONDON & 5XX DAVENTRY

842 kc/s. (356.3 m.) 193 kc/s (1,554.4 m.)

10.20
A NEW REVUE
BY ERNEST
LONGSTAFFE

- 10.15 a.m. THE DAILY SERVICE
- 10.30 (Daventry only) TIME SIGNAL, GREENWICH; WEATHER FORECAST
- 10.45 Mrs. OLIVER STRACHEY: 'A Woman's Commentary'
- 11.0 (Daventry only) Gramophone Records
Concerto in G Minor Saint-Saëns
- 12.0 A Ballad Concert
DORA HEYES (Soprano)
EDWARD ROBINS (Tenor)
- 12.30 Gramophone Records
- 1.0-2.0 LIGHT MUSIC
FRASCATI'S ORCHESTRA
Directed by GEORGES HAECK
From the Restaurant Frascati
- 3.30 Mrs. G. HUXLEY: 'The Nation's Milk Supply—VI, All The Best People Drink Milk'
- 3.45 DANCE MUSIC
JACK PAYNE and the B.B.C.
DANCE ORCHESTRA
- 4.45 ORGAN MUSIC
Played by ALEX TAYLOR
Relayed from Davis' Theatre, Croydon
- 5.15 THE CHILDREN'S HOUR
'The Lost Child,' adapted from 'Tanglewood Tales' (Nathaniel Hawthorne), and arranged as a Dialogue Story, with Incidental Music by THE OLOF SEXTET
- 6.0 Musical Interlude
- 6.15 'The First News'
TIME SIGNAL, GREENWICH; WEATHER FORECAST, FIRST GENERAL NEWS BULLETIN
- 6.30 'The Week's Work in the Garden,' by the Royal Horticultural Society
- 6.40 Musical Interlude
- 6.45 THE FOUNDATIONS OF MUSIC
EARLY FRENCH KEYBOARD MUSIC

THE ELECTRA OF EURIPIDES

TO-NIGHT AT 8-15

Translated into English Rhyming Verse by Professor Gilbert Murray, LL.D., D.Litt.

Arranged for broadcasting by Dulcima Glasby
Produced by Howard Rose

Characters in the Play:

- Clytemnestra, Queen of Argos and Mycenae; Widow of Agamemnon
 - Electra, Daughter of Agamemnon and Clytemnestra
 - Orestes, Son of Agamemnon and Clytemnestra, now in banishment
 - A Peasant, Husband of Electra
 - An Old Man, formerly Servant to Agamemnon
 - Pylades, Son of Strophios, King of Phocis; Friend to Orestes
 - Aegisthus, usurping King of Argos and Mycenae, now Husband of Clytemnestra
 - Messenger
 - The Heroes Castor and Polydeuces
 - Chorus of Argive Women, with the Leader
- The Scene is laid in the Mountains of Argos

7.0 Mr. W. E. H. HODSON: 'A Disease which Menaces Daffodils' (Under the auspices of the Ministry of Agriculture)

7.15 Musical Interlude

7.25 Mr. A. KAHN: 'Spending and Saving—VI, The Consumer's Organization'

7.45 DANCE MUSIC
JACK PAYNE and the B.B.C.
DANCE ORCHESTRA

8.15 The 'Electra' of Euripides

(See centre of page and also facing page)

10.0 'The Second News'
WEATHER FORECAST, SECOND GENERAL NEWS BULLETIN; LOCAL ANNOUNCEMENTS (Daventry only), SHIPPING FORECAST and FAT STOCK PRICES

10.20 'Fifty-Fifty' or 'The Woman Pays' (?)
A Revuelette written, composed and produced by ERNEST LONGSTAFFE

Cast:

- HARRY PETER
- ANONA WINN
- REGINALD PURDELL
- HORACE PERCIVAL
- ELSIE OTLEY
- THE REVUE CHORUS

11.0-12.0 DANCE MUSIC
JACK HYLTON'S AMBASSADOR CLUB BAND, directed by RAY STARITA, from the AMBASSADOR CLUB

This Week's Epitaph.

'LONG SUFFERING'

Hymn, 'There is a blessed Home.'
Colossians 1, 1-13
Hymn, 'Rock of Ages.'
Romans VIII, 38 and 29

(Continued from foot of col. 3, previous page.)

the facts of the legend, but sets them out in such a way as to make us question their doctrine. He breaks away from tradition, and plainly regards the blood-feud as a relic from an age more barbarous than his own. In his play we are shown the story from a human, not an 'heroic,' standpoint. He sets himself to trace the disintegrating effects of the blood-feud on the characters of Orestes and Electra, growing up as they do with a carefully-nursed hatred of their mother and an intention to murder her when they can get a chance. He shows us that both Electra and her brother 'ruin their lives, as well as destroy their mother and Ægisthus, by their servility to a barren creed.' That last sentence is quoted from a detailed and very striking analogy drawn some years ago by Professor Gilbert Norwood between the position of Euripides in ancient Athens and that of Mr. George Bernard Shaw in our own time. Professor Norwood points out that both writers go to work in the same way to show up the futility of basing the conduct of life upon mere catchwords and unexamined traditions; and both writers, in consequence, have had to weather a good deal of stormy criticism from those who uphold tradition blindly and devotedly. Shaw, like Euripides, has written a play designed to show that revenge is not merely a vain thing, but a dangerous two-edged weapon which does as much harm to the man who employs it as to his victim. The play in question is Captain Brassbound's Conversion; and in comparing the moral of this play with that of the Electra you may see how modern Euripides is in spirit, for all the archaic formalism with which he expresses himself.

W. A. DARLINGTON.

OLD WORN FADED DOWN QUILTS RE-COVERED

RENOVATED AND MADE OF BEAUTIFUL APPEARANCE
Original "Dimpled Flannel" Fully Restored.
ANY OLD DOWN QUILT MADE LIKE NEW WRITE FOR PATTERNS & CHOOSE YOUR COVER

Look at your Down Quilts. See how easily they are of re-covering and complete renovation. The Whitney Blanket Co., Ltd.'s splendid method for the re-covering of Down Quilts makes a great and timely appeal.

OLD QUILTS RETURNED RICHLY COLOURED DOWNY SILKY AS GOOD OR BETTER THAN NEW!

Down Quilts can last be spared from your Beds during the Warm Weather So Send Now.

WRITE TO DAY

The Whitney Blanket Co., Ltd., completely recover your down quilts and replenish the filling where necessary, so making it downy, silky and fully warm. Moreover, the generous offer they are making of PATTERNS of beautiful silk satins and velvets, in delightfully printed designs or plain soft colours (also plain Jap silk), for the re-covering of old Down Quilts, makes it so easy and simple a matter for you to have full particulars of this valuable method of Down Quilt Restoration. All there is to do is for you to write asking for the patterns of the charming and beautiful coverings and price list for renovating. Accept this splendid offer to-day—it means "New Quilts for ONE" and is an offer of economy, beauty and proven satisfaction to every home.

NEW QUILTS FOR OLD. SEND POSTCARD FOR PATTERNS To-day.

THE WITNEY BLANKET CO., LTD., Dept. 69, Butter Cross Works, WITNEY, Oxfordshire.

Nurses say
Daily Bread needs 'Golden Shred'

The Perfect Marmalade
ROBERTSON—only water

WEDNESDAY, JULY 17 5GB DAVENTRY EXPERIMENTAL

626 kc/s. (479.2 m.)

TRANSMISSIONS FROM LONDON EXCEPT WHERE OTHERWISE STATED

9.15
A STRONG BILL
OF
VAUDEVILLE

4.0 A BAND PROGRAMME (From Birmingham)

THE AMINGTON BAND

Conducted by ROLAND DAVIS

March, 'On Tour' White
Overture, 'Napoleon' Bilton

THORNLEY DODGE (Entertainer)

4.20 BAND

Cornet Duet, 'Tit-Larks' Old Hume
(Soloists, J. LAWRENCE and A. PEGO)
Humoresque, 'Slidin' thro' th' Rye' Truman
Tone Poem, 'Finlandia' Sibelius

THORNLEY DODGE will again entertain

4.45 BAND

Trombone Solo, 'Winning Spurt' Clough
(Soloist, T. PEGO)
Selection, 'William Tell' Rossini

5.0 DANCE MUSIC

JACK PAYNE and the B.B.C. DANCE ORCHESTRA

5.30 The Children's Hour (From Birmingham)

'The Story of the Oak Tree,' by Margaret Madeley

Songs by DUDLEY STUART WHITE (Baritone)

Further Snapshot Hints—'How to get good ones every time,' by HUGO VAN WADENDYEN
HELENA MILLAIS will Entertain

6.15 'The First News' TIMESIGNAL, GREENWICH; WEATHER FORECAST, FIRST GENERAL NEWS BULLETIN

6.30 DANCE MUSIC JACK PAYNE and the B.B.C. DANCE ORCHESTRA

7.0 Light Music (From Birmingham)

LOZELLS PICTURE HOUSE ORCHESTRA
Conducted by E. A. PARSONS
Overture, 'Lustspiel' (Comedy) Keler-Bela
Waltz, 'The Blue Danube' Johann Strauss
DUDLEY STUART WHITE (Baritone)

If I were David Richards
Dream Haven Norman Parker
Beloved, I shall wait D'Hardolot
Revenge Hatton

ORCHESTRA
Xylophone Solo, 'La Paloma' Yradier
Hungarian Rhapsody, No. 14 Liszt

DUDLEY STUART WHITE
Under the Greenwood Tree }
Who is Sylvia? } Eric Coates
It was a Lover }

ORCHESTRA
Hungarian March ('Faust') Berlioz

8.0 A CONCERT

BARRINGTON HOOPER (Tenor)
REGINALD KING'S ORCHESTRA

ORCHESTRA

Selection, 'The Mastersingers' Wagner
One in the World Eckersley, arr. R. King

WAGNER'S one Comic Opera had been taking shape in his mind for something like twenty years before he settled down in earnest to compose it. The original scheme must have undergone many changes during that long period, from the first sketches made in 1854, but it seems to be clear that the composer's first intention was to make it in some sort a burlesque of Tambduser and of the song contest which is its central point.

The old Mastersingers took their art so seriously that their meetings were usually held in church, and their solemnity, as well as the rather stern formality of their rules of song, is very happily hit off in Wagner's big theme with which his opera opens. Its blend of stately pomp with a schoolmasterly air, is unmistakable.

Another, scarcely less well-known episode, is the Apprentices' dance, which is simply the Masters' tune with the time doubled, forming a merry burlesque of its dignity.

8.15 BARRINGTON HOOPER
Beauty's Eyes Tosti
Ailsa Mine
E. Newton

8.22 ORCHESTRA
Lover, come back to me
Romberg, arr. R. King
Marigold Mayerl
Love Boat
Herb. Brown,
arr. R. King
Liebesfreud (Love's Joy) Kreisler

8.36 BARRINGTON HOOPER
My Queen
Blumenthal
Ah! Moon of my Delight
Liza Lehmann

WILL VAN ALLEN AND BERT
TONIGHT AT 9.15

8.44 ORCHESTRA
Pearl o' Mine Fletcher
Yeh-Ma El Jalowice
Malagueña (Spanish Dance) Moszkowski

9.0 'The Second News' WEATHER FORECAST, SECOND GENERAL NEWS BULLETIN

9.15 Vaudeville (From Birmingham)

SANTA and BARBARA (Light Songs and Duets)
WILL VAN ALLEN and BERT (Banjo Duo)
HELENA MILLAIS (The Actress-Entertainer)
STAINLESS STEPHEN
PHILIP BROWN'S 'DOMINGOS' DANCE BAND

10.15 DANCE MUSIC TEDDY BROWN and his BAND from CIRO'S CLUB

11.0-11.15 JACK HYLTON'S AMBASSADOR CLUB BAND, directed by RAY STARITA, from the AMBASSADOR CLUB

11.15-11.45
Experimental Transmission of Still Pictures
by the Fultograph Process

AS BRITISH AS BRITANNIA

“ Re-creates
the Living
Artiste ”

VERY soon your Wireless Dealer will have stocks of the sensational new BROWN “ Vee ” Unit. It is the biggest Radio development of recent years. For only £22 (the Unit costs 25/- and the Chassis 15/-) anyone can assemble, in two minutes, a loud speaker that gives fine mellow tone and better volume than you have ever heard before.

Unit - - Price 25/-
Chassis - Price 15/-

The Wonderful
NEW Brown
“ VEE ” UNIT

Advt. S. G. Brown, Ltd., Western Avenue,
N. Acton, London, W.3.

9432

“ Ekco ” All-Electric Radio for less than

“ EKCO-LECTRIC ” STRAIGHT
THREE

D.C. £16 . 10 . 0 complete
A.C. £18 . 10 . 0 complete

One Farthing per hour

Cheap to run—15/- per 1,000 hours on A.C.—which works out at under a farthing an hour, and 30/- per 1,000 hours on D.C., with electricity at 6d. per unit. NO BATTERIES. NO ACCUMULATORS. No mess. Just plug the Adaptor into the nearest electric light or power socket and then switch-on—that’s all! No coils to change—pressure of switch from low to high wavebands, sufficient power to operate a Moving Coil Loud-speaker and, because it has sockets for a gramophone pick-up, you can also amplify your records with all the purity of the original. The modern set—“ Ekco-Lectric ” Straight Three. Call at your dealers and hear one demonstrated—or may we send you full particulars?

You can electrify your present set with one of the New “ EKCO ” All-Power Units (eliminating all batteries and accumulators): D.C. from £5 17s. 6d. complete, A.C. from £10 17s. 6d. complete; or partly electrify it with an “ EKCO ” H.T. Unit D.C. from 17/6 complete, A.C. from 52/6 complete. “ EKCO ” L.T. Unit, A.C. £8 15s. 0d. complete. No alterations, whatsoever, to set, valves or wiring.

All “ EKCO ” products are obtainable on Easy Payments

“ EKCO ”

E. K. COLE, LTD., DEPT. H, “ EKCO ” WORKS, LEIGH-ON-SEA

Columbia
New Pictorial RECORDS

THE BEST RECORDS OF THIS WEEK'S WIRELESS MUSIC

Orchestral and Band.

- TOSCA—Selection.
Percy Pitt and New Queen's Hall Light Orchestra (No. 9305—4s. 6d.).
- TANNHAUSER—Grand March.
Sir Henry J. Wood and New Queen's Hall Orchestra (No. L1021—6s. 6d.).
- LARK'S FESTIVAL.
H.M. Grenadier Guards Band (Bowen, Piccolo) (No. 9285—4s. 6d.).
- STENKA RAZINE—Symphonic Poem.
Discret Defaux and Brussels Royal Conservatoire Orchestra (Nos. L2383 to L2384—6s. 6d. each).
- LE VILLI—Witches' Dance.
Percy Pitt and H.B.C. Orchestra (No. 9114—4s. 6d.).
- BLUE DANUBE—Waltz.
J. Strauss and Symphony Orchestra (No. 9218—4s. 6d.).
- GIACONDA—Dance of the Hours.
Norman O'Neill and Court Symphony Orchestra (No. 9389—4s. 6d.).
- PETITE SUITE (Debussy).
Sir Dan Godfrey and London Symphony Orchestra (Nos. L1786 to L1787—6s. 6d. each).
- FINLANDIA—Tone Poem.
Sir Henry J. Wood and New Queen's Hall Orchestra (No. 9655—4s. 6d.).
- PALOMA (Yradier).
Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra (No. 9450—4s. 6d.).
- MERRY WIDOW—Selection.
Royal Guards Band (No. 117—4s. 6d.).
- MARRIAGE OF FIGARO—Overture.
Gaubert and Société des Concerts du Conservatoire (No. L1975—6s. 6d.).
- IL TROVATORE—Selection.
Percy Pitt and H.B.C. Orchestra (No. 9165—4s. 6d.).
- OVERTURE "1812".
Sir Henry J. Wood and New Queen's Hall Orchestra (Nos. L1764 to L1766—6s. 6d. each).

Instrumental.

- MERCHANT OF VENICE—Incidental Music.
Quentin M. Nucleon, Cinema Organ (Nos. 9585 to 9586—4s. 6d. each).
- LIEBESSTRAUM (Liszt).
William Murdoch, Piano (No. 9274—4s. 6d.).
- MOMENT MUSICAL.
Citterial Quartet (No. 9244—4s. 6d.).
- MIGNON—Gavotte.
J. H. Squire Celeste Geste (No. 3877—3s.).
- ELEGIE (Massenet).
Albert Sammons, Violin (No. 9415—4s. 6d.).
- MARIGOLD (Mayertl).
Billy Mayock, Piano (No. 4783—3s.).
- LIEBESFREUD (Kreisler).
Anton Sala, Cello (No. 3875—3s.).
- ROMANZE IN F SHARP MAJOR (Schumann).
William Murdoch, Piano (No. L2159—6s. 6d.).
- LA CINQUANTAINE.
W. H. Squire, Cello (No. D1622—4s. 6d.).
- CAPRICCIO IN B MINOR, Op. 76 (Brahms).
Evelyn Howard-Jones, Piano (No. 4429—3s.).

Vocal.

- AVE MARIA (Schubert).
Frank Tilterton, Tenor (No. 9432—4s. 6d.).
- MY MOTHER BIDS ME BIND MY HAIR.
Dora Lubbeite, Soprano (No. 4809—3s.).
- AT THE MID HOUR OF NIGHT.
Roy Henderson, Baritone (No. 4692—3s.).
- O MISTRESS MINE.
Frank Mullings, Tenor (No. 4817—3s.).
- IN A PERSIAN GARDEN—Ah, Moon of My Delight.
Hubert Eisdell, Tenor (No. 9381—4s. 6d.).
- NIRVANA.
William Heseltine, Tenor (No. 3424—3s.).
- THANK GOD FOR A GARDEN.
Tom Burke, Tenor (No. D1594—4s. 6d.).
- I HEAR A THRUSH AT EVE.
William Martin, Tenor (No. D1561—4s. 6d.).
- ANNIE LAURIE.
Rex Palmer, Baritone (No. 3694—3s.).

Now on Sale at all Stores and Dealers.

Complete Catalogue of Columbia "New Process" Records—post free—COLUMBIA 105-106, Clerkenwell Road, London, E.C.1.

Wednesday's Programmes continued (July 17)

5WA CARDIFF. 968 kc/s. (309.9 m.)

1.15-2.0 A Symphony Concert
Relayed from the National Museum of Wales
NATIONAL ORCHESTRA OF WALES
(Cerddorfa Genedlaethol Cymru)
Symphony, No. 3 in E Flat, Op. 55 ('Eroica')
Beethoven

3.30 London Programme relayed from Daventry

3.45 NATIONAL ORCHESTRA OF WALES
(Cerddorfa Genedlaethol Cymru)
Conducted by WARWICK BRAITHWAITE
Overture, 'Christopher Columbus' Wagner

This early work of Wagner's belongs to the same period as the opera Die Feen, of which the Overture was broadcast at the beginning of this month. Wagner, a fiery youngster of only twenty-one, was Director of Music in the Theatre at Magdeburg, and this Overture was written for one of the plays produced there; it was played at a concert under Wagner's own direction. As listeners may hear for themselves, it is very unlike the later music of his with which we are all more familiar. It was played, however, at a good many places, and after a performance in Paris, in 1841, six years after its first appearance, the score and parts were lost for some years; they were eventually found again in Paris.

GWLADYS TREVOR WILLIAMS (Soprano) and Orchestra

O come, my heart's delight
Mozart

This charming little song comes from the last act of Mozart's Opera, The Marriage of Figaro. The Countess and her maid, Susanna, have laid a little plot to expose the Count, and Susanna is dressed in one of her mistress' robes. The action takes place in the grounds of the manor house, and the Count has led his own lady, thinking her to be Susanna, to a secluded spot. Then Susanna sings this little song, to one of Mozart's most irresistible melodies, but with rather absurdly exaggerated sentiment.

ORCHESTRA
Three Bavarian Dances Elgar

GWLADYS TREVOR WILLIAMS *
Will-o'-the-Wisp Gilbert Spross
An Eriskay Love Lilt arr. Kennedy-Fraser
Thoughts have wings Liza Lehmann

ORCHESTRA
Entr'acte (B Minor), 'Rosamunde' Schubert
Good Friday Music Wagner

GWLADYS TREVOR WILLIAMS and Orchestra
Lia's Recit. and Air ('The Prodigal Son')
Debussy

ORCHESTRA
Symphony in D Minor (The 'Clock') ... Haydn

5.15 S.B. from Swansea

5.30 The Children's Hour

6.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry

6.15 S.B. from London

10.15 West Regional News

10.20-11.0 The Station Trio

FRANK THOMAS (Violin); RONALD HARDING (Violoncello); HUBERT PENGELLY (Pianoforte)

Nocturnette Brian Hope
Passacaglia Cyril Scott
Bourrée Bach

MAI RAMSAY (Mezzo-Soprano)
When shall I marry me? Alfred Reynolds
Early in the morning Phillips
Homeward to you Eric Coates

TRIO
Serenata Moszkowski

MAI RAMSAY
A Thrush's Love Song Alison Travers
By the Waters of Minnetonka Licurance

TRIO
Menuet Antique Robert Elkin
Moonlight on the Lake Quilter
Walzer Sinding

5SX SWANSEA. 1,040 kc/s. (288.5 m)

1.15-2.0 S.B. from Cardiff

3.30 London Programme relayed from Daventry

3.45 S.B. from Cardiff

5.15 The Children's Hour

'COR YR URDD'
O Ysgol Sir Y
Marched Llanelli
(Buddugol yn Eisteddfod Genedlaethol gyntaf yr urdd yng Nghorwen, 1929)

5.30 S.B. from Cardiff

6.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry

6.15 S.B. from London

10.15 S.B. from Cardiff

10.20-11.0 S.B. from London

6BM BOURNEMOUTH. 1,040 kc/s. (288.5 m)

3.30 London Programme relayed from Daventry

6.15-11.0 S.B. from London (10.15 Local Announcements)

5PY PLYMOUTH. 1,040 kc/s. (288.5 m.)

3.30 London Programme relayed from Daventry

5.15 The Children's Hour
Empire Week

A Dialogue Story, 'The Lost Child,' adapted from 'Tanglewood Tales' (Nathaniel Hawthorne)
Instrumental Music by THE PLYMOUTH LADIES TRIO

6.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry

6.15-11.0 S.B. from London (10.15 Mid-week Sports Bulletin; Local Announcements)

2ZY MANCHESTER. 797 kc/s. (376.4 m.)

3.30 London Programme relayed from Daventry

3.45 DOROTHY LEWIS (Soprano)

Tell me, my heart Bishop
April is a lady Phillips
Cradle Song Schubert

Cuckoo Martin Shaw
The Market Molly Carver
(Manchester Programme continued on page 85.)

MAI RAMSAY (left) sings during the programme from Cardiff tonight at 10.20. GWGLADYS TREVOR WILLIAMS (right) is the vocalist in the concert given by the National Orchestra of Wales this afternoon.

Programmes for Wednesday

(Manchester Programme continued from page 84.)

- 4.0 Famous Northern Resorts Southport
A Municipal Band Concert
Relayed from the Bandstand
THE CLYDEBANK BURGH BAND
Conducted by J. D. SCOINS
Selection, 'Lohengrin' Wagner
Symphony, 'Jupiter' .. Mozart, arr. Hawkins
Trombone Solo, 'The Trumpeter' Dix
(Soloist, JOHN PRYDE)
Fantasia, 'Songs of England' arr. Round
- 5.0 DAVID PINKERTON (Banjo)
Banjo Vamp
The Banshee
Tune Tonic
Nigger Minstrels
} Grimshaw
- 5.15 The Children's Hour
Locomotion
Songs sung by DOBIS GAMBELL and HARRY HOPEWELL
- 6.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 6.15 S.B. from London
- 6.30 Royal Horticultural Society's Bulletin for North of England Listeners
- 6.40 S.B. from London
- 7.45 A Recital of Pianoforte Duets
by HOWARD AGG and ARTHUR SPENCER
Chorale Bach, arr. Langrish
Rondo, Op. 73 Chopin
Silhouettes, Op. 23 Arensky
The Coquette; The Dreamer; The Dancer
- 8.15-11.0 S.B. from London (10.15 Local Announcements)

Other Stations.

- 5NO NEWCASTLE. 1,348 kcs. (261.3 m.)
3.30:—London Programme relayed from Daventry. 4.15:—Music from Fenwick's Terrace Tea Rooms. 5.15:—The Children's Hour. 6.0:—London Programme relayed from Daventry. 6.15:—S.B. from London. 6.30:—Royal Horticultural Society's Bulletin. 6.35:—Musical Interlude. 6.45:—S.B. from London. 7.45:—Ivor Vintor (The Little Surprise). 8.0-11.0:—S.B. from London.
- 5SC GLASGOW. 753 kcs. (398.8 m.)
3.30:—London Programme relayed from Daventry. 3.45:—Dance Music by Charles Watson's Orchestra. From the Playhouse Ballroom. 4.0:—A Popular Classical Concert. The Station Trio: Overture, 'Barber of Seville' (Rossini). Helen Nesbit (Contralto): Kiss my eyelids, beautiful morn (H. Baker); Ye, who have knowledge (Vol che sapete) (Mozart); Sabbath Morning at Sea (Elgar). Trio: Selection, 'Philemon et Baucis' (Gounod). Evelyn Shirley (Pianoforte): Nocturne in E Flat (Chopin); Prelude in C Sharp Minor (Bachmaninov); Spring Song (Mendelssohn). Trio: Serenade, 'Love in Arcady' (Haydn Wood). Helen Nesbit: Chi faro senza Euridice (I have lost my Euridice) (Gluck); Now sleeps the crimson petal (Quilter); Where Corals lie (Elgar). Trio: Meditation (Glazounov). 5.15:—The Children's Hour. 'The Lost Child', adapted from 'Tanglewood Tales' by Nathaniel Hawthorne. 5.57:—Weather Forecast for Farmers. 6.0:—Joan Watson (Soprano): The Troubles of Spring (Palmgren); A Grecian Picture (A. Robertson); Arnida's Garden (Parry); To-morrow (Henschel); Who is Sylvia? and Song of the Blackbird (Quilter). 6.15:—S.B. from London. 6.30:—Mr. J. S. Chisholm: 'Budding and Layering' and Topical Gardening Notes. S.B. from Edinburgh. 6.45:—S.B. from London. 7.0:—Talk, under the auspices of the Department of Agriculture for Scotland. S.B. from Edinburgh. 7.15:—S.B. from London. 10.15:—Scottish News Bulletin. 10.20-11.0:—S.B. from London.
- 2BD ABERDEEN. 395 kcs. (301.5 m.)
3.30:—London Programme relayed from Daventry. 3.45:—George Steadman's Orchestra. From the Electric Theatre. 4.0:—Fishing News Bulletin. 4.5:—Orchestra (continued). 5.0:—Ceil Austin (Soprano): The Maiden (Parry); Spring Sorrow (Ireland); Brittany (Ernest Farrar); Proud Maide (Malcolm Lawson); At the Well (Hagemann); Arnida's Garden (Parry); The Throstle (Percy Fletcher). 5.15:—The Children's Hour. 5.55:—Fishing News Bulletin. 6.0:—London Programme relayed from Daventry. 6.15:—S.B. from London. 6.30:—Mr. George E. Greenhow: Horticulture. 6.45:—S.B. from London. 7.0:—S.B. from Edinburgh (See Glasgow). 7.15:—S.B. from London. 10.15:—S.B. from Glasgow. 10.20-11.0:—S.B. from London.
- 2BE BELFAST. 1,358 kcs. (242.5 m.)
12.0-1.0:—Gramophone Records. 4.0:—The Radio Quartet: Selection, Classica (arr. Montague Ewing); Shrine in the Woods (Howard Carr); Suite, The Two Pigeons (Messenger). 4.28:—Hugh Mills (Tenor): Where'er you walk (Handel); Thou art risen, my beloved (Coleridge-Taylor); Sigh no more (Aiken); Maiden of Morven (arr. Lawson). 4.40:—Quartet: Selection, The Desert Song (Romberg); Fox-trot, Empty Hours (H. Zona). 5.0:—Miss Kitty Murphy, 'Some Irish Character Sketches'. 5.15:—The Children's Hour. 6.0:—Organ Recital by George Newell. From the Classic Cinema. 6.15:—S.B. from London. 6.30:—Royal Horticultural Society's Bulletin. 6.40-11.0:—S.B. from London.

for Advertising the Exceptional Offer
OF THE 'TWINS' FREE GIFTS

Why not have a shot at this interesting competition? All you have to do is to send us your ideas of the simplest and best methods by which the "Twins" Free Gifts Offer can be brought prominently to the notice of the great Smoking public.

Send as many ideas as you like, each complete Scheme to be accompanied by 25 "SUNRIPE" 10's empty packets or 25 Coupons from the 1 oz. "SUNRIPE" Mixture packets. (Or any quantity of both, making 25 in all).

You have until September 16th next to send your ideas, which must be addressed to R. & J. Hill, Ltd., "S" Dept., 175, Shoreditch, London, E.1.

All entries become the absolute property of R. & J. Hill, Ltd., whose Directors will judge them on their merits, and award the prizes. Their decision will be final and the awards will be advertised in this paper on October 25th.

Illustrated List of the "SUNRIPE TWINS" GIFTS will help you in this competition. Copy of the List, together with FIVE FREE COUPONS, sent Post Free on application to "SUNRIPE TWINS," c/o R. & J. Hill, Ltd., 175, Shoreditch, London, E.1.

Should you not be successful in winning one of these "Advertising Ideas" Prizes, the empty packets or Coupons you send in with your effort will count towards any of the "SUNRIPE" Gifts, to be selected by you from the Gifts List.

This competition is NOT open to professional advertisers.

THESE PRIZES MUST BE WON.
= FIRST = £100
= SECOND = £30
= THIRD = £20
100 prizes of £2
150 . . . £1

SUNRIPE

SUNRIPE PIPE MIXTURE
The 'Oat-of-the-Rat' BLEND per 10 1/2 d. oz.

the 'Quality'
CIGARETTES.
10 for 6° 20 for 1°

Please send me "Sunripe Twins" Gifts List with FIVE FREE COUPONS (as above).

Name

Address

T

7-45
THE BROSAS
STRING QUARTET

THURSDAY, JULY 18
2LO LONDON & 5XX DAVENTRY

842 kc/s. (356.3 m.) 193 kc/s. (1,554.4 m.)

9-35
THE ALHAMBRA
FIFTY YEARS AGO

- 10.15 THE DAILY SERVICE
- 10.30 (Daventry only) TIME SIGNAL, GREENWICH; Weather Forecast
- 10.45 'The Growth of the Child'—XII. The Hon. Mrs. ST. AUBYN: 'Toys and Recreations'
- 11.0 (Daventry only) Gramophone Records 'Clock' Symphony.....Haydn
- 12.0 A Concert
MAI RAMSEY (Contralto)
HENRY SENSIBLE QUINTET
Organ Music
1.0 Played by REGINALD FOORT
Relayed from the Regent Cinema, Bournemouth (S.B. from Bournemouth)

- 7-45 Chamber Music
LILIAS MACKINNON (Pianoforte)
LEON GOOSSENS (Oboe)
THE BROSAS STRING QUARTET:
BROSA; GREENBAUM; RUBENS; PINI
LEON GOOSSENS and Quartet
QuintetArnold Bax
Tempo molto moderato; Lento espressivo;
Allegro giocoso

- 9.0 WEATHER FORECAST, SECOND GENERAL NEWS BULLETIN
- 9.15 Mr. VERNON BARTLETT: 'The Way of the World'
- 9.30 Local Announcements; (Daventry only) Shipping Forecast

THIS Quintet by one of the most original of the younger English composers, is dedicated to Leon Goossens, who plays the oboe part in this performance, as he did when the Quintet was last broadcast. It is in three movements. The first begins with a little Prelude, in which the oboe seems to be improvising; the music grows in strength and excitement, until the oboe with an upward rush

9.35 The Alhambra in 'The Eighties'
Ballet Music

- by
GEORGES JACOBI
THE WIRELESS ORCHESTRA
Conducted by MAURICE JACOBI
- Marche Antique, from Ballet 'Cupid' (1886)
- Valse, from Ballet 'The Swans' (1884)
- Minuet } from Ballet 'Enchant-
Pas Seul } ment' (1887)
- Daybreak } from Ballet 'Tempta-
Andante } tion' (1891)
- Pavane, from Ballet 'Don Quixote' (1893)
- Waltz, from Ballet 'Up the River' (1892)
- Suite:
- (a) Introduction, Pizzicato
- (b) Leaving Church and Peasants' Dance } 'Naida' (1887)
- (c) Prayer
- (d) Dance of Lovers ...
- (e) Triinka (Russian Dance).....
- Apotheosis (1893)
- Gavotte, 'Zerlina,' from Ballet 'Don Juan' (1892)
- Ballabile—Galop, from Ballet 'Don Juan' (1885)
- Grand March, from Ballet 'Antiope' (1888)

2.0-2.25
(Daventry only)
Experimental Transmission of Still Pictures by the Fultograph Process

- 3.0 EVENSONG
From Westminster Abbey
- 3.45 Miss MARJORIE HARRISON: 'In Western Canada Now.'
- 4.0 A Concert
HELEN PERKIN (Pianoforte)
WILLEM SASBACH (Violoncello)
- 4.30 JACK PAYNE and THE B.B.C. DANCE ORCHESTRA
- 5.15 THE CHILDREN'S HOUR
More News from 'The Windlass'—wherein Mine Host, Mr. Sharp, and his daughter Nancy welcome Captain Pottle, George, Joe, Alf Higgins, to say nothing of the night-watchman!
- 6.0 Musical Interlude
- 6.15 TIME SIGNAL, GREENWICH; WEATHER FORECAST, FIRST GENERAL NEWS BULLETIN
- 6.30 Market Prices for Farmers
- 6.35 Musical Interlude
- 6.45 THE FOUNDATIONS OF MUSIC
EARLY FRENCH KEYBOARD MUSIC
- 7.0 Mr. FRANCIS TOYE: 'Music in the Theatre'
- 7.15 Musical Interlude
- 7.25 'China—XII, Summing Up,' by Sir FREDERICK WHYTE brings us to the main quick part of the movement. Beginning vigorously, it ends very quietly and serenely. In the second movement, slow and rather solemn, the oboe has again a large share, though one beautiful theme is given first to the viola.

The last movement begins like a merry Jig, but soon the violoncello presents a calmer mood, with a tune of his own. The lively merriment of the Jig comes back, however, and with only brief interruptions, brings the movement to a vivacious end.

- LILIAS MACKINNON
Three PreludesScriabin
B Flat, Op. 17; E Minor, Op. 13; C, Op. 35
Poem in F Sharp, Op. 32
- Caresse Dansée, Op. 57 } Scriabin
Two Studies, Op. 8
- A Major; E Major

- QUARTET
Quartet MovementSchubert

- LILIAS MACKINNON
Romance in F Sharp Schumann
Nocturne in A Field
Impromptu in E Flat Schubert

- LEON GOOSSENS and Quartet
Quartet for Oboe, Violin, Viola, and Violoncello (K.370).....Mozart
Allegro; Adagio; Rondo, Allegro

GEORGES JACOBI, born in 1840, and educated in Paris, began his musical career as a violinist. At the age of twenty-one he was awarded the first prize for violin playing at the Paris Conservatoire—a distinction which a number of the world's greatest violinists have won in turn. For some years after that he was associated with Offenbach, and conducted several of the joyous comic operas which had an unrivalled popularity in their own day. In 1871 he came to England, and for the next thirty years was Musical Director of the Alhambra in London, producing several of the Offenbach pieces there, and composing music for the imposing number of 108 ballets, a feat which is no doubt a record in its own way. Our older listeners will remember how popular a feature of these ballets Jacobi's music was, but besides that tremendous activity, he composed three comic operas, a number of smaller stage pieces, and some purely instrumental music which includes string quartets and a concerto for violin.

Jacobi was Professor at the Royal College of Music, twice President of the Association of Conductors in England, and was decorated both by the French Government and by the King of Spain. As listeners can hear for themselves in this programme, conducted by his son, he had an apparently endless gift of bright, vivacious melody.

- 10.35-12.0 DANCE MUSIC
JACK PAYNE and THE B.B.C. DANCE ORCHESTRA

With this talk the most considerable series of the season comes to an end. China has been considered in its historical and cultural aspects, and Chinese contemporary problems have been given serious attention. Today Sir Frederick Whyte who has recently been appointed adviser to the Nationalist Government in China, sums up. China is at the cross-roads; is she to develop along the lines of Western industrialism without any regard for her fine background of culture? What will be her future place in the world's civilization? And what are to be her relations to Great Britain? These are some of the points Sir Frederick will touch upon.

THURSDAY, JULY 18
5GB DAVENTRY EXPERIMENTAL

626 kc/s. (479.2 m.)

TRANSMISSIONS FROM LONDON EXCEPT WHERE OTHERWISE STATED.

3.0
LAUNCHING
OF
H.M.S. 'EXETER'

3.0 LAUNCHING OF H.M.S. 'EXETER'

H.M. Dockyard, Devonport
S.B. from Plymouth

Commentator, Commander STEPHEN KING-HALL,
R.N.

(Commentary also interspersed throughout)

The Manager of the Constructive Department and Staff make a final inspection of the launching arrangements

3.5 app. The Admiral Superintendent escorts the FIRST SEA LORD of the Admiralty and Lady MADDEN and the COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF to the launching platform, who will be received by Guard of Honour on arrival and departure

BAND OF THE ROYAL NAVAL BARRACKS will play selections

3.10 Religious Service, conducted by the Dockyard Chaplain. The Royal Naval Barracks
Band will accompany the choir in the hymn
'Eternal Father, strong to save'

3.20 Explanation to Lady MADDEN by Manager of the Constructive Department of the arrangements for launching the ship, and presentation of Casket containing hammer and chisel

BAND OF THE DEVONPORT METROPOLITAN POLICE will play selections

3.30 Naming Ceremony. A bottle of Colonial wine broken over the ship's bows by Lady MADDEN.
Lady MADDEN cuts the cord which releases the dogshores and so launches
the ship

Band will play 'Rule
Britannia' as vessel moves off the slip

ADMIRAL SUPERINTEN-DENT calls for three cheers for Lady MADDEN, who will then call for three cheers for the men who built the ship

3.45 Symphony
Concert

(No. VIII of the Summer Season)

Relayed from the New Pavilion, Bournemouth
THE BOURNEMOUTH MUNICIPAL AUGMENTED
ORCHESTRA

Conducted by Sir DAN GODFREY

The Water Music Handel, arr. Harty
Allegro; Air; Bourrée; Hornpipe; Andante;
Allegro deciso

Danse Sacrée et Danse Profane for Harp and Orchestra Debussy
(Soloist, JACOBA WOLTERS)

English Dance for Orchestra and Organ Grainger
(At the Organ, PHILIP DORE)
(First European Performance)

Overture, 'The Cricket on the Hearth' Mackenzie

4.30 LOZELLS PICTURE HOUSE ORGAN
(From Birmingham)

Overture, 'Grand Offertoire' Baliste
Entr'acte, 'Enchanting Melody' Tate

WINIFRED PAYNE (Contralto)
Melisande in the Wood Goetz
My Ships Augustus Barratt

ORGAN
Selection, 'The Merry Widow' Lehar
Intermezzo, 'On a Sunday Morning' Horne

WINIFRED PAYNE
A May Night Brownsword
Moors of Devon } Herbert Oliver
Lovely Devon Rose }

ORGAN

Three Dances, 'Hullo! America' Finck

5.30 The Children's Hour
(From Birmingham)

'Oh! what a Wind,' a breezy play, by MABEL FRANCE

Songs by BETTY HUTCHINGS (Soprano)
ARTHUR LINDSAY will Entertain

6.15 TIME SIGNAL, GREENWICH; WEATHER FORE-
CAST, FIRST GENERAL NEWS BULLETIN

6.30 Organ Music

Played by Dr. HAROLD RHODES
Relayed from the Cathedral, Coventry

Fantasia and Fugue in G Minor Bach
Allegro in F Sharp Minor Guilmant
Heroic Piece Franck
Finale (Sonata, Op. 28) Elgar

7.0 JACK PAYNE and THE
B.B.C.
DANCE ORCHESTRA

7.45 IVOR VINTOR
(The Little Surprise)

8.0 A MILITARY BAND CONCERT

MARGERY PHILLIPS
(Contralto)

STERDALE BENNETT
(Entertainer)

THE WIRELESS MILITARY
BAND
Conducted by B. WALTON
O'DONNELL

Overture, 'The Mill on the Cliff' Reissiger

8.10 MARGERY PHILLIPS
One morning, oh, so early
J. Michael Diack
Ever so far away
Charles Braun
I've been roaming
C. E. Horn

8.17 BAND
Welsh Rhapsody .. German

8.33 STERDALE BENNETT
Selections from his own Songs

8.43 BAND

Fantasy Pictures from a Pantomime
Kenneth A. Wright, arr. Gerrard Williams

8.53 MARGERY PHILLIPS

A Woman's Last Word Bantock
To Me at my Fifth Floor Window .. A. Mallinson
See where my love a-maying goes .. C. A. Sidgely

9.0 BAND

Selection, 'La Boutique Fantasque'
Rossini-Respighi

9.14 STERDALE BENNETT

Selections from his own Songs

9.23 BAND

Czardas Grossman

9.30 TREVOR CLARK reading from 'The Ghost
Ship,' by Richard Middleton

10.0 WEATHER FORECAST, SECOND GENERAL NEWS
BULLETIN

10.15-11.15 DANCE MUSIC

THE CAFÉ DE PARIS BLUE LYRES BAND, relayed from the CAFÉ DE PARIS

(Thursday's Programmes continued on page 88.)

Comdr. STEPHEN KING-HALL, R.N. will broadcast a commentary on the launching of H.M.S. Exeter from Devonport
Dockyard this afternoon at 3.0.

Julius Cæsar! What a man!
What vitality to have impressed the world for nigh on 2,000 years! A shield he was against his country's foes.

Let Iron Jelloids be your shield against your body's foes; against anæmia and all such insidious enemies to health.
Remember Blood Quality decides the battle of life.
Enrich your blood by taking
Iron Jelloids the great Blood Enrichers. Vitality, vigour and high spirits, the outward signs of health, depend upon the blood. If the blood be poor, then the system is enfeebled;
every organ, every nerve, every fibre of the body suffers. Iron Jelloids improve the quality of your blood; it is the blood which builds up and fortifies
the system, tones up the nerves, bringing sound sleep, brighter spirits, renewed energy and vitality. For over thirty years Iron Jelloids have been the leading household remedy for many ailments arising from an anæmic condition.

Iron Jelloids

For WOMEN.....Iron Jelloids No. 2
For MEN.....Iron Jelloids No. 2A
For CHILDREN.....Iron Jelloids No. 1

Of all Chemists 1/3 per box—large economical size 3/-

IS RENÉ LACOSTE

YOUR COACH ?

A Course of Lessons for 10/6!

This famous player demonstrates all his strokes—in slow motion too—in a film on Tennis specially made for the Home Cinema by Pathéscope, Ltd., the pioneers of Home Cinematography. This film, complete in three parts, costs only 10s. 6d. Ask your photo dealer to show it to you on the Pathéscope

HOME CINEMA PROJECTOR

200,000 persons keep in perfect health by means of SHADFORTH PRESCRIPTION BOOK

There is no boggy about the Shadforth prescriptions, for we disclose the full formula of every medicine on our list. This means that you can get them made up at any first-class chemist or buy from us, whichever you please. That's straightforward enough, isn't it?

There is a Shadforth Prescription for every ill, and their wonderful success has been achieved because the medicines sold have positively given the relief we promised. Extraordinary cures are effected by our medicines, and this is readily understood when we state that most of them have been prescribed by the leading medical specialists of the world.

They are the kind of prescriptions you get at Harley Street by paying multiples of guineas.

Our famous book, the "Wealth of Health," contains 355 pages crammed full of specialist prescriptions and advice for the successful treatment of over 700 diseases. The health of the Community is our first concern, and we offer the above medical compendium free, independently of whether you buy your medicine from us or have our prescriptions made up by your own chemist. 200,000 persons would not continue to buy all their medicines from us unless it was to their advantage to do so. If you send for our Book you will understand the reasons for our outstanding success—fill in the coupon below, and post it to-day.

FREE COUPON

To The Shadforth Prescription Service, 49, King William Street, London Bridge, E.C.4.

I should like to have a free copy of the "Wealth of Health" Medical Compendium, as advertised in THE RADIO TIMES.

Signed _____

Date _____
R.T.46

Thursday's Programmes continued (July 18)

5WA 968 kc/s. (309.9 m.) CARDIFF.

- 3.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 3.45 Mr. RICHARD BARRON: 'Love Poems'
- 4.0 S.B. from Swansea
- 4.45 BOBBY'S STRING ORCHESTRA
From Bobby's Café, Clifton, Bristol
- 5.15 The Children's Hour

Sir C. E. MADDEN, the First Sea Lord, and Lady MADDEN, who take part in this afternoon's ceremony at the launching of H.M.S. Exeter. The ceremony will be broadcast from Plymouth and 5GB at 3.0.

- 6.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 6.15 S.B. from London
- 6.30 Market Prices for Farmers
- 6.35 S.B. from London
- 9.30 West Regional News
- 9.35-12.0 S.B. from London

5SX 1,040 kc/s. (288.5 m.) SWANSEA.

- 3.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 3.45 S.B. from Cardiff
- 4.0 Organ Music
Played by DAVID EVANS-WILLIAMS
Relayed from Trinity Chapel, Park Street
- 4.45 S.B. from Cardiff
- 6.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 6.15 S.B. from London
- 6.30 S.B. from Cardiff
- 6.35 S.B. from London
- 9.30 S.B. from Cardiff
- 9.35-12.0 S.B. from London

6BM 1,040 kc/s. (288.5 m.) BOURNEMOUTH.

- 1.0-2.0 Organ Music
Played by REGINALD FOORT
From the Regent Picture Theatre, Bournemouth
Relayed to London and Daventry
- 3.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry

3.45 Miss ETHEL M. HEWITT: 'Quadrille Court — The Loyal Emigrants of Lymington'

4.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry

6.15 S.B. from London

6.30 Market Prices for South of England Farmers

6.35-12.0 S.B. from London (9.30 Local Announcements)

5PY 1,040 kc/s. (288.5 m.) PLYMOUTH.

12.0-1.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry

3.0 Launching of H.M.S. 'Exeter'

H.M. Dockyard, Devonport
Relayed to Daventry Experimental Commentary by Commander STEPHEN KING-HALL, R.N.

(Commentary also interspersed throughout)

The Manager of the Constructive Department and Staff make a final inspection of the launching arrangements

3.5 app. The Admiral-Superintendent escorts the FIRST SEA LORD OF THE ADMIRALTY and LADY MADDEN and the COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF to the launching platform, who will be received by GUARD OF HONOUR on arrival and departure
BAND OF THE ROYAL NAVAL BARRACKS will play selections

3.10 Religious Service, conducted by the DOCKYARD CHAPLAIN. THE ROYAL NAVAL BARRACKS BAND will accompany the choir in the hymn 'Eternal Father, strong to save'

3.20 Explanation to LADY MADDEN by Manager of the Constructive Department of the arrangements for launching the ship, and presentation of Casket containing hammer and chisel

BAND OF THE DEVONPORT METROPOLITAN POLICE will play selections

3.30 NAMING CEREMONY

A bottle of Colonial wine broken over the ship's bows by Lady Madden. LADY MADDEN cuts the cord which releases the dogshores and so launches the ship.

THE LAUNCH OF A NEW CRUISER.

The New Vessel Leaving the Slips.

A running commentary by Commander Stephen King-Hall, R.N., on the launching of H.M.S. Exeter, is being relayed from Devonport Dockyard by Plymouth this afternoon, starting at 3. This picture shows the scene as a recently-completed cruiser took the water.

Thursday's Programmes continued (July 18)

BAND will play 'Rule, Britannia!' as vessel moves off the slip

ADMIRAL-SUPERINTENDENT calls for three cheers for LADY MADDEN, who will then call for three cheers for the men who built the ship

3.45 London Programme relayed from Daventry

5.15 The Children's Hour
EMPIRE WEEK

A Day in the Fairies' Empire, when we meet 'H.R.H. The Princess of all the Dragons' (Eileen Denton), after which we give 'A Few Words on Batting' (Knight)

6.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry

6.15-12.0 S.B. from London (9.30 Local Announcements)

2ZY MANCHESTER. 797 kc/s. (376.4 m.)

12.0-1.0 A Ballad Concert

VERNA ROBERTS (Soprano)
My Mother bids me bind my hair Haydn
May Dew Sterndale Bennett
Cherry Ripe Horn

JOHN F. DAVIES (Pianoforte)
Etude in C Minor } Chopin
Etude in E }
Toccata in C Minor, Op. 38 .. Sterndale Bennett

HAROLD THOMPSON (Baritone)
Youth Allitsen
Mendin' Roadways Eric Coates
Vale Kennedy Russell
Consolation Tate

VERNA ROBERTS
As I went a-roaming Brahe
Linden Lea Vaughan Williams
Rose softly blooming Spohr

JOHN F. DAVIES
Prelude in G Minor, Op. 23 Rachmaninov
Water Wagtail } Cyril Scott
Danse Nègre (Negro Dance) }

HAROLD THOMPSON
Coming Home Willeby
Macushla MacMurrough
The Threshold Russell

3.45 Miss PHYLIS BENTLEY: 'Holiday Reading—II, By the Sea.' S.B. from Leeds

4.0 Famous Holiday Resorts
Buxton

THE PAVILION GARDENS ORCHESTRA
Musical Director, HORACE FELLOWES
Relayed from the Pavilion Gardens

Overture, 'Fingal's Cave' Mendelssohn
Serenade, 'Amina' Lincke
Suite No. 1, 'L'Arlesienne' ('The Maid of Arles')
Bizet

Chant Hindou (Hindoo Song) .. Rimsky-Korsakov
(Solo Violin, JOHN HAMILTON)

Waltz, 'Amorettenanze' Gung'l
Serenata Moszkowski
Melodies from 'Ruddigore' Sullivan

5.15 The Children's Hour
S.B. from Leeds

Anno Appear!
My Programme by UNCLE JUMBO

Songs by WIN ANSON and J. WOODS SMITH

6.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry

6.15 S.B. from London

6.30 Market Prices for North of England Farmers

6.45-12.0 S.B. from London (9.30 Local Announcements)

Other Stations.

5NO NEWCASTLE. 1,148 kc/s. (261.3 m.)

12.0-1.0:—Gramophone Records, 3.0:—London Programme relayed from Daventry, 4.0:—The McDougall Trio, Grace Angus (Soprano), Hudson Barnsley (Baritone), 5.15:—The Children's Hour, 6.0:—London Programme relayed from Daventry, 6.15:—S.B. from London, 6.30:—Market Prices for Farmers, 6.35-12.0:—S.B. from London.

5SC GLASGOW. 752 kc/s. (398.9 m.)

11.0-12.0:—A Recital of Gramophone Records, 4.0:—A Concert, The Station Trio, Janet MacFarlane (Soprano) 5.0:—Dance Music by Charles Watson's Orchestra, from the Playhouse Ballroom, 5.15:—The Children's Hour, 5.57:—Weather Forecast for Farmers, 6.0:—Musical Interlude, 6.15:—S.B. from London, 6.30:—Musical Interlude, 6.45:—S.B. from London, 9.30:—Scottish News Bulletin, 9.35:—Ivor Vintor (The Little Surprise), 9.50:—A Recital, Elsie Cochran (Soprano), S.B. from Edinburgh, Ruby Dunn (Pianoforte); Pastorale Variée (Mozart) (with Variations by M. Gaubert de Courbon), Polonaise in G, Op. 39 (Beethoven), Elsie Cochran (Soprano): Una voce poco fa (There's a voice within my heart) ('The Barber of Seville') (Rossini); A Welcome Vision (Strauss); Yesterday he brought me roses (Marx), Ruby Dunn; Prelude and Toccata (Vincenza Lachner); Novelletten, Op. 21, No. 7, in E (Schumann), Elsie Cochran; 'E'en as a lovely flower (Frank Bridge); The Joy of Spring (H. Woodman); Lullaby (Cyril Scott); Song of the Open (Frank La Forge), 10.35-12.0:—S.B. from London.

IVOR VINTOR,

'The Little Surprise,' is broadcasting from many of the stations this week. He broadcasts from 5GB on Thursday and from London and Daventry on Saturday. Cardiff listeners will hear him on Friday.

2BD ABERDEEN. 895 kc/s. (331.5 m.)

11.0-12.0:—Programme relayed from Daventry, 4.0:—Fishing News Bulletin, 4.5:—Afternoon Concert, The Station Octet, Alexander Bain (Baritone), 5.15:—The Children's Hour, 5.55:—Fishing News Bulletin, 6.0:—London Programme relayed from Daventry, 6.15:—S.B. from London, 6.30:—S.B. from Glasgow, 6.45:—S.B. from London, 9.30:—S.B. from Glasgow, 9.35:—Ivor Vintor (The Little Surprise), 9.50:—Scottish Programme, An Organ Recital on the Cowdray Hall Organ (Organist, Edgar Beck-Slinton), 10.5:—Studio Interlude, The Belmont Male Voice Quartet, 10.20:—Organ Recital (continued): The Flower of the Forest (arr. Beck-Slinton); Selection, 'Scottish Melodies' (Chas. Godfrey, Junr.), 10.35 app-12.0:—S.B. from London.

2BE BELFAST. 1,238 kc/s. (242.5 m.)

3.30:—A Religious Service, 3.45:—Talk, 4.0:—Dance Music: Jan Ralfini and his Band, relayed from Caproni's Palais de Danse, Bangor, 5.0:—Sidney H. Darvell (Flute), 5.15:—The Children's Hour, 6.0:—Gramophone Records, 6.15:—S.B. from London, 7.45:—A Symphony Concert, Margaret Collier (Soprano); Sonia Moldawsky (Violin); The Symphony Orchestra, conducted by E. Godfrey Brown, Orchestra; Tanz-Walzer (Ferruccio Busoni) (composed in 1920 as a tribute to the memory of Johann Strauss), 7.55:—Sonia Moldawsky; Symphonie Espagnole (Lalo), 8.15:—Margaret Collier; Sing, Sweet Bird (Ganz); Swallows (Cowen); Charming Chloe (German); Wind on the Wheat (Phillips), 8.27:—Orchestra; Symphony No. 7, in C Major, Op. 105 (in one Movement) (Jean Sibelius), 9.0:—S.B. from London, 9.35:—Concert (Continued), Orchestra; Suite, 'La Cimarosiana,' (Malipiero), 9.47:—Sonia Moldawsky; Air (Parcell); Slavonic Dance in E Minor (Dvorsky, arr. Kreisler); Rumanian Air and Hungarian Dance (Sammons), 10.0:—Margaret Collier; Villanelle (Dell'Acqua); Solweig's Song and A Lovely Evening (Grieg); Lane o' the Thrushes (Harty), 10.12:—Orchestra; Dream Pantomime from 'Hansel and Gretel' (Humperdinck); 'Jubel' Overture (Weber), 10.35-12.0:—S.B. from London.

TRIPLE — "GIRDER-BUILT" PLATES

AN OLDHAM TRIUMPH

These plates are fitted in Oldham V.D. Accumulators. They have three times the active surface of ordinary plates. They are immensely strong - they will not buckle. And because of this special Oldham method of manufacture they resist the formation of excessive sulphate—even when left fully charged for long periods. For Sets taking a small amount of filament current you cannot buy better than an Oldham V.D. Accumulator. It will give you longer service, better service, and need less recharging. Your Dealer stocks them.

Oldham O.V.D. 2-volt 10 amp. hrs. (actual) 5/6

Oldham I.V.D. 2-volt 20 amp. hrs. (actual) specially recommended for the Cassor Melody Makec. 9/9

Oldham U.V.D. 2-volt 40 amp. hrs. (actual) 13/9

All are fitted with free all metal carriers.

OLDHAM

V.D. LOW TENSION ACCUMULATORS

OLDHAM & SON, LTD. Denton, Manchester, London Office: 40, Wicklow Street, Kings Cross, W. C. 1.

Glasgow: 200 St. Vincent Street.

7-45
BAND MUSIC FROM THE NORTH

- 10.15 a.m. THE DAILY SERVICE
- 10.30 (Daventry only) TIME SIGNAL, GREENWICH; WEATHER FORECAST
- 10.45 Mr. VINCENT BANKS: 'Bottling Vegetables'
- 11.0 (Daventry only)
Gramophone Records
- 12.0 A Sonata Recital
NANCY PHILLIPS (Violin)
HINDA PHILLIPS (Pianoforte)
- 12.30 Organ Music
Played by C. HYLTON STEWART
(Organist and Director of the Choristers, Rochester Cathedral)
- Overture, 'Tamerlane'.....Handel
Piece Caractéristique.....Guilmant
Allegro in D Minor.....Stanford
Prelude on the Chorale, 'Sleepers, wake!'
Bach
- Three short pieces founded on English
Hymn Tunes.....C. Hylton Stewart
(a) Babylon's Streams (English Hymnal 67)
(b) Aberystwyth (English Hymnal 87)
(c) Crofts 136h (English Hymnal 565)
- 1.0-2.0 A Recital of Gramophone Records
by CHRISTOPHER STONE
- 4.0 GERTRUDE MELLOR (Pianoforte)
Impromptu in G.....Schubert
Waltz in A Flat.....Chopin
Study in G Flat, Op. 25.....Chopin
Caprice Espagnol (Spanish Caprice)
Moszkowski
- 4.15 MOSCHETTO and his ORCHESTRA
From the May Fair Hotel
- 5.15 THE CHILDREN'S HOUR
'Proud Punch' from 'Toy Town' (S. G. Hulme Beaman), arranged as a Dialogue Story, with Incidental Music by THE GESHOM PARKINGTON QUINTET
- 6.0 Mr. F. W. MILES, 'Midsummer Gardening'
- 6.15 TIME SIGNAL, GREENWICH; WEATHER
FORECAST, FIRST GENERAL NEWS BULLETIN
- 6.30 Musical Interlude
- 6.45 THE FOUNDATIONS OF MUSIC
Early French Keyboard Music
- 7.0 Mr. ERNEST NEWMAN: The B.B.C. Music Critic
- 7.15 Musical Interlude
- 7.25 Mr. R. H. GRETTON: 'Some Makers of Modern Politics—VI, Chamberlain and Modern Electoral Methods'
- ALTHOUGH party organization for electoral purposes was not especially the work of Joseph Chamberlain (Peel had begun it after 1832; and the Conservatives after 1868 revived the idea) he may aptly be taken as the best figure to associate with this subject. Not only did he make the Liberal headquarters so much the more vigorous of the two that the cautious and Birmingham were always thought of together by the late Victorians, but he also saw quickly how the tendency to idolise the individual ought to be used in electioneering. This is the concluding talk in Mr. Gretton's series during the course of which an attempt has been made to assess the differences that have arisen between the House of a century ago and the House of today, by taking six great Victorian statesmen and summarizing the changes which coincided with their periods of power.

FRIDAY, JULY 19
2LO LONDON & 5XX DAVENTRY

842 kc/s. (356.3 m.) 193 kc/s. (1,554.4 m.)

7-45 A BRASS BAND CONCERT

THE PERFECTION SOAP WORKS BAND
Conducted by F. V. LLOYD
S.B. from Manchester
JOHN TURNER (Tenor)
From the London Studio

BAND
March, 'The Washington Grays'.....Graffula
Overture, 'The Merry Wives of Windsor'
Nicolai
Euphonium Solo, 'Un Rêve d'amour' ('A Dream of Love').....Millars
(Soloist, W. COLLIER)

OLD KEYBOARD MUSIC.

This picture, 'The Music Master,' recalls the art of keyboard music as it was in the early days, when music such as is being played in the Foundations of Music series this week was being composed.
From Jan Steen's painting, now in the National Gallery.

- JOHN TURNER
Nirvana.....Stephen Adams
I hear you calling me.....Marshall
- BAND
Selection, 'La Poupée' ('The Doll').....Audran
Humoresque, 'Three Blind Mice'.....Douglas
- JOHN TURNER
Sweet Early Violets.....Sherington
Thank God for a Garden.....del Riego
I did not know.....Trotters
- BAND
Selection, 'L'Africain'.....Meyerbeer
- 9.0 WEATHER FORECAST, SECOND GENERAL NEWS
BULLETIN
- 9.15 The Right Hon. VISCOUNT ULLSWATER,
G.C.B.: 'Vandals of the Countryside' (An article by Mr. Frank Kendon, dealing with the flowers of the countryside and their preservation, will be found on page 61.)
- 9.30 Local Announcements; (Daventry only) Shipping Forecast and Fat Stock Prices

9-35
THE WIRELESS SYMPHONY
ORCHESTRA

9-35 A Symphony Concert

FERNANDO AUTORI (Bass)
THE WIRELESS SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
(Leader, S. KNEALE KELLEY)
Conducted by JOHN BARBIROLLI

Symphony No. 92 in G ('The Oxford')...Haydn
Adagio; Allegro spiritoso; Adagio; Menuetto;
Allegretto; Presto

10.5 FERNANDO AUTORI with Orchestra
Aria, 'La calunnia e un venticello' ('Calumny is like a zephyr') ('The Barber of Seville')
Rossini

ROSINA, the charming little heroine of The Barber of Seville, has a grim old guardian,
Bartolo, who would fain marry her himself.
But he knows there is a young and handsome suitor in the offing, and takes counsel with his old friend Basilio. It is he who advises him to spread a rumour that the young admirer, Count Almaviva, is a worthless fellow, and in this delightfully comic aria, explains how calumny begins like a gentle zephyr and grows in strength to become a very tempest. The music fits the text in the most mirth-compelling way.

10.10 ORCHESTRA

The Enchanted Lake ('Legend' for Orchestra).....Liadov
'Facade' Suite for Orchestra
William Walton
(after Poems by EDITH SITWELL)
(1) Polka; (2) Waltz; (3) Swiss Yodelling
Song; (4) Tango-Pasodoble; (5) Tarantello
Sevillana

THIS music was first presented in a very new and striking way. The performers were shut off from the audience by a curtain which represented an enormous mask, with open mouth; it was the large end of a megaphone, through the other end of which an unseen reciter spoke Edith Sitwell's poems. The first speaker was the poet herself. The speaking was accompanied by Walton's music for a small team, which was also out of sight behind the curtain, and the effect was a very striking one. That was in 1923, the same year in which Walton had the distinction of having a string quartet chosen for performance at the International Festival at Salzburg; he was then only twenty-one. Since its first performance, the music of Facade has been considerably revised, and recently an orchestral Suite has been made of it which is of quite sufficient interest to stand on its own feet without the poems.
In this form it is often played as an Interlude by the Diaghileff Ballet.

- 10.30 FERNANDO AUTORI (with Orchestra)
Aria, 'Madamina' ('Don Giovanni')...Mozart
- 10.40 ORCHESTRA
Suite from 'Coq d'Or' ('The Golden Cockerel')
Rimsky-Korsakov
(1) Introduction and Berceuse
(2) Wedding March

11.0 SURPRISE ITEM

11.15 DANCE MUSIC

THE PICCADILLY PLAYERS, directed by AL STARITA, and the
PICCADILLY GRILL BAND, directed by JERRY HOEY, from the Piccadilly Hotel

12.0-12.15

Experimental Transmission of Still Pictures
by the Fultograph Process

FRIDAY, JULY 19
5GB DAVENTRY EXPERIMENTAL

626 kcfs. (479.2 m.)

TRANSMISSIONS FROM LONDON EXCEPT WHERE OTHERWISE STATED.

8.0
TWO ONE ACT-PLAYS

4.0 BILLY FRANCIS and his BAND from the West End Dance Hall, Birmingham

LAWRENCE EASSON in Syncopated Numbers
(From London)

5.30 The Children's Hour
(From Birmingham)

'Cornflowers amid the Corn,' by Jessie Bayliss-Elliott

Songs by BERNARD SIMS (Baritone)

VICTOR SHEATH (Banjo)

Another Yarn, by 'Housemaster'

6.15 TIME SIGNAL, GREENWICH: WEATHER FORECAST, FIRST GENERAL NEWS BULLETIN

6.30 Light Music

From Birmingham

MARY MADDOCK (Soprano)

MARJORIE HAZLEHURST (Pianoforte)

JAN BERENSKA'S PIANOFORTE QUINTET

QUINTET

Overture, 'Figaro'.....Mozart
Selection from Sullivan's Operas.....arr. Higgs

MARY MADDOCK

A Blackbird's Song.....Sanderson

Sing, Joyous Bird.....Phillips

To a Wild Rose

MacDowell

What's in the Air Today?

Robert Eden

6.55 QUINTET

Liebeslied (Love Song); Riviera
Berenka

MARJORIE HAZLEHURST

Scherzo in E Minor, Op. 16

Mendelssohn

Dr. Gradus ad Parnassum;

Serenade for the Doll; The Snow is Dancing .. Debussy

QUINTET

Pas des Fleurs (Flower Dance) ('Naila') Delibes
Old Folks at Home.....arr. Kreisler
On Wings of Song.....Mendelssohn

7.30 MARY MADDOCK

I hear a thrush at eve.....Cadman
Just because the violets.....Kennedy Russell

Love is the Wind.....MacFadyen

MARJORIE HAZLEHURST

Consolation, No. 2.....Liszt
Waltz Impromptu.....Liszt

QUINTET

Selection, 'Il Trovatore'.....Verdi

8.0

'Followers'

(From Birmingham)

By HAROLD BRIGHOUSE

Lucinda Baines

Helen Masters

Susan Crowther

Colonel Redfern

The parlour of Miss Lucinda Baines at Cranford in June, 1859

'Hunted Down'

(From Birmingham)

A Story by CHARLES DICKENS

Adapted by STUART VINDEN

The Narrator

Clerk

Slinkton

Miss Liner

Beekwith

9.0 A CONCERT

PERCY WHITEHEAD (Baritone)

THE GERSHOM PARKINGTON QUINTET

QUINTET

Serenade.....Victor Herbert

Water Wagtail.....Cyril Scott

Minuet.....Paderewski

La Columbe.....Gounod

9.15 PERCY WHITEHEAD

The Self Banished....Dr. Blow, arr. Somervell

Sylvia, now your scorn give over.....Purcell

I will go with my Father a-ploughing....Quilter

9.23 QUINTET

A Lyric Suite.....Grieg

Waltz Risetto.....Fall

9.40 PERCY WHITEHEAD

Man and Woman.....Benjamin

Irish Skies.....Stanford

The Sailor Man.....Stanford

9.48 QUINTET

Selection, 'Monsieur Beaucaire'.....Messenger

MARY MADDOCK (Soprano) sings in the programme of Light Music from Birmingham at 6.30 and PERCY WHITEHEAD (Baritone) is the vocalist in the Concert given by the Gershom Parkington Quintet at 9.0.

ANDRÉ MESSAGER, who died in the spring of this year at the good old age of seventy-six, was for long a familiar figure in the London musical world, apart from the successful productions here of some of his best light operas. The first of these, La Bernaise, enjoyed a long run at the Prince of Wales's Theatre, with Miss Florence St. John and Miss Marie Tempest in the principal parts. The dignity and musicianship with which it presented its fresh tunefulness was something new to British audiences, and the high standard which Messenger's work reached in that very way has earned him the title of the 'aristocrat' of the comic opera stage. Some years later he achieved a still more important success with La Basoche, which was given in an English version at d'Oyly Carte's Royal English Opera House—the theatre which had opened with such a flourish of trumpets, to produce a long run of English opera. In later years we remember his Little Michus and Veronique, and his ballet The Two Pigeons is often heard as orchestral music. But besides his composing, he did distinguished work as conductor too, not only in Paris, but in London. For some six years he was Artistic Director at Covent Garden Opera House, conducting many of the important operas. He was succeeded there by our Mr. Percy Pitt.

The only new opera of his which English audiences have heard since then was his Monsieur Beaucaire; it began a run at Prince's Theatre, London, in the spring of 1919.

10.0 WEATHER FORECAST, SECOND GENERAL NEWS BULLETIN

10.15-11.15 DANCE MUSIC

THE PICCADILLY PLAYERS, directed by AL STARITA and the

PICCADILLY GRILL BAND, directed by JERRY HOEY, From the PICCADILLY HOTEL

(Friday's Programmes continued on page 92).

PAST
THE DAY OF THE RUBBER ELASTIC STOCKING
HEAVY-CONSTRICTING-OBVIOUS
NEW COMPRI-VENA STOCKING
Gives Perfect Support. Yet is Rubberless. Light. Comfortable and Invisible under Finest Silk Hose Durable Washable

TODAY there is great news for every sufferer from Varicose Veins, swollen or ungainly legs or ankles. A new Stocking is now available, which helps to reduce the veins or swellings instead of merely pressing them in.

It is a revelation in comfort, besides being undetectable. "No one would know I have two pairs of stockings on," writes a satisfied wearer. A Nurse says: "Delighted with the Stockings. They are the best ever invented for Varicose Veins. All tenderness and swelling has entirely disappeared."

These new Compri-Vena Stockings are easily washable, wear well, and can be ordered by post with confidence, as perfect fitting is assured by our simple method of home measurement. All over the country sufferers are discarding their heavy, unsightly Rubber Elastic Stockings and bandages, and turning with relief to these light and smart Stockings. Doctors advise patients to wear them owing to their numerous advantages.

Write to-day for booklets and self-measurement form. If possible, call and inspect the various qualities. Compri-Vena, Ltd. (Dept. R.T.18), Evelyn House, 62, Oxford Street, London, W.1. (Near Tottenham Ct. Rd. Tube Station. Hours, 9-6. Sat., 9-1.)

Trained Nurses in constant attendance.

Regd. Suppliers to IMPERIAL AIRWAYS and AIR MINISTRY Contractors

TEST IT BY THE TIME SIGNAL
Recommended by users in all parts of the world for accuracy under trying conditions of atmosphere, temperature, and shock.

THE ORIGINAL AEROPLANE PILOT WATCHES
SPECIALLY BUILT TO WITHSTAND VIBRATION

Note specification: 15 Jewelled Lever Movement. Non-Magnetic. 3 adjustments: Damp and dust proof. Price 22/6. Ladies or Gent's sizes in Silver 30/-. Luminous dial 2/6 extra. In pocket watches 21/.

7 days' approval. Catalogue Free.

10 YEARS 22/6 GUARANTEE POST FREE

Sole Suppliers: G. & M. LANE & CO. (Dept. R.T.), Aircraft Watch specialists, 28, LUDGATE HILL, LONDON, E.C.4.

Our Complete Range on Show, Stand 164, Aero Exhibition, Olympia.

WORLD-RADIO BROADCASTING MAP
3/- OF EUROPE 3/-
Mounted on linen. Size approx. 36" x 29".
Accurate for Distance and Direction.
Post Free.

Friday's Programmes continued (July 19)

5WA GARDIFF. 968 kc/s. (309.9 m.)

- 12.0-1.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 4.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 5.0 JOHN STEAN'S CARLTON CELEBRITY ORCHESTRA From the Carlton Restaurant
- 5.15 The Children's Hour
- 6.0 Mr. W. H. JONES: 'Village Histories—Rhosilly in Gower'
- 6.15 S.B. from London
- 6.30 Mr. JAMES STEPHENSON, M.Com., 'Careers—Commerce'
- 6.45 S.B. from London

7.45 IVOR VINTOR (The Little Surprise)

8.0 A BAND CONCERT

THE BAND OF THE 1ST BATTALION THE DUKE OF WELLINGTON'S REGIMENT (West Riding)
(By kind permission of Lt.-Col. F. H. B. WELLESLEY and Officers)
Bandmaster, EDWIN OVINGTON
Relayed from the Institution Gardens, Bath
Selection of Wilfred Sanderson's Songs

- Whistling Number, 'The Warbler's Serenade' arr. Hume Perry
- Selection, 'La Traviata' Verdi (Solo Clarinet, Sergt. J. COLLUCK)
- A Nautical Narrative, 'Shiver m' Timbers' Elliott Smith
- Selection, 'Mister Cinders' Ellie

THE tragic story of Verdi's opera, La Traviata, one of the most popular of all his tuneful works, was made for him from Dumas' play, The Lady of the Camellias. It is interesting to recall, in view of the warm affection in which the opera and its melodies are held all over the world, that it was not very enthusiastically welcomed on its first appearance. For one thing, the characters appeared in modern dress, which was a rather startling break with opera traditions, in 1853, when it was first given in Venice. And there is another difficulty which is not always easily overcome. Violetta, the heroine, is a pale, delicate, creature, who dies, in the end, of consumption. But, at the first performance, the Prima Donna, who took the rôle was an extremely healthy looking lady of distinctly generous proportions, and her untimely death from a wasting disease seemed to the audience so unlikely that the singer came in for a good deal of chaff. Italian audiences were, and indeed still are, inclined to be free in their comments, even during a performance. More than one distinguished singer since then who has been successful in the vocal side of the part, has found it difficult to wear the frail and delicate look which it demands. Singing is a healthy exercise, as the looks of singers frequently proclaim.

- 9.0 S.B. from London
- 9.30 West Regional News
- 9.35-11.15 S.B. from London

5SX SWANSEA. 1,040 kc/s. (288.5 m.)

- 4.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 5.0 S.B. from Cardiff
- 6.15 S.B. from London

- 6.30 S.B. from Cardiff
- 6.45 S.B. from London
- 7.45 S.B. from Cardiff
- 9.0 S.B. from London
- 9.30 S.B. from Cardiff
- 9.35-11.15 S.B. from London

6BM BOURNEMOUTH. 1,040 kc/s. (288.5 m.)

- 4.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 6.15 S.B. from London

Mr. W. H. JONES tells the history of the little village of Rhosilly in Gower in his talk from Cardiff this evening, at 6.0.

- 7.45 A Brass Band Concert (S.B. from Manchester) (See London)
- 9.0-11.15 S.B. from London (9.30 Local Announcements)

5PY PLYMOUTH. 1,040 kc/s. (288.5 m.)

- 4.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 5.15 The Children's Hour Empire Week 'Proud Punch' (S. G. Hulme Beaman), concluding with a Thé Dansant
- 6.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 6.15 S.B. from London
- 7.45 A Brass Band Concert S.B. from Manchester (See London)
- 9.0-11.15 S.B. from London (9.30 Forthcoming Events; Local Announcements)

2ZY MANCHESTER. 797 kc/s. (376.4 m.)

- 4.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 5.15 The Children's Hour FAMOUS MUSICIANS 'The Minstrel Boy,' 'Orpheus with his lute' and other songs by HARRY HOPEWELL 'The Pied Piper' and other Poems by ROBERT DONAT
- 6.0 'Industrial Gardens'—II: Councillor JANN ZIMMERN and Councillor WILL MELLAND: 'Flowers or Games?—The Problems of the Parks'
- 6.15 S.B. from London
- 7.45 A Brass Band Concert Relayed to London and Daventry JOHN TURNER (Tenor) (See London)
- 9.0-11.15 S.B. from London (9.30 Local Announcements)

Other Stations:

- 5NO NEWCASTLE. 1,148 kc/s. (261.5 m.)
4.15:—Music from Tilley's Blackett Street Restaurant
5.15:—The Children's Hour. 6.0:—London Programme relayed from Daventry. 6.15:—S.B. from London. 6.30:—For Farmers: Professor C. Heigham, 'Grass Management'. 6.45:—S.B. from London. 7.45:—Captain H. G. Amers and The Eastbourne Municipal Orchestra. Relayed from The Festival Hall, North East Coast Exhibition. 9.0-11.15:—S.B. from London.

- 5SC GLASGOW. 752 kc/s. (393.9 m.)
4.0:—A Light Afternoon Concert. The Station Trio: Intermezzo, 'Hearts and Flowers' (Tobini). 4.5:—MayMay McLaren (Synopated Pianist). From Edinburgh: Good News, The Best Things in Life are Free and Lucky in Love ('Good News') (De Sylva, Brown and Henderson); When you are gone away (MayMay McLaren); Improvisation (Colby, arr. Lee Sims); Hugh Frazer (Kutertalner). From Edinburgh: Reminiscences. 4.25:—Trio: Ballet Music ('Faust') (Gounod). 4.35:—MayMay McLaren. From Edinburgh: Thinking of You (Ruby, arr. Lowry); She's funny that way (Morch and Whiting); Forever (Yellen and Ager); Let's do it—Let's fall in Love (Cole Porter); Hugh Frazer. From Edinburgh: More Reminiscences. 4.55:—Trio: Waltz, 'Thoughts' (Alford). 5.0:—Organ Music. From the New Savoy Picture House. 5.15:—The Children's Hour. 5.57:—Weather Forecast for Farmers. 6.0:—Lady Margaret Sackville: 'The Escape of Princess Sobiesky'. S.B. from Edinburgh. 6.15:—S.B. from London. 6.30:—Scottish Market Prices for Farmers. 6.40:—Musical Interlude. 6.45:—S.B. from London. 7.45:—Organ Music. From the New Savoy Picture House. 8.0:—A Scottish Concert. The Station Trio: March, 'The London Scottish' (Haines). Matthew Nisbet (Bass-Baritone): O gin I were a Baron's Heir, Robin Tamson's Smiddy and W' a Hundred Pipers (arr. Moffatt). Nell Ballantyne (Reciter): Bella Bathgode (Penny Plain) (O. Douglas). Crué Davidson (Contralto): Hush-a-ba-Birdie (Alice C. Buntin, arr. Moffatt); Sound the Pibroch (arr. Diack). George Scott (Piano Accordion): Auld Robin Gray (arr. Pauer); The Lad wi' the Piddle and the Fairy Dance (arr. Kerr). Matthew Nisbet: Skye Fisher's Song (arr. Kennedy-Fraser); Corn Rigs (arr. Moffatt); Wha'll be King but Charlie (arr. Diack). Nell Ballantyne: Gleeca (W. D. Cocker); Maggie (Joe Corrie); The Glasgow Man (Anon.). George Scott: Roslin Castle (arr. Volt); Staidburn March (Bimmer) Crué Davidson: The Queen's Marles (arr. Diack); The Road to the Isles (arr. Kennedy-Fraser). Trio: Kettle Suite (Foulds). 9.0:—S.B. from London. 9.30:—Scottish News Bulletin. 9.35-11.15:—S.B. from London.

- 2BD ABERDEEN. 995 kc/s. (301.5 m.)
4.0:—Fishing News Bulletin. 4.5:—Afternoon Concert. The Station Octet: Overture, 'William Tell' (Rossini). 4.15:—George Wiseman (Flute and Piccolo): Reverie (Hubert Bath); Polacca, 'Pica-roon' (T. Green); L'Anfilite, Op. 348 (R. Gullit). 4.25:—Octet: 'Prince Igor' Dances (Borodin); Ballet, 'La Source' (Delibes). 4.45:—George Wiseman: Tell me, my heart (Bishop, arr. Clinton); L'Oiseau du Bois (Le Thiére); I Bacì (Cesare Ciardi). 4.55:—Octet: Demoiselle Chic (Fletcher). 5.0:—Miss F. Marian McNeill: 'Old Scottish Festival Cakes and Dishes'. 5.15:—The Children's Hour. 5.55:—Fishing News Bulletin. 6.0:—Gramophone Records. 6.15:—S.B. from London. 6.30:—S.B. from Glasgow. 6.45:—S.B. from London. 7.45:—A Brass Band Concert. (See London). 9.0:—S.B. from London. 9.30:—S.B. from Glasgow. 9.35-11.15:—S.B. from London.

- 2BE BELFAST. 1,238 kc/s. (242.3 m.)
12.0:—Organ Recital by Herbert Westerby, Mus. Bac. (Lond.), relayed from the Grosvenor Hall: Suite from 'Bondage' (Purcell, arr. West); Meditation à St. Clothilde (Phillip James); Scherzo-Caprice (Baynon); Siciliana (Hollins); Finale from Second Sonata (Borowski). 12.30-1.0:—Gramophone Records. 4.0:—Dance Music. Jan Ralini and his Band, relayed from Caproni's Palais de Danse, Bangor. 5.0:—John W. Sowerby (Violoncello): Kol Nidrei, Op. 4 (Max Bruch); Intermezzo (Granados, arr. Cassado). 5.15:—The Children's Hour. 6.0:—'Midsummer Gardening' by Mr. F. W. Miles. 6.15:—S.B. from London. 7.45:—Opera, 'Carmen' (Bizet) 9.0:—S.B. from London. 9.35:—'Carmen', Acts III and IV. 10.50:—Musical Interlude. 11.0-11.15:—S.B. from London.

Every Man His Own Wireless Critic.

Our contributor, Mr. Alfred Dunning, gives below some stimulating advice to those of our readers who desire to develop a true critical faculty towards broadcasting, which, as he says, 'may some day be one of the fine arts.'

THERE is no more difficult task than that of criticizing the worthiness or unworthiness of a broadcast item of entertainment intended to appeal to millions of listeners, with millions of varying tastes.

In attempting to do so, one is always strongly tempted to observe the rule of the Yorkshireman, who has some reputation for shrewdness, and to 'See all, hear all, say—nowt!' But while silence may be golden, a certain amount of tempered speech or writing is required if broadcasting is to follow other forms of entertainment and progress onward and upward. It will be seen, therefore, that if it has difficulty, wireless criticism has also a nobility of purpose, and those who provide such reading as that which appears in the Listeners' Page of this journal are materially assisting in the development of what may some day be one of the fine arts.

But there is a good deal of difference between true critical listening and commentary, and that impulsive and sometimes ill-considered 'rushing in where wise men fear to tread.' Criticism is definitely constructive and creative. As one writer has said, 'Who can doubt that Criticism, as well as poetry, can have wings?' Yet before those wings can be made to soar as high as a Ruskin criticizing art, and creating it in his criticism, or an Archer judging the drama in a way as dramatic as anything he judged, there are certain fundamental laws to be appreciated and understood. Criticism is not merely expressing one's own likes and dislikes. Rather is it the art of sinking one's own ego and endeavouring as far as possible to see the 'pure' merits in the thing criticized.

For this reason it is important that the wireless critic should be able to lend a sympathetic ear to as many different subjects as possible. He must remember all the time the ten million, and have sufficient tolerance not to deery an item simply because he personally is not interested in the subject of it. Tolerance is everything.

But there is a difference between tolerant listening and listening with 'an open mind.' This latter mental state seems to me to be as elusive and mythical a thing as the famous 'Man in the Street'—who has not yet been discovered. The open mind is not an indispensable quality for the wireless critic. All of us—critics included—have, or ought to have, our pet prejudices and prejudices. And obviously, if we have ambitions to see jazz abolished from the programmes, or to see it displace all other forms of music, we do our best, within reason, to further those ambitions. But—and this is the big 'but' of critical listening—we should remember that in wireless more than in any other form of entertainment, to grind an axe 'within reason' is next door to not grinding it at all. Once more the extreme catholicity of broadcasting is to be blamed. However, there is more than one way of removing an obstacle to one's peace of mind. One can grind his axe with many sparks, elbowing everybody else's opinions out of the way. The minority in support of such a listener's methods will be, in the end, exactly one—himself. Or one can adopt a quieter, persuasive method of pointing out one's objections, with the assurance that such a method will invariably receive consideration at the hands of those who are thoughtful. In other words, in criticism as well as in other activities, thoughtfulness begets thoughtfulness, and fireworks go out of mind as they go out of sight.

It may be gathered from the above that the business of successfully criticizing wireless programmes is not child's play. The truth is that the theory of criticism is almost as difficult to unravel as the mathematical intricacies of Einstein. From the point of view of actual listening, however, there are certain things which six years of broadcasting seem to have made clear, and one in particular which might be worthy of consideration by anyone who is in the habit of addressing his opinions 'to the proper quarters.'

By robbing the ear of the help provided by the eye, broadcasting has produced a new type of sound impression. There is, I believe, a great difference between seeing, say, Sir Thomas Beecham conduct an orchestra, and hearing him do it through the medium of the loud-speaker. In the former case the sight impressions, and perhaps the 'mass-psychology' of the audience make appreciation not unduly difficult. In the latter case one is faced with 'pure' music—music divorced from all human personality save what can be transmitted by the wireless. This is much more difficult emotionally to understand, and should receive, therefore, the greater tolerance from the critic.

Just as things are not always what they seem, so they are not always what they sound. The critic must be willing to review all the circumstances of a broadcast before he delivers an adverse judgment. This, in other words, means tolerance. And if he cannot, by reason of time or other circumstances, do so, he should make it quite clear that his expressions are not criticisms, but opinions, personal and private. 'A distinction with a great difference.'

ALFRED DUNNING.

Emblem Assorted BISCUITS

As delicious as they are moderate in price

Made only by CARR'S of CARLISLE

Jantzen

JANTZEN KNITTING MILLS
C. J. LEMAIRE (General Agent)
Walmar House, 296, Regent Street,
London, W.1.
Please send me the Jantzen colour harmony booklet, red diving girl wind-screen stickers and names of nearest stores handling Jantzen suits FREE OF CHARGE.
Name.....
Address.....

The suit that changed bathing to swimming

REDUCED CHARGES FOR DEVELOPING

8 Exposures V.P.K. ... 6d.
6 Exposures 3 1/2 x 2 1/2 and 4 1/2 x 2 1/2 ... 6d.
6 Exposures Larger Sizes ... 9d.

Prints that excel at standard prices—Velvet or Glossy surface, as desired. WILL R. ROSE does them quickly and best and gives helpful advice. You need not pay in advance. This guarantees your satisfaction and his efficiency. Write for illustrated List R.T. and safety postal wrapper.

The service is unique both in equipment and experience.
CHESTER: 25, Bridge Street Row.
OXFORD: 133-134, High Street.
GUILDFORD: 5, Promenade.
And over 60,000 receiving stations; your nearest dealer has to be one of them.

ROBINSON'S

"patent"
BARLEY & GROATS

MOTHERS, past and present, testify to the value of two perfect milk-foods—Robinson's Barley and Robinson's Groats. When Bonnie Prince Charlie was the Young Pretender, Robinson's Barley and Robinson's Groats were already enthroned in the nursery. They were no pretenders—they have kept generations of mothers and babies healthy and strong.

FOR BABY & MOTHER TOO

Write for free booklet:
KEEN ROBINSON & CO., LTD.
DEPT. R.T.S., CARROW WORKS, NORWICH.

3.30
THE GREAT
FINAL
AT BISLEY

10.15 a.m. THE DAILY SERVICE

10.30 (Daventry only) TIME SIGNAL, GREENWICH; WEATHER FORECAST

10.45-11.0 Mrs. J. WEBB: 'What to look for in the Sales'

1.0-2.0 Moschetto and his Orchestra From the May Fair Hotel

3.30 BISLEY
A Running Commentary on the Final of the King's Prize by Capt. E. H. ROBINSON Relayed from the 1,000 Yards Range, Bisley Camp

THE King's Prize at Bisley is, quite strictly speaking, the 'blue riband' of the world of marksmanship. It is to rifle-shooting what the Wimbledon Singles Championship is to lawn tennis; what the Diamonds is to sculling; what the American Cup is to yacht-racing. Bisley brings together marksmen—picked marksmen—from all over the world, and the cream of them compete in the battle royal for the King's Prize. Its winner, one may be certain, has attained the highest possible excellence of marksmanship. This afternoon the final of the King's Prize will be contested at Bisley, and the first news of the result, with an account of all the preceding events, will be broadcast by Captain E. H. Robinson, late R.A.F., who himself won the King's Prize in 1923.

4.30 INTERLUDE

4.45 Organ Music
Played by ALEX TAYLOR
Relayed from Davis' Theatre, Croydon

5.15 THE CHILDREN'S HOUR
'Great Claus and Little Claus'
A Play, adapted by M. JEAN NEWELL, from the Story by Hans Andersen

6.0 Musical Interlude

6.15 TIME SIGNAL, GREENWICH; WEATHER FORECAST, FIRST GENERAL NEWS BULLETIN; ANNOUNCEMENTS AND SPORTS BULLETIN

6.30 Musical Interlude

6.45 THE FOUNDATIONS OF MUSIC
EARLY FRENCH KEYBOARD MUSIC

7.0 Mr. HARVEY GRACE: 'Next Week's Broadcast Music'

7.15 Sports Talk

7.30 'Diary of a Nobody'
—V
by the
Late GEORGE and WEEDON
GROSSMITH
Read by GEORGE GROSSMITH

SATURDAY, JULY 20
2LO LONDON & 5XX DAVENTRY
8.42 kc/s. (356.3 m.) 193 kc/s. (1,554.4 m.)

8.20
FROM THE GAIETY THEATRE

Written and Produced by STANLEY LUPINO and ARTHUR RIGBY
Music by HAL BRODY. Lyrics by DESMOND CARTER
Additional Numbers by DE SYLVA, BROWN, and HENDERSON
BILLY MAYERL, FRANK EYTON, and LESLIE SARONY Dances and Ensembles by FRED LORD
HARRY ACRES ORCHESTRA with
H. B. HEDLEY at the Piano

Characters in order of appearance in this excerpt:—

- Rolly Ryder (an artist) LADDIE CLIFF
- Joyce Ryder (his bride) CONNIE EMERALD
- Tommy Burden NOEL CORTLAND
- Dinkie Maine GILLY FLOWER
- Jerry Walker (a medical student) STANLEY LUPINO
- Inspector Hickman WALTER E. WALLIS
- Jack Stanton (an art student) CYRIL RITCHARD
- Valerie St. Clair MADGE ELLIOTT
- Cyrus Watt (Jerry's uncle) ARTHUR RIGBY, JUNR.
- Nicholas Wich (Rolly's uncle) HARRY WOTTON
- Wills (a butler) ARTY ASH
- Maid BUBBLES BROWN
- Junetta Martineze DOROTHY LANGLEY
- Lord Luston WYN WEAVER

ACT I

is in the Torquay studio of Rolly Ryder (Laddie Cliff), who has just married Joyce (Connie Emerald) in spite of having been forbidden by his uncle, Nicholas Wich, to marry. On the other hand, Jerry Walker (Stanley Lupino) is being urged to marry Junetta against his wishes. Jack Stanton (another artist—Cyril Ritchard) has impersonated Lord Luston to impress Valerie St. Clair (Madge Elliott).

The excerpt opens with a duet between Rolly and Joyce—'I'm on the crest of a wave,' followed by Jerry's dramatic arrival. Jack Stanton's entrance precedes his song, 'After the Girl,' and Valerie St. Clair arrives, and they finish this excerpt with a duet—'You've made a difference to me.'

STANLEY LUPINO
and
LADDIE CLIFF

CYRIL RITCHARD

ACT II

opens in the Garden. The Uncles Wich and Watt have meanwhile arrived, and Rolly, Jack, and Jerry sing 'Love Lies.' The real Lord Luston then complains of his treatment at Jerry's hands. Wills the butler says they are all driving him crazy, and the excerpt closes with Jerry's song, 'I lift up my finger.'

BEGIN THE YEAR WITH AN EXPECTED PROMOTION AT THE OFFICE
I MAKE TWO GOOD JOES
LUPIN SPECULATES SUCCESSFULLY AND STARTS A PONY TRAP
LUPIN INTRODUCES US TO MR. MURRAY POSH
WE LOSE MONEY OVER LUPIN'S ADVICE AS TO INVESTMENTS, SO DOES CUMMINGS
MARRIAGE OF DAISY MUTLAR AND MURRAY POSH
THE DREAM OF MY LIFE REALIZED

7.45 Vaudeville
IVOR VINTOR (The Little Surprise)
MONA GREY (The Varied-voiced Comedienne)

8.20 Excerpt from Act I
'Love Lies'
(Relayed from the Gaiety Theatre)
(See centre of page)

9.0 WEATHER FORECAST, SECOND GENERAL NEWS BULLETIN

9.15 Mr. GERALD BARRY: 'The Week in London'

9.30 Local Announcements; (Daventry only) Shipping Forecast and Fat Stock Prices

9.35 Excerpt from Act II
'Love Lies'

10.0 THE ZIGUENER ENSEMBLE
Directed by ALFRED BONDT

Overture, 'A Night in Venice'
Johann Strauss, arr. R. Atler
Waltz, 'Love and Life in Vienna'
Karl Komsak
Selection, 'A Waltz Dream'
Oscar Strauss, arr. C. Godfrey, Junr.
Waltz, 'The Count of Luxembourg'
Franz Lehar

ALTHOUGH Johann Strauss, the younger gave names to most of his dance tunes, very few of them really mean anything, and this is no more descriptive of a night in Venice than of a night anywhere else.

The eldest son of Johann Strauss the elder, he succeeded his father in 1863 as music master of the Court Balls in Vienna. At that time he had already a great reputation as a bandmaster and as composer of light and sparkling music, some of which is clearly destined to take its place among the immortal masterpieces of all time.

The elder Johann was anxious that none of his sons should follow a musical career, and the younger Johann began life as a banker. But, like two of his brothers, who were also destined for other professions, he found the call of music too strong and made it abundantly clear that he had inherited a very large share of the family gifts.

10.30-12.0 DANCE MUSIC
AMBROSE'S BAND, from the MAY FAIR HOTEL

(Saturday's Programmes continued on page 96.)

EMPIRE SHOPPING

British Deep Sea Fish

Much of our food comes from foreign countries, but there is nothing foreign about the fish which our fishermen bring us daily. It is won by British labour, coal, machinery and ships, and it comes from Britain's heritage—the Sea.

The British Trawlers are splendidly equipped and manned, and the distribution of their catch is so well organized that every day quantities of fresh fish reach the shops, and can be bought at comparatively low prices. There is nothing so good or wholesome as freshly caught fish from the Sea.

Take advantage of the cheapness and excellence of this British source of food supply. Cod, Whiting, Haddock and Halibut are well-known varieties, but there are many others, such as Hake, Skate, Ling, Brill, Bream, and John Dory, all of which are excellent eating. Ask for them and try them for yourselves.

Empire Buying Begins at Home

EAT MORE FISH

Caught by British Fishermen

Write for 'British Deep Sea Fish', a descriptive leaflet with new recipes

NERVES

NOURISHMENT again the only treatment:

February, 1929.

"A SERIOUS operation three years ago left me a complete nervous wreck, with frequent fits of dizziness and weakness. I had special advice and tried other remedies without relief; until my sister persuaded me to try Cassell's. How I wish I had tried them before! I felt better and better each day; I have taken four boxes, and my nerves are now completely restored. Cassell's alone cured me—they are really wonderful."—Mrs. F. Barkwith, 106, Sydney Road, Homerton.

FREQUENT headaches, tiredness, dizziness or insomnia show that your nerves are run-down; they need a TONIC. Give them Cassell's Tablets, the great nourishing tonic. They will banish your "nerviness," strengthen your digestion and enrich your blood. The first bottle will introduce you to a new health—start a course TO-DAY!

ALSO TAKE CASSELL'S FOR: NEURASTHENIA, DEBILITY, DEPRESSION, ANAEMIA, INDIGESTION, ETC.

1/3 & 3/- per box.

CASSELL'S TABLETS

SATURDAY, JULY 20
5GB DAVENTRY EXPERIMENTAL

626 kc/s. (479.2 m.)

TRANSMISSIONS FROM LONDON EXCEPT WHERE OTHERWISE STATED.

9.30
MELSA GIVES A POPULAR RECITAL

3.30 A CONCERT
HILDA BLAKE (Soprano)
THE WIRELESS MILITARY BAND
(Conducted by B. WALTON O'DONNELL)
Overture, '1812' Tchaikovsky

3.46 HILDA BLAKE
June Quilter
Ships of Arcady Michael Head
Villanelle Dell'Acqua

3.53 BAND
Suite, 'Othello' Coleridge-Taylor
(a) Dance; (b) Children's Intermezzo; (c) Willow Song; (d) Military March

4.5 HILDA BLAKE
Husheen Alicia Needham
Fragile Things Phillips
The Enchanted Forest Phillips

4.12 BAND
Waltz, 'Wine, Woman and Song' Johann Strauss
La Cinquantaine Gabriel Marie
March of the Moujicks Ranelle

4.30 Thé Dansant
(From Birmingham)
BILLY FRANCIS and his Band
Relayed from the West End Dance Hall
MARJORIE EDWARDS (Songs at the Piano)

5.30 The Children's Hour
(From Birmingham)
'Japhet,' by Barbara Sleigh
MARJORIE EDWARDS will Entertain
Songs by CUTHBERT FORD (Baritone)
'Animal Musicians,' by Gwendoline Carlier

6.15 TIME SIGNAL, GREENWICH; WEATHER FORECAST, FIRST GENERAL NEWS BULLETIN; ANNOUNCEMENTS AND SPORTS BULLETIN

6.30 MARGARET ABLETHORPE (Pianoforte)
(From Birmingham)
Two Pierrot Pieces Cyril Scott
Refrain de Berceau (Cradle Song) Palmgren
Seguidillas Albeniz

6.45 Light Music
(From Birmingham)
THE CITY OF BIRMINGHAM POLICE BAND
Conducted by RICHARD WASELL
Relayed from the Bandstand, Cannon Hill Park
March, 'The Crusader' O'Donnell
Comedy Overture Keler-Bela
Minuet and Finale, from Symphony No. 6 Haydn, arr. Hecker

RAYMOND GREEN (Entertainer)
7.15 BAND
Suite, 'Three Irish Dances', .. Ansell, arr. Godfrey
Cornet Solo, 'The Adieu' Schubert, arr. Godfrey
Norwegian Rhapsody Lalo

7.45 RAYMOND GREEN
In Further Entertainment
BAND
Prelude and Love Death ('Tristan and Isolde') Wagner, arr. Godfrey

8.0 Chamber Music
HERBERT HEYNER (Baritone)
IVAN PHILLIPOWSKY (Pianoforte)
RENE LE ROY (Flute)
RENE LE ROY
First Sonata in F Michel Blavet
Adagio; Allegro; L'Henriette-Presto

8.15 HERBERT HEYNER
Der Jüngling an der Quelle (The Youth at the Spring) Schubert
Es blinkt der Thau (The dew is sparkling) Rubinstein
Der Gärtner (The Gardener) Hugo Wolf
Und willst du deinen Liebsten sterben sehen (And would'st thou see thy loved one die?)

IVAN PHILLIPOWSKY, the pianist, plays during the Chamber Music programme from 5GB tonight, at 8.0.

8.30 IVAN PHILLIPOWSKY
Intermezzo in E, Op. 116 .. Brahms
Capriccio in B Minor, Op. 76
Ballade in G Minor, Op. 118
Intermezzo in C, Op. 119...
Rhapsodie in G Minor, Op. 79

8.45 RENE LE ROY
Pastorale .. Cyril Scott
8.55 HERBERT HEYNER
To a Lady Singing Laves
Who is Sylvia? Leveridge
Beauty Retire Samuel Pepys
Youth and Love Vaughan Williams
Eleanore Coleridge-Taylor

9.5 IVAN PHILLIPOWSKY
Brayères (Whims) .. Debussy
Danse de Puck
Liebeslied (Love Song) Kreisler, arr. Rachmaninov
Gavotte Ilmari Hannikainen

Polonaise in F Sharp York Bowen
9.20 RENE LE ROY
Les Joueurs de Flute (The Flute Players) Albert Roussel
Pan; Tityre; Krishna; M. de la Péjaudie

9.30 A Popular Recital
by MELSA (Violin)
Rondo Mozart, arr. Kreisler
Reverie Di Veroli
Prelude in E Bach, arr. Kreisler
Londonderry Air arr. Kreisler
Waltz in A, Op. 39 Brahms, arr. Tod Boyd
Tango, Op. 165, No. 2 Albeniz, arr. Kreisler
Zapatando Sarasate

10.0 WEATHER FORECAST, SECOND GENERAL NEWS BULLETIN
10.15 Sports Bulletin (From Birmingham)

10.20 DANCE MUSIC
AMBROSE'S BAND from the MAY FAIR HOTEL

11.15-11.45
Experimental Transmission of Still Pictures by the Fultograph Process

Saturday's Programmes continued (July 20)

5WA CARDIFF. 968 kc/s. (309.9 m.)

- 12.0-12.45 A Popular Concert
Relayed from The National Museum of Wales
NATIONAL ORCHESTRA OF WALES
(Cerddorfa Genedlaethol Cymru)
- Overture, 'Figaro' Mozart
Symphonic Poem, 'Le Rouet d'Omphale'
('Omphale's Spinning-Wheel') .. Saint-Saëns Gavotte, 'Mignon' Thomas
Entr'acte No. 3, 'Carmen' Bizet
Fantasia, 'Easter Chimes in Little Russia'
Sasha Votichenko
- 3.30 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 5.15 The Children's Hour
- 6.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 6.15 S.B. from London
- 6.30 Local Sports Bulletin
- 6.35 S.B. from London
- 7.0 Mr. EDDIE WILLIAMS: 'Travellers' Tales—
III. Java, 'The Garden of the East'
- 7.15 S.B. from Swansea
- 7.30 The Station Trio:
FRANK THOMAS (Violin); RONALD HARDING (Violoncello); HUBERT PENGELLY (Pianoforte)
- Slav Dance, No. 4 in A Flat
Dvorak, arr. Hermann
En Bateau (Boating Song) .. Saint-Saëns
Liebesfreud (Love's Joy) Kreisler
- 7.45 S.B. from London
- 9.30 West Regional News and Sports Bulletin

9.35 An Orchestral Concert

NATIONAL ORCHESTRA OF WALES
(Cerddorfa Genedlaethol Cymru)
Conducted by WARWICK BRAITHWAITE

Overture, 'Fra Diavolo' Auber

RONALD CHIVERS (Baritone) and Orchestra
Credo ('Othello') Verdi

ORCHESTRA

Legend, 'Kikimora' Liadov
Symphonic Poem, 'François Villon' .. Wallace

THE son of an eminent surgeon, William Wallace was intended for the same calling, and was a brilliant graduate in Medicine, of Glasgow and Vienna Universities. The call of music proved to be too strong, however, and though Dr. Wallace did splendid work during the War, at the head of the Ophthalmic section of the Army Medical Services, he has for many years past given himself up mainly to composition. He has made his mark, too, in the world of letters, writing not only the words of much of his own vocal music, but contributing articles of value and interest to periodical literature. He is the author, too, of a mystery play, The Divine Surrender, and of an important work on music published in 1908.

'Villon' is the sixth of his Symphonic Poems in order of composition; it was first produced at a 'Prom' in 1909. It presents the poet with something of the sympathy which Strauss shows towards 'Till Eulenspiegel'—rogue and vagabond, with but little regard for the proprieties or mankind's laws, but gifted, none the less, with two real saving graces, poetry and laughter.

It is the finer and more tender side of the character which William Wallace's music portrays.

The different sections of the Symphonic Poem are based on moods suggested by extracts from Villon's own verses, as a humble scholar, with his memories of happy youth, then a follower of Bacchus and the little god of Love, and, after that, the melancholy poet who asks where are the snows of yester year. The fine section in slow time, which comes next, is based on the beautiful old woman's prayer which Villon made at his mother's request, but it is followed quickly by the riotous call of Paris. There is again a contemplative mood, an echo of past youth, but it, too, makes way for mirth until, at the very end, the bell of Sorbonne tolls its solemn warning.

- RONALD CHIVERS
- Roddy More, the Rover } Stanford
Father O'Flynn }
The Rebel Wallace
- ORCHESTRA
- Scherzo, 'L'Apprenti Sorcier' (The Apprentice Magician) Dukas
Overture, 'Don Giovanni' Mozart
- 10.40-12.0 S.B. from London

ROARING FOR THE LINE!
A fine picture of an outboard motor boat at speed. Mr. Percy Bevan talks on Outboard Motor Racing from Swansea this evening, at 7.15.

5SX SWANSEA. 1,040 kc/s. (288.5 m.)

- 12.0-12.45 S.B. from Cardiff
- 3.30 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 5.15 S.B. from Cardiff
- 6.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 6.15 S.B. from London
- 6.30 S.B. from Cardiff
- 6.35 S.B. from London
- 7.0 S.B. from Cardiff
- 7.15 Mr. PERCY BEVAN: 'Outboard Motor Racing'
- 7.30 S.B. from Cardiff
- 7.45 S.B. from London
- 9.30 S.B. from Cardiff
- 9.35-12.0 S.B. from London

6BM BOURNEMOUTH. 1,040 kc/s. (288.5 m.)

- 12.0-1.0 Gramophone Recital
- 3.30 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 6.15-12.0 S.B. from London (9.30 Local Announcements, and Sports Bulletin)

5PY PLYMOUTH. 1,040 kc/s. (288.5 m.)

- 12.0-1.0 A Gramophone Recital of Empire Music
- Overture, 'The Merry Wives of Windsor'
Nicolai
- Selection, 'The Leek' arr. Myddleton
- Three Elizabethan Love Songs Bartlett, arr. Keel
- Shepherd's Dance } ('Henry VIII' Dances) German
- Morris Dance. }
- Marche Indienne Sellenick
- Song, 'The Temple Bells' ('Indian Love Lyrics') Woodford-Finden
- Killarney Balfe, arr. Sear
- Selection, 'The Shamrock' .. arr. Myddleton
- Empire March Elgar
- 3.30 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 5.15 The Children's Hour
Empire Week
Forty-five minutes relay of the Studio Carnival
- 6.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 6.15 S.B. from London
- 6.30 Sports Bulletin

6.35-12.0 S.B. from London (9.30 Items of Naval Information; Local Announcements, and Sports Bulletin)

2ZY 797 kc/s. (376.4 m.) MANCHESTER.

- 12.0-1.0 Gramophone Records
- 3.30 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 5.15 The Children's Hour
(S.B. from Leeds)
- 6.0 London Programme relayed from Daventry
- 6.15 S.B. from London
- 7.0 Mr. J. T. HALL: 'Great Houses of the North—II, The Spacious Elizabethan House'

- 7.15 Mr. F. STACKY LINTOTT: Sports Talk
- 7.30 S.B. from London (9.30 Local Announcements; Sports Bulletin)
- 9.35 S.B. from Cardiff
- 10.40-12.0 S.B. from London

Other Stations.

5NO NEWCASTLE. 1,148 kc/s. (261.5 m.)
12.0-1.0:—Music from Fenwick's Terrace Tea Rooms. 3.30:—London. 5.15:—The Children's Hour. 6.0-12.0:—S.B. from London.

5SC GLASGOW. 752 kc/s. (398.9 m.)
11.0-12.0:—Gramophone Records. 3.30:—The Opieros Concert Party. From the Bandstand, Kelvin-grove Park. 5.0:—Hester Paton Brown (Reciter). 5.15:—The Children's Hour. 5.57:—Weather Forecast for Farmers. 9.0:—Songs by William Cook (Baritone). 6.15:—London. 7.0:—Dr. George Pratt Insh: "Nova Scotia and Some Early Scottish Colonists," Edinburgh. 7.15:—Musical Interlude. 7.30:—London. 9.30:—Scottish News and Sports Bulletins. 9.35-12.0:—London.

2BD ABERDEEN. 895 kc/s. (331.5 m.)
11.0-12.0:—Gramophone Records. 4.0:—Studio Concert Ilias Dunlop (Violin), James Newall (Tenor), Ilias Dunlop (Violin). 4.30:—Dance Music. 5.15:—The Children's Hour. 6.0:—London. 7.0:—Edinburgh (See Glasgow). 7.15:—Glasgow. 7.30:—London. 9.30:—Glasgow. 9.35-12.0:—London.

2BE BELFAST. 1,239 kc/s. (242.3 m.)
3.30:—London. 4.45:—Organ Music by George Newell. From the Classic Cinema. 5.15:—The Children's Hour. 6.0:—Gramophone Records. 6.15:—London. 7.0:—Mr. E. Godfrey Brown: 'Next Week's Music.' 7.15:—London. 9.35:—A Military Band Concert. The Station Military Band. Dennis Noble (Baritone). 10.45-12.0:—London.

*Home, Health, and Garden.MOCKERY IN COOKERY.

Some Mock Dishes by Kate R. Lovell.

Mock Turtle Soup.

GET half a moderate-sized calf's head—one that has not been skinned, but just had the hair scraped off after being scalded in boiling water. You must now proceed to bone it, i.e., with a sharp knife lift the white fleshy surface from the jaw and frontal bones. These bones, with what meat clings to them, should be chopped and put into a large stew-pan together with a chopped knuckle of veal or two calves' feet, these last also scalded and prepared by the butcher and looking very white. To these add half a pound of lean ham cut in pieces. The bottom of the stew-pan must be well greased with butter. Now get ready a carrot, a turnip, two or three onions, a head of celery, a leek, some parsley, one or two bay leaves and a dessertspoonful of salt. Cut all into small pieces and add to the meat and bones. Pour over half a pint of cold water and set the pan on your gas ring. Stir the mass round and round until you find it leaves a white glaze on the bottom of the pan. This is for White Mock Turtle. If you want the 'rich and green' kind let the ingredients become browned, but on no account let them get burned. Having arrived at one of these two stages put in the boned flesh of the calf's head and add six quarts of water, the while stirring well. Bring the whole to the boil and then turn down your gas to simmering point and leave it for three or four hours, or until the head meat is quite tender. This may be tested with a fork. It will need occasional stirring and close attention that it does not burn. When nicely done, take out the piece of meat and press it between two plates placed one above the other and a weight on top. While it is cooling let the stock run through a hair sieve. As the soup is not a clear soup you can press the vegetables, etc., until all liquid is extracted.

Now you must make a roux, which means a nicely flavoured thickening. For this put in a clean stew-pan a quarter of a pound of butter, a sprig of thyme, another of marjoram, a bay leaf and some basil, if you can get it. When the butter is melted add about three heaped tablespoonfuls of flour very gradually, stirring all the time and working in the herbs. If you are making white soup be sure not to let the roux get brown, but for the 'rich, green' kind brown it well. Now lower your gas and gradually add the strained stock, stirring all the time till no lumps are to be seen. When it boils let it simmer for a while and remove any fat and scum as it rises. Once more pass all through a hair sieve. Now cut up the pressed meat into pieces about an inch square, place them in the strained soup and heat all together, adding cayenne pepper to taste. When just on the boil and ready to serve stir in a gill of cream and lift with a ladle into a tureen as much as you are likely to require for your dinner. You will have quite two tureenfuls of soup, but it will keep for a few days. You can, of course, make half the quantity by getting a very small calf's head and halving the quantities of the other ingredients, but the larger head makes the better soup, and is far more economical.

Mock Red Currant Jelly.

Weigh twelve pounds of gooseberries, and while they are still green, head and tail them, wash them and put them on to boil in your preserving pan with nine pints of water. While they are simmering boil about six pounds of rhubarb washed and cut into small pieces in about six pints of water. Your gooseberries will have boiled enough in twenty minutes or half an hour. They should be quite soft. When sufficiently done, take out six pounds of the juice, strain it through a jelly bag, put it into a smaller preserving pan and add six pounds of sugar. Boil up, stirring all the time. It will soon turn a beautiful red colour, and when you find it jellies, when a little is put into a saucer, the transformation will be complete. It will be as if a magic wand had touched it and turned the gooseberry juice into brilliant, delicious red currant jelly.

But we must not waste the gooseberries; and here the rhubarb comes in. Take six pounds of the water in which you have boiled your rhubarb, and put it into the pan with the gooseberries that were left after taking away the six pounds of juice. Add twelve pounds of sugar, boil for half an hour or so and you will have about twenty pounds of nice gooseberry jam. If you cannot obtain rhubarb, plain water may take the place of the rhubarb and still the jam will be good. As for what is left of the rhubarb—well, a little sugar and a little boiling will make a nice stewed fruit to serve with a milk pudding, or that, too, could be turned into jam with an equal quantity of sugar, putting in either grated lemon or ground ginger for flavouring.

THIS WEEK IN THE GARDEN.

DURING the summer months plants require more water than during the spring or autumn, and to get the best results one must assist them to obtain an adequate supply. In the open ground this is best done by conserving the supplies which come from rain rather than by providing supplementary supplies with the watering-can or hose-pipe.

As soon as it has stopped raining, water begins to evaporate from the surface of the ground, and if nothing is done the soil soon becomes dry again. If, however, the ground is hoed, the loose layer of soil thus made will act as a protective coat and greatly reduce the loss of water from the soil below.

Similar results may be obtained by mulching. That is to say, by putting a protective layer of some littery material on top of the soil. The best mulch consists of partly-decayed farmyard manure.

If mulching is delayed until the soil has become dry a good watering should be given before the mulch is put down.

Plants from the main sowing of sweet peas should now be flowering freely, and will need constant attention. Intense heat is trying to these plants, and on light soils great care should be taken that they do not suffer from lack of moisture at their roots. Copious watering should be given as required, and an occasional application of diluted liquid manure will help to maintain the vigour of the plants. It is safer to apply this soon after a heavy watering rather than when the plants are dry. Syringing the plants after the heat of the day is past is also conducive to clean healthy growth.

Roses are also flowering freely. Remove the flowers as the petals begin to fade so that the beds may be kept tidy and the plants will not be weakened by seed production. As soon as the first flush of bloom is past, give the beds or borders a sprinkling of guano, hoeing it lightly in, and following with a good watering unless rain is expected. If mildew appears, dust the foliage during early morning, while it is still damp, with flowers of sulphur, or spray the plants with liver-of-sulphur at the rate of one ounce to four gallons of water.

Sow salad vegetables to keep up a constant supply. No crop requires more thought and attention in times of drought than lettuces. To keep up a continuous supply of young crisp hearts, the grower must sow little and often, thoroughly watering the drills before sowing.

The planting of all winter greens should now be finished. If the ground is dry soak it well the evening before planting, and also soak the seed beds from which the plants are to be taken. The seedling plants will soon become established if this method is adopted.—Royal Horticultural Society's Bulletin.

A COMPLETE FAMILY DINNER FOR 1s. 6d.

TAKE a sheep's head and place it in a large jar, with enough cold water to cover, adding a small handful of salt. Leave until next morning, then lift out carefully and remove the brains (which will be dealt with later on). Cut and scrape away the slime and gristly bone in the nose part of the head, until you have the two cavities quite clear. Look well over the outside of the head, also, and remove any bits of skin, or hide, as, if cooked, it is these which make people say they do not like sheep's head.

Now quickly swill it and put it on to boil in a good-sized saucepan with water just to cover, adding pepper and salt. As it comes to the boil carefully skim it. Leave to cook gently until the meat is very tender and will readily leave the bone. The time varies with the age of the animal. When it has got to the really tender stage lift out the head on to a dish and quickly slip out the bones. This is a matter of seconds and a very easy process. Then place the cooked meat into a greased pie-dish or casserole, not forgetting to skin the tongue, and place it across this dish in a neat manner. Season with salt and pepper to taste; a dash of grated nutmeg is a great improvement, but can be omitted. Dot a few pieces of margarine about on top and shake on a few breadcrumb. Then into the oven with it to bake briskly for twenty minutes.

Now add to the stock in your saucepan two or three handfuls of either rice or barley, according to season and taste (barley being heat-giving is more suitable for the winter), any kind of vegetables you may have in your gardens, or buy three pennyworth of mixed soup vegetables. Grate these on a coarse suet grater instead of chopping, as it is not only quicker, but they cook more easily. Onions and leeks must, of course, be cut up. Peas, celery or, indeed, any vegetable, are an addition and can be added in their various seasons. Cook altogether for about twenty minutes and pour into plates or a tureen to which has been previously added a little chopped parsley.

Now put the sheep's brains on in a little salt and water to cover. Bring to the boil, pour off the water and rinse well in cold water. Then lightly chop the brains in the saucepan, add half a pint of milk and water, thicken with either corn or plain flour, add a tablespoonful of margarine and, of course, pepper and salt to taste. With mashed potatoes your meal is cooked.

You first of all have the highly nourishing soup, then the delicious dish of baked meat with brain sauce and potatoes. Although this sounds a very formidable and lengthy proceeding told in detail, in actual practice it may be done thus:—

Immediately after breakfast clean and prepare the head, put on to boil, blanch the brains in readiness for sauce, prepare and grate vegetables. Then go about your ordinary work until meat is cooked, bone it out, place in oven, add vegetables to stock, thicken the brain sauce, and it is done, the whole thing not taking more than an hour altogether.

As to cost, the head will vary in town and country, but should not be more than 1s., while the vegetables, potatoes, etc., will come easily within the limit of the extra 6d.—From a talk by Mrs. V. Nelson-Edwards.

The Empire Marketing Board have published two pamphlets containing reprints of many cheap and nourishing dishes which have been broadcast from time to time. These can be obtained free by sending a postcard to the Empire Marketing Board, 2, Queen Anne's Gate Buildings, S.W.1. Almoners, welfare workers, and others interested can also obtain copies in bulk for distribution.

Have you got your copy of the Household Booklet? 1s. from any bookstall, or 1s. 3d. post free from the B.B.C., Savoy Hill.

IS ENTERTAINMENT THE ONLY GOAL?

Is this the age of restlessness and 'heartiness and horseplay'?—Should the object of the B.B.C. be no more than to foster a growing love for amusement and entertainment?—Should the listener switch off his set when matter which does not appeal to him is being broadcast?—These are some of the questions which the writer of this article would have us consider.

I AM led to write the following words by reason of an article I have been reading concerning the wireless programmes.

The man (for it could not have been a woman) who wrote about the programmes was at great pains to point out that, being a man of business, he wished to go to his home at night and be entertained by the British Broadcasting Corporation. His emphasis, you understand, was on entertainment. His contention was that the Corporation should simply set itself out to entertain, and no more.

Now, this man, did he but know it (and perhaps he does), is a living example of a 'symptom' which is showing itself on every side in these days in which we are living. Everybody seems to require entertaining. In all branches of the life of this country you can experience this kind of thing. There is a restlessness which some people wrongly attribute to the late war; and this restlessness seeks an outlet in a manner which seems to me to be quite illegitimate, although it may be called (by some) 'Natural.' On all sides we find the trend of thought that work is a nuisance, and the sooner it is over for the day, the better. On all sides we hear talk of amusement, dances, cinemas, and theatres, as constituting the norm of pleasure.

Thus enter horse-play and over-familiarity. It is no longer possible for people to find enjoyment in the quieter things of life. They find it necessary to turn for amusement to what is called, I believe, by those who profess to know about these things, 'heartiness.' And this 'heartiness' consists in being hail-fellow-well-met, and is accompanied by much hand-shaking and loud talking.

Although we continually seek pleasure in one form or another, we can be sure of this. Horse-play and care-free jollity, however customary among Englishmen and women, can only touch the fringe of life. They can never go very deep. That is why it is such a mistake on the part of this nation not to turn from it and seek something much deeper and more permanent.

To return to the wireless programmes. I have this moment been considering a typical programme from 5GB Daventry Experimental. What do I see there in the programme for that day? A Military Band Concert at 3.0, Dance Music at 4.30, The Children's Hour at 5.30, News at 6.15, Light Music at 6.30, A Story reading at 8. At 8.30 there is to be heard the Third Act of an opera; then at 9.20 there is Variety, followed by a famous Dance Band.

That is a picture of life! Life in all its moods; grave, gay, intellectual, juvenile, sentimental, and classical. There may be those who do not appreciate Opera, to them it is pain. That is life. There are those who do not like seed-cake, to them it is pain—yet they do not write to the papers about it, even though they themselves may have paid for the cake. There may be those who do not care for the Children's Hour, to them it is a waste of time. That is life. There are those who do not like gardening, to them it is a waste of time. Yet they do not write to the papers about it;

they employ a gardener to do their gardening for them. In other words, the wireless programmes must remain much as they are at present. Because they are like life—sometimes they give us one experience, sometimes another.

And there is another solution to the question of those who would revolt against the programmes policy of the Corporation. This is not a true and lasting solution, although it is one that is, I suppose, the most often put forward by correspondents in The Radio Times. Switch off the set, they say, if you don't like the item. How weak! How childish! Your mother is dying; switch her on to life again. Can you? Of course not. You have an unpleasant business interview. Switch it out of your life, as though it had never been. Can you? Of course not. That is life.

To those, then, who are at pains to disagree with the programmes provided for the listening public, as well as to those who would say 'Switch off the set if you don't like it,' I would say this. Go through with it. Listen to it. Try. You may not like it. Never mind. You do not like ammoniated tincture of quinine (who does?), yet you take it for the good of your body. You may not like Faust; but why not take it for the good of your mind, and for the good of your soul also.

In this way, then, you are enabled to view life from many angles, so that it takes on a richer and deeper aspect; an aspect that possibly it would never have worn had it not been for the invention to which this paper owes its origin and existence.

A. NAYLOR.

B.B.C. PUBLICATIONS.

'LE ROI L'A DIT.'

On July 29 and 31 there will be broadcast the eleventh of the series of twelve well-known operas, this time Le Roi l'a dit by Delibes. Listeners who wish to obtain a copy of the book of words should use the form given below, which is arranged so that applicants may obtain: (1) Single copies of the Libretto of Le Roi l'a dit at 2d. each, (2) the complete series of twelve Librettos for 2s., or (3) the remaining two of the series for 4d.

1. 'Le Roi l'a dit' only.

Please send me.....copy (copies) of Le Roi l'a dit.
I enclose.....stamps in payment, at the rate of 2d. per copy post free.

2. A Complete Series.

Please send me.....copy (copies) of each of the twelve Opera Librettos, as published. I enclose P.O. No..... or cheque value.....in payment, at the rate of 2s. for the whole series.

3. The Remaining Two of the Series.

Please send me.....copy (copies) of each of the remaining two Librettos. I enclose P.O. No..... or cheque value.....in payment, at the rate of 4d. for the remaining two Librettos.

'ELECTRA.'

Electra, by Euripides, to be broadcast on July 16 and 17, is the eleventh of the Series of Twelve Great Plays. Listeners who wish to obtain a copy of the booklet on this Play should use the form given below, which is so arranged that applicants may obtain: (1) Single copies of the book on Electra at 2d. each, (2) the complete series of twelve for 2s., or (3) the remaining two of the series for 4d.

1. Electra only.

Please send me.....copy (copies) of Electra. I enclose.....stamps in payment, at the rate of 2d. per copy post free.

2. A Complete Series.

Please send me.....copy (copies) of Great Plays Booklets as published. I enclose P.O. No..... or cheque value.....in payment, at the rate of 2s. for the whole series (includes back copies).

3. The Remaining Two of the Series.

Please send me.....copy (copies) of the remaining two Great Plays Booklets. I enclose P.O. No..... or cheque value.....in payment, at the rate of 4d. for the remaining two Great Plays Booklets.

PLEASE WRITE IN BLOCK LETTERS.

Name

Address

Applications should be sent to the B.B.C. Bookshop, Savoy Hill, London, W.C.2. Additional names and addresses may be written on a separate sheet of paper, but payment for additional subscriptions must be sent with order. Librettos and Great Plays Booklets can be obtained from your usual Newsagent or Bookstall.

Here is the ball bearing swivel joint which reduces friction and consequently record wear.

STOP RECORD WEAR

The
NEW
B.T.H.
PICK-UP takes care
of the records

The new B.T.H. Pick-up and Tone-arm incorporates two new features which reduce wear to an absolute minimum.

- (1) An off-set tone arm reducing tracking error to no more than 3°
- (2) A perfectly balanced BALL-BEARING tone arm.

The result then, is a needle working centrally in the record groove, responding freely to all vibrations, and passing those vibrations — undistorted by mechanical error — to a really first-class pick-up with an acknowledged reputation. Under such conditions perfect reproduction and long record life are assured.

PRICE £2. 5. 0.

This price is applicable in Great Britain and Northern Ireland only

PICK-UP & TONE-ARM
WITH BALL-BEARINGS AND IMPROVED TRACKING DEVICE

5201

The British Thomson-Houston Co., Ltd., Crown House, Aldwych, W.C.2

The Set Manufacturers know — take a tip from them and use Six-Sixty VALVES

Set Manufacturers are severe critics of valve performance—they've got to be, on it depends their reputation. Look through the list of the best known Sets of to-day, and time after time you'll find Six-Sixty used. The Set Manufacturers know Six-Sixty valves to be better than any other valve—more efficient, more reliable, more consistent—follow their lead and your own Sets will be equipped with the most up-to-date Valves obtainable to-day.

Let us send you our latest Valve booklet, complete with characteristic curves—free, by return.

SIX-SIXTY RADIO COMPANY, 122, Charing Cross Road, London, W.C. 1.

Music, speech, song—only a plug to insert in your house electric supply and the whole world of radio is yours for pleasure and enjoyment. Violin, organ, saxophone—every instrument—brilliantly reproduced by Philips All-Electric receivers. They require no accumulators and no batteries. They are as simple to operate as the switch of your electric light.

THE IDEAL COMBINATION

(as illustrated)

- Philips All-Electric Receiver Type 2514 £23. 0. 0
- Philips Loudspeaker Type 2007 £5. 5. 0
- Philips All-Electric Receiver Type 2515 £12. 10. 0
- Philips Loudspeaker Type 2016 £2. 10. 0

PHILIPS
For Radio

Philips Lamps Ltd., Radio Dept., Philips House, 145, Charing Cross Road, London, W.C.2.

Better than the Seaside

NORFOLK BROADS HOLIDAYS

SUITABLE FOR ALL.

Their natural beauties and quite old-world villages will enchant you. They are 120 miles from London, and consist of 200 miles of safe inland rivers and lakes, situated between Cromer, Lowestoft and Norwich. You hire from us for a week or longer a fully furnished wherry, yacht, or motor-boat which becomes your floating home, moving when and where you wish, inland, not on the sea. We can supply an attendant to manage the boat and do all cooking. You only have to enjoy yourself. The cost, including boat, food, etc., averages £4 per head per week.

FREE: 250-page booklet, "Norfolk Broads Holidays Afloat," containing details of 500 yachts, wherries, motor-cruisers, camping skiffs, house-boats, bungalows we have for hire. Book now to avoid disappointment. Send p.c. to-day.

MOTOR-CRUISERS TO SLEEP THREE FROM £5 PER WEEK.

Train Service, Fares, and other information from any L.N.E.R. & L.M.S. Enquiry Office.

LADIES LOVE IT.

BLAKES LTD., 19, Broadland House, 22, Newgate Street, London, E.C.1.

Click!

That's another good picture with

Zeiss Ikon

Roll Films & Film Packs

The Zeiss Ikon emulsion is double speed, and undergoes a special process which prevents scratches and blemishes. Zeiss Ikon films fit all cameras. A splendid camera is the "all focus" BOX TENGOR (3 1/2 x 2 1/2). Price £1-2-6.

Send for catalogue B. GARNER & PEELING, LTD., Polebrook House, Golden Sq., London, W.1.

Learn SYNCOPATION It's the "Key" to Popularity

Can you add those extra notes which make all the difference between "syncopation" as it is written and as you hear it on radio or record. Don't spoil your playing for lack of Rhythm. Billy Mayerl himself will teach you through the post in your spare time, and after one lesson you will see how easy it is.

No big fees—no heartrending exercises.

A grateful student says: "It is the most successful course I have ever undertaken, and has been exactly what I required."

Summer time is best for practice. Now is the time to start. Evenings are long—work seems easier. Master syncopation now and surprise your friends.

Write to-day for a FREE copy of Billy Mayerl's latest book, marking your enquiry "Syncopation," and learn how you can enrol NOW for 10/- and pay while you learn.

FREE OFFER.

An entirely new book of 40 pages, written by Billy Mayerl specially for those who cannot even play a note, describing a new system by which you can easily learn to play your favourite songs or dance tunes. Mark your inquiry "Beginner."

BILLY MAYERL SCHOOL, Studio 9, 29, Oxford St., London, W.1

RILEYS CELEBRATED BOWLS

from 25/- per pair. made from selected Lignum Vitae. Superior finish, perfect running and true bias. Write for Free Catalogue

E. J. RILEY, LIMITED, MIDLAND MILLS, ACCRINGTON.

Disc testers to the I.B.B. Jack makers to B.C.G.A.B.A.

Sounder Sleep! Better Health!

7 Nights Free Trial of

ALL-STEEL NER-SAG

SEND NO MONEY

FOR A POSTCARD ONLY

A p.c. giving width of mattress will bring NER-SAG to you carr. paid for one week's trial FREE. Write now. (This offer does not apply to Ireland).

NER-SAG LTD. (Dept. S), Oxford Circus, London, W.1

| PRICES | |
|-----------|------|
| Width | |
| 2ft. 6in. | 6/9 |
| 3ft. | 7/9 |
| 3ft. 6in. | 8/9 |
| 4ft. | 9/9 |
| 4ft. 6in. | 10/9 |
| 5ft. | 11/9 |

Interference banished if you fit this Harlie Wave Selector!

ALL over Europe new stations are commencing to broadcast every day, and unless some kind of wave selector is incorporated in your set, these stations will overlap and swamp each other. The Harlie Wave Selector definitely keeps these stations apart. It has no valves to burn out and is easily fitted between the aerial and the set—the aerial is simply plugged into the socket provided—getting stations you've never heard before—increasing volume on others—cutting out all disturbances. No alterations to set are necessary.

£100 GUARANTEE. If found unsatisfactory, and returned to us within 7 days of purchase, we guarantee to return your money in full, or forfeit the sum of £100. This is providing it is purchased direct from us, but a similar arrangement can be made with your dealer.

SEPARATE THEM WITH THE

Harlie

WAVE SELECTOR

OVER 80,000 NOW IN USE.

TWO MODELS PRICE
(A) 200-700 metres (for 5GB and 2L.O.) 12/6
(B) 700-2,000 metres

If your dealer is out of stock either model will be sent on receipt of cash or C.O.D.

Finest Grade, Black Crystalline finish throughout. 4 1/2 ins. high, 3 1/2 ins. diameter.

HARLIE BROS., BALHAM ROAD, LOWER EDMONTON, LONDON, N.9.

Something to sing about!

BIRD'S Custard "good as ever"

C. 376c

The Only World-Programme Paper.

See

WORLD-RADIO

For Dominion and Foreign Programmes.

Every Friday 2d.

IT'S RESEARCH THAT BREAKS RECORDS

Because months of patient research have been devoted to their perfection, Mullard Pentode and Screened Grid valves break all records for super-efficient performance. They have the lowest current consumption combined with the highest efficiency of any valves of their type on the market.

We have never used the public as our research department. We wouldn't risk losing even one of our friends to satisfy an experiment, certainly not after all the years we've been together, up and down every European broadcasting station.

You can take our word for it, Mullard P.M. Pentode and Screened Grid Valves are perfect to the last detail, modern to the minute. Otherwise they wouldn't be stamped with the Mullard P.M. monogram.

Mullard THE · MASTER · VALVE

Advert:—The Mullard Wireless Service Co., Ltd., Mullard House, Charing Cross Road, London, W.C.2.

MARCHING MEN
MARTIAL MUSIC
AT THE ALDERSHOT TATTOO

THEY HEARD IT BEST
 WHO USED THE PURE POWER OF THE LISSEN
 H.T. BATTERY

When you have the Lissen Secret Process Battery in your set, the programme comes through with all the detail sharply defined. That is the sort of reproduction everybody enjoys.

The big cells of the Lissen Battery are packed with energy, put there by the Lissen Secret Process. It yields a steady flow of pure D.C. current; there is never a sign of ripple in it, never a trace of hum. And the quality of the current lasts throughout the longest programme and through months and months of use.

MADE IN ENGLAND.

OBTAINABLE OF ALL GOOD RADIO DEALERS.

PRICES:

| | | | |
|---------------------------|----------|--------------|-------|
| 60-volt (reads 65) | ... | ... | 7/11 |
| 100-volt (reads 108) | ... | ... | 12/11 |
| 36-volt | ... | ... | 4/6 |
| 60-volt (super power) | ... | ... | 13/6 |
| 9-volt Grid Bias | ... | ... | 1/6 |
| 4 1/2 volt Pocket Battery | 5d. each | (4/6 a doz.) | |
| Single Cell Torch Battery | ... | ... | 4d. |

LISSEN LTD., 200/220, Friars Lane, Richmond, Surrey.
 (Managing Director: Thos. N. Cole.)