Call for Papers

Special Issue on Asymmetric Carbenoid Chemistry

Guest Editor:

Professor Huw M. L. Davies

University at Buffalo,
The State University of New York

The Editor-in-Chief, Professor Steve Davies, is pleased to announce a forthcoming Special Issue of Tetrahedron: Asymmetry focusing on Asymmetric Carbenoid Chemistry. The Special Issue is guest edited by Professor Huw M. L. Davies, University at Buffalo, The State University of New York, and will bring together contributions from some of the most outstanding laboratories conducting research in the field of Asymmetric Carbenoid Chemistry.

Articles are being commissioned by the Guest Editor and equally important there is also an opportunity for other investigators active in the field to submit original research papers.

If you have a research paper that you would like to be considered for this forthcoming Special Issue, please contact one of the editors below by 1st October 2002:
