Tetrahedron Letters No.45, pp. 4011-4017 (1965).

A reexamination of the "Experimental" section of Reference 8 showed that Berson, Evleth, and Hamlet observed attack of the cyclopentadienyl anion at the 4-position of 1-methylpyridinium ion. Thus the orientation of the attack is probably not determined by a steric factor, as suggested in the last paragraph, but rather by the thermodynamics of the two reactions (See Reference 9).
