In the sentence “Thus, consistent with our earlier report in two other Caucasian populations, the +3142G allele, or promoter alleles in strong LD with +3142G ( $r^2 = 0.76$  between +3142 and either –964 or –1306), is a susceptibility allele among children of asthmatic mothers, and the C allele may be a risk allele (albeit more modest) among children of non-asthmatic mothers,” the G and C alleles should be switched. The authors regret the error.

(American Journal of Human Genetics 77, 64–77; July 2005)

In this article, Table 3 contains an error in the “dbSNP Number” column. The correct reference SNP number for SNP 790 is rs3093058, not rs309358. The authors regret the error.
