NATIONAL SECURITY DECISION
DIRECTIVE NUMBER 62~~NATIONAL SECURITY DECISION DIRECTIVE
ON UNITED STATES-JAPAN RELATIONS (TS)~~

I have reviewed NSSD-6, United States-Japan Relations, and direct that it be considered a guide for the conduct of economic and security relations with Japan. The fundamental framework for our relationship remains the Treaty of Mutual Cooperation and Security. We will honor its terms and resist any attempts to revise it. Specifically in the security front, the United States will:

- a. Reinforce Japan's western orientation, [REDACTED] ~~(TS)~~
- b. See Japanese agreement to obtain increased capabilities as soon as possible within this decade to assume defense of its own territory, its surrounding seas and skies, and its satellites to a distance of 1,000 miles [REDACTED]

~~(TS)~~

Given the nature of Japan's policy of "comprehensive self-reliance" involving foreign aid, I do strive to see Japan's military assistance increased, particularly to sensitive areas. We will not, however, rely on foreign aid as a substitute for defense!

... or JS-Japan interoperability by encouraging joint documentation from the United States, [REDACTED] ~~(TS)~~

This is in our regular consultations and at high-level meetings to urge improved Japanese defense efforts. If it is necessary to discuss specific measures of performance, public statements should emphasize roles and missions [REDACTED]

The active assistance of the Japanese administration from the President of Japan is required during all discussions with Japanese counterparts.

On the economic front, the United States will:

- Persist in a continuing campaign to have the Japanese economy further opened on a broad front, and pursue effective implementation of measures Japan has already undertaken. Seek consultation on and object to any policy or practice that discriminates against imports. (T)
- o Encourage Japan to continue opening its financial markets, and seek at a minimum national treatment for U.S. commercial banks, security companies, and insurance companies in Japan. (S)
- o Encourage Japan to sustain close cooperation in regard to non-subsidization of international export credits, and restraints on Soviet credits. (S)
- o Press for full national treatment for U.S. companies in Japan and transparency in investment procedures. (C)
- o Press for participation for U.S. firms in Japan high-technology development, access to the Japanese economy for U.S. high-technology firms, particularly when they have a certain role and full opportunity for U.S. firms to invest in Japan in high-technology ventures. (T)
- o See Japan's intention to the problem of technology transfer to ICSF and Japanese cooperation - deal with this specific problem. In particular, we shall work with Japan to ensure that there is proper effort made to protect U.S. and Japanese technology from theft. (S)
- Develop greater by trade practices of Japanese high-technology firms in the United States, and are possible. (S)
- Continue to obtain improvements in tariffs to the United States as well as other countries in joint ventures. (S)
- Supply the Japanese and attempt to persuade Japan to meet the quotas it has been allocated. (S)
- [REDACTED] (S)
- Intend to conclude the new interim civil nuclear agreement with a long-term agreement that will further stabilize our civilian nuclear relationship. (S)
- Set to preserve and develop our partnership with Japan, and will the possibility of a major shift in our relationship, the United States will
