UNITED STATES PATENT OFFICE.

HENRY G. SQUIRES, OF PITTSBURG, PENNSYLVANIA.

IMPROVEMENT IN INKSTANDS.

Specification forming part of Letters Patent No. 200,581, dated February 19, 1878; application filed January 14, 1878.

To all whom it may concern:

Be it known that I, HENRY G. SQUIRES, of Pittsburg, in the county of Allegheny and State of Pennsylvania, have invented a new and useful Improvement in Ink-Wells; and I do hereby declare the following to be a full, clear, and exact description of the same, reference being had to the accompanying drawings, forming part of this specification, and in which—

Figure 1 represents a vertical section taken at line xx of Fig. 2. Fig. 2 is a top view when the ink-well is closed. Fig. 3 represents a side view of the glass ink-well.

This invention consists of an arrangement of an ink-well adapted for use in school, office, and private desks, and in ordinary movable inkstands. It is composed of the glass ink-well G and the iron frame F, with its hinged cover C.

The glass ink-well G is provided with two grooves, g g, one opposite the other, and of the special form shown in Fig. 3. The iron frame

F has two small pins, p p, by which the well G is suspended in the frame, and the latter is fixed to the desk by means of wood-screws w w, and the well hangs suspended in a hole bored in the desk to receive it.

The inside of the cover C is provided with a lining, c, of cork, wood, or other elastic substance, which fits close around the neck of the ink-well G, thus preventing the ink from thickening by evaporation, and from receiving dust.

What I claim as new is—

1. The combination of the ink-well G, provided with grooves g g, with the frame F, having pins p p, as described and set forth.

2. The frame F, having pins p p, and the hinged cover C, having inside lining c, as described, and for the purpose set forth.

H. G. SQUIRES.
