UNITED STATES PATENT OFFICE.

PETER ROSENBACH, OF BROOKLYN, NEW YORK.

DESIGN FOR MATCH-BOXES.

Specification forming part of Design No. 9,725, dated January 30, 1877; application filed January 13, 1877.
[Term of Patent 7 years.]

To all whom it may concern:

Be it known that I, PETER ROSENBACH, of Brooklyn, E. D., doing business in New York city, in the State of New York, have originated and designed a form for Match-Boxes, of which the following is a full, clear, and exact description, reference being had to the accompanying drawing, making part of this specification.

The match-box is intended to hang on the wall, and forms a wall-pocket of a design which I esteem peculiarly tasty and attractive.

I designate this design as Gothic.

A represents the main plate or body, and B the bellied or swelled attached pieces at the front, which, with the back A and bottom C, form the box. Both the body A and the fronts B are of pointed outline, as indicated by M M. The outline is, furthermore, indented with small notches, forming offsets or steps, as indicated by m m. The general effect is analogous to that produced by Gothic architecture. The main body A is thus pointed and notched both at the top and bottom. The front swells B are thus prepared at the top only; but corresponding decorations may be employed at the bottom of the parts B, if preferred. I propose to form the whole of perforated material—perforated card-board—and to print or otherwise indicate thereon rose-buds or other devices, which will be wrought thereon with worsted or silk; but I consider such entirely independent of my design.

My design may be worked out in any material, and of any color or combinations of color.

What I claim as my invention is—

The Gothic design for a match-box or analogous wall-pocket, having points M and notches m, presenting the general appearance herein set forth.

PETER ROSENBACH.
