Charlie:

Thanks for your note. I am copying Jeff Canon and Joaquin at ProEnergy. There are so many knuckelheads from and around Venezuela chasing units that ProEnergy's preference is to let these guys run the traps. Once the French have realized that these buyers are not credible then PE will likely move forward.

We have been inundated by everybody and his brother chasing deals in Venezuela and no-one has come up with any funds. We have seen this repeatedly.

We know PE is real as they've demonstrated in the recent past.

Rick,

Just learned that we rec'd a request for 4 additional units with an "assumed" end location in Venezuela but not through ProEnergy. Unfortunately, we cannot support timing with available capacity and will likely need to consider the GdF units as well if we elect to engage further.

Pending my review this morning, our guys could be discussing with GdF by Weds/Thurs.

How serious are ProEnergy ?

Charlie

Subject: GDF Suez Units

Charlie:

Pursuant our previous dialog regarding ProEnergy's pending offer for 3 of the GDF Suez Trents, I had one or 2 thoughts regarding the 4th unit.

I have a few candidates for the 4th unit but it is unlikely that I can parley a firm offer in parallel in order that the offer packages all 4 units instead of three.

Of course we simply put the offer in as 3 units and walk if we don't get our number. Would you have an interest in offering to purchase the 4th unit at the same offering price?

I know you're only a family break but felt it was important to mention where we are in the spirit of our cooperation. Hope you have a moment to share your thoughts.

Best,
