MUSICAL NOTATION.

Musical sounds are represented upon paper by signs called notes, which are written upon five lines and the spaces between them. These lines and spaces are called the staff or stave:

Staff or Stave:

With notes

or

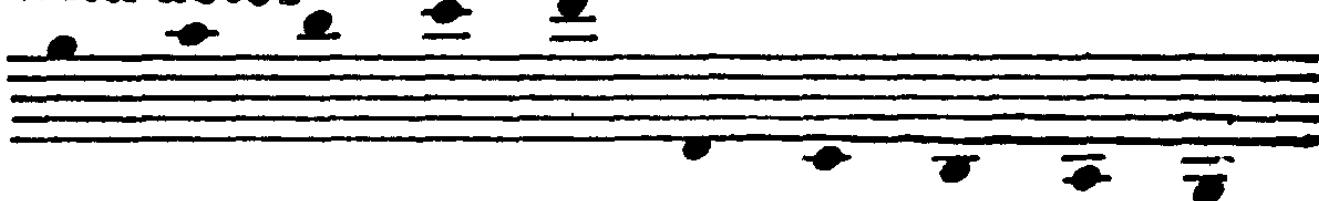

When notes are written above or below the staff, leger or added lines are used:

Lines above: - = =

Staff:

Lines below: - = =

With notes

The notes are named from the letters of the alphabet: A, B, C, D, E, F, G. A sign called a clef is placed at the beginning of the staff and determines the name and position of the notes. Two clefs are in general use, the treble or G clef, and the bass or F clef. The G clef is placed upon the second line of the staff.

and fixes the names of all the notes above and below it:

A musical staff with a treble clef. Below the staff, the notes are labeled: g a b c d e f g a g f e d c b. To the right, the word "etc." indicates the sequence continues.

The F clef is placed upon the fourth line of the staff,

A musical staff with an F clef. Below the staff, the notes are labeled: f g a b c d f e d c b a g f. To the left, the word "thus:" indicates this is how it is done.

The C clef is a movable clef, and is used on the first, third and fourth lines,

Three examples of the C clef on different lines. Below each clef is the letter "C".

The tone called middle C on the Pianoforte is represented in the different clefs as follows:

SCALES.

The diatonic major scale consists of seven tones, or degrees, and the eighth or octave from the first degree. These succeed each other by steps and half-steps as follows:

A musical staff showing the diatonic scale. Above the staff, the degrees are numbered 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8. Below the staff, the steps are labeled: step, step, 1/2 step, step, step, step, 1/2 step. Note names are shown above the staff: A, B, C, D, E, F, G, A.

This scale, beginning on C, is called the natural or normal scale, and is represented on the Pianoforte by the white keys. The different octaves of the above scale are as follows:

Deep(double)Bass octave. Bass octave.

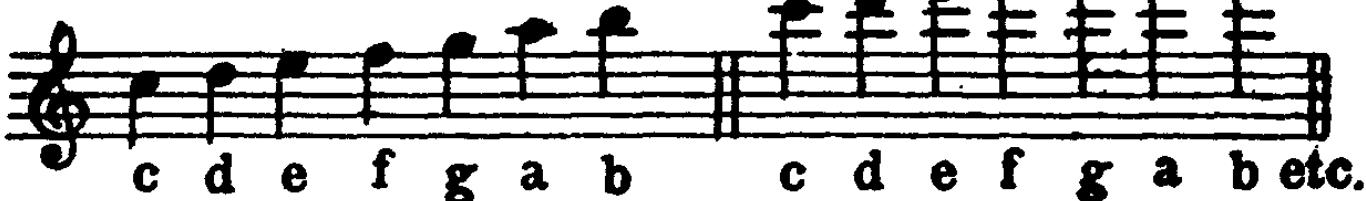

Tenor octave.

Middle(or counter-tenor) octave.

Treble octave

High treble(or acute) octave.

FORM AND VALUE OF NOTES AND RESTS

The value, or duration, of notes and rests are expressed by their different forms. The following table shows the comparative value of the notes to each other :

1 Whole-note.

2 Half-notes.

4 Quarters.

8 Eights.

16 Sixteenths.

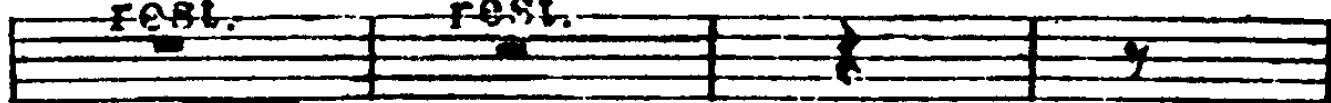

32 Thirty-seconds.

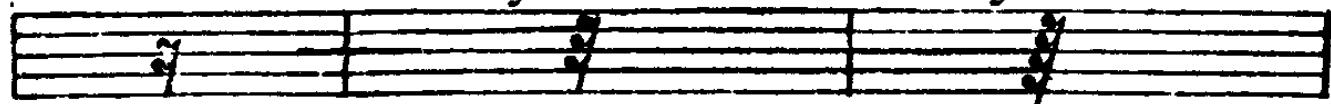

Each note has a corresponding rest, as follows:

Whole note Half note Quarter. Eight.

Sixteenth Thirty-second Sixty-fourth

Rests for more than one measure are indicated thus:

A dot after a note increases the value of the note by one-half

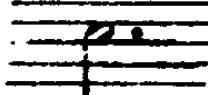

A dotted whole note

is equal to

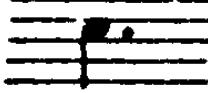

A dotted half note

is equal to

A dotted Quarter

is equal to

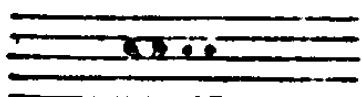

A dotted eight

is equal to

Two dots following a note increases the value of the note by one-half the value of the first dot, thus:

is equal to etc.

Dots after rests follow the same rule as those after notes

CHROMATIC ALTERATION BY SHARPS, FLATS AND NATURALS.

The # (sharp) placed before a note raises it a chromatic half-step, as C to C-sharp :

The b (flat) placed before a note lowers it a chromatic half-step, as C to C-flat :

The = (natural) restores a note which has been changed by the flat or sharp to its original position. The x (double sharp) raises a note which is already sharp another half-step :

The bb (double flat) lowers a flatted note another half-step :

The ## and ## restores the note which has been raised by the x or lowered by the bb back to the original sharp or flat note. Sharps or flats placed at the beginning (Signature) of a piece affect all the notes upon which they are placed during the piece, unless they are contradicted by accidental flats, sharps, or naturals, and these only have effect in the measure where they occur.

DIFFERENT ORDERS OF TIME.

Time may be either common or triple, and is indicated at the beginning. The time-signature shows how many notes of a certain kind there are in a measure. Common (or duple) time is indicated as follows:

Triple time is indicated by :

The lower figure shows the kind of note, and the upper one the number of that kind in a measure ; $\frac{3}{8}$ signifies that there are three eighth notes in a measure. Compound triple time is a contraction of two or more simple-triple measures into one, as, $\frac{9}{8}$ instead of $\frac{3}{8}$, etc.

ABBREVIATIONS.

In writing music, the following abbreviations are used :

As played.

Abbreviated.

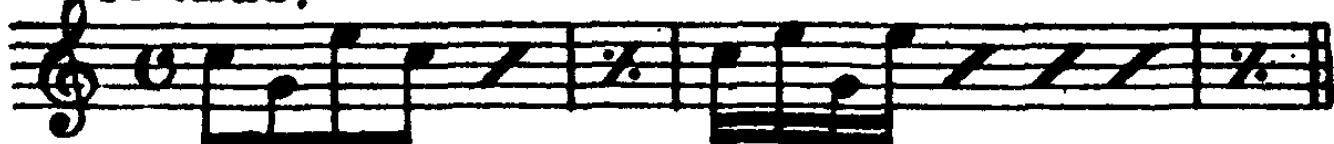

or

When similar groups follow each other, they are indicated by one or more strokes, according to the value of the notes, thus:

or thus:

When a strain is to be played twice, two or more dots are placed by the side of the double-bar:

Double-bar.

Single-bar.

Double-bar, with a repetition of the preceding strain.

Double-bar, with repetition of the following strain.

Double-bar, with repetition of both strains.

Sometimes the word "bis" is written over the measures to be repeated.

VARIOUS OTHER SIGNS.

— A bind or tie, connects two or more notes of the same name.

∞ A pause, which lengthens at will the duration of a note or rest.

— A crescendo, or gradual increase of tone.

— A decrescendo, or gradual decrease of tone.

— A swell, an increase and then a decrease of tone.

—, V. A. — Indicate that a marked accent is to be given to note or chord over which it is placed.

The abbreviations vf, sf, fz, r fz, s fz, f p, etc. are also used for the same purpose.

S: Dal Segno (the sign), means return to a similar sign.

EMBELLISHMENTS.

The appoggiatura, is a small note placed before a principal note as an ornament. There are two kinds, the long and the short.

The long Appoggiature.

Written. {

Played. {

The short Appoggiature.

Written. {

Played. {

The double appoggiatura, is two short notes placed before a principal note, thus:

Written. {

The turn, is a group of three small notes placed before a principal note, and is indicated by this sign ∞ or \sim over the one.

Written. Played.

A musical example illustrating a turn. The top line, labeled "Written.", shows a treble clef followed by two eighth notes. Above each note is a symbol resembling a stylized '8' or infinity sign, indicating a turn. The bottom line, labeled "Played.", shows the same two notes being performed as sixteenth notes, with a sixteenth note head on the first note and a sixteenth note stem on the second note.

The shake, or trill, consists of the rapid alternation of two notes—the principal note and the note above it. A "tr" is written over the principal note to indicate the shake:

Written. Played.

A musical example illustrating a trill. The top line, labeled "Written.", shows a treble clef followed by a note with a "tr" (trill) sign above it. The bottom line, labeled "Played.", shows a continuous series of eighth notes between the same two pitches, with a fermata over the last note.

The passing shake, or pralltriller, is a short shake with this sign ~ :

Written. Played.

A musical example illustrating a passing shake. The top line, labeled "Written.", shows a treble clef followed by a note with a wavy line (passing shake sign) above it. The bottom line, labeled "Played.", shows a short series of eighth notes between the same two pitches.
