

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES

GREATER attention has been paid in the preparation of these sketches to the ultra-modern composers, or to those comparatively unknown in this country, than to those whose lives are recorded at length in English music dictionaries. An exception has been made in the case of Berlioz, Massenet and Saint-Saëns, with a view to the dates of compositions.

The reader will find much information concerning the operas, oratorios and cantatas of composers here mentioned by consulting Adolphe Jullien's "Musiciens d'Aujourd'hui," 2 vols. (Paris, 1892–94). Other books of reference are the Mercure de France (published in Paris monthly), the volumes of collected feuilletons by "Willy," or "L'Ouvreuse"—Henri Gauthier-Villars (1890–1901); and Gustave Robert's "La Musique à Paris" (1894–1900).

When the name of a city is not mentioned in connection with the performance of an opera or other work, the town of that performance was Paris.

ABBREVIATIONS: a.—act; acc.—accompaniment; cant.—cantata; comp.—composed; dr. leg.—dramatic legend; dr. or.—dramatic oratorio; dr. sc.—dramatic scene; dr. sym.—dramatic symphony; fant.—fantasia; in coll.—in collaboration; lyr. com.—lyric comedy; lyr. dr.—lyric drama; lyr. ep.—lyric episode; lyr. pant.—lyric pantomime; lyr. sc.—lyric scene; lyr. sym.—lyric symphony; lyr. tr.—lyric tragedy; mus. com.—musical comedy; m. d.—music drama; mim.—mimodrama; op.—grand opera; Opé.—the Paris Opéra; op. c.—opéra-comique; *Op. (after a mural picture by Puvis de Chavannes—Conservatory concert, 1888); "Triomphe de la République," triumphal ode (Palais de l'Industrie, 1889); "Hymne à la Paix," for Dante and Beatrice Festival (Florence, 1890); "Au Pays bleu," orch. suite (1891); "Hymne à Apollo," solo voices, ch. and orch. (1899); "Andromède," sym. p. (1900); "Veni Creator;"

¹ Date given me by the composer. "1851" is the year in the records of the Paris Conservatory.

"Les Sept Ivresses," "Vision de Sainte Thérèse" (1889); "La Vision de la Reine," cant.; music to Bordese's cycle "Contes Mystiques"; a setting of poems by Catullus; a hundred or more songs, some of them signed by her "Hermann Zenta."

Henri Gauthier-Villars wrote of her in 1889: "Somebody spoke of her as 'a pretentious blue-stocking.' Oh, no! She wears boots, boots with spurs on them. She is certainly not a woman in her use of the brass in the 'Ode Triomphale,' here she is a whole regiment; and at any rate she may justly be called, 'La Fiancée du Cymbalier.'"

See Villiers de l'Isle-Adam in "Chez les Passants"; Imbert's "Nouveaux Profils de Musiciens" (Paris, 1892); Saint-Saëns "Harmonie et Mélodie" (pp. 225–239).

HÜE, GEORGES ADOLPHE

Born at Versailles, May 6, 1858. Pupil of Reber and Paladilhe at the Paris Conservatory; prix de Rome, 1879; Crescent prize, 1881; City of Paris prize, 1885. "Les Pantins," op. c. 2 a. (1881); "Rubezahl," sym. leg. (1886); "Résurrection," sacred episode (1892); "Le Berger," ballad; Fantasia for violin (1893); stage music for "La Belle au bois dormant" (1894); "Cœur brisé," pant. (1890); "Le Roi de Paris," op. 3 a. (1901); "Titania," 1903; Symphony (1882); "Resurrection," sacred episode (1890–92); "Sommeil d'Hercule" (1892); "Kunesse," cant. (1897); "Scenes de Ballet" for orch. (1897).

See an elaborate biographical sketch in the Musical Courier (N. Y.), May 15, 1901.

INDY, PAUL MARIE THÉODORE VINCENT D'

Born at Paris, March 27, 1852.¹ Studied for the bar against his will, and preferred the lessons in harmony of Lavignac and the piano lessons of Diémer. Served during the Franco-Prussian War, then became connected with Colonne's Concerts du Châtelet as kettledrummer, afterward chorus-master. Entered the Paris Conservatory to study the organ with César Franck: 1st accessit, 1875. He then left the Conservatory to study counterpoint and composition with Franck. In 1887 he became chorus-master of the Lamoureux concerts and he helped prepare the first performance of "Lohengrin" in Paris (Eden Théâtre, May 3, 1887). One of the founders of the Société Nationale de Musique, he became president after the death of Franck. He was one of the founders in 1896 of the Schola Cantorum, of which he is now director. He was a Wagnerite of the early seventies. As conductor, he has travelled extensively.

Stage works: "Attendez moi sous l'orme," 1 a. (comp. 1876–78; Op. C., 1882); "Fervaal," musical action in 3 a. and a prologue (comp. 1889–95; Monnaie, Brussels, 1897); "L'Etranger," musical action (Brussels, 1903); incidental music to Alexandre's "Karadec" (1891); to Mendès' tragedy "Médée" (1898).

Orchestral works: "La Forêt Enchantée," sym. ballad (1878); "Wallenstein," trilogy after Schiller (comp. 1873–81); "Piccolomini" (perf. 1874); "Mort de Wallenstein" (perf. 1880); "Le Camp" (1884; first performance as a whole, 1888); "Saugefleurie," legend (comp. 1884; perf. 1885); symphony for piano and orch. on a French mountain air (comp. in 1886; perf. in 1887); Fantaisie on folk-songs for oboe and orch. (1888); "Istar," symphonic variations (comp. 1896; perf. Brussels, 1897); varied choral for saxophone and orch. (1903); symphony in B flat, 1904). Suite from the music to "Médée."

Chamber works: piano quartet (1878); suite in D in the old style for trumpet, two flutes and strings (1886); trio for piano, clarinet, 'cello (1886–87); 1st string quartet (1890); 2d string quartet (1897–98); "Chanson et Danses," for wind instruments (1898).

Vocal works: "La Chevauchée du Cid," scene for bar. and orch. (composed as a song 1877; remodelled and performed in 1884); "Le Chant de la Cloche," dr. leg. after Schiller—City of Paris prize of 1886—(comp. 1879–83; perf. 1886); "Clair de Lune," voice and orch. (1880); "Ste. Marie Magdeleine," cant. (1885); "Sur la Mer," chorus for female voices (1888); "Deus Israel," motet (1896); "Lied maritime," for voice and orch. (1896); a few songs.

Piano pieces: "Poème des Montagnes," suite (1881); "Helvetia," three waltzes (1884); "Schumanniana," three pieces (1887); "Tableaux de voyage," thirteen pieces (1889).

"La Chanson des Aventuriers de la Mer," bar. and orch. (1870); "Symphonie chevaleresque: Jean Hunyade" (1876); overture "Antoine et Cléopâtre" (1877), are not included by M. d'Indy in the manuscript catalogue drawn up by him, nor is the cantata for the inauguration of Augier's statue at Valence (1893).

D'Indy is the librettist of his two serious operas, a collaborator with Tiersot in collections of folk-songs, the editor of Solomon Rossi's madrigals, and the author of a "Cours de Composition musicale," of which only the first volume has been published as yet—1904.

See Imbert's "Profils de Musiciens" (Paris, 1888); "Fervaal devant la Presse" (Paris, 1897); "Fervaal," by Etienne Desranges (Paris, 1896).

MEDJÉ
(AN ARABIAN SONG)
(CHANSON ARABE)

JULES BARBIER (1825 -)
Translated by Arthur Westbrook

CHARLES GOUNOD
(1818 - 1898)

Allegretto (molto moderato)

PIANO

The musical score consists of four systems of music. The first system shows the piano accompaniment in 3/4 time with a key signature of one flat. The vocal part begins with "cre - scen - do" and ends with "dim.". The second system continues the piano part and introduces the vocal line with lyrics in French and English. The third system continues the piano part and introduces the vocal line with lyrics in French and English. The fourth system concludes the piece with a final piano cadence.
