HIGH-CLASS VIOLINS.

OTTO LANGEY'S VIOLIN TUTOR IS THE BEST. 2s. 6d. nett; Postage, 3d.

IN consequence of the large demand now experienced for a High-class Violin at a moderate price, Messrs. HAWKES AND SON have now opened a Branch at their Manufactory in Castle Street, Leicester Square, for the Manufacture of

and for this purpose they have engaged the services of one of the best Parisian Makers, who has for some years made Violins and other Instruments for the principal Artistes of the Paris Conservatoire. This Maker was a Pupil of the celebrated Vuillaume, and was in his workshop for many years; and when in business for himself he took the following medals for the excellence of his work and varnish—viz., Paris, 1878, 1880, and 1882, Gold Medals; Sydney, 1879; and Melbourne, 1878.

The Oil Varnish on these Instruments has been the subject of special study and experiments for some years, and it has reached a state of perfection which we believe is unknown to other makers. In appearance it is exceptionally fine and clear, and, combined with the finest wood used in manufacturing these Instruments, produces a very handsome effect. The wood used is specially selected for us by an experienced Agent in Bohemia, and is all of the best quality, well seasoned, and exceptionally beautiful in appearance.

MESSRS. HAWKES & SON are at present only making copies of Stradiarius and Guarnerius, but are making arrangements with the owners of fine specimens of Amati and Maggini Violins, and will shortly be able to produce the same. MESSRS. HAWKES & SON wish it to be thoroughly understood that their best String Instruments are now manufactured entirely on their own premises, and are not imported from the Continent.
